

GLENVILLE STATE COLLEGE

CRIMINAL JUSTICE DEPARTMENT

The Glenville State College Department of Criminal Justices prepares students to go directly from the classroom and into the field of their choosing. The CJ Department was ranked as the #1 Top School Supporting Careers in Corrections & Criminal Justice in West Virginia by CorrectionalOfficer.org. Our professors are dedicated to providing students with the career focused skills and knowledge necessary to enter the fields of law enforcement, corrections, probation, parole, and homeland security.

Students in the Department process investigations in our mock crime scene house, work with some of the same equipment and labs for training that members of state and local police use, and arrange an internship in the setting of their choosing before graduation to develop networks and further their professional experiences.

Students can also get involved in the American Criminal Justice Association Fraternity Lambda Alpha Epsilon which provides learning opportunities, field trips, and networking outside of the classroom. Students from GSC's chapter have attended and placed among the top finishers at several of the fraternities competitions. The Department is also a sponsor of the Pioneer Shooting Club, an affiliate of the International Defensive Pistol Association.

The Criminal Justice Department also regularly sponsors educational study abroad trips to London that focus on the criminal justice system in the United Kingdom.
