SOCIAL SCIENCE DEPARTMENT

The Glenville State College Department of Social Science provides a wide variety of courses and subjects. Though each is unique in its focus and its emphasis, the different areas of the social sciences have a common concern with human behavior. The social science faculty share the belief that human behavior, culture, and society – the total human experience – can and should be studied using the methods of science.

GSC's Department of Social Science is committed to offering high-quality classroom instruction, providing professional and caring advising, and demonstrating a strong commitment to the values of a higher education community. The Department of Social Science offers a variety of opportunities and experiences that go beyond the formal classroom experience. In addition to coursework, students are encouraged to be active and engaged citizens demonstrating leadership in campus and community activities. The department promotes and supports students interested in internships, work-shops, and other career-oriented opportunities.

Popular courses in the Social Science Department include: Lifespan Development, The Civil War and Reconstruction, Marriage and Family, Abnormal Psychology, International Relations, and Global Studies.
