ADMINISTRATION BUILDING

building a foundation...

The defining hallmark of Glenville State College has long been the clock tower that rests mightily on the top of the Administration Building. The first hourly toll was rung more than a century ago, and can still be heard daily at the top of each hour. The first clock tower, erected in 1897, was replaced in 1903 by a very similar, and much safer design. The words "STATE NORMAL SCHOOL" can still be read on the front of the tower, and remains as part of the original construction.

When the Administration Building was first completed, it consisted of only six rooms. Today, this multifunctional building is the home of most of the campus administrative offices, two computer labs, an intimate auditorium, and a host of newly-renovated, high-tech classrooms. Students and faculty alike are proud of this stately piece of architecture, and it continues to serve not only as the central building on campus, but also as the central trademark for Glenville State College.

GSC Christmas

For the Glenville
State College
community,

Christmas is a family affair. All over campus decorated trees can be found, and many with presents for various Angel Tree recipients. The Office of the President is no exception. This year, a seven foot tree has been decorated and placed just outside the door to greet all those who enter the Administration Building.

All Ears

The Administration Building Auditorium is the perfect place for large gatherings that still need an intimate feel. The auditorium is often used for guest speakers and presentations, both by visitors and college members. Here, members of the Conference on Women's Issues holds a forum to discuss matters relevant to women in today's society.

Book Worm

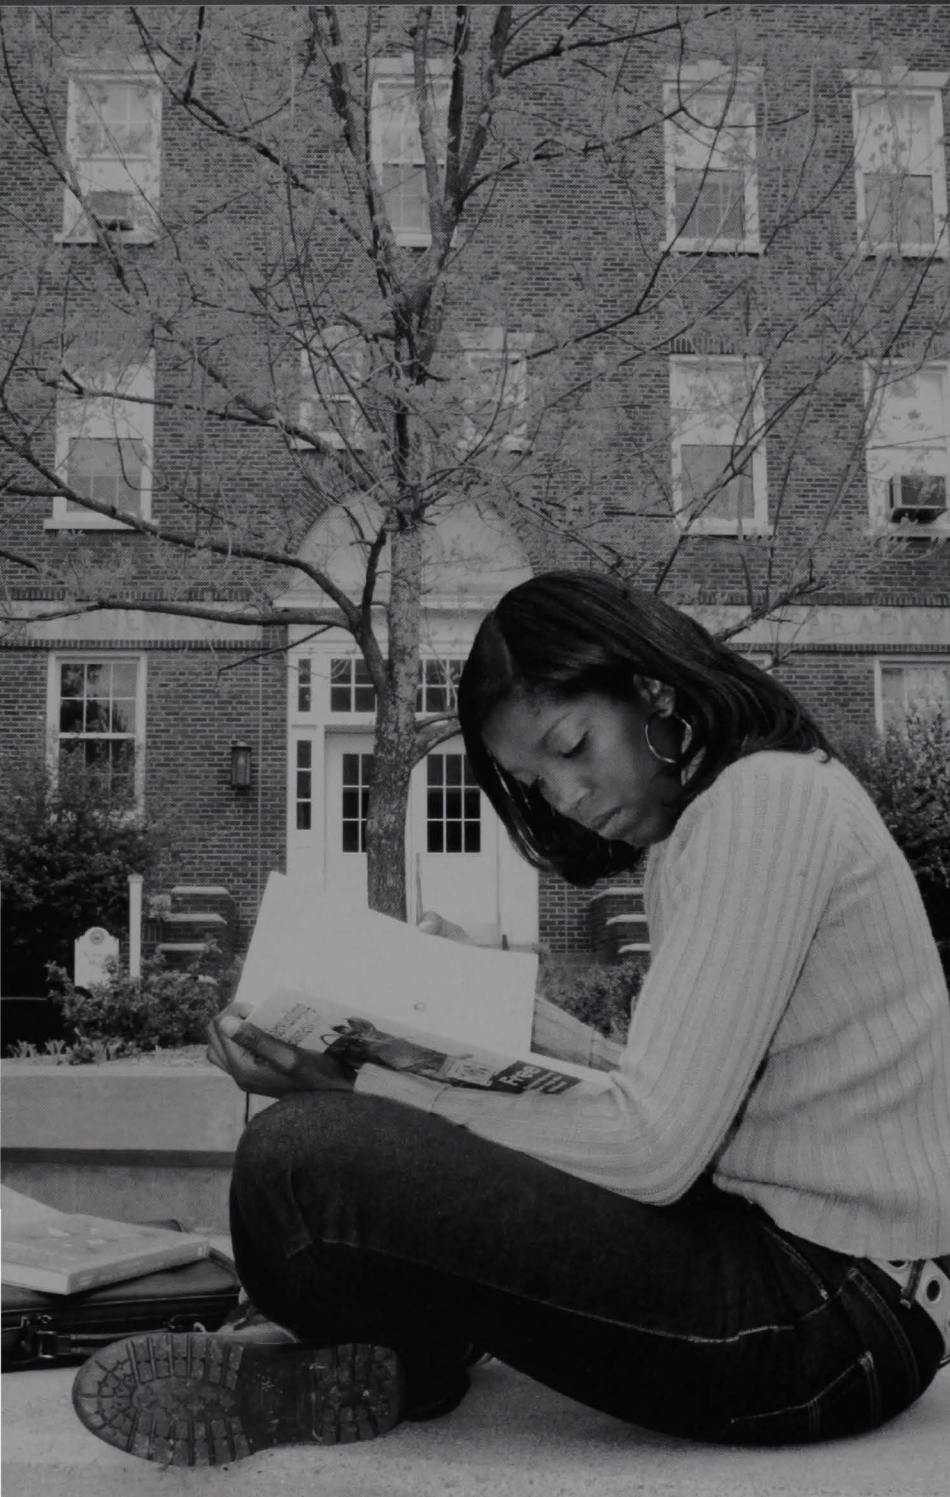

The hallways
of the Administration

Building are often lined with students getting a head start on their homework - or a final review before a test. Watch your step as you come up the stairs; you just never know what could be sitting just on the other side of the door!

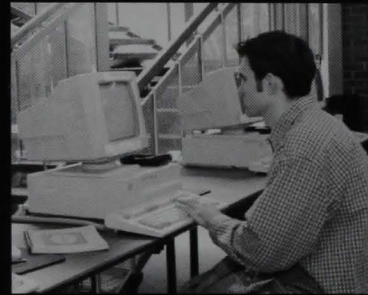

Glenville State College is fondly known across West Virginia as "The Lighthouse on the Hill." The lights on the four sides of the clock tower can be seen from all sides of Glenville.

Every year the science professors hold an Earth Day Celebration. Posters are made by the biology classes and are displayed throughout the Science Hall.

Andy Liabile utilizes the online research capabilities offered at the R. F. Kidd Library. Finding out what books are currently available is only one of the possibilities on this network. At other computers, students can access a whole network of educational and research journals for their assignments. The library staff is always willing to assist in locating the right resources for the needs of the students.

Good Advice

The faculty and staff of the science and math divisions are always available to help students with homework, scheduling, or other issues. Teresa Cowan enjoys advising her nursing students and takes great pride in their success. The Glenville State nursing program is built in conjunction with the West Virginia University nursing program. Graduates from the Glenville State nursing program have a great advantage when entering the WVU program.

Luanna T. Smith Amphitheater

The Luanna T. Smith Amphitheater is a popular spot for members of the college community, especially during warm spring days. The amphitheater was named in memory of the assistant to the president between 1972 and 1989. During Homecoming, the campus wide picnic is held in the amphitheater under large tents set up by the dining services team. Professors have also been known to hold classes in the amphitheater on especially nice days.

R. F. KIDD LIBRARY

for all those who desire knowledge...

SCIENCE HALL

Before the R. F. Kidd Library was located in its present spot, Clark Hall housed the several thousand books occupied by the GSC Library. In 1966 the new library project, at a total cost of about one million dollars, was completed. The transport of books from Clark Hall to the R. F. Kidd Library involved a "book walk" of both students and faculty.

Today, the library is a great source for research and a peaceful place to study. The online databases and research tools make the R. F. Kidd Library a first-rate learning center.

The Glenville State College Science Hall houses most of the math and science classes offered on campus. Completed in 1943, the Science Hall has undergone several renovations to ensure that the labs are equipped with the latest equipment. The computer lab located on the first floor of the building allows professors to hold classes where they can easily access internet resources and other computer software. The latest addition, however, to the Science Hall is the elevator located on the rear of the building allowing access to all four floors.

HEFLIN STUDENT UNION

the heart of a leader...

PRESIDENT'S HOME

The Heflin Student Union serves as the hub of student activity on the Glenville State College campus. The HSU, as it is commonly known, is the home of the Office of Student Life, Dining Services, the Office of Student Activities, Public Safety, the Follett Bookstore, the Fitness Center and the Post Office.

Renovations to the union have continued throughout the existence of the building. After extensive renovations to the office spaces and dining areas in 2001, a multimillion dollar renovation is to take place beginning in the summer of 2004. The continued updates in aesthetics and services is part of what makes student life on the GSC campus so exciting!

The President's Home is a very special asset to the GSC campus. Built in 1929, the house has three full floors, making it a home for the presidential family, as well as an entertaining location for special events on campus. While the President's Home has not always been occupied by the college's chief executive, both President Thomas Powell and President Robert Freeman lived in the house with their families. Both presidents often held events in their home, welcoming GSC faculty, staff, and students as well as members of the Glenville community into this very special home on campus.

Home Sweet Home

A house to many, but a home to a few.

The President's Home is a very special part of the GSC campus. The occupation of the president and his family on campus adds a flair not commonly found at other colleges. President Powell was the first to live in the house for several years, reawakening the warmth and livelihood that was once associated with the President's Home.

Fitness Center

The Fitness Center is a recent addition to the Heflin Student Union. Taking the place of the bowling alley, the fitness center is utilized daily by students, faculty, staff, and members of the Glenville community. The modern equipment and skilled training available to the patrons allows even beginner fitness buffs to safely operate and benefit from their workout experience.

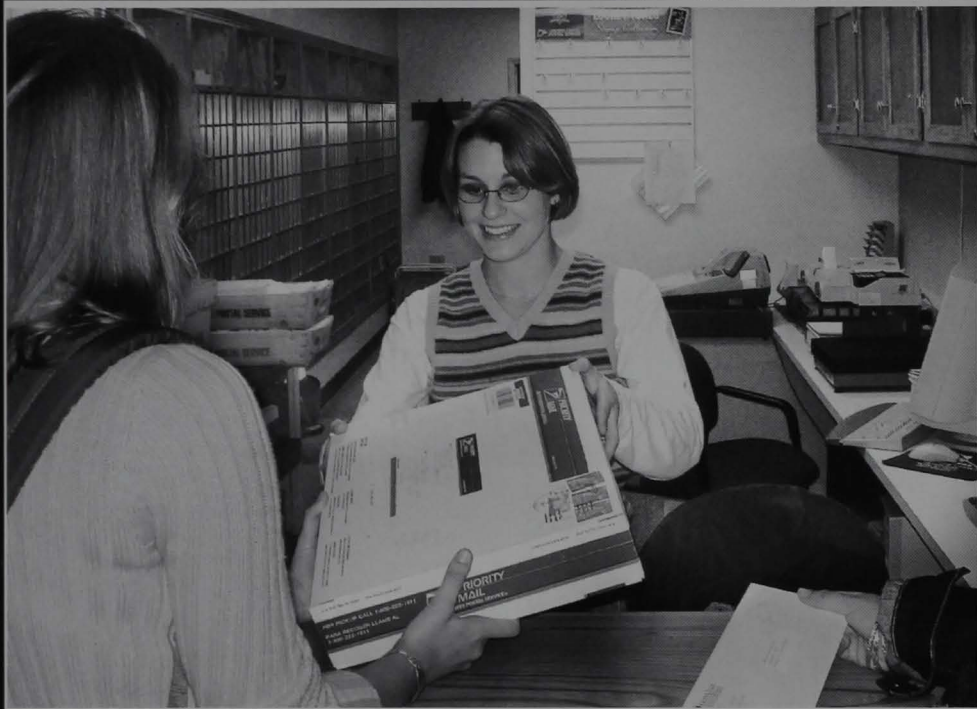

Social Center

The Heflin Student Union is the heart of student activity on the Glenville State College campus. Housing everything a student needs, from dining services to the post office, the HSU is a one stop shop for all your student needs! On warm sunny days, students are often found sitting on the front steps of the union socializing with friends as they wait for their next class - or for lunch to start!

The Heflin Student Union was named in April 1990 after former President Harry B. Heflin. It had previously been known as the Pioneer Center.

The official dedication of Clark Hall was held in 1968. Governor Hulett Smith was in attendance to assist in officially naming the building after retired GSC faculty member Humbolt Yokum Clark.

Thanks, Coach!

Women's Basketball Head

Coach Steve Harold is much more than just a coach to his players. Coach Harold takes pride in the personal, academic, and athletic successes of his team, and it is evident on the court. His extra time and energy more than pays off in the teamwork and effort displayed by the women season after season. Truly, Glenville State College has much to be proud of in the excellence of this team!

Craft Fun

There is never a shortage of creativity or fun in Professor Stout's early education classes! From finger puppets to story boards, students always leave class with fresh ideas for their future classrooms. Fortunately, the rooms in Clark Hall are versatile enough to double as elementary school classrooms when necessary, to there's always room for these preprofessionals to pretend!

High Tech

Computer Labs can be found across campus, and the Clark Hall Lab is no exception. Often used for education technology classes, this lab is open between classes for students who need to access the internet or word process assignments. Particularly for commuters, these areas on campus are important to help students use their time effectively between classes.

CLARK HALL

educating the masses...

P. E. BUILDING

Clark Hall, today commonly known as the location of all education classes on the GSC campus, was once the home of the R. F. Kidd Library. Clark Hall was renovated in 1967 and became the new home of the education and psychology departments, as well as the central office for the school newspaper, The Mercury.

Much like the clock tower on the Administration Building, Clark Hall is an exciting landmark on the GSC campus. The cupola at the peak of the building is now reflected on the logo of the college and can be found on all official college correspondence.

The Glenville State College Physical Education Building is the home of much campus excitement, both academic and athletic. Built and dedicated in the early 1950's, the P. E. Building houses a 2,000 seat gymnasium, an olympic length swimming pool with balcony seating, a full-service physical therapy center, locker rooms, and an array of faculty offices and classrooms.

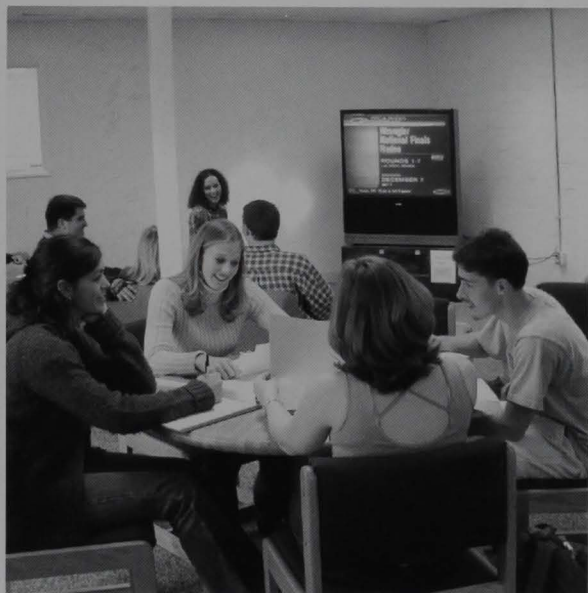

Regardless of athletic expertise, students always have opportunities to join in the action. The facilities are often open for students to come and get some exercise and have some fun!

living to learn...

PIONEER VILLAGE

Named in 1973 for alumna and former dean of women Pearl Pickens, Pickens Hall has been updated and renovated many times since its original construction in 1961. The most recent additions include new carpeting in the halls, updated laundry facilities, new lounge furniture, freshly painted rooms, a new telephone system, and a state of the art security system. This co-ed residence facility also offers the latest in internet services. The now high-speed internet system through the college T-1 line is soon to be replaced with even faster and more convenient wireless internet.

The most recent structural addition to the GSC campus is the 10 building townhome style residence facility known as Pioneer Village. Located on Mineral Road across from the I. L. Morris Stadium, Pioneer Village truly offers the latest in communal living. Offered first to upperclassmen, Pioneer Village residents enjoy a more intimate living environment with private bedrooms, a kitchenette, central living space, and a full bathroom to share with one other resident. The space and setting of Pioneer Village is a great step between traditional residence hall quarters and independent living.

Twist It Up

The front lawn of Pickens Hall is a great place to set up a twister board! Residents can always be found enjoying the warm sun after a long day of classes. Whether its football, hackey sack, or twister, there is always a game to join!

First Class

Spacious and comfortable, the bedrooms at Pioneer Village ensure plenty of room for all your most necessary belongings. Most residents decorate their rooms to reflect their own personal flair, using pictures, additional pieces of furniture, and other personal mementos. So get out your latest edition of House & Home and see what you can do!

Heads Up

Anyone up for a friendly game of volleyball? These die-hard volley players have been known to play in the sun, the rain, and the snow! All these guys need is a ball and a net to provide them with hours of entertainment. At the end of the game on this Pickens Hall sand pit, there are a few bruised knees but plenty of laughs!

At Glenville State College, residence halls are not only a place to sleep while attending college, they're a place to grow and mature personally and socially.

The auditorium in the Fine Arts Building is among the finest in the state. Providing seats for over 500 people, GSC musicians and artists can showcase their talents with class!

Center Stage

Centrally located on campus between

Modern Marvel

To the untrained eye, this picture perfect kitchen could be any of our houses. However, this update from the early 1900's certainly has a rich history. Looking closely, one can still find artifacts from the original construction of the GSC Alumni Center.

Artist at Work

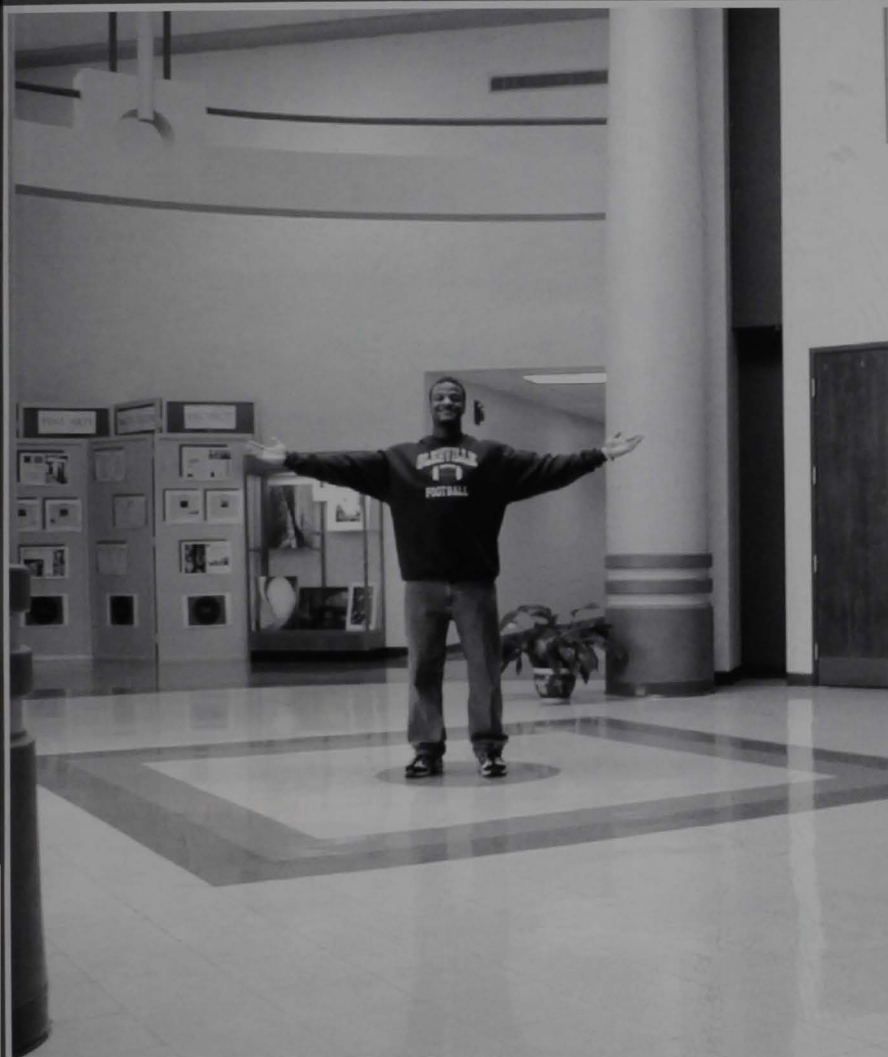

Abby Burge focuses intently on the model in front of her as she works on her "10 Minute Snowman". Where most of us would have no more detail than a corn cob pipe and a button nose, GSC art students are taught to become aware of all of their creative resources and see the extraordinary in the ordinary.

FINE ARTS BUILDING

ALUMNI CENTER

The Fine Arts Center was officially opened in 1989, serving as the most recent addition to the academic buildings on campus. Housing both the music and the art classes, the building is readily equipped with all the necessary spaces for artists of all kinds. In addition to the spacious classrooms, the building houses soundproof practice rooms, a grand auditorium, faculty offices, and a first rate art gallery. The Fine Arts Center is also the home of the annual Convocation ceremony and is used each Christmas for a community program.

Originally constructed in 1910 as a private residence, the John Arbuckle House was purchased in 1985 by the college and is now the home of the Alumni Center. This three story home has received significant improvements since its purchase, made possible by the donations of alumni.

The second floor of the house has several bedrooms in which visiting alumni can stay while they are in town. The kitchen, living room, and dining room on the first floor are used both by temporary residents and by visiting members of the college community.

once a Pioneer...

BECOMING PART OF THE TRADITION

At Glenville State College going to class and completing projects is just the surface of what college life is all about. Regardless of the weather outside, the Pioneers always have a reason to celebrate! Participation in the frequent events and activities on campus serves to enhance and intensify the personal, social, intellectual, and cultural growth possible in college. From high profile positions at a formal event, to behind-the-scenes support at informal gatherings, students always have a chance to get involved and make themselves a part of the Glenville State College community. Creating a legacy, making a memory, becoming part of the tradition!

Above: During the ceremony, Dr. Freeman is presented with the Presidential Medallion and the College Mace. Each side of the medallion features a seal unique to GSC and signifies the president accepting the mission of the College. The mace serves to remind the community that the power and integrity of the College belong to its people and that the College's calling and promise to society is vested with special responsibilities. By accepting the mace, a symbol of presidential authority, Dr. Freeman agrees to justly govern the College and its students, faculty, staff, and alumni. Opposite Page, Top: A representative from each GSC class welcomes Dr. Freeman to his new role at the College. Freshman Marissa Thrasher, Sophomore Sarah Rodriguez, Junior Nicole Maxwell, and Senior Jennifer Butler, all leaders in the Student Government Association, address the community on behalf of their respective classes. Bottom: The attendance of four of GSC's past presidents marks the continued support of the College's present and future. Former Presidents Harry Heflin (1947-1964), William K. Simmons (1977-1998), J. Lowell Peterson (1988-1989), and Bruce C. Flack (1998-1999) are at Dr. Freeman's side throughout his inauguration.

DR. ROBERT N. FREEMAN

Dr. Robert N. Freeman was inaugurated as the 22nd president of Glenville State College on Friday, March 19, 2004. Dr. Freeman stressed in his inaugural address the importance of the Glenville State College community, and the role of the College within the Glenville community. As indicated in the theme for the day, "Celebrating GSC... Yesterday, Today, and Tomorrow," the focus was not only on Dr. Freeman's new presidency, but also on the wonderful history and rich tradition of the College.

Distinguished guests in attendance included Kay Goodwin, Secretary of the West Virginia Department of Education, and Dr. J. Michael Mullen, Chancellor of the West Virginia Higher Education Policy Commission. Also in attendance were four of GSC's past presidents and several administrators from other West Virginia higher education institutions. "The attendance at today's event reflects the commitment of the College and community to the success of the College," stated Ronna Dittman, Chair of the Inauguration Committee.

Dr. Freeman now resides in the President's Home on the Glenville State College campus with his wife, Sandy, and the "first dog", Ellie.

GRADUATION... BACKWARD?

In 2000, Glenville State College hosted its second annual Convocation ceremony. Convocation signifies not only the beginning of the academic year, but also a formal welcome to incoming students. The administration, faculty, and staff dress in academic regalia and distinguished representatives from the city, county, and state government are in attendance. West Virginia Governor Cecil Underwood addressed the College community to welcome the new class. He was joined by Wayne Richmond, Mayor of the City of Glenville, and Rita Kight, President of the Gilmer County Commission.

THE TRADITION CONTINUES

The fourth annual Convocation ceremony brought about a renewed dedication to the pursuit of academic excellence. Kay Goodwin, Secretary of the West Virginia Department of Education and the Arts, and Dr. David Hardesty, President of West Virginia University, addressed the College community at the 2002 ceremony. Also, Jennifer Butler, President of the Student Government Association, welcomed the incoming students on behalf of the student body, challenging them to take an active role in their college experience.

At the 2003 Convocation ceremony, Shelly Sheets, a 2002 graduate of Glenville State College, gave the alumni address and discussed "Living the Oath," which is taken by the College community at the end of the ceremony. Dr. John Taylor, Associate Professor of Education, and Ann Grogg, Staff Council President, welcomed the new class. Convocation ceremonies are traditionally concluded with a stirring rendition of the Alma Mater, led by the GSC Concert Band.

IT'S A SMALL WORLD: A MULTICULTURAL HOMECOMING

A week long celebration, filled with food, fun, football, and friends is the Glenville State College Homecoming trademark. Each year, the Office of Student Activities and the Student Government Association team up to coordinate a plethora of events to boost pride and stir excitement in anticipation of Saturday's big game. Planning is done, there's a week of fun, and games are won. In the end, we're all reminded of our Pioneer Pride!

The 2000 Coronation Ceremony took place in the Amphitheater just before the Homecoming Brunch in the Heflin Student Union Ballroom. As always, Professor Wayne de Rosset did an outstanding job announcing the Court.

"GENERATIONS OF RHYTHM"

The Coronation of the Homecoming Court underwent significant changes in 2001. The Coronation ceremony, emceed by Professor Wayne de Rosset, was held at the football field after the brunch. In addition, both men and women could now run for a spot on the Homecoming Court. The top three senior females receiving votes in the election were named Queen candidates, and the top three senior males after elections were named King candidates. The junior, sophomore, and freshman class each voted for one male and one female from their respective classes. The winner of each of these positions became Princes and Princesses. The senior female and male receiving the most votes was named Queen and King at the Coronation ceremony, with the remaining seniors named Princes and Princesses.

Glenville State College, founded in 1872, celebrated its 130th year in 2002. The theme for the Homecoming celebration was both a reflection and a joyful commemoration of GSC's proud history. Many of the week's events were closely tied to the very meaningful theme, such as the "Zero to Cash in 130 Seconds" speech competition on the Renaissance of Shared Values sponsored by the Student Government Association and the GSC Foundation. MEMORIES IN MOTION

The theme of the 2003 Homecoming, "Memories in Motion" truly captured the momentum with which our campus was moving forward! Legislative bills continued to initiate change, a presidential search process was underway, physical changes continued to surface, and the very structure of the campus seemed to change regularly. Graduation: It's the ultimate goal. After all the classes are passed, the tests are taken, and the battle has been won, there remains the final rite of passage as an undergraduate: Commencement. It is the threshold into the unknown, and the green light for success.

For the class of 2001, May 5 was a time for celebration, reflection, and pride. In the faculty address to the graduates, affectionately known as "the last lecture," Professor James Meads offered gems of wisdom to the eager young graduates. "Care for your family, community, and friends," he advised.

2001 2002 celebrate commencement

PRESIDENT POWELL GRACIOUSLY ACCEPTS THE SENIOR GIFT FROM GRADUATING SENIORS TARA RUTHERFORD AND MARGARITA "MOE" TZONEVA (NOT PICTURED).

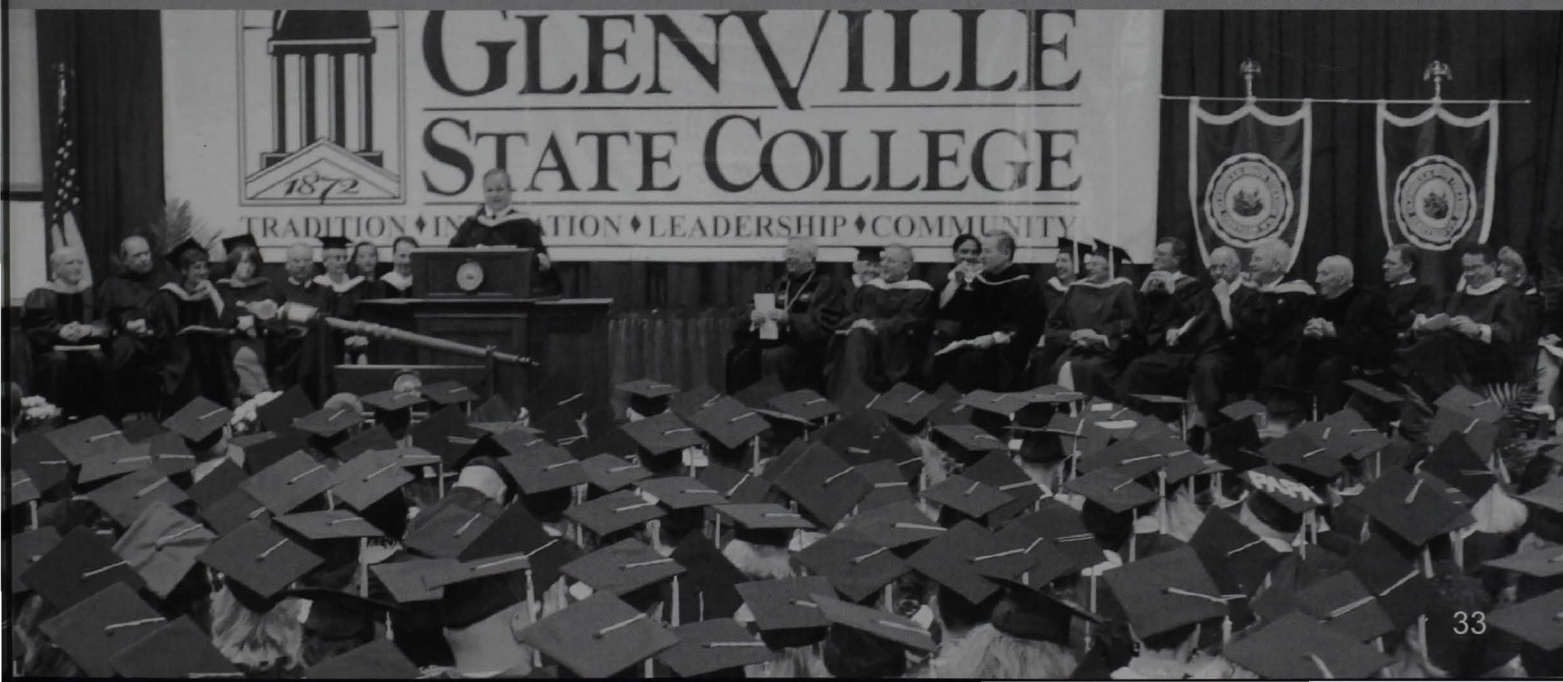

CHRIS BURKHEIMER DECIDES TO SIT THIS ONE OUT AND SPINS THE WHEEL FOR FELLOW GRADUATES AT THE SENIOR PARTY. THE SENIOR PARTY IS SPONSORED BY THE ALUMNI ASSOCIATION.

Above: The graduating class of 2002 gleefully makes their way up the hill from the Heflin Student Union Ballroom to the Jesse R. Lilly Gymnasium. Graduation is not only a time for personal success, but also a time to celebrate the successes of peers with whom these graduates have worked so hard to reach their goals. Bottom: Professor Harry Rich addresses the "sea of caps" at the 2002 Commencement ceremony. As these eager young graduates await the receipt of their diplomas, they are increasingly aware of their new responsibilities as GSC alumni... and their empty stomachs. Many thoughts go through the heads of graduates as they participate in the commencement ceremony.

In addition, Ms. Shelly Sheets was chosen as the 2002 Student Leadership Award recipient. The senior gift was presented by Ms. Kimberly Handley, and Mr. Harry Rich delivered the Faculty Address to the graduates.

Above: Even marching through the rain to process into the gymnasium doesn't dampen the spirits of these proud graduates. As they listen to Governor Bob Wise address their graduating class, they are suddenly more aware of the proud legacy they will leave on the Glenville State College campus as they enter their new roles as alumni. Opposite page, Top Left: Commencement is more than a time to celebrate personal achievement, it's a family affair! Eric Tate is joined at graduation by one of the littlest members of his cheering squad. Opposite Page, Top Right: These graduates don't let a little rain spoil their day. Roger Akers, as the tallest member of this huddled group, is elected the official umbrella holder. Opposite Page, Center: Andy Liable and Jeffrey Jenkins, both members of the Glenville State College Basketball Team, have every reason to be proud of themselves on this exciting day. The personal and academic success of student athletes at GSC is a trademark of the athletic program and is an element of pride for the college community. Bottom: Honor stoles are worn by graduates who have attained at least a 3.5 grade point average. These proud graduates have earned the right to wear these stoles as a symbol of their academic excellence while students at GSC.

RAINING ON OUR PARADE

Despite the rain and thunder at the 2003 Glenville State College Commencement exercises, graduates and college community alike excitedly gathered to celebrate.

Governor Bob Wise delivered the keynote address to those in attendance. Governor Wise was quick to compliment the college community on its strong future and reminded the crowd of his pride in GSC's rich tradition.

Faculty members addressing the graduates included Mr. Robert Burkowski, Associate Professor of Education, and Coach Steve Harold, Assistant Professor of Education.

Several college community members were honored with special awards at the ceremony. The title of Professor Emeritus was bestowed upon Associate Professor Prem Verma, Professor Deanna Foxworthy, and Dr. James Peterson. Also, Dr. John Taylor, Associate Professor of Health and Special Education, received the Outstanding Faculty Award.

MISSION ACCOMPLISHED

The bright sun and the cool breeze were both welcome visitors at the 2004 GSC Commencement exercises. Over 850 guests and 150 graduates attending the ceremony made their way into the Jesse R. Lilly Gymnasium at 10:00am on Saturday, May 8th.

Both college administration members and faculty addressed the graduates. President Robert Freeman reminded the graduates that "For all of your accomplishments, you have a right to feel great satisfaction." Keynote speaker Colonel Larry James Godfrey added to Dr. Freeman's sentiments stating, "This ceremony is an open testament to your hard work... a reaffirmation of your hopes."

Professors receiving the high honor of Professor Emeriti included Mr. Ralph Bame, Mr. Edwin Grafton, Dr. James Hilgenberg, Dr. Sharon Kraus, Dr. Christopher Orr, Mr. Harry Rich, Mr. Philip Rossano, Mr. Owen Stanley, Dr. "Duke" Talbott, and Dr. Barbara Tedford.

Countless picnics and parties will take place after the ceremony in celebration of this great achievement. Opposite Page, Top and Bottom Right: For the very first time in Glenville State history, two students were chosen to receive the Student Leadership award. Amanda Mortelette (top) and Justin Simmons (bottom) were recognized individually at the ceremony, attesting to their excellence in leadership and character. Bottom: Colonel and Dr. Larry James Godfrey performed the Keynote Address both congratulating and challenging the graduates. Using his own amazing life as testimony, Colonel Godfrey affirmed the possibilities of achieving your goals.

Pioneer Pride...

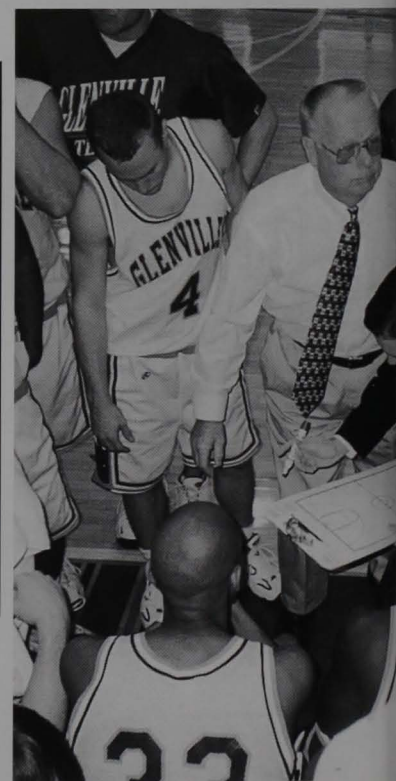

SHARING THE SPIRIT

Glenville State College carries with it a strong athletic tradition. Alumni and current students alike attend both home and away games in support of the various Pioneer teams. There is never a shortage of Glenville community support at games, as the very heartbeat of the community can be felt with each cheer.

There have been many exciting additions to the GSC athletic program in recent years. Thanks to local residents Ike and Sue Morris, the football field was resurfaced with a very modern artificial turf. Also, a woman's softball program was started, attracting both new and current students.

Staying true to tradition, the football and basketball programs showed great success, bringing home championship titles at every turn. The athletic program at GSC has continued to showcase excellence

Players

Coaches

Pioneer Football Head Coach Paul Shaffner shares the exciting news of the WVIAC Championship game with the Channel 5 News crew.

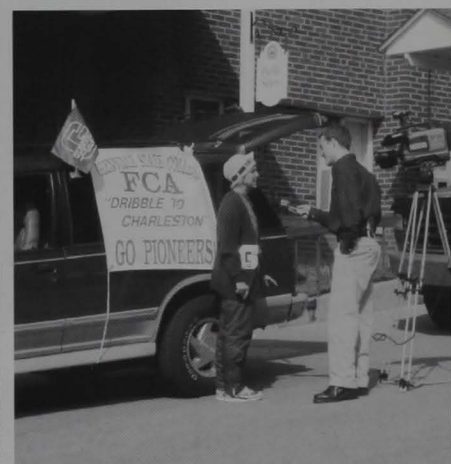

Fans

Pioneer fans always know how to keep the players pumped up. Waving flags, signs and pom-poms are a common sight at GSC athletic events.

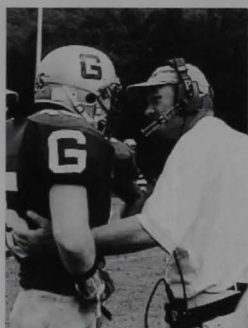

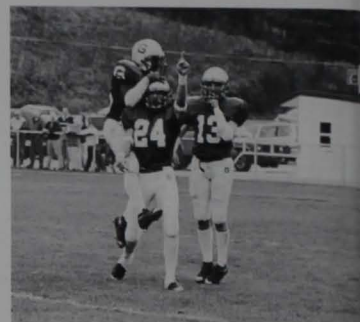

Cheerleaders can always be counted on to bring the fans to their feet. After being a part of the cheerleading squad at GSC, Misty Smyth returned as the coach to continue the proud cheering tradition at GSC.

Coach Janet Bailey, advisor for FCA, is interviewed by Channel 12 News before the group sets off on their annual "Dribble to Charleston" in honor of the WVIAC basketball tournaments played at the Civic Center.

Seniors LaToya Parks and Nicole West are honored at the end of their senior season. LaToya and Nicole served the Lady Pioneers Volleyball team as captains.

For this team, that means they have not only one season, but two to gain the unity for which many teams constantly strive. These runners, while often competing in individual events, never forget to cheer each other on and encourage one another for the good of the team.

The Glenville State College Cheerleaders have formed a rich tradition of spirit and pride. The cheerleaders are counted on at games and other pep functions to perform and elicit revelry among the crowd.

At GSC, the cheerleaders do much more than just attend and cheer at home games. The cheerleaders can be found each year at the Homecoming Pep Rally, preparing the crowd for the upcoming game. They participate annually in the Homecoming parade, showcasing their talents to the Glenville community. The GSC cheerleaders attend competitions each year where they perform and represent Glenville State College with spirit and passion.

Morris Stadium 2001 Dedication

Glenville State College received a $600,000 donation in May of 2001 to install artificial turf on the football field. Head Football Coach Paul Shaffner explained, "The new state-of-the-art turf is simulated grass, which doesn't cause 'turf burn' when the athletes fall and is not affected by rain."

The sizable donation was made by local residents I.L. "Ike" and Sue Morris. The two have long been supporters of the GSC athletic program. The new field is also used by the Gilmer County High School football program, as well as by other community athletic programs.

In addition to the community partnerships opened up by the new field, the athletic recruiters have an excellent new recruiting tool. Players who choose to attend GSC are able to play football on the best college field in the state of West Virginia.

Playing your role...

BECOMING A STAR

One of the most special aspects of Glenville State College is the community environment. More than just as a number, professors take the time to get to know students personally and intellectually. More than just as a name, students get to know their professors as mentors and leaders. Truly, students become members of the Glenville Family.

Getting to know other members of the Glenville State College community is a big part of what makes the Glenville experience great. Whether at an organization meeting, an athletic event, or in a class, students are always given opportunities to meet new people and get involved.

Faculty

For professors Gayle and Robert Burkowski, the GSC campus really is a family establishment!

Staff

Expert problem solvers Neal Benson, Sandra West, and Denise Ellyson are a big part of what keeps the information systems on the GSC campus running smoothly.

Students

Every semester student teachers enter the public schools to practice their skills and prepare themselves for their futures. These students never fail to make their professors proud.

First Ladies Irene Powell and Dora Heflin share in the festivities at the ribbon cutting for the Dora Heflin Garden.

Faculty and staff enjoy relaxing under tents on the lawn at the President's Home. Dr. Powell and Irene often open their home to the college community to celebrate special events.

Ashley Williams receives the "Most Valuable Player" award at the Women in Sports banquet for her stellar participation in Track and Cross Country.

Family members are always welcome at GSC. Sharing Pioneer Pride is a privilege given to all Glenville supporters.

TIME WELL SPENT

Between keeping in touch with friends from high school, making sure parents are happy, getting good grades, planning for a career, and maturing as an adult there remains one aspect of college life which is equally as vital, yet all too often overlooked: a healthy social life!

At Glenville State College, students are fortunate to have a Student Life Team dedicated to incorporating co-curricular activities to traditional academics. The student activities planned and the opportunities offered by the Office of Student Life is meant to act as a supplement to students' academic lives to further enrich and complete the college experience.

Alpha Theta Xi

A Sister is a Friend Forever

Alpha Theta Xi is a service social sorority striving to achieve the ideals of lasting friendships and true sisterhood. To meet this ideal, Alpha Theta Xi members must display the qualities of leadership, commitment, persistence, trust, honor, integrity, and respect. The main goal of the sorority is to foster an atmosphere in which women develop a deeper love and consideration for mankind, a more profound understanding of the purpose of life, and a basic wisdom upon which to build their lives.

The sisters of Alpha Theta Xi strives for academic success, personal and spiritual growth, and active participation in the community through service and social activities. As a member, the sisters participate in a variety of activities such as campus and community clean up events, working with the local elementary schools, volunteering at SunBridge, group team building trips, open houses throughout the semester, and fund-raising.

Since its founding in April of 1999, Alpha Theta Xi has grown from its founding thirteen members to a total of forty four sisters.

New and old members Tiarra Sustakoski, Kelli Raines, Nicki Shields, Stephanie Anderson, Erin Anderson, Whitney Ginn, Chrissy Richards, Ashley Williams, Jessica Riffle, Nicole Maxwell, and Jessica Greenlief enjoy the 2003 Induction Banquet.

Ashley Williams acts as entertainment at the sorority camping trip by making up her own impromptu television show.

Students In Free Enterprise

Students in Free Enterprise (SIFE) is a global, non-profit organization that is literally changing the world through highly dedicated student teams on more than 1600 university campuses in more than 40 countries. SIFE offers students the opportunity to develop leadership, teamwork, and communication skills through learning, practicing, and teaching the skills of free enterprise, thereby improving the standard of living for millions in the process.

Guided by distinguished faculty advisors and supported by businesses around the globe, SIFE teams teach important concepts through educational outreach projects on market economics, entrepreneurship, personal and financial success, and proper business ethics. Together, Students in Free Enterprise works to better themselves, their communities, and their countries on a level never before achieved by any other student organization.

In the past few years, SIFE has constructed two very successful projects, The Ethics Game and Learn and Earn. Over just a two year period, these two projects have touched the lives of over 185,000 people via the local school systems and newspaper media.

The GSC SIFE team would like to send extra-special thanks to the previous presidents of the organization, Carrie Probst (98-01) and Roger Parker (01-03) for making the SIFE team what it is today. Without them, the team would not be as accomplished, experienced, or professional as it is today - or promises to be in the future. Thank you both so much for your contributions and excellence in leadership!

GSC SIFE Mission

To improve the community with the tools necessary to be competitive in the free enterprise system, and help develop their personal skills to successful in today's growing business environment.

American Chemical Society

The Student Affiliates of the American Chemical Society (SAACS) was rejuvenated in the fall of 2002 by twelve members: Erica Allen, Stephanie Anderson, Doug Bennett, Andrew Bleigh, Ashley Collins, Lara Davis, Janelle Duelley, Matthew Kirby, Kim McPherson, Brian Moss, Zeke Price, Jason Tucker, and SAACS advisor Dr. Kevin Evans.

Since 2002, SAACS has strived to promote science careers and recruit students for Glenville State College. SAACS has performed over twenty chemical demonstrations at various high schools across West Virginia. Other SAACS activities include the promotion of National Chemistry Week, performing chemical demonstrations in the amphitheater at Glenville State College, and inviting guest speakers such as Terry Moore from MAAC Inc. to present a seminar on the science of aviation.

Also, SAACS has attended several regional meetings hosted by the Northern West Virginia section and Kanawha Valley section of the American Chemical Society with topics ranging from "Methamphetamine Laboratories: Hazardous Crime Scenes" to "Electroanalysis in the Brain."

Chi Beta Phi

Scientia Omnia Vincit

The Glenville State College chapter of Chi Beta Phi, a national scientific fraternity, has had a remarkable four years. The chapter has grown from only two members in 2000 to twenty seven members in 2004.

Chi Beta Phi advisor Mr. Paul Peck has worked hard with the Chi Beta Phi members to develop an organization with a strong mission and purpose. Chi Beta Phi has been designed to bring together students who have excelled academically in the fields of math and science.

Members of Chi Beta Phi share their appreciation for math and science with the community through their participation in various service projects. Chi Beta Phi participates annually in the Fall Children's Festival in an attempt to positively influence the youth in the Glenville community.

Chi Beta Phi plans to continue strengthening their organization and sharing their appreciation for math and science with others.

Eric J. Pyle, speaker for the 2004 National Chi Beta Phi National Conference, enjoyed spending time with the members after the conference.

During the National Conference Banquet, members Jessica Nelson, Melissa Jones, Whitney Ginn, Wesley Spinks, Jennifer Butler and Bryan Richardson chit chat before the speaker begins.

Kappa Delta Pi

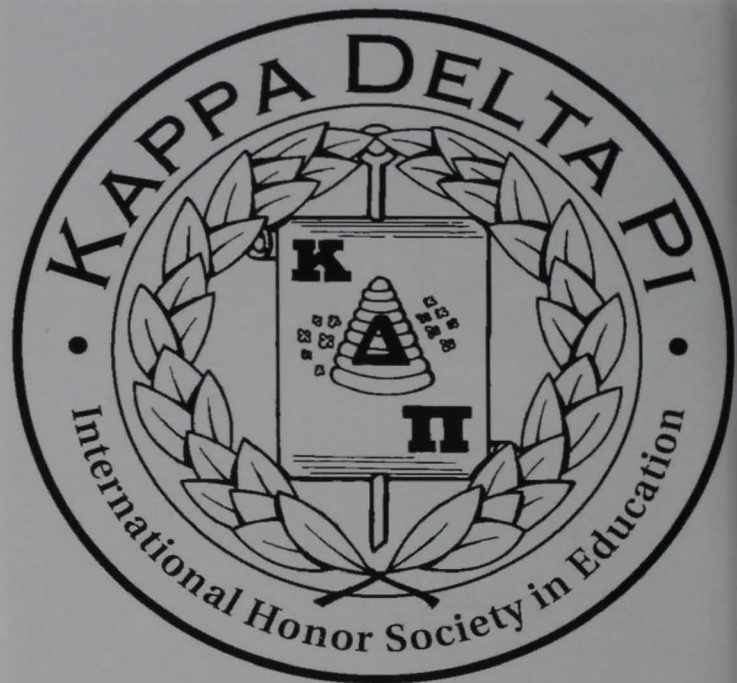

International Honor Society in Education

Kappa Delta Pi is dedicated to scholarship and excellence in education. The Society is a community of scholars dedicated to worthy ideals and maintains a high degree of professional fellowship. Members of the Society gather to promote the development and dissemination of worthy educational ideals and practices and to enhance the continuous growth and leadership of its diverse membership.

Membership in an active institutional chapter of Kappa delta Pi depends on the fulfillment of several qualifications, including an intention to continue in the field of education, professionalism, leadership attributes, worthy educational ideals, and academic excellence displayed by at least a 3.0 GPA on a 4.0 scale.

As a society, members of Kappa Delta Pi regularly participate in community service projects such as backpacks given to HOPE, Inc., "Reading is Fun Week", food baskets at Thanksgiving, and the Mini-Outreach to Teach project. As a group, members also participate in a candle fundraiser, GSC Week, Homecoming, and the Outstanding Intern Award.

THE KAPPA DELTA PI CREED:

SO TO TEACH
that our words inspire a will to learn;
SO TO SERVE
that each day may enhance the growth of exploring minds;
SO TO LIVE
that we may guide young and old to know the truth and love the right.

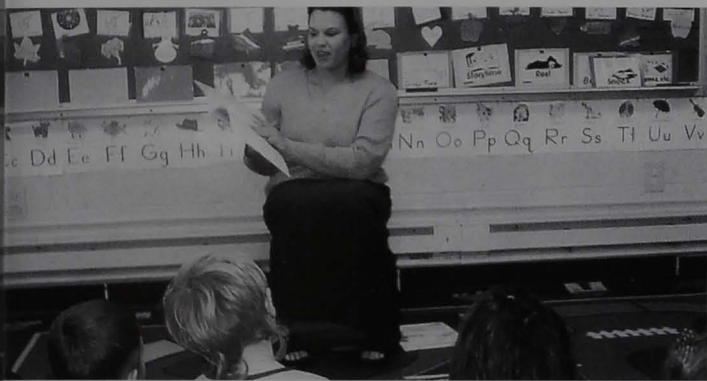

Student Education Association

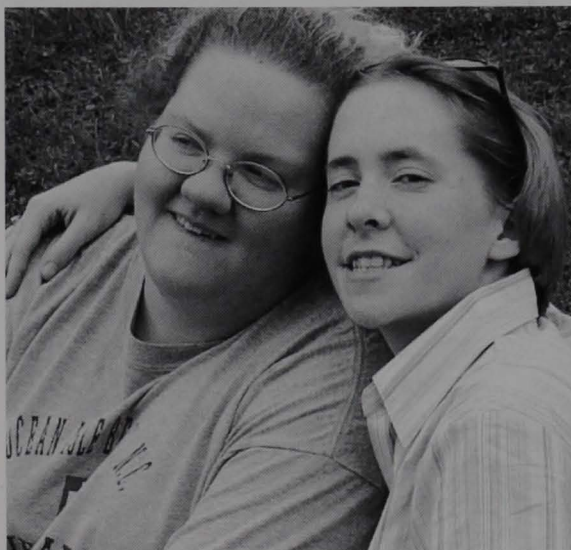

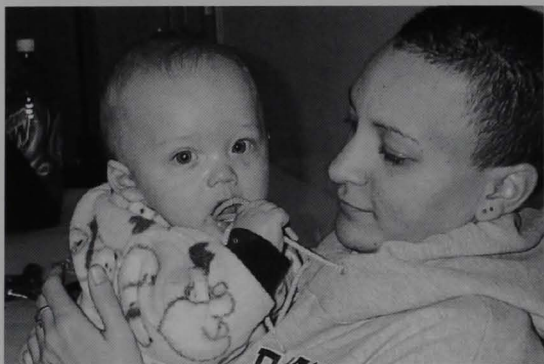

The Glenville State College chapter of the Student Education Association (SEA) prides itself in service to the community. Centered around the improvement and advancement of public education in America, members of the Student Education Association spend countless hours at local Glenville elementary schools tutoring and volunteering their time.

Advised by education professor Connie Stout, the Student Education Association meets regularly to plan activities and events. The SEA recruits new members regularly and holds induction ceremonies with each incoming class.

On campus, the Student Education Association regularly participates in events such as Homecoming and GSC Week. Marching in the Homecoming parade, nominating Homecoming court members, and participating in the Spirit Competition are just a few ways the SEA takes pride in their Pioneer Spirit!

ODyssey

"Together we stand, Divided we fall"

Founded in the fall of 1999 under the name "Order of Diana", ODyssey was officially recognized by Glenville State College as student organization in 2001. Since that time, ODyssey has remained one of the most active student organizations on campus, participating regularly in both campus and community events.

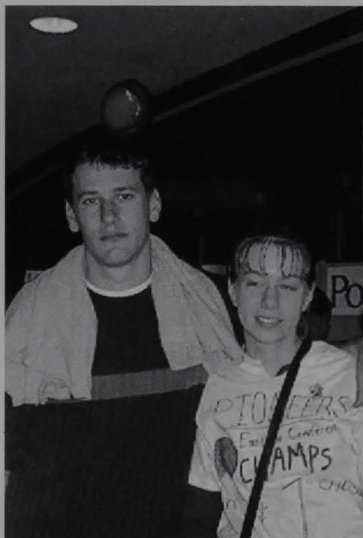

ODyssey is a ladies' Greek social organization centered on service and leadership. The Ladies hold weekly meetings and hold fast to their Greek foundation in using the Greek titles for the positions for the officers and holding traditional "rush" periods.

Qualification for ODyssey membership requires academic excellence, leadership potential, upperclassmen standing, and fulfillment of a series of interviews and activities.

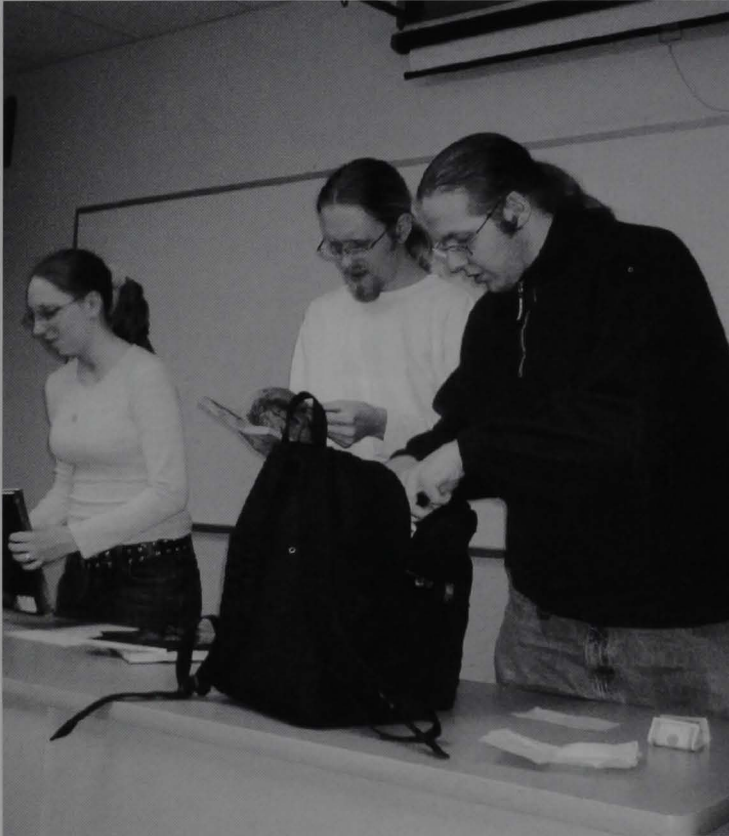

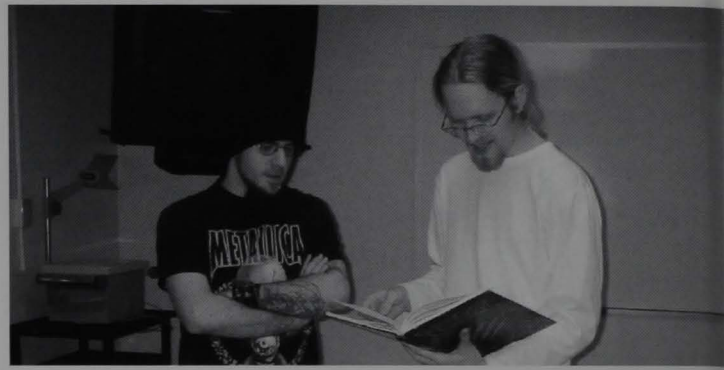

Wesley- Arbuckle Foundation

Behavioral Science Club

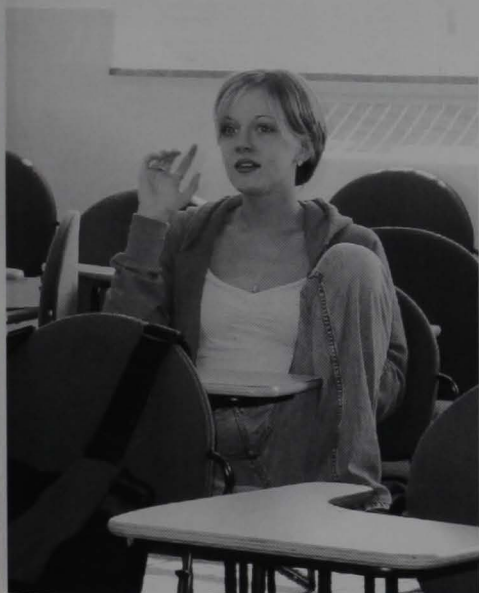

Science Fiction and Fantasy Guild

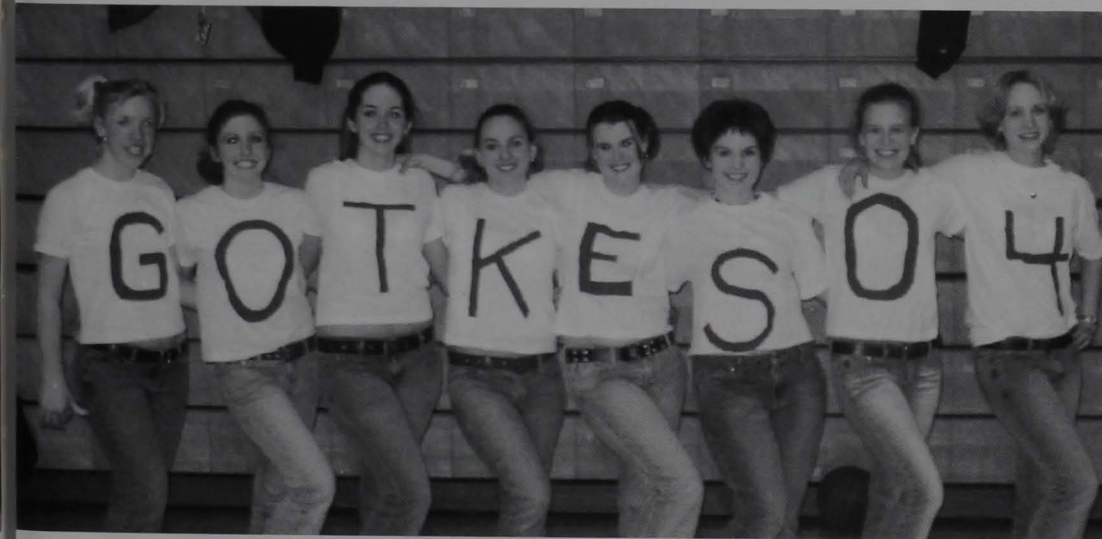

Literary Society

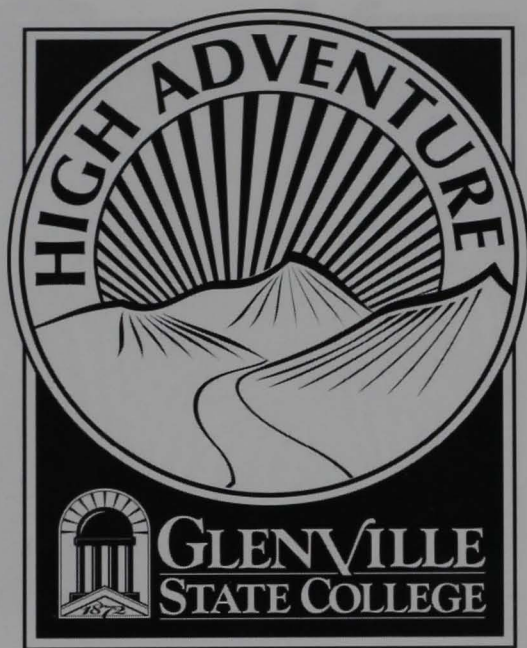

To date, the Literary Society is one of the oldest student organizations on the campus of Glenville State College. Existing primarily to create a platform for both amateur and expert literary critics, the Literary Society is comprised of both faculty and student members. While the majority of the members are English literature / education majors, the title "literature enthusiast" is sufficient to gain membership into this club. Prepare to be challenged, however, as long-time advisors Mr. Wayne deRosset and Dr. Nancy Zane expect excellence and preparation from their scholars in both required and recreational readings!

Tau Kappa Epsilon

Matthew Woody, Nicole Taylor, Chris Daugherty, and Luke Poling stop for just a moment to rest before whizzing off down the mountain on their snowboards!

Even after a full day of activities and fun this group still has plenty of energy! That must mean they're ready for some bigger rocks and longer trails!

High Adventure participant Justin Simmons and coordinator Adam Sundstrom attend Higher Education Day at the Legislature to showcase the High Adventure program to attendees from across the state.

Sam West is almost ready for the trip. If only he could find the rest of his bike!

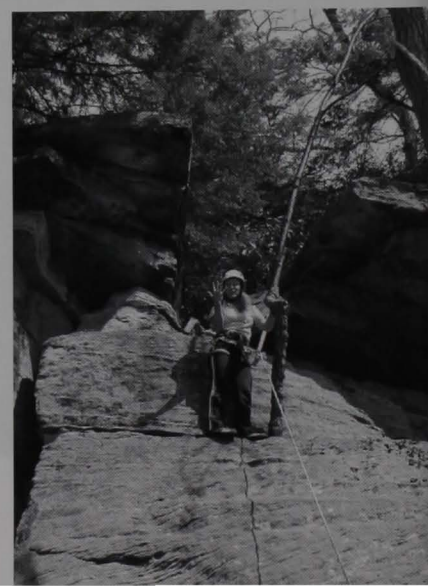

This hill is bigger than it looked from the bottom! Even with new mountain bikes, these high adventure enthusiasts really have to kick it into high gear to climb this one!

After a long day of biking and climbing it's always good idea to give your muscles a cool-down with light walk. There's nothing like a getting a leg cramp on the way home in the van!

Stephanie Anderson stops to check out the damage done to her hands after climbing this massive rock at Cooper's Rock.

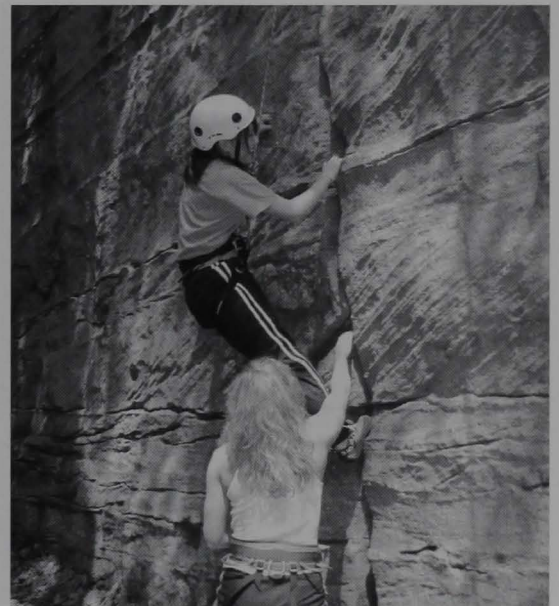

High Adventure

High Adventure Mission:

Our mission is to provide GSC students and the greater GSC community with quality outdoor experiences that ultimately promote personal enrichment and community enhancement. Through well-organized outdoor adventures, participants will have the opportunity to develop life-long recreational and leadership skills, enhance their abilities to work with others, and gain an appreciation for the natural environments in which we live. Participants of all skill levels are welcome and encouraged to take part.

Adam's Introduction to Rock Climbing class has the best classroom on campus today! It's so much easier to learn to correctly tie knots when you're outside!

Stephanie Anderson spots Tomomi Matsuzawa as she begins her ascent up Cooper's Rock.

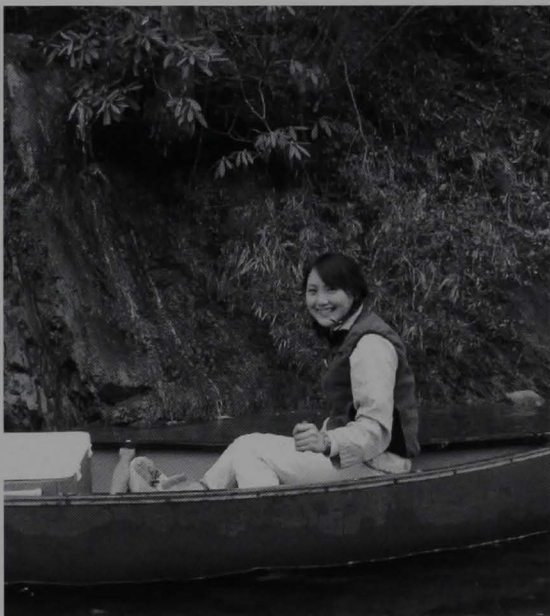

New Student Orientation will never be the same! These new students get introduced to the rigors of college life on the Lower New River!

High Adventure

Hello Up There! One of the most important parts of rock climbing is making sure you have an able spotter watching you from the ground.

Who knew Glenville had the perfect place to practice basic climbing skills? Just above the amphitheater the Introduction to Rock Climbing class makes it's first attempts at real skills.

Canoeing is certainly one of the tamest sports offered by the High Adventure program. A favorite for fishermen and birdwatchers, flatwater canoeing is a great way to relax!

Ready, set, go! Just before heading out for a long day on the slopes of Snowshoe Mountain, these skiers gather together for one more pose - and some body heat!

That's what a cave man looks like! David Boone enters the "Water Passage" at Bowden Cave in Randolph County, West Virginia.

Waiting for the drivers to return from running the shuttle is a great time to share stories about past river trips and get acquainted with new members of the team!

Upon returning from an overnight canoe trip on the South Branch of the Potomac River, Justin Simmons, Jeanine Walker, Asuka Sawai, David Summerfield, Shane Groves, and Sarah Lord Sundstrom are grateful to finally see the sun!

Looks like a successful trip! These new Glenville State College students are ready to take on any assignment after taming the mighty New River!

This climber proves that even novices can make it look easy. There's no where to go but up!

Tomomi Matsuzawa, Robert Taylor, William Oliver, Jody Pauley, Sarah Lord Sundstrom, Chris Owens, David Calabrese, and Jason Chidester are ready to hit the slopes at Snowshoe!

One of Sarah Lord Sundstrom's favorite parts of paddling is the awesome scenery. From rock formations to skylines, there's always something new to see!

Student Government Association

The Glenville State College Student Government Association (SGA) has made tremendous strides in the past four years. Beginning with a name change from Student Congress to the current Student Government Association in 2001, the SGA has redefined the role of student leadership in campus governance.

Today, the Student Government Association is known for its initiative and motivation. In addition to the annual Homecoming celebration, the SGA contributes to the planning of campus-wide events such as GSC Week and Spring Formal. The SGA often teams up with the Office of Student Activities to provide educational programs such as the alcohol awareness Drunk Driving Simulator and various guest speakers. Often, these programs are funded in part by legislative grants written by SGA executive members and their committees.

The SGA holds annual elections for membership, and represents a variety of constituent groups. The executive team, made up of a president, vice president, secretary, treasurer, and parliamentarian, is supported by class representatives, commuter representatives, senators-at-large, international representatives, and residence hall representatives. All students are encouraged to get involved and take part in this exceptional opportunity to build leadership skills and make the most of their Glenville experience.

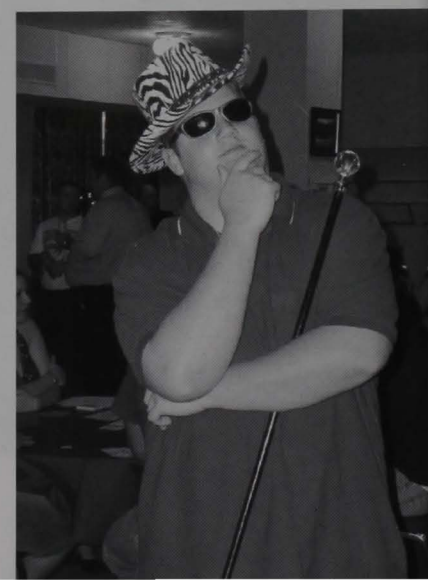

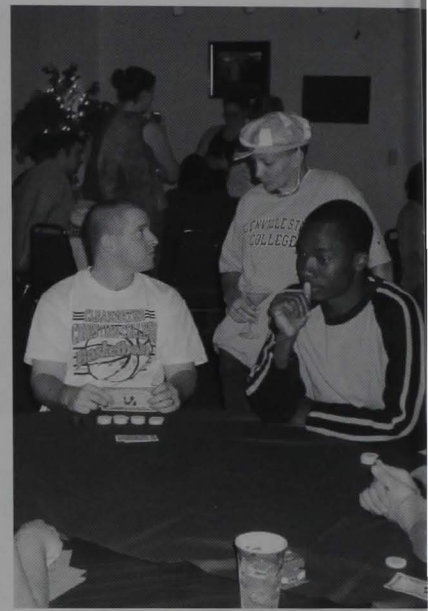

GSC Week

GSC Week is an annual celebration which brings together all areas of the college community. GSC Week planned largely by the Office of Student Activities, with some input on the part of the Student Government Association. Activities and special events are held throughout the week and all members of the college community are invited to take part in the festivities. Scheduled just before finals week in the spring, GSC Week offers an opportunity to unwind and have fun before the rigor of exams begins.

Traditionally, ice cream is served daily during lunch hours, a special favor commemorating the week distributed, the middle of the week holds a campus-wide picnic in the amphitheater, and the week culminates with the Spring Formal held in the ballroom of the Heflin Student Union. In addition to these favorite special surprises are also planned, such as comedians, game shows, concerts, Field Day events, and even dance marathons and giant Twister. During GSC Week, fun is found at every turn!

Resident Assistants

Made up of a group of highly motivated and responsible individuals, the residence hall Resident Assistant team is not only a leadership force in their respective halls, but also on campus. Becoming a resident assistant involves a rigorous interview process and a series of training events; remaining a resident assistant involves a passion for Glenville State College and the conviction that the efforts of one can make a notable difference. In addition to their regular academic workload, RA's not only attend regularly planned student activities, they often create their own. Semesterly, RA's plan and implement both social and academic programs for the residence hall students in an effort to elicit pride and create a sense of belonging among their fellow residents. Resident assistants are students in active pursuit of excellence for the residence halls at GSC.

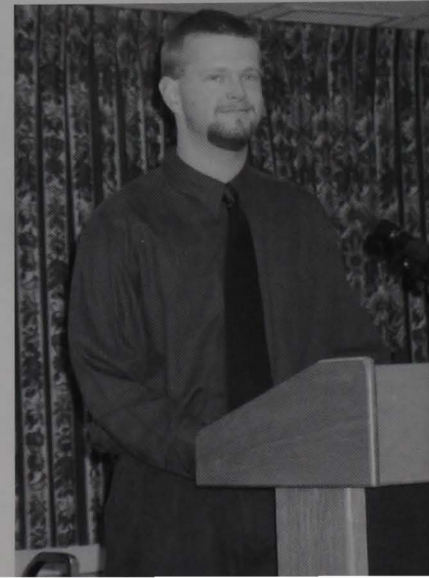

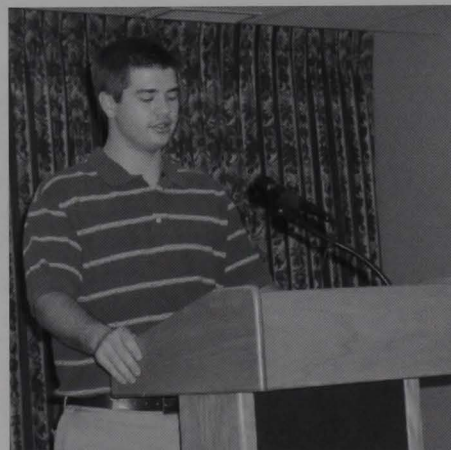

National Issues Forum

Early in 2004, a team of Glenville State College students began working a National Issues Forum intent on developing legislation that will help to ensure a positive future for the state. This program stems from the increasingly difficult reality that West Virginia's population is in steady decline and young people are consistently choosing not to remain in West Virginia after graduation. The purpose of this forum for GSC is to discuss methods for keeping graduates in-state, to entice Mountaineers who have left the state to return, and to convince young people from other states and countries that West Virginia is a fine place to raise families and build futures.

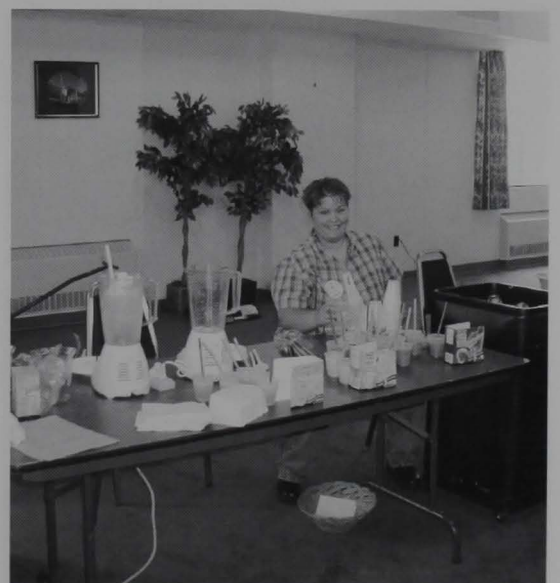

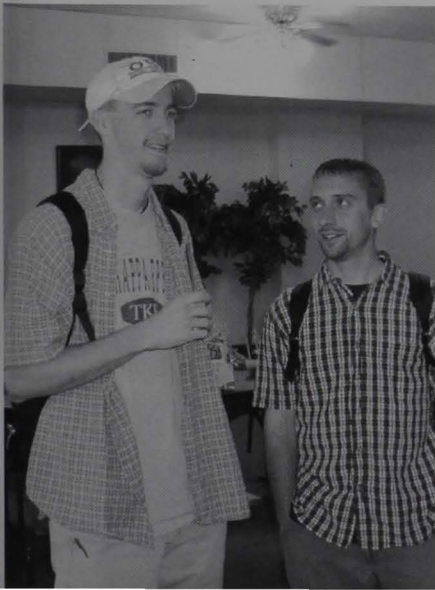

A similar forum was held in the spring of 2003. The focus of the 2003 Issues Forum was of a more global interest. Students were invited to participate in a dialogue concerning the violence erupting in the world and the effects such activities has on the United States, its citizens, and the rest of the world.

The National Issues Forums held throughout the state are sponsored by West Virginia Campus Compact, West Virginia Center for Civic Life, National Campus Compact, and Appalachian Regional Commission.

Alcohol Awareness

Glenville State College's Alcohol Awareness programs are held annually and are sponsored jointly by the Office of Student Activities and the Student Government Association and are partially funded by various legislative grants. The main attraction at these programs is the Drunk Driving Simulator by Kramer Entertainment. The simulator allows participants to see how they may actually perform behind the wheel at various blood alcohol levels. In addition, Student Government members are on hand to make and serve fruit flavored mock-tails, candy with an attached message, and literature concerning alcohol on college campuses. Drawings are held throughout the day for special auto-related prizes.

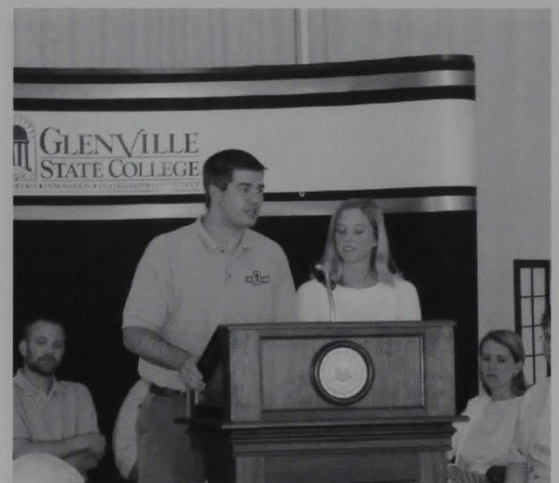

Renaissance Pioneers

In 2002 the Office of Student Activities and the Student Government Association sponsored a "Renaissance Pioneer" program in conjunction with a campus civility series. Students, faculty, and staff members were eligible to nominate others in recognition for a special act involving one of the shared values as outlined in the Renaissance of Shared Values. After nomination, the nominee's application was anonymously reviewed and voted upon by the SGA. Monthly awards were given by the Student Government President Jennifer Butler and Vice President for Student Life Cheryl McKinney. All Renaissance Pioneers were then invited to attend the end of the year Student Life Awards ceremony to be formally recognized.

Student Life Awards

In 2004 the second annual Student Life Awards ceremony was held in the ballroom of the Heflin Student Union. Honored at the ceremony were student organizations, exceptional High Adventure participants, and outstanding residence hall office workers, residents, and resident assistants. President Freeman, Vice President Cheryl McKinney, Jerry Burkhammer, Bonnie Bever, Amy Osborne, Stephanie Wines, and Adam Sundstrom were in attendance to honor the award recipients.

Student Activities

Joe Russell and Adrienne Fitch share the glory of winning the Pioneer Passport prize. To be eligible to win, students carry a passport to each activity on campus. When the passport is completed it can be entered into a drawing for the grand prize.

Right: These late night bingo winners bask in their moment of fame. Hopefully the joy of victory will be enough to get these students through the next week of finals!

Above: These Pioneer Village Residents gather around the Christmas Tree at the second annual Pioneer Village Tree Lighting Ceremony. After a spirited singing of Oh, Christmas Tree these residents are truly in the spirit of the season!

Top Right: You never know what you might find at a Comedy Caravan in PG's. These Glenville guys don't hold anything back - it looks like they're decided to join the show!

Right: Another successful out of town excursion! This time, the destination is Kennywood Park. Hey Amy, who's your new friend?

"They said it was a costume party!" Casey Smith holds nothing back when it comes to creativity. Don't worry, Casey, the award for most original design is definitely in the bag, or should we say the box?

Student Activities director Stephanie Wines and Comedian Mark Anthony take a moment to smile for the camera after the show. Don't forget to get an autograph, Stephanie!

These girls know how to strut their stuff and keep the crowd going at Karaoke Night in PG's. Glenville State has no shortage of talent!

Think Fast! Who said spending time at student activities never got you anywhere? For Kelly Carnegie it turned out to be a very profitable experience!

Angie Nida finds out firsthand what it means to become "very sleepy." Hypnotists are always among the most attended student activities held on campus.

Missy Rose is always a crowd favorite at Karaoke Night. Not surprisingly, Missy won first place in the Karaoke contest and won a brand new Visor handheld organizer!

In support of the College's mission, the Office of Student Activities strives to promote the development of the intellectual, cultural, physical, emotional, moral, and vocational capabilities of students, to provide guidance and direction and encourage freedom of thought and action.

Helping Hands

It's not a new concept that college can be a scary place, especially during the first year. To help make the transition from high school to college just a little easier, Glenville State provides a Student Mentor to each incoming first year student. While the name of the program has changed over the years, from Freshman Counselor, to Orientation Leader, and now to Student Mentor, the goal has remained constant: to provide a bridge by which incoming students can become happy, healthy, and successful members of the Glenville State College community. Once mentors have been assigned, these mentors are with their students even from the initial orientation process doing all they can to help in the adjustment process.

As frightening as beginning college can be, sometimes leaving can be just as nerve-racking. At annual commencement ceremonies students in blue robes can be found at each entry and in other strategic locations making sure the graduates proceed correctly. These students are known as the Glenville State College Student Marshals. Holding one-year terms, marshals carry heavy responsibilities not only at commencement ceremonies, but also at the annual convocation ceremony as well as other high-profile events as needed.

Both Student Mentors and Student Marshals pass through a rigorous application process to earn their positions. These students are among the strongest students leaders on campus, exhibit the highest standards in academic excellence, and are committed to the success of their peers and Glenville State College. Truly, it is the integrity and passion of students such as these that make and keep Glenville State the proud institution it has become.

Division of Business

The Glenville State College Division of Business is a thriving entity, committed to providing quality educational experiences to those students desiring success in today's competitive corporate world. The faculty within the division bring with them a variety of experiences and views. Through this diversity, students are challenged to think critically about their opinions and ethics. The faculty are readily available when needed and encourage frequent communication with advisors.

Students are encouraged to interact with potential employers and recent Glenville State graduates who can both attest to the marketability of a degree from Glenville State as well as keep them abreast of current trends in employment.

Student organizations sponsored by the Division of Business include Phi Beta Lambda and Students in Free Enterprise. Students are encouraged to actively participate in either or both of these organizations to further develop their leadership, interpersonal communication, and community service skills.

Division of Education

Glenville State College, holding fast to its traditions and foundation in preparing teachers, has much to be proud of in the Division of Education. GSC maintains high quality programs specializing in early education, elementary education, secondary education, and special education. These programs have educated teachers in all 55 counties in West Virginia and in states across the nation.

In addition to the academic curriculum, the Division of Education offers membership to two preprofessional organizations, the Student Education Association and the Kappa Omicron chapter of Kappa Delta Pi. Both organizations offer students additional experience in the school systems and enhances the academic educational experience.

Faculty within the Division of Education have a reputation for excellence in their fields as well as an established closeness with their students. Through the personal and professional relationships built between students and faculty, a precedent is set for an understanding of the importance of caring for a student's well being beyond just the teaching methodologies.

Division of Fine Arts

"Achieved economic success without the fine arts indicates an impoverished life. Without music to bolster mankind's spirit and to stimulate human intellect and emotions, we exist, we do not live."

The goal of the Division of Fine Arts is to develop and expand human potential through an understanding of and appreciation for the arts. It is the belief of each of the faculty that music can offer entertainment as well as a vital outlet for creativity and design.

Housed in the newest academic building on campus, the Division of Fine Arts is committed to excellence in their field and strictly follow recommended national and professional standards for success. The result is well-prepared graduates ready to enter a variety of fields.

Division of Land Resources

Priding themselves on a truly hands-on learning experience, the Division of Land Resources provides an academic experience mirroring that which students will see in the field. The Glenville State Land Resources program is one of only 22 in the country officially recognized by the Society of American Foresters. In addition, upon graduation students are eligible to practice forest technology in the state of West Virginia, in accordance with state law, as well as become registered with the West Virginia Board of Examiners of Land Surveyors to receive "surveyor in training" status.

The division has approximately 300 acres of land at its disposal to offer the experiences needed to master the academic material covered in the curriculum. In addition, students have access to modern equipment and tools enabling them to supplement their instruction with relevant materials.

Division of Language and Literature

The Division of Language and Literature is built around two basic beliefs: first, reading and writing are related skills that can never be fully mastered in a lifetime and are quick to deteriorate without constant practice, and second, the ability to read, write, and speak well is vital to success in all areas of life. Regardless of major field of study, the division is committed to instilling these truths in each student that takes part in an English course.

To supplement both the required and elective courses offered, the division sponsors several cocurricular opportunities such as the Literary Society, The Trillium, and theatrical productions by The Ohningohow Players. It is the belief of the faculty that these activities serve to enrich the academic experience and further expand the cultural heritage of society.

Division of Math and Science

The Division of Science and Math encompasses a great variety of academic avenues. Students involved in math or science open themselves up to careers in medicine, pharmacy, optometry, psychiatry, education, or laboratory science, to name a few. Graduates from Glenville State College's math and science programs are also prepared to enter into careers with prestigious state agencies such as the Division of Natural Resources, the Division of Environmental Protection, and the State Police Forensics Lab.

In addition to the academic curriculum, faculty within the Division of Math and Science strongly encourage participation in one or more of the clubs and organizations sponsored by the division. These organizations include Chi Beta Phi, the Science and Math honorary, the Student Affiliates of the American Chemical Society, and Pioneers in Nursing. These organizations are known for their community service efforts and have traveled nationwide representing their groups.

Division of Social Science

The Glenville State College Division of Social Sciences encompasses a great variety of courses. With an emphasis on human behavior, culture, and society, the division concentrates on the areas of criminal justice, global studies, history, political science, psychology, sociology, and behavioral sciences. Whether or not students choose to turn one of these fields into a teaching degree, ample career doors are opened to students from the social science field.

In addition to the rigorous academic curriculum, faculty offer a variety of opportunities for students to enhance their educational experience by attending workshops, supporting internships, and sponsoring divisional organizations. Within the Division of Social Science, students are invited to take part in the National Social Science Honorary, Phi Gamma Mu, as well as specialized groups such as the Behavioral Science Club.

LEADING YOUR TRIBE

The Glenville State College Fine Arts program has long been a proud tradition. Known statewide for their outstanding ability and talents, the students of the program make music more than just a major in college; it truly becomes a way of life. More than just classmates, students in class with you become your friends, your roommates, your life-long companions.

There is a shared sense of pride and honor among both the students and the faculty within the Fine Arts department, creating the perfect recipe for success. Whether travelling to Nashville to play with famous bluegrass musicians or attending the semesterly recitals, the Fine Arts team knows what it means to be a part of the tribe!

Be It

Jeremy Kirk practices for hours every day, and takes private lessons every week. He understands the kind of dedication needed to become a true musician.

Love It

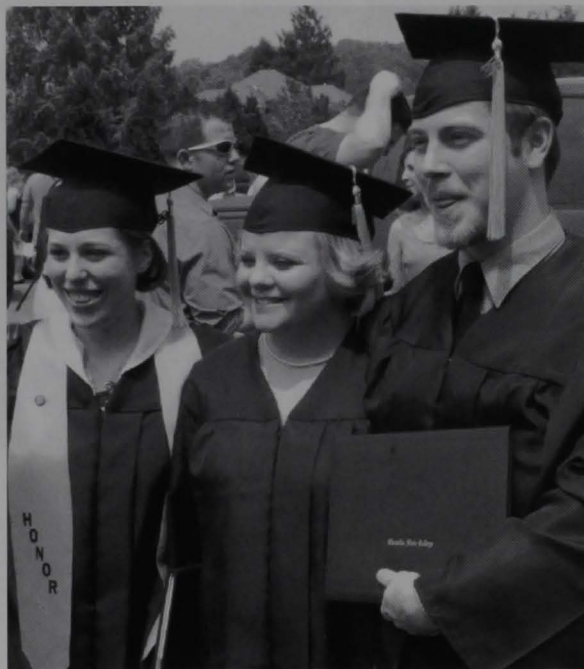

Jamison Miller and Mr. Rich spend time together weekly. Not only does Jamison get a lesson, he gets a talented partner!

Show It

Kelly Bennett knows that hours of practice really do pay off when performance time arrives. She takes great pride in her membership in the GSC Marching Band.

fine arts

The 2002 Glenville State Choir dazzles the West Virginia Legislature in the senate chambers on College Day at the capitol.

Mr. Buddy Griffin trades his fiddle for a guitar for this event. If it's got strings, Mr. Griffin will use it to get the audience going!

Dylan deRosset plays his part at the annual fall Music Fest concert. Although Dylan is actually a business major, he has been active with the band since his freshman year.

Glenville State College

Marching Band

Known best for creating spirit and providing entertainment at home football games in the fall, the GSC Marching Band is one of the largest components of the Fine Arts division. With all music majors participating, the size of the band is great for impressive field formations and striking quality.

In addition to regularly scheduled games, the marching band is invaluable to the annual Homecoming celebration. From keeping the crowd going at the annual Bonfire Pep Rally to providing beautiful background music at the coronation ceremony of the Homecoming Court, the GSC Marching Band is talented and versatile enough to be a valuable addition to any GSC event.

Percussion Ensemble

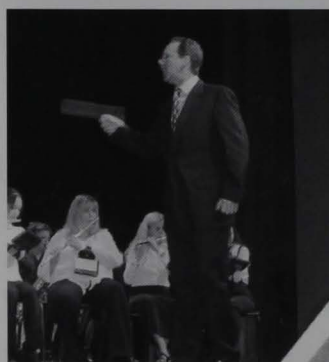

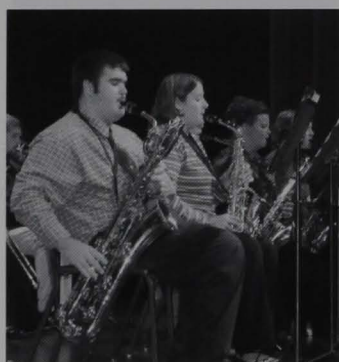

Under the direction of Fine Arts Division Chair Mr. John McKinney, the GSC Percussion Ensemble is comprised of an outstanding group of young musicians who have become well known in states across the nation for their unique presentation style and dramatic flair. This ensemble has performed in schools all over central West Virginia, Snowshoe Mountain Resort, The Greenbrier, and the Grand Ole Opry at the Ryman Auditorium in Nashville, Tennessee.

The Percussion Ensemble performances are one of the few on campus for which admission is charged. These admission fees help to offset the costs of the amazing lights and sound display, typically produced by Fidelity Lights of Virginia Beach, Virginia. The concert is broken into two halves, with the first half featuring traditional percussion pieces from several styles and cultures. The second half features more popular music with increasingly advanced lights displays. Also, the GSC Bluegrass Band has been known to accompany the Percussion Ensemble during the second half of the show.

Without each and every one of you, this book simply could not have been possible. Lastly, to Justin Simmons, for all of your support, encouragement, and faith. You give me strength to do the impossible, and the determination to stay focused. With all my heart, I thank you.

My hope is that this book serves as a glowing reminder of four of the greatest years in Glenville State College history. May you read it with a smile, and remember your College with fondness.

Most Sincerely,

Jeanine M. Walker
