INTRODUCTION

A New Beginning

As one millennium prepared to make way for another, so also did the Glenville State College Community prepare for a new and brighter future. As people throughout the world stockpiled food and supplies in fear of the dreaded "Y2K" computer bug, Glenville State College and the college community instead took the initiative to step into the 21st Century with ideas and enhancements that will last a lifetime.

As a result, the 1999-2000 academic year was both exciting and challenging.

With the arrival of a new college president, renovations across campus, and additional improvements and changes, the college started with a new beginning, guided by the four words adopted as GSC's mission and calling, "Tradition, Innovation, Leadership, Community."

As the 21st century came upon the world, Glenville State College turned to also face "a new beginning." With the help of new president, Dr. Thomas H. Powell, GSC turned onto a new path toward academic excellence.

The first steps were campus and organizational changes, renovations and construction, cosmetic and aesthetic improvements, and restructuring of curriculum and operations. Goals were outlined and high standards were set; the college rose to greet the challenges and requirements of a fresh and new era.

Looking back at our "New Beginning," we can now see the necessary and productive improvements which have occurred over the past year. Building changes have greatly increased accessibility to students with disabilities, new traditions have been initiated, and old traditions have been refreshed and embraced like never before.

Across campus today, new banners hang in bright blue pride, displaying the words adopted for the college's mission and our calling - Tradition, Innovation, Leadership, and Community - four words which describe where we have come from and, more importantly, where we are going.

From the new computer labs and relationships to a refreshed pride in over 125 years of traditions and history, all across campus, what we see and experience applies to our four words of calling. This academic year has truly been a year of rebirth — a new beginning.

PRESIDENT

Thomas H. Powell assumed the role of Glenville State College President in May of 1999. Dr. Powell, First Lady Irene Powell and their family moved into the President's House on campus upon their arrival. For the first time in 23 years, the house is occupied.

One of Dr. Powell's initial moves was to outline the goals and objectives for Glenville State College in a booklet entitled Building Our Academic Community. In his introduction, he explains the four words of our mission and calling,

"We honor our proud traditions by attending to teaching excellence and building academic programs of distinction. Our innovations are aimed at meeting the changing needs of our society. We prepare leaders for West Virginia, and we demonstrate leadership throughout all areas of our College community. We demonstrate the highest ideals of a thoughtful, caring community... Let these words symbolize our work at Glenville State College."

Now, at the end of the year, his excitement, pride and leadership for the college still shines.

"This has been an exciting year at Glenville State College. Not only did we start a new millennium, but we also started a new era for our college and community. We have all have been fortunate to be a part of the College Community at this unique time in our history.

As a college, we recognize our calling and our promise as represented by four simple, although powerful words, Tradition, Innovation, Leadership, and Community. These words of calling serve us now and as we commence from Glenville State College to the larger world. May these words welcome and help tie you to the College and remind you of your calling and of the lifelong relationship you will always have with your alma mater.

Our graduates have a strong foundation thanks to our dedicated faculty and staff. Years from now, when you remember the times you spent here, it is my hope that you will understand how fortunate you have been to be a part of our unique Glenville State College community."

With all best wishes,

Thomas H. Powell

Convocation

On August 18, Glenville State College held the first annual Convocation ceremony - a formal assembly for a specific purpose. The word "convocation" is based on a Latin phrase which means "to call together" and throughout history has been associated with religious or academic gatherings.

The Convocation marked the beginning of the new academic year, the first of the new millennium.

Distinguished representatives from Glenville, Gilmer County and West Virginia joined to offer greetings to the incoming class. Freshmen heard keynote speaker Chancellor Clifford Trump speak to the value of their upcoming education experiences. They also heard from Glenville Mayor Wayne Richmond, County Commissioner Larry Chapman, Philip Reale, Director of the State College System Board of Directors, Student Congress President Jack Beard, Faculty Senate President John McKinney, honorary Chief Faculty Marshal Cheryl McKinney and Board of Advisors member Denise Ellyson.

The freshman class then made an oath of academic excellence (detailed on page 17), voicing their support of freedom of speech, academic integrity and diversity. The ceremony ended with a proud rendition of the Glenville State College alma mater.

Immediately following the Convocation, those present attended a community picnic held on the campus. Members of the Gilmer County community joined those present to welcome both new and returning students to campus.

TRADITION Homecoming

The 1999 Homecoming and the "Disco Fever" theme brought out the best in all who participated. Bringing in commuters and alumni alike, Homecoming at Glenville State College is always an exciting time on campus.

A full week of pride, celebration and fun, this year's Homecoming events produced memories which will last a lifetime. Comedian Eric Passoja entertained students on Tuesday, and on Wednesday students enjoyed free bowling, swimming and movies. Thursday, students showed their pride at the Pep Rally following an open picnic. Friday was successful with the Pioneer Athletic Club Pig Roast and the Homecoming "Disco Fever" Dance featuring D.J. Jammin' Jim.

The Homecoming Coronation Ceremony was as beautiful as ever, as was the new Homecoming Queen, Adina Asleson. A Music Education major from Ravenswood, West Virginia, she was sponsored by Tau Kappa Epsilon and MENC. Senior Princesses were Roberta Rogers and Sara Harper. Libby Denise Hudkins served as Junior Princess, and Sophomore Princess was Brandi Adkins. Freshman Princess was Tara Martin. Also included in the ceremony were Katlyn Danielle Rose as flower girl and Nathan Samuel Allison as the crown bearer.

Activities of the week were all too enjoyable to be tarnished by the Pioneer football team taking a tough and down-to-the-wire loss to Concord at Saturday's football game.

Hard work behind the scenes makes Homecoming so enjoyable, and this year's events were due to the work of Student Congress, the Pioneer Band, and many others. The success of Homecoming week reflects not only the effort and pride of those who helped coordinate the events, but also the close relationships created across campus as students, faculty and alumni all celebrated together.

GSC Week

Each year, just as spring reemerges, Glenville State College has GSC Week, a long standing and spirited tradition. GSC Week is a high-energy, carnival atmosphere designed to give students a break and let them relax before finals. This year was certainly no exception as all present let off steam with laughter at the numerous events and activities.

The inflatable obstacle course - consisting of Bouncy Boxing, Gladiator Joust, Rock Wall, Obstacle Course, Bungee Run, and Sumo Wrestling - was popular to those with an adventurous nature. Students also had caricatures drawn by Dave Washburn, posed for funny fotos, sang with Travelin' Max, and experienced a hypnosis show by Ron Jeffries.

Another popular event was Sandy Sowell's Game Show in the amphitheater consisting of television trivia questions, silly song lyrics, and simple athletic feats. The same day, karaoke, sumo wrestling, human bowling, and human spheres took place on the Clark Hall lawn.

In addition, the Criminal Justice Club sponsored a Jail and Bail. Students were able to arrest their favorite teacher or GSC employee by making a donation to the club. At that point the "convict" was responsible for trying to get someone to "pay their bail" so they could be released. Local officials assisted with the arrests, and even the Gilmer County Prosecuting Attorney served her time.

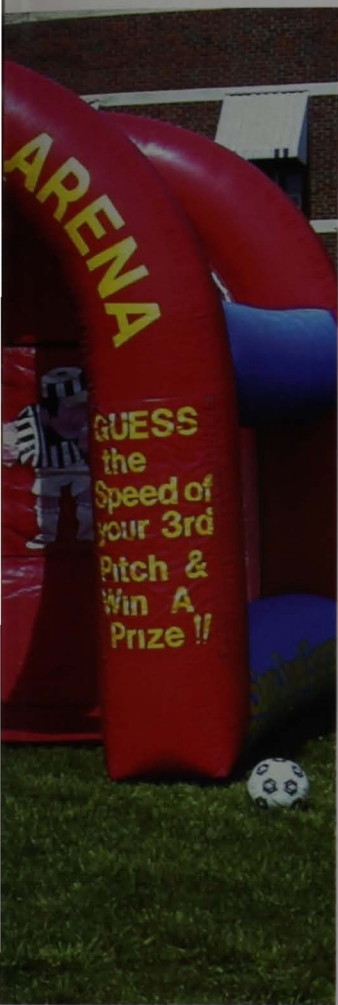

What good are fun and friends without food? Various food and treats were available throughout the GSC Week period. Students were treated to daily ice cream socials and a picnic at mid week.

A perfect week of entertainment and fun, GSC Week was a wonderful way to welcome the return of spring and dissipate those winter blues.

The Mace

The Glenville State College ceremonial mace was unveiled and presented March 15 to President Thomas Powell who said, "I accept this mace as a symbol of the authority of Glenville State College and I will ensure that the college community meets its responsibilities to the people of West Virginia." Powell then entrusted the mace to the new Faculty Marshals, who are responsible for campus traditions and ceremonies.

The tradition of the mace dates back to the earliest times of academia as a ceremonial symbol representing the legal and chartered authority of the college. When the mace is present, the authority of the college is present. For that reason, the mace will be present at all formal gatherings such as commencement and convocation, carried by the Chief Faculty Marshal.

The mace was created by Byron Johnson, a renowned wood carver and sculptor, from a design custom created for Glenville State College by retired art professor Charles Scott. A renowned ceramist with works displayed in the Smithsonian, Scott also created the ceramic pieces which adorn the walnut mace. The mace is topped by an 18-inch diameter cylinder with three carved images: the Pioneer, the original Administration Building and the state of West Virginia showing GSC's location. By combining the diameter of the cylinder (18 inches) with the height of the mace (72 inches) we are reminded of the date of our founding, 1872. Artistic inlays of holly and maple highlight the piece, which is topped with a bronze casting of the Glenville State College seal. Both the walnut and holly used in this piece came from college grounds.

"The mace reminds us that the power and the integrity of the college belongs to the people and is only entrusted to us for short periods of time. The mace serves to remind us of our calling and promise to society and that we, as a community, are vested with special responsibilities," stated President Powell.

When not present in public, the mace will be on display in the President's Office in a custom built case, which was also created from wood from the college campus, and was built by the college physical plant staff.

Academic Oath of Excellence

As a member of the Glenville State College community I dedicate myself to the pursuit of intellectual, cultural, personal, and social growth. To show this commitment I affirm the following:

Freedom of Speech

I will respect the right of others to express themselves as guaranteed by the Constitution of the United States.

Civil and Human Rights

I pledge to protect the civil and human rights of my fellow students, the faculty, staff and administrators, and all members of our College community.

Cultivation of Character

I pledge that I will continue to develop virtues such as courage, compassion, humility, honesty, and loyalty.

Academic Integrity

I will dedicate myself to the ongoing pursuit of knowledge and truth.

Diversity

I will respect the integrity of each person and value individuals for their contributions, which enrich our community.

Social Responsibility

I will contribute to the Glenville State College community and leave our College a better place for my having been here.

Consideration of Others

I will demonstrate concern for the welfare of others and I will respect the dignity of all persons.

The 2000-01 Student Congress takes the GSC Oath of Academic Excellence as they are sworn into office.

Commencement

Commencement marks an entry of trained, qualified, and skilled workers into the community. It is a celebration that commends students for their hard work and dedication to bettering themselves and the community. The Glenville State College graduate looks forward to many opportunities, whether it be a job in the work force of educators, business administration, social service, or graduate studies.

Students who receive a degree are honored, and serve as an example to others working towards similar goals. GSC has been training people to be critical thinkers, hard workers, and productive members of society for over 125 years. The graduating class of 1999-2000 was able to witness a special ceremony that acknowledged fifty year graduates of GSC. This special occasion was an inspirational acknowledgment of the academic success this institution has to offer its students.

President Powell's use of the key words of "Tradition, Innovation, Leadership, and Community" proved to be a successful strategy. Several new traditions emerged this year, including the ceremonial mace that represents the legal and chartered authority of the college. Also, students are being recognized for their academic achievements with student leadership awards. The community has also been more pleasurably involved in the activities provided by the college, and this year's commencement audience was one of the largest ever. Graduates leave GSC confident in their ability to be positive contributors to society.

Pioneer

Ernie Tingler, a senior education major from Calhoun County, has been GSC's mascot this school year. Tingler, son of Eli R. and Hazel Tingler of Big Springs, West Virginia, is a graduate of Ritchie County High School. He is currently a senior majoring in education with specialization in mathematics (5-12) and driver education (9-12). His other activities include the GSC Collegiate 4-H Club, Chess Club, and Zeta Kappa Omega. He is also a resident assistant of Pickens Hall.

Tingler performed at every home game played by GSC's football and basketball teams. The bang from his traditional musket and the cheers of the GSC fans will be remembered by all.

An elegant photograph of Tingler, dressed in the Pioneer's traditional buckskin clothing, was unveiled by Vice President for College Advancement Ed Hamrick and Director of Intercollegiate Athletics Tim Carney. The photograph will be displayed in the Physical Education building near the entrance to the Jesse R. Lilly Jr. Gymnasium, and is the new tradition to honor the college's mascot.

"I would like to thank everyone for allowing me to be the GSC Pioneer for 1999-2000. It was a great honor and privilege. This past year is a year that will stay in my mind forever. I'll never forget it. Go Pioneers!"

Division of Business

The Division of Business prepares students for exciting careers in today's dynamic global economy. A well-conceived core of business courses provides a solid foundation for students interested in career positions or moving into upper management.

This division offers both four-year and two year programs with emphasis on life-long learning and personal and professional development. Modern technology and current software are integrated thoroughly in each program.

In addition to the course work, business majors are also encouraged to participate in student organizations and co-curricular activities that provide members with opportunities for community service, development of interpersonal skills, and the application of leadership skills. Student organizations sponsored by the faculty include Phi Beta Lambda, Student Accounting Society, and Students In Free Enterprise.

Division of Education

The Division of Education is the foundation upon which Glenville State College was built. Since its founding in 1872, GSC has been regarded as a premiere institution of teacher education. There is at least one GSC graduate in every county school system in West Virginia, and Wood County employs 312.

The mission of this department is to prepare students to become exceptional educators for the future. Programs of study include elementary education, adolescent education, and special education with many specializations. Certification obtained by graduates will allow them to teach in West Virginia and all over the world.

Course work is updated providing the student with new technologies and the most recent educational methodologies. Through the cooperation of the surrounding school systems, students have many opportunities to interact in the classroom by observing teachers, participating in read aloud programs, and tutoring. Within the division there are two faculty- advised student organizations, the Student Education Association (SEA) and the Kappa Omicron Chapter of Kappa Delta Pi, an international honor society.

Division of Fine Arts

The Division of Fine Arts is one of the most visually active divisions at Glenville State College and is housed in the Fine Arts Center -- a modern multimillion dollar, multi-use facility. Students have access to a large, modern stage, a first-class recital hall, the largest art gallery in central West Virginia, state-of-the-art practice rooms, and numerous classrooms for both specialized and general learning. Additionally, the art department has a darkroom, a fully equipped ceramic shop, and a newly remodeled art classroom.

The Division of Fine Arts prepares graduates for a variety of opportunities in our state and the nation. Students are prepared for an exit evaluation (performance, exhibit, or recital) which indicates an advanced level of achievement and training.

This division provides the community with a way to participate in college activities. Stage productions and art exhibits welcome people of all ages, backgrounds and origins. The Oral Communications students compete frequently in forensics conferences, and there are several theater productions each year. Student and professional art exhibits are presented throughout the year in the Gallery. The music department has many ensembles for student participation and has received the Peaks of Excellence Award.

Division of Land Resources

The Division of Land Resources offers “hands-on” associate degree programs preparing graduates for a wide variety of career opportunities in the state and region. The division has ready access to about 300 acres of forested land where field exercises replicate real world projects in all programs. In addition, the nearby Cedar Creek State Park, Gilmer County Recreation Center, and other private landowners offer cooperative land holdings for field exercises.

A wide array of global positioning systems (GPS) and other electronic measuring instruments, timber harvesting equipment, a sawmill, and air, water and soil analysis equipment are available for students in their respective programs. The division also has a modern computer lab with the appropriate software to replicate technology currently used by employers in all program areas.

The Division of Land Resources faculty possess the necessary credentials, professional license or registration, and work experience to provide high-quality educational experience for students. Many draw upon personal professional field experiences to develop teaching strategies that provide for a high-level learning environment. Much value is placed on making time for students for career counseling, advising, and problem solving.

Division of Language and Literature

The ability to read, write, and think critically is fundamental to success in college and beyond. The Division of Language and Literature seeks to develop this ability through the college's core curriculum.

The division also offers courses in technical writing, creative writing, and Spanish, including a wide variety of upper-division courses in literature. All programs and course offerings in the division have been approved by both the National Council of Teachers of English and the National Council for the Accreditation of Teacher Education.

Each faculty member puts teaching first, and all pride themselves on giving students close, personal attention. The division, therefore, keeps class sizes small, emphasizing active participation and interaction among students and their professors.

Division of Physical Education

The Division of Physical Education has a long and rich tradition of educating students to be successful teachers, coaches, and administrators through education programs recognized by the National Council for the Accreditation of Teacher Education.

The Physical Education building is equipped with a swimming pool and a newly renovated gymnasium. Students have access to Pioneer Stadium sports training facilities which include a specially surfaced synthetic track and a weight room.

The division has ten professors, nine of whom are also involved in coaching and/or athletic training in addition to their teaching responsibilities. Several members are nationally recognized for contributions to their respective areas of interest. The division emphasizes active participation and interaction among students as well as between professor and student.

Division of Science and Mathematics

The Division of Science and Mathematics' recently-remodeled chemistry lab houses a new infrared ultraviolet visible spectrophotometer and a high pressure liquid chromatography machine. The biology lab is equipped with two big screen televisions that are connected to computers, enabling the instructor and students to participate in projects using the Internet and execute computer presentations.

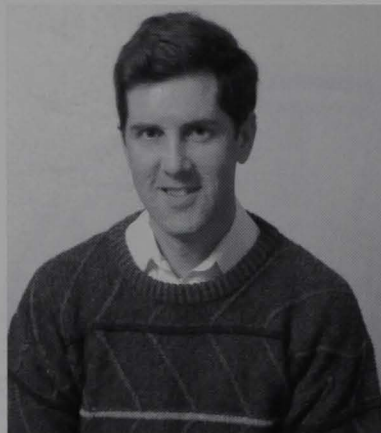

Science and Math graduates leave prepared to enter professional schools of their chosen field. A wide variety of employment opportunities exists as well; our graduates are employed as teachers, nurses, pharmacists and lab technicians. In addition to the public schools, graduates are employed at the state Division of Natural Resources, the state Division of Environmental Protection, and the state police forensics lab.

There are three student organizations that are advised by faculty; The American Chemical Society, Pioneers in Nursing, and Chi Beta Phi (a science and math honorary).

Division of Social Science

The programs offered by the Division of Social Science have a common concern with human behavior and share the belief that human behavior, culture, and society can, and should, be studied through the methods of science.

The strength of GSC's Division of Social Science is its faculty. Each member is an academically competent, professionally active educator. The Social Science faculty exemplifies diversity in academic backgrounds and professional work experience. It is a faculty that enjoys teaching and working with students.

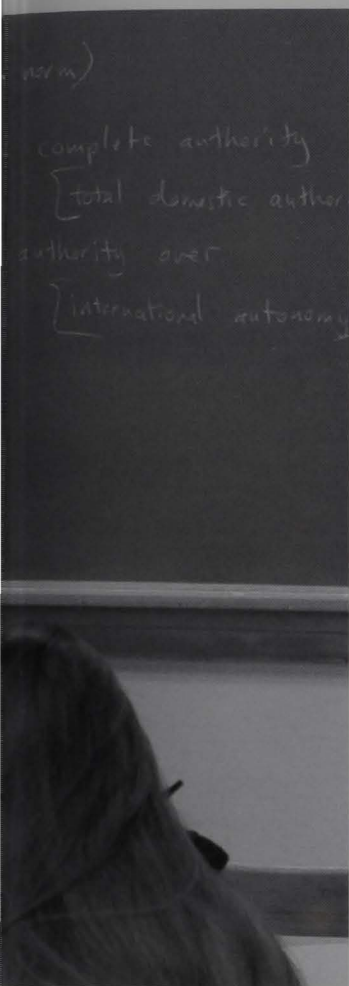

Global knowledge is communicated to the student through advanced teaching strategies. Professors encourage student involvement during lectures, and provide avenues for advancement through research and presentation. There is also opportunity for students to participate in study abroad programs and two internships during the legislative sessions in Washington DC. Faculty-advised and student-run organizations include the Criminal Justice Club and Pi Gamma Mu (a Social Science honorary).

RFK Library

The Robert F. Kidd Library houses information that students depend on for their research. There is constant access to the Internet and a data base that provides an array of journals containing academic literature. Professors include lessons in their agenda that teach students how to access the online catalog. Interlibrary loans and consistently-updated materials are always an option.

The library also contains a fully equipped Instructional Technology Center with an extensive collection of videos and records. Our distance learning center provides professors and students with the ability to interact online in a classroom setting. Viewing and listening rooms allow students to utilize material pertaining to their studies. This year, Robert F. Kidd celebrated the opening of the Berlin B. Chapman Room; an extension of the library that focuses solely on West Virginia and Gilmer County history. All are encouraged to utilize this extensive collection of historical data.

Community residents are also welcome to take advantage of the wealth of resources available. The staff take pride in their ability to assist students with research and are always ready to offer suggestions when asked.

Pioneer Football

FALL

A season highlighted by two exciting home victories on each end of the schedule, Glenville State's 1999 football campaign can only be described as a roller coaster ride. The fall season began with the Pioneers overtaking California, Pa., and the season ended with a win over West Liberty. During the season, the Pioneers were the only WVIAC team to even threaten conference champion Shepherd College, who defeated GSC 22-17 at Pioneer Stadium. The Ram's next closest game was 32 points. Throughout the season, the Pioneers played well, finishing the 1999 football season with five wins, and six losses.

Two GSC players earned first team All-WVIAC honors; freshman tailback Thaddeus Hampton with 925 rushing yards, and senior offensive lineman Mike Frank. Second team all-conference choices included senior defensive end Jeremiah Witherspoon, junior linebacker Blake Tasker and sophomore defensive back Marcus Wade.

Men's Basketball

This year's Men's Basketball Team finished the season with a respectable 12 wins and 15 losses. The Pioneers were led by All Conference Player Salim Lazreg and seniors David Davis, Henry Hurst, Tommy Ewing, Aaron Clark, junior Petrus Hawkins, sophomore Chad Drennen, and freshmen Josh Foster and Jacob Tolley. Other players for the Pioneers include James Arnold, Chad Tingler, Jeremy Wolfe, Erik Butler, Andy Laible, and Rich Swiger.

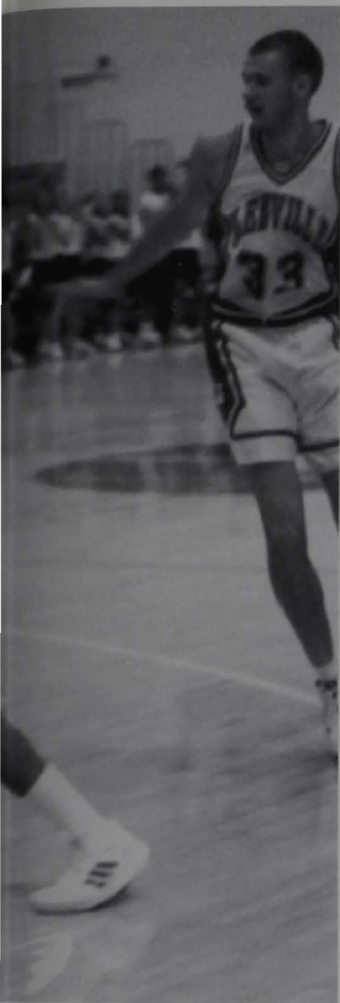

The Pioneers finished sixth in the conference and headed to Charleston, only to lose to nationally-ranked Salem Teikyo University. During the year the pioneers upset WVIAC Champion University of Charleston, handing UC its only loss. The Pioneers will graduate four players this season, however top returnees hope to improve their record and make another run at the WVIAC tournament.

Salim Lazreg was named second team all WVIAC and Josh Foster named to the WVIAC all-freshman team. Lazreg led the Pioneers in scoring with a 14.5 average, while Chad Drennen averaged 11.4, David Davis 10.6, and Pete Hawkins 10.2. David Davis finished 3rd in the WVIAC in rebounding with a 9.1 average. The Pioneers' rebuilding process under third-year coach Bob Williams has paid dividends as GSC has gone from a thirteenth-place finish in the WVIAC in 1998 to a sixth-place finish in 2000.

The highlight during a tripleheader day of basketball January 29, 2000 was the renaming of Pioneer Gymnasium in honor of former basketball head coach Jesse R. Lilly Jr. prior to the men's game. Lilly was a Beckley native who graduated from GSC in 1948, became GSC's basketball coach for one season in 1961-1962, served as football coach from 1962 through 1966, and then took over as permanent head coach of the basketball team in 1966. His teams won the WVIAC tournament championship in 1970 and 1972 and was named coach of the year in 1972.

Women's Basketball

The 1999-2000 Women's Basketball Team finished with a 20-9 record. They earned second in the WVIAC regular season and runner-up in the WVIAC tournament. Four all-conference players, Colleen McBrien, Sabrina Stout, Kelly Osborn and Tammy Spence led the Lady Pioneers this season. Joining All-Conference members were senior co-captain Tara Rutherford, sophomore Christy Crow and freshmen Samantha Williams, Leah Whitley, and Chrissy Richards.

The Lady Pioneers went undefeated at home, with a 10-0 record, and finished strong, winning fifteen of the last eighteen games. The Lady Pioneers earned a first round bye in the tournament, sending them to Charleston, where they defeated West Virginia State and West Virginia Wesleyan, but eventually fell to West Liberty in the championship game. Not only are the Lady Pioneers talented on the court but they are as talented off. Six of nine players made GSC Athletic Academic Honors, and they have the number one team grade point average among GSC teams.

The Lady Pioneers will lose only one player this season and with their returnees, hope to make another run at the Conference title.

Athletics

HIGHLIGHTS

Forty-eight Glenville State College student athletes were awarded academic honors for the fall 1999 semester. These students, representing nearly one-third of the students in GSC's athletic programs, achieved a 3.50-4.00 GPA to be named to the President's List or achieved a 3.00-3.49 GPA to be named to the Director's List. Four of ten athletic teams, Men's Basketball, Women's Basketball, Golf, and Volleyball, scored team GPAs of 3.0 or higher.

"These honor students epitomize the true meaning of the words student athlete," said Tim Carney, Director of Intercollegiate Athletics and chair of the Division of Physical Education. "Our athletes are excelling both on the field and in the classroom."

Janet Bailey, senior women's administrator of the GSC athletic department, served as a crew chief for United States Olympic Committee drug testing clinics. In this role, she oversaw random drug testing for U.S. athletes aspiring to compete in both the 2000 Summer Olympics in Sydney, Australia, and in the 2002 Winter Games in Salt Lake City.

Freshman Ben Hiener made Glenville State College sports history last May by earning an individual berth in the NCAA Division II golf championships held in Valdosta, Ga. The GSC golf team finished ranked 17th in the country according to Division II polls.

Theater

The Division of Fine Arts at Glenville State College supports a thriving Theater performance program with students actively participating in acting, technical, management and directing/design areas. Ohnimogohow Players is the oldest student organization on campus, which, combined with GSC Theater provides performance opportunities for students.

The Forensics Club is an organization that travels to other regional institutions and performs at competitions with speakers from other schools. GSC speakers have placed regularly in the competitions, bringing home glory and trophies for the college.

Participating members in the fall semester play "Communicating Doors" included: Chad Nichols, Joella Harris, Chris Vannoy, Christina Brown, Joshua King and Josalynn Hall. Creative Staff: Nancy Wemm, Christon Gravely, Dennis Wemm and Rebecca Rodriquez.

Alpha Psi Omega

Alpha Psi Omega is a national theatre honorary for upperclassmen who have provided years of service to the other production organizations. Membership is by invitation. Alpha Psi Omega lives by the motto, "Seek the Life Useful", and lives up to that motto by providing services and low cost performances to the community. For years, Alpha Psi Omega has performed the Children's Theatre productions that have delighted local school children from around Central West Virginia. Often, incoming students comment that the first time they were at GSC was for Children's Theatre.

This year's Children's Theatre production was "The Wonder Processor," an original college/community production by Dennis Wemm. Over 1300 local school children attended the performance over a period of three days.

Organizations

MUSIC

The Music Department in the Division of Fine Arts is comprised of students who work very hard and practice long hours to perfect their music abilities. Among the many ensembles for those interested in music are Chamber Singers, Concert Band, Concert Choir, Jazz Band, Marching Band, Music Educators National Conference (MENC), and Percussion Ensemble. These focused organizations would not be able to function without the dedication of the faculty and students.

ATHLETICS

The capable and talented student athletes at Glenville State College have the support of faculty in organized clubs pertaining to sports. The Fellowship of Christian Athletes provides the opportunity for athletes from all denominations to interact in prayer and social activities. An important part of the Athletic Department is the cheerleading squad. Students work long hours perfecting their cheers which boost the self esteem and energy of the players and spectators at sporting events.

The organizations hold fund-raisers such as car washes, bake sales, and singing telegrams to support their expenses. Students plan unique trips and events. This year the FCA dribbled a basketball all the way to the WVIAC basketball finals, reviving a GSC tradition.

BUSINESS

The Division of Business offers students the opportunity to be active members of business oriented clubs. Students In Free Enterprise (SIFE), Phi Beta Lambda (PBL), and Student Accounting Society are clubs that expose the business students to business affiliated functions and opportunities.

Two Business organizations travelled nationally to competitions this year. SIFE members went to Kansas City, and PBL members travelled to Los Angeles.

LAND RESOURCES

The Division of Land Resources at Glenville State College offers organizations that develop skills and help to better inform those working towards degrees in forestry, land surveying and environmental technology. Among these organizations are The West Virginia Association of Land Surveyors, The Soil and Water Conservation Society, and The Forest Technology Club. Students are able to interact and share common goals which adds to their training.

LANGUAGE ARTS

Language and Literature provide the basis for communication and interaction for the American culture. At Glenville State College the Division of Language and Literature offers many opportunities for students to expand their knowledge and understanding of literature and language arts. Literary Society, the International Students Club, The Trillium, and The Mercury are based out of this division. Students in these clubs experience the diversity of lingual and literal interaction.

Organizations

SOCIAL SCIENCE

The Social Sciences are the studies concerning the human condition. A versatile faculty and student body make up the advisors and members of these clubs, associated with fields such as Criminal Justice, Political Science, History and Behavioral Science. Students and faculty work together dedicating much of their valuable time to learning. The clubs associated with this division are Pi Gamma Mu, Student Voters Coalition, and the Criminal Justice Club. These clubs are an interactive arena that challenge the students, provide knowledge through novelty, and open the rest of the campus to the understanding of the Social Science field.

EDUCATION

Clark Hall houses the classrooms used to educate students at Glenville State College pursuing a degree in Education. The organizations affiliated with this field are the Student National Education Association (SEA); and Kappa Delta Pi. Education Majors coordinate read-out-loud, fund-raisers, and book donations. These clubs give GSC students ability to interact in activities pertaining to their field of study.

Organizations

Students have the availability to join several gender based clubs. A sorority or fraternity gives students the chance to form close relationships and have a support group that functions like an extended family. For the women, Sigma Rho Lambda, Theta Pi, and Alpha Theta Xi offer social opportunities. For the men, Tau Kappa Epsilon, Zeta Kappa Omega, and Alpha Xi Omega are Greek clubs of brotherhood. Student members of these clubs participate in fund-raisers, athletic activities, and have regular scheduled meetings. Membership is all by invitation.

The student body at Glenville State College has a plethora of active organizations to choose from. Those interested in chess may join the Chess Club. For students with a Christian based philosophy there is Baptist Campus Ministry, the Wesley Foundation and the Fellowship of Christian Athletes. For strength and support of alternative life styles, Colors of Pride was organized and instituted.

The two Residence Halls have their own governing boards; Louis Bennett Hall Governing Board and Pickens Hall Governing Board. These residence halls organize weekly activities to keep students entertained and help alleviate stress. Student Tour Guides and Recruitment Supporters (STARS), and the Pioneer Programming Board welcome prospective students and schedule activities and entertainment for the students.
