To Greet You

Dedictory Remarks

This the first volume of the Kanawha is dedicated to HON. LOUIS BENNETT of Weston, West Virginia, the first principal of the Glenville Normal School.

HON. LOUIS BENNETT.

History of Hon. Louis Bennett

LOUIS BENNETT, the subject of this sketch, was born November 27th, 1849, at Weston, West Virginia, being the son of Honorable Jonathan M. Bennett, a prominent lawyer and public man both of the old and new State, and of Margaret E. Bennett, daughter of Captain George W. Jackson, a soldier of the war of 1812, and a near relative of General Thomas J. (Stonewall) Jackson.

As a boy he spent the last two years of the war at Richmond, Virginia, receiving an appointment as midshipman in the Confederate Navy a short time before the evacuation of that city. Afterwards he received a liberal education at private schools, the old Academy at Morgantown, the preparatory collegiate school of Judge Coleman, at Fredericksburg, Virginia, and the University of Virginia, at which University he graduated in Law in 1871.

Politically a Democrat, he has held with credit many appointive and elective offices. While a committee clerk in the State Senate he was appointed Principal of the State Normal School at Glenville. He took charge during the Winter of 1872-1873, being its first Principal. He continued as such for the remainder of that term and for the next two sessions, and then desiring to follow his profession of law, he declined further appointment, though he has never since ceased to take an active interest in the school and its pupils.

Returning to Weston, he engaged in an active and remunerative practice of law, serving however, one term as principal of the Weston High School, to which position he was appointed over his remonstrances. He was Prosecuting Attorney of Lewis County for eight years from 1880 to 1888, inclusive, and was a member and Speaker of the House of Delegates during the session of 1891. After that he retired as far as he could from active law practice, and for many years declined all political preferment, devoting his time to his increasing business affairs. Many of these brought him in close contact with the people of Gilmer, Braxton and Calhoun, in which counties he is a large real estate owner, and where he feels almost as much at home as in his own county.

In 1904 he was placed upon the Democratic presidential ticket as elector-at-large. And in 1908 he was the Democratic nominee for governor, running far ahead of his ticket. He is still closely identified with the political and business interests of the State, taking such opportunity as he can to indulge in his favorite pleasure of travel. During his many trips abroad he has visited nearly all points of interest in the old world. But he always comes back with a still warmer spot in his heart for West Virginia and its people.

In business he is a large real estate owner, farmer and stock raiser, a banker, manufacturer, independent coal and oil and gas operator, and president and director of many industries.

NORMAL SCHOOL BUILDING.

HISTORY OF SCHOOL

LENVILLE, the county seat of Gilmer County is located mainly on the right bank of the Little Kanawha river about a hundred miles from Parkersburg. It is surrounded by lofty hills, worn into curious forms by the long continued erosion of that winding and rapidly flowing stream. The population of Glenville is now between five and six hundred, and the town has gradually extended up the hillsides from the lowlands on which it was originally built.

Just north of Glenville and adjacent to it rises a round hill, about whose base, geologists tell us that in all probability the waters of the river once flowed on all sides, forming an island. This opinion has recently been greatly strengthened, since pieces of wood, bark, and other forest drift have been found well preserved at a depth of from fifty to sixty feet in the valley at the foot of this hill on the side opposite from the river.

On the summit of this hill a certain Captain Moore of an Ohio regiment constructed a fort of the block-house type during the Civil War; and, although the block-house was burned by guerrillas about the close of the war, the spot has ever since been known as Fort Moore.

Well up on the slopes of this hill stand the buildings of the Glenville Normal School, surrounded by an attractive campus dotted with various kinds of native and imported shade trees and evergreens, interspersing a well-kept lawn, which is further adorned by beds of flowers. From these grounds an excellent view of the river, the town and the hills beyond is afforded.

The buildings themselves are constructed of stone and brick. The old one is equipped with apparatus for laboratory experiments and other furnishings for use in school work, including pianos for students of music. Its walls are decorated with pictures, and there is a splendid library containing about thirty-five hundred volumes. Since the new building is still in process of construction, it of course is not yet furnished, but, as a substantial sum has been appropriated by the Legislature, it is expected that it will be thoroughly equipped with the most modern conveniences.

On February 19, 1872 an act was passed by the Legislature of West Virginia providing for the establishment of a branch of the Normal School at Glenville on condition that the citizens of the town would furnish suitable buildings without expense to the State. T. M. Marshall, who was then taking a language course at Marshall College, was appointed to take charge of the school, but was not given the title of Principal, probably on account of his youth.

He opened the school January 14, 1873 in the old court house on the site now occupied by the present court house building. This was used for two terms, when a two story frame building known as the "Lively House" was bought by the citizens of Glenville and given to the school. Some of the principal contributors in this purchase were S. L. Ruddell, Milton Norris, C. B. Conrad, Robert R. Marshall, and W. T. Wiant. The building thus donated was occupied until 1885. The first class graduated from the Glenville Normal in 1874.

Very much credit is due to Professor T. M. Marshall for his indefatigable labors for the school under most trying and discouraging conditions. During one year while he was principal no appropriation was made for the institution by the Legislature, but he and Mr. E. H. Dodson, his assistant, continued the school, and at times he himself would dig and carry the coal that was used for fuel.

But the growth of the school, though slow, was steady, and the outlook gradually became more hopeful. In 1885 the Legislature appropriated $5,000 for building purposes, and a substantial brick structure took the place of the old frame building. The school continued to grow, and by 1903 this building was found inadequate to the demands upon it. So, in that year the Legislature granted an appropriation of $20,000 with which a new building was constructed and joined to the one built in 1885.

This building was sufficient to accommodate the school for some years, but owing to the recent great educational awakening (the enrollment having increased threefold within four years) more room was greatly needed. The Legislature in 1909 generously voted $35,000 with which to erect a new building, which is now almost completed. Again in 1911 an additional appropriation of $12,000 was made for building an auditorium. At the same time $2,400 was voted to pay for grounds for the last named two buildings.

By a survey of early catalogues we find that the two courses at first offered by the school, the Normal and the Scientific, covered a period of but two years each. Gradually the curriculum was extended until now in either the Normal or the Academic Course four years' work is required. Excellent work in Music and Elocution is likewise given by competent instructors.

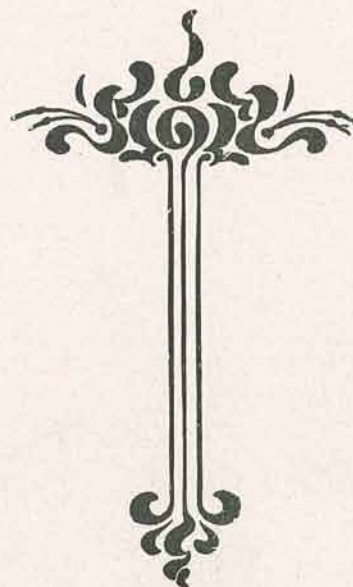

There are two literary societies in the school, the Cosmian and the Independent. The Cosmian society maintains a debating club, and the Independent society has organized an excelsior club. Both the Y. W. C. A. and Y. M. C. A. are strong organizations and exercise a healthful, moral influence. There are also an athletic association, a German club, and a Grange which are practically an adjunct of the school. These organizations afford students ample opportunities for physical and social, as well as intellectual development.

The growth of the Glenville Normal School, although there have been at times fluctuations and temporary decreases in attendance, has been on the whole constant and satisfactory. The school is now under the control of a strong faculty of twelve members. The annual enrollment of students is about four hundred with every year registering a marked increase. The alumni of the school number more than two hundred, and many of them are filling high positions of honor and trust. There are twenty-eight members in the present senior class which is the largest in the history of the institution.

The influence of the Glenville Normal in establishing higher educational ideals throughout central West Virginia has been most salutary, and we feel a pardonable pride in contemplating what has been done. With our splendid new building, our earnest and efficient corps of teachers, and our loyal and enthusiastic student body the prospect for far greater accomplishments in the future is most gratifying.

HISTORY OF FORMER PRINCIPALS

T. M. MARSHALL.

T. M. Marshall was born in 1851 at Stout's Mills, West Virginia. Taught 1865-66 in the free schools. Graduated Marshall College State Normal School 1870, the first class that ever graduated from a Normal in West Virginia. Completed the higher Normal Course of Marshall College in 1872. Later he took a Post Graduate Course in the same school. Appointed first assistant principal Glenville Normal, 1872. Principal from 1875-81. Principal of Ward School at Omaha, Nebraska, 1881-84. Organized school at Pueblo, de San Juan el Buena. Taught Carlisle, Pennsylvania in 1893. Visited Jerusalem in 1904. Now a farmer at Stout's Mills, West Virginia.

S. P. LAZEAR.

S. P. Lazear was born October 13th, 1846, in Brooke County Virginia. Educated at West Liberty Normal School and Bethany College. Graduated Bethany College, 1879. Principal of the State Normal School at Glenville, 1881-82. Clerk of the Circuit Court of Brooke County for ten years.

HON. R. F. KIDD.

R. F. Kidd of Glenville, West Virginia, was at the head of the Glenville Normal School from 1882-1884, and then entered upon the practice of law. He was elected to the House of Delegates in 1886. He was chosen State Senator in 1898, and has been a member of that body ever since. Senator Kidd has always been a warm friend to the cause of education. The Glenville Normal has had in him a zealous advocate and a staunch defender.

E. I. HALL.

E. I. Hall, born on a farm near Vandalia, West Virginia, August 5th, 1859. Attended country schools, Glenville State Normal, Central Normal College of Indiana and Mt. Union College, Ohio. Senior Class History

WHEN our dear principal began to cast his eyes about to select a very worthy class for graduation in 1911, it came to pass that he divided the sheep from the goats and placed the sheep upon his right hand, the goats upon his left. Then with a clear even-toned voice, with strong inward feelings of mingled pride and admiration at the prospect of having such a worthy and illustrious class for 1911, he said: "I have chosen you to build a monument of fame both for yourselves and to this institution; I have chosen you to go forth to reflect honor upon your respective vocations; I have chosen you because you are the best fitted and prepared to nobly discharge the duties of true citizens." Then, turning to those upon his left he said: "Wicked and slothful students! Why have you not employed your time and your talents (?) to better purpose? You should well know by this time that there is no royal road to knowledge. Enter therefore, into the true spirit of education, for he that entereth in any other way is the same as a thief and a robber. Who hath ears to hear, let him hear, for verily, verily, I say unto you that except you heed this warning and admonition, you shall be cast forth into outer darkness when there shall be weeping and wailing and gnashing of teeth. O, ye under classmen, beware?

It was then that this progressive band of young men and young women united to work side by side while in school and to cooperate with each other, even after leaving here, in the grand scheme of education.

In their brief history, their feats have been many, their defeats few. This class, while juniors set a precedent in giving the Senior class of last year a cordial reception a short time before commencement. At the same time the sophomores and freshmen received a warm reception of stones, bricks, and clubs as a reward for their pains in turning off the lights. Our class has the distinction of being the first to plan a year book and to put their plans into execution. The Kanawhachee will remain a monument to the 1911 class.

It cannot be said that any member of this class has reached the height of his ambition. In this class can be seen some brilliant students who will make their mark in the world in different vocations. As farmers, merchants, teachers, ministers, doctors, lawyers, legislators, and as citizens, each we believe will win a worthy place. Our aims and hopes are high. Our watchword is truth. To each of us may this be a motto:

"This above all: to thine own self be true,
And it must follow as the night the day,
Thou can'st not then be false to any man."

HISTORIAN.

CLARKE H. BAILEY,

Glenville, W. Va.

C. D. C.

Y. M. C. A. Treasurer, 1910-'11.

C. L. S. President, fall '10.

Editor of History Department on Kanawhachen Board.

Clarke is a product of a Gilmer County farm. He is little but mighty—mighty in argument, mighty in love, mighty in his dignity. He has taught in the country schools. During the summer of 1910 he made a record as an agent in Ohio. In spite of his love for the opposite sex, Bailey has attained the goal for which the members of the class of 1911 have so faithfully worked. Clarke expects to study law, but will probably teach in 1911-'12.

SUSAN ROXIE BELL,

Glenville, W. Va.

Y. W. C. A.

Secretary I. L. S., Fall '10.

Cheer up Roxie this old world is not all sorrow after all. We feel Roxie's presence though we see her not. She has charms that will cure an aching heart. Roxie's favorite occupation is singing and her favorite song is "My Dear." She is tempered in the fire of learning and sometimes shows her temper.

RALPH W. BOGGS,

Normantown, W. Va.

C. L. S.

Manager Foot Ball Team, 1910-11.

It has been very, very few times that our Boggs has been called before the principal. The reason why we can hardly understand. When such a thing has happened he has generally set things his way again by telling the faculty a good joke. Likely he will spend vacation on his father's farm, and next year take up the law course at our State University.

HAROLD HAYS BROWN,

Glenville, W. Va.

I. L. S.

Harold Brown is a certain individual of the class of 1911 who is called "Dick" for short. Among the many things that might be said in his favor is this: Harold is the only member of the class who has never been known to have a special lady friend. We hope to hear of him, in the near future, "holding down" a good position and getting near the fair sex. Harold expects to teach but a short time, after which he is going to college.

WILLIE COOPER,
Tanner, W. Va.
Y. M. C. A.

C. L. S. Vice President, spring '11.
C. D. S., Vice President, winter '11.
C. D. S., President, spring '11.

We are proud of having a great mathematician in our class; but Willie is not only good in mathematics; he stands at the head of most all his classes. He is one among our greatest athletes. He has received two letters of honor for his excellent service on the foot ball field, and one for his service in track work. He is hard to beat in athletic stunts. He is an exuberant winner of the fairer sex. To see him in company one might infer that he is bashful, but he gets there just the same.

OREN R. BUSH,
Newberne, W. Va.

C. L. S.; President winter '11;
Y. M. C. A.; C. D. C.

Some five years ago this young man, a very timid country lad, entered the normal. As is usual his timidity did not last long, and he is now a stately, energetic, forward fellow. We sometimes call him Rose for short. His chief characteristic is his smile, which is to be seen each time you meet him. Oren has worked hard in school to reach the goal. One of his greatest difficulties is to keep awake in class. He spent some months in Ohio last season as a book agent, when he is said to have become a flirt. Whether a flirt or not he is a good fellow and may he have a "Bright" future.

FRANK CLIFTON DUVALL,

Camden, W. Va.

C. L. S.

C. D. C., Vice President, spring '10.

C. D. C., President fall '10.

Y. M. C. A.

He is a straight grained "chip" off the Lewis County "block." He is a diligent student, but no grind; an ardent lover, but no flirt. Cliff is as steady as a clock and we are sure if he does not make a "catch" this year, that some pretty girl will catch him next year. This summer he will work a gold mine in ——— after which he will return to wield the rod over the youth of West Virginia. Success surely will attend his earnest efforts.

CARL COX,

Cox's Mills, W. Va.

Y. M. C. A.

C. L. S. Vice President, fall term '10.

C. D. C.

Deutsche Gesellschaft.

Cox's Mills he calls home

Where the rattlesnakes crow and the catamounts roam.

He has plenty of friends and some few foes,

Bright black eyes and a large Roman nose;

He was never accused of cheatin'.

ELI CAMDEN HENDERSON,

Wallace, W. Va. /

Y. M. C. A.

I. L. S. president winter '11.

Senior Class Treasurer.

Kanawhachen Board.

Eli or "Sye" or Hiram, for he answers to any of these names, entered the G. N. S. in the fall of 1910, and no sooner had he landed than the boys and girls initiated him into the Senior Class.

He is a brilliant young man—in athletics, with the energy of a "Sampson." For his excellent service on the football field he has received letters of honor from Waynesburg College as well as here. To him there is no other sound like the chime of a "Bell."

HARRISON QUAY GRIGGS,

Vadis, W. Va.

Y. M. C. A.; C. D. C.; C. L. S. president, spring term '11.

Five years ago Quay made a wise decision when he fully made up his mind to enter the G. N. S. During all this time he has been engaged in his preparation for complete living. He is a representative of both the Normal and Academic courses. He is a "plunger" in the school as well as on the football field. Quay has been one of the class who did not neglect the social side of life. During his leisure hours he is often seen mingling with his most intimate friends. He expects to teach school but a short time and then he is going to college to prepare himself the best possible for life in this strenuous twentieth century.

JOHN TILDEN HULL,

Freemansburg, W. Va.

Teacher.

I. L. S.; Y. M. C. A.; E. D. C.

"Tilly Hull" comes from that good old county of Lewis. He is noted for his oratory, his dignified appearance and his manly physique. "Shell" loves all the ladies alike, but seems to have a few favorites among the boys. He says that he is living in hopes that the next leap-year will turn up something new. After completing his course here he expects to teach for a year or two and then go to the West Virginia University where he probably will take a law course.

LYCURGUS HYRE,

Gaines, W. Va.

C. L. S.; Y. M. C. A.; C. D. C.;

President of the Senior Class.

In a wooded dale in the back woods of Upshur, somewhere back in the eighties, one Lycurgus Hyre first opened his eyes. He was always a precocious child at home, and not being allowed to associate freely with other children probably accounts for his timidity and eccentricity. Lycurgus came to Glenville in the spring of 1906, and commenced his career as a student. His modesty and studious habits soon won him the respect and admiration of his teachers and classmates.

GOLDIE CLARE JAMES,

Glenville, W. Va.

Teacher.

I. L. S. Secretary Winter Term '11.

Y. W. C. A.

Goldie is a resident of Glenville and we are glad to have her in the class. She is an energetic young lady, always happy and jolly and wears the smile of a "Prince." Her social nature is developed pretty well and to see her meeting her friends one might think that she had taken extra courses in "campusology." She will undoubtedly meet with success in her vocation as teacher since she is able now to give a practical demonstration of her work.

JOHNSON KIDD,

Glenville, W. Va.

I. L. S. President Fall '10.

Y. M. C. A.

Manager of Base Ball Team '10-'11.

Attended Glenville Public School and later entered the Normal work. Johnson is a fairly good looking fellow—but "O. U. Kidd." This Kidd is highly esteemed by all who know him and we understand that when he graduates he will represent the Arbuckle Coffee Company as general manager. However he expects to take a course in law first.

WILLIAM WARNER LOVELL,

Vadis, W. Va.

C. L. S.; Y. M. C. A.; C. D. C. president spring term '10.
Art Editor of Kanawhachen '11; Basket Ball Mgr., '09, '10.
Deutsche Gesellschaft.

William is a native of Vadis, Lewis county, W. Va., but roams the world at large in search of what he may devour. It has been said that it takes a great genius to picture stories in a vivid manner. This ability William possesses for he is one of our greatest local novelists. He is an enthusiastic lover of art and to see him sitting at his desk depicting some beautiful object one might infer that his whole soul is in the picture. He expects to be a great artist in the future and great things are expected of him. As to girls, he inclines toward short ones.

JUNIE BROOKS LOHAN,

C. L. S.

C. D. C. vice president spring '11.

Y. M. C. A.

J. B. hails from the county of Lewis and well does he represent his county. He has become quite famous as an athlete and is noted for valor and courage. His sweet temper and good looks have helped him to capture a wife from the class of '10. That is only one instance of what one member of our class has already accomplished and Junie recommends that the rest of the class "go and do likewise."

PEARLIE CECIL McQUAIN,

Crawford, W. Va.

Going to College.

C. L. S., Vice President winter term '11.

C. D. C.; Y. M. C. A.; Deutsche Gesellschaft, G. N. A. A.

Here is a record breaker, a bright and shining star of our class. He is recognized as one of the best teachers in Lewis County, where he has taught for a number of years. McQuain is the pride of all his teachers. His grades are all A's and A+'s. In class his quiet and unobtrusive entrance on a discussion is a gentle signal for the rest of the class to sit up and take notice. May his future be as bright as it is now promising.

ODA KATE PETERSON,

Weston, W. Va.

Y. W. C. A.; C. L. S. secretary fall '10.

Editor-in-chief of Kanawhachen board.

Deutsche Gesellschaft.

Oda is one of the finest girls that Lewis County has ever produced. She does with all her might whatever her hand finds to do. Just now she is not only very busy herself as Editor-in-Chief of this book, but also has all the Seniors very busy. If ability to command others makes a genius we have one in our midst. What we can hear of Oda before she came to Glenville shows that she has always—even while a little girl, been thoughtful, a conscientious worker and enthusiastic in things worth while. Some one heard some one say a few days since that Oda is one of the sweetest girls in school and we say "ditto."

GUY RAYMOND POST,

Roanoak, W. Va.

I. L. S. President Spring '11.

Y. M. C. A.; E. D. C.

Guy hails from the county of Lewis. He is noted for his oratorical talent, good recitations and profound seriousness. However he has many times been overcome by that great power of love. He has been heard to say: "Love me, and the world is mine." In later years when we are visiting the larger cities of our country, in some one of them, we expect to see a shingle hanging from Guy's place of business, on which will be written, "G. R. Post, M. D."

HARLEY DOWNTON ROHR,

Alum Bridge, W. Va.

C. L. S.

Y. M. C. A. President '10-'11.

Delegate to Y. M. C. A. Conference '09.

Upon entering the G. N. S. this boy soon banished his timidity and soon after found some one in whom he could confide his troubles. Harley has developed a voice for singing and an eye for nature. He is now preparing himself to be a teacher of Agriculture.

JOSEPH UPTON ROHR,

Alum Bridge, W. Va.

C. L. S.; Y. M. C. A.

"Up" as he is generally called, has taught in the country schools. At present he is at Richmond, Va. studying medicine but will be in for the Summer term to finish the Normal Course. During the time that Joseph was in school we had an "Up Roar" continually. He can not be said to have been so successful in all things as his brother Harley Downton but has done good work in school. A bright future is predicted for him.

OLIVE ROHRBOUGH,

Beverly, W. Va.

Member Independent Literary Society.

Member Deutsche Gesellschaft.

President Y. W. C. A. 1910-1911.

Olive has taught. She is the only member of the class of 1911 from the county of Randolph and well does she represent it. This member of the class is a great lover of birds especially the crow. She is noted for her dignity, though not so dignified after all when we become acquainted with her. Next year she will be busily engaged in pouring out her knowledge to the youths of West Virginia.

MARY VIRGINIA RUDELL,
Glenville, W. Va.

C. L. S. Secretary; Y. W. C. A. Secretary 1910-'11.
C. D. C. Secretary winter 1909; Graduate, elocution 1909.

Mary is the "canary" of the class. Whistling is with her a fine art. When she puckers her lips, the audience waits in breathless silence; when she has finished the applause is long and loud. Mary especially excels in the study of Geography, being able to locate on the map the city of Morgantown. (I wonder why) and the island Sicily (?) She will teach next winter, but soon after her school closes she expects to——. We predict a happy future for Mary, even if she has no lamb.

WILLIAM ELBERT SIMPSON,
West Union, W. Va.
Teacher.

Y. M. C. A.; C. L. S.; C. D. C.; Cadet Captain.

The great responsibilities that lie before us are not always easily met, but it seems that William has the ability to meet all occasions with dignity. He has the military genius of a Washington; the oratorical power of a Pitt. To see him winking and blinking his eyes and gesticulating with his right fore finger, while speaking, one might take him to be an actor off the stage. William expects to teach but a short time after which he will enter college.

HATTIE HATFIELD TWYMAN,

Cairo, W. Va.

C. L. S. secretary winter '11.

Y. W. C. A.

Hattie entered the Normal in the fall of 1909. She has been a faithful student, and well known among her school-mates, who said Hattie doesn't care for the boys? This is a serious mistake, because she has been seen walking and talking with some of them. From her quiet disposition strangers might infer that she is married, but she is only thinking how long it is till leap year again. Hattie expects, when she leaves school, to share some of her ideas with the children of our state.

LULU GRACE TICHNER,

Cairo, W. Va.

C. L. S. secretary winter '10.

C. D. C. secretary fall, '10.

Lulu entered the G. N. S. in the fall term of 1909, and has been noted for her giggling. She is an apt student possessing the ability to get her work easily. She is a great lover of sounds, especially does she love to hear the ringing of the "Bells." She is a model teacher in the model school, and expects to go forth and mold the character of some of our boys and girls of West Virginia.

ABEL WRIGHT,
 Racket, W. Va.
 Teacher.
 C. L. S.

Abel is a man who believes as Andrew Jackson did, "Never do things by halves." His literary work, along different lines, and his class work show an excellence that demands no mean rival. It is truly remarkable how many things he can do at one time and make a success of them. Abel can go to school, pump oil wells and farm at one and the same time. Keep him busy? Why, no, not half, this is only a sample of what he can and expects to do after graduation.

HOMER WITTE
 Minnora, W. Va.

Teacher.

I. L. S. President '08-'09. Y. M. C. A. President '08-'09.
 G. N. A. A. Treasurer '08-'09. E. D. C.

This man's name is Witte
 And he goes with a lady named Sharp.
 He hasn't been worth a twit
 Since Cupid struck his heart—
 He started out to win a degree or title,
 But he has given it up to ride his motor-cycle.
 He lives in the county of Calhoun
 Where he was reared on cornbread 'possum and 'coon
 On June the ninth when in the height of his glory,
 He'll take his diploma and go back to Minnora.

OUR CLASS OF 1911

There's a famous class at the G. N. S.
 They number one and twenty-seven;
 And tho you travel fleet, you'll find none to beat
 This class of nineteen-eleven.

Now in this class, we have no "bums"
 Tho some are tall and slender, some;
 And above us all like the ancient Saul,
 Towers the royal Camden Henderson.

Now to show the variety of our class
One from another type we'll cull;
And as a model of a short, thick man,
We point to J. T. Hull.

Then some we have, who are brave and bold,
Who are strong, erect and winsome;
And just to point out one of these
We mention Captain Simpson.

And in athletics, we have a few,
That are certainly hard to crowd;
Of these we mention Billie Cooper,
Of whom we're mighty proud.

Now to turn our thoughts from man's physique
To things we value most,
We show on the intellectual side,
Our orator, G. R. Post.

And then along the line of art,
We've the charming Mary Ruddell:
And we also have a master hand,
In the artistic Wilhelm Lovell.

Also in music we have a few
Of whom we're proud to tell:

Just one we'll single out and name,
Our Susan Roxie Bell.

But when it comes to pointing out,
Superior wit and brain,
We're bound to pass all others by
And say P. C. McQuain.

Then we have one man who's trying hard
The realms of science to explore;
Some day a doctor he will be
And then a great Up Rohr.

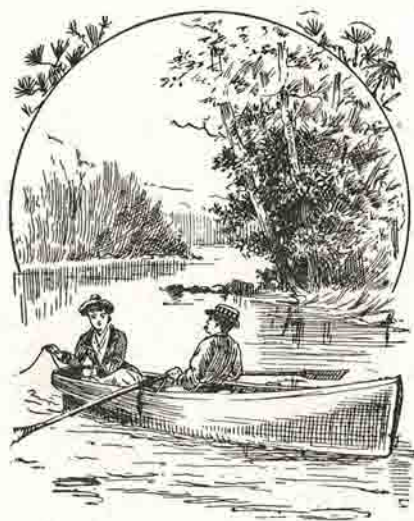

One of our class took the happy thot
Of reaping what he had sown;
And his harvest turned out to be a wife,
This is our happy Lohan.

But of all the class we cannot speak,
 Tho' each deserves a place,
 But turn the pages of this book,
 And meet them face to face.

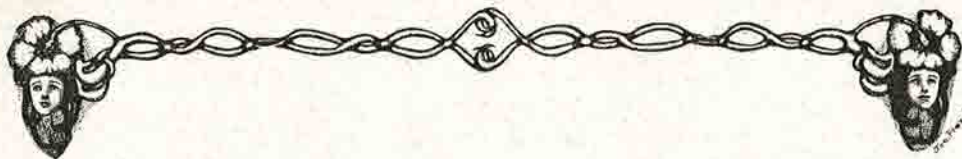

But soon our happy class will break,
And out on life's sea we'll go,
And what e'er our quest, we'll do our best,
And enjoy this world below.

And we wish each other a happy sail,
On this sea of life so blue:
And may each one, ere his work is done,
To his high ideals prove true.

Then we'll yell again,"—Old gold and black,
When we're gone, you'll wish us back;
In number, one and twenty seven
The famous class of nineteen-eleven.

In the Senior Class of 1911

Our school life in Glenville is ended today,
Our work here is done, duty calls us away;
Our teachers, our school, we shall leave with regret,
Learning's quest we've enjoyed with its pleasures and cares;
The friendships here formed we'll not lightly forget,
As each to his separate mission repairs.

Let us pause here awhile in the morning of life
To view its emotions, its yearnings, its strife,
With its broad fields to conquer, its prizes to win,
Opportunities boundless, inspiring such dreams
That the difficult problem is where to begin,—
Since to youth and ambition all possible seems.

In the field now before us is room for each one
And a worthy reward for all labor well done;
In its effort and toil we'll need hands that are strong,
A heart that is firm, and an eye that is true,
A courage that fails not when obstacles throng,
And a faith that holds fast, though admirers are few.

To do the best work requires knowledge and tact
And the broadest of sympathy molding each act;
To bear hope's sweet message of cheer and good-will
That brings sunshine and gladness wherever it goes,—
We must know that which prompts men to good or to ill,
We must feel the emotions humanity knows.

Yet there are forms of knowledge not wisdom to know,
Into danger it may not be courage to go,—
There are crises which even the brave need not meet,
There are many emotions not virtue to feel;
If we'd share in life's triumph, avoid its defeat
We'll have need of discretion as often as zeal.

Though we even have wisdom and patience and skill,
And good to all mankind we purpose and will,
Our plans most unselfish may sometimes fall prone
And by some we would help most, be misunderstood—
Flowers not always appear where mild zephyrs have blown,
Nor does praise always follow the wise and the good.

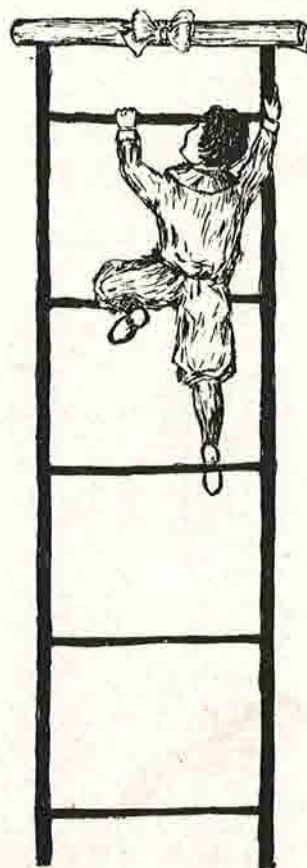

But to him who aims high, who does bravely his part,
Who cheerfully works on, though others lose heart,
There can be no defeat; he bears victory bound
In his own honest breast, and exults in the thought
That for worthy in need, friends will ever be found,
And souls of true merit will ever be sought.

Now to Him who in love watches over us all,
Who knows all His children, who hears when they call,
I would plead for each one, that His blessing attend,
That each life be a blessing where'er we may roam,
That His love may encircle us, guide and defend,
'Till we rest with our Father, in Heaven—our home.

—P. C. McQUAIN.

Junior Class History

D

EAR READER:—We feel sure that you will turn back to this page many times to refresh your memory with these “simple annals” of the Junior Class of nineteen-hundred eleven. Your interest will not be centered on our particularly good style of perfection of rhetoric but on the immortal subject—viz., the Junior Class.

Three years ago our class was organized under the name of Freshmen. Since then we have gained and lost in number till now we are permanently united as we mean to remain until we bid old G. N. S. good bye. Our boys and girls come from all parts of West Virginia, and are of various inclinations. But here we are bound together by our love for school and for one another and especially our love (?) for hard work.

We cannot refrain from boasting of a few things of which we claim a right to boast. We have the best man (physically) in school, the best pianist, the most popular ladies' man (Fling), the oldest man—(after the Seniors are gone), the smallest girl, the best debater and the best artist, besides our representatives in the athletic contests of whom we may well be proud. In conflicts of pen and tongue we have been a terror to the pedantic Seniors and saucy hot-headed little Sophs. However, we have been a father to the fatherless, a mother to the motherless, and a friend to the friendless little Freshmen and Preps when they have been sorely neglected by the Seniors who claim to be superior to us all.

Last year the captain of the football team was selected from our class and this year the manager of both the football and track team came from among our number. The Junior boys who are in the Cadet Corps make all privates step right, even if some of them are Seniors.

Ever since our time began as a class, the Junior girls have been the objects of the admiration and devotion of the Senior boys. With might and main they have persistently pressed their suits but invariably they have met with the most heartaching disappointments, and the trophies of their broken hearts decorate the rooms of the Junior girls.

Now, three years of toil are ended and we look back with a feeling not altogether unpleasant to the days when we fought the battles of the Middle Ages in Europe, traveled cum Caesare in Gallia, dreamed of xyz's in Milne's, and never flunked (?) on anything. Yet we look forward to a happy year next year when we shall instruct the youth in the Model School, pony some more Latin, burn midnight oil over theorems of geometry and problems of chemistry and physics, be troubled with the Sophs., adored by the Freshmen and Preps, admired by the Faculty, and finally reach the topmost round of the ladder of fame and walk out upon the great arena of life to compete successfully with the Senior Class who have gone before and with those who shall follow.

B. A. HALL, Historian.

DALLAS C. BAILEY.

While Sheridan was making his famous raid down the Shenandoah Valley, Dallas Bailey made his first appearance in Gilmer County. He has been a life-long student and will graduate next year just as sure as there is a commencement. The hair on the front of his head having escaped long ago, leaves exposed several inches of his dome of thought.

MISS LYDIA BERKHOUSE.

Lydia Berkhouse,—Oh never more on me
Can the name of Sophomore fall.
Already I'm beginning to feel that peace of Seniordom
When I shall know it all.

TROY A. BRADY.

Troy Brady, who was born and reared some where this side of the Allegheny Mountains, is the subject of this sketch. His favorite study is geometry which he has committed to memory. He is slow in action but quick of comprehension.

MISS VERONA CLAYTON.

Miss Verona Clayton,—“Sweetness, truth, and ever grace,
Which time and use are wont to teach,
The eye may in a moment reach,
And read distinctly in her face.”

MARION COOPER.

This man at football none can excel.
He weighs two-hundred forty, avoirdupois
When lined up and ready for the football yell,
He looks like a giant amongst the boys.
He's not very handsome because he's so “big.”
He goes by the nickname “China Pig.”

TRACY O. FLING.

Here is the likeness of Tracey O. Fling, one of Ritchie County's most progressive farmers, who has distinguished himself in the cultivation of ginseng. He is now pursuing a course in the G. N. S. with the same energy and persistency that brought him into prominence in his native county. He is also quite a ladies' man.

B. A. HALL.

B. A. Hall, the subject of this sketch, is one of the "salt river" candidates of Braxton County. Before coming to Glenville he spent his leisure time in hunting ramps in Webster County, but now he spends his time in reading and arguing politics. His hobby is history and literature.

HARVEY HALL.

Harvey Hall comes from near Weston where he grew up on the farm like many other great men. His favorite hobby is oratory and he repeats the orations of "Bob" Ingersoll like A, B, C's. He also belongs to the Cadet Corps and toots the horn that calls the boys together.

MISS LULA FLOYD.

Delighted were we, indeed, when on the 21st of March 1911, there came from the town of Sutton, Miss Lula Floyd to cast her lot with this famous class of 1912. Miss Floyd is a graduate of the Sutton High School and ranks high in all her classes.

MISS HELEN HARDING.

Miss Helen Harding, the belle of Ritchie County, came here from the Cairo High School. She is modest, lovable, and kind to all. Her specialty is instrumental music, the melodies of which, combined with her striking personality, is enough to set Cupid crazy.

MISS LUCILE VIRGINIA HAYS.

Miss Lucile Virginia Hays—Here is a girl of about sixteen summers who is universally loved by her schoolmates. Her major course is elocution. She hasn't had time to enjoy her many friends during her Junior year because she has been acting as chaperon for one of the faculty.

W. D. MASON.

W. D. Mason is one of the busiest students in school. He carries five studies all the time and makes A's in exams. He is a lieutenant in the Cadet Corps, a leading society worker, and a long distance track man. Besides his regular course, he studies music, Thalian art, and waits upon three girls.

RUSSELL REMAGE.

Greatness does the future portray
For Russell Remage of Gassoway;
Not because he studies his books—
Not because of his handsome looks—
Not because of his inherent powers,
But because he belongs to this class of ours.

MISS ETNA TWYMAN.

Here is another sober looking girl from Ritchie. Etna is a cheerful girl and everybody's friend, but, sorry to relate, as yet she is nobody's sweet heart, and she firmly declares that an old maid is the best made after all. She takes life as it comes, and her only fault is that she will not be governed by her big sister.

L. O. TAYLOR.

By inflating the word "handsome" enough it might be used as a proper adjective to describe the personal appearance of our classmate L. O. Taylor. As a debater he is feared. All he has to do to make a speech is to rise, stroke his curly tresses and Adam's apple two or three times, clear his silver throat—and away he goes for his victim.

CHARLES SAMUEL WHITING.

Because of his Herculean physique, his artistic tastes, and his high ideals, Charles Samuel Whiting is the idol of the fair sex in the G. N. S. Art work is Charlie's major course, and we look with anxiety into the future, when he will be a distinguished artist.

MISS NELSON HANDLEY.

Miss Nelson Handley hails from the blue grass fields of Greenbrier County, and the sunshine of those beautiful fields is no more pleasant than the perpetual smile of Miss Nelson. Her major course is laughing.

GROVER C. BRANNON.

Grover Brannon likes to go to school,
But he likes better to play pool,
At which he is a shark.
He likes to show his wit
Of which he has a bit,
But his logic never hits the mark.
His form is rather rough,
And the boys all call him "Tough."
He has been a Junior for three years past,
But if the Board of Regents adds on no more,
Next year will be his last.

MISS MABEL MCGINNIS.

Mabel McGinnis is her name,
In music she has won great fame;
In the choir no other can fill her place,
Where each Sunday you see her charming face.
She'll walk with a fellow if he looks just right,
But, by the way, she sent Clarke down the pike.

Junior Class Poem

Lucille Virginia Hays, Class Poet

Here's to our Class, the Junior Class,
A loyal band so true and tried,
Whose well won fame can never die,
Whose triumphs no one can deride.

Since we were Freshies we have toiled
With progress ever as our aim,
Surmounting barriers day by day,
Till now as Juniors we've won fame.

Our Class is the jolliest ever—
We sweep all before us pell-mell.
We are in for fun as well as work
From dignified Troy to laughing Nell.

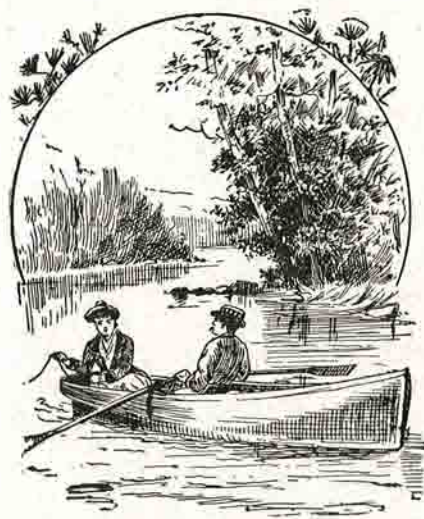

The Faculty just dotes upon us,
Thinks ours is the model class,
And it is—never doubt it a moment,
Or think we are lacking in brass.

The Preps think we're wise beyond measure
The Freshies and Sophs stand in awe
The Seniors are simply not in it,
As they say in the wise old saw.

Our ambition is now to be Seniors,
To reach that long coveted place,
We will feel that we've earned all our honors
When at last we have finished the race.

I see through the mist opalescent,
Far down the long vista of time,
The future of each of our classmates,
That I write of in this little rhyme.

In fancy I see them all striving,
But succeeding nevertheless,
Yet each in memory returning
To the halls of the old G. N. S.

SOPHOMORE CLASS.

SOPHOMORE CLASS HISTORY

OUR Class of 1913 began its career in the spring of 1910 with an organized force of about twenty enthusiastic members. The first thing, as is usually the custom was the election of officers. In this the fates seemed to have the right man slated for on the first ballot. Roland Holt was chosen president. In the selection of our other class officers we were equally fortunate. It was largely due to the executive ability of our officers and to the encouragement given to the faltering, that we as a class successfully set out on that journey from the known to the unknown. The place we started for was situated a very long way off (so we were told) and the dangers on the way were so numerous and threatening that only the strong and courageous could survive.

At the end of the spring term we crossed the first land mark enroute and took possession of the new country. The flag which we raised over the fort then was old gold and blue and had S-O-P-H-O-M-O-R-E-S written on it in large letters. So we knew we had reached the new territory for which we had so often wished. This place, as we are told lies next to a very desirable land where a people called Juniors dwell.

When the fall term of 1910 opened the class of 1913 were again at their posts, that is the most of them were. Part of our one-time class failed to secure naturalization papers in the new country and were forced to return to the land of Freshmen; some, because of their acquaintance with Junior work and their untiring energy had gone ahead and reached the land of Juniors; and some were lost on the journey and never heard of more, among whom were our president and vice-president. However, many of the vacancies in our ranks were filled by new members who joined our forces on the way.

When officers were to be chosen again about fifteen members answered the roll call. Howard Jones was chosen president and Harlan Haumann, vice-president, of our forces. They have been very capable officers and because of their foresight, we have missed many of the difficulties of the journey and are well on our way to "Juniordom."

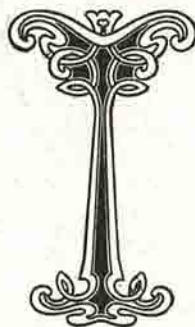

Our class has taken active part in all the athletics of the school. It has always stood for plenty of good manly exercise. In football, we have members who won fame wherever they played. Last year we won the inter-class base ball game, and, in short, have shown the spirit that is helping to make the athletics of our school such a great success.

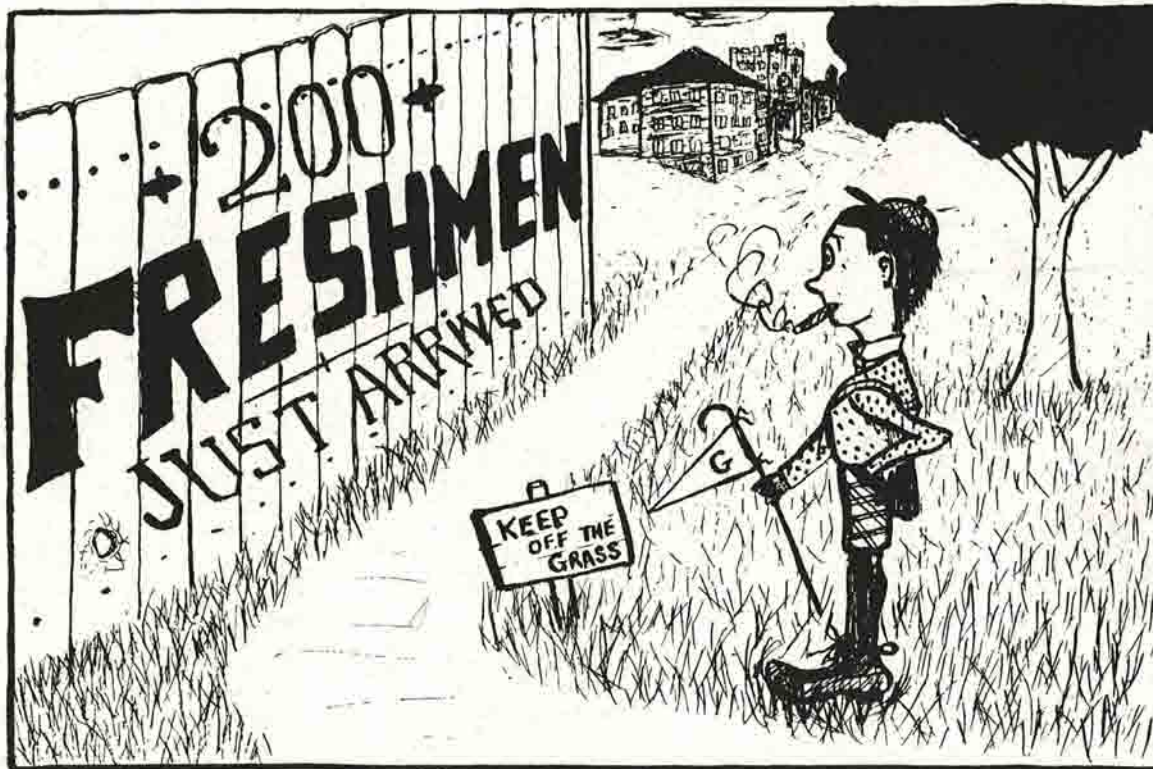

Our class has taken part in other school activities too.

In the different literary organizations of the school our class has been well represented. Some of our members are musicians, some reciters, and some debaters, so we are represented in most programmes.

To our sophomore class the future looks promising. We feel that we have made some advancement, but we realize that there are other more desirable fields ahead and on higher ground. Before us lies the open road and it leads upward. It looks steep and rugged, but we will not bide the lowlands. We long for the open higher country and we mean to reach it. We have come far enough on the way to catch something of the spirit of him who would mount higher, and to get a foretaste of the rewards for him who endures.

Freshman Class History

1911

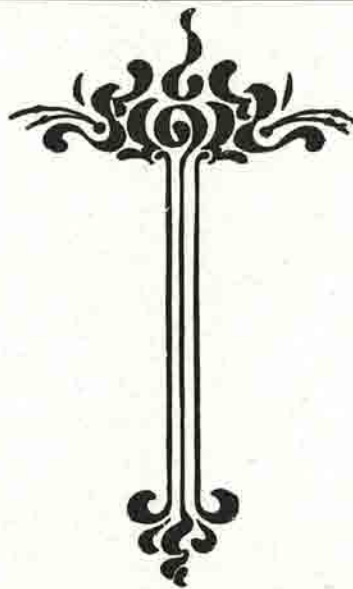

THE history of our class is short, although we have made an excellent (?) start. Some of our members have made good records for themselves in football, baseball, track work, basket ball and the "gym" team. Others are noted for oratory, musical attainments and social standing among the fair sex. For good class work we never have been excelled (?)

Our hopes and desires are to improve in everything, and it is our constant aim to have a good record of notable feats at the close of our school career in Glenville. We also hope to see many of our members enter higher schools where we believe they will compete favorably with their fellow classmates.

We expect to realize our hopes not by dreaming of the future, not by false pretense, not by mere supposition, but by constantly striving to reach our goal.

With gratitude for the past, and hopes for the future we look forward to the year of nineteen hundred fourteen when we shall join the Alumni as a class creditable to the Glenville Normal and to the Commonwealth of West Virginia.

History of Club

THE Cosmian Debating Club was organized during the Spring Term of 1909. It is an outgrowth of the Cosmian Literary Society, and is closely related to it. It is entirely a students' club and is to give practice in debating and appearing before an audience. It is the oldest organization of its kind in school. The membership was small at first, but as a result of the good work it is doing, it has grown in size and influence until it is now one of the leading organizations in school.

Excelsior Debating Club

THE Excelsior Debating Club was organized March 30, 1911 for the purpose of training its members in extemporaneous speaking. The Club is composed of twelve regular members and as many honorary members as the Club desires to have. These energetic and enthusiastic young men meet every Thursday evening at seven o'clock to discuss the happenings of the past week and the important problems of the day.

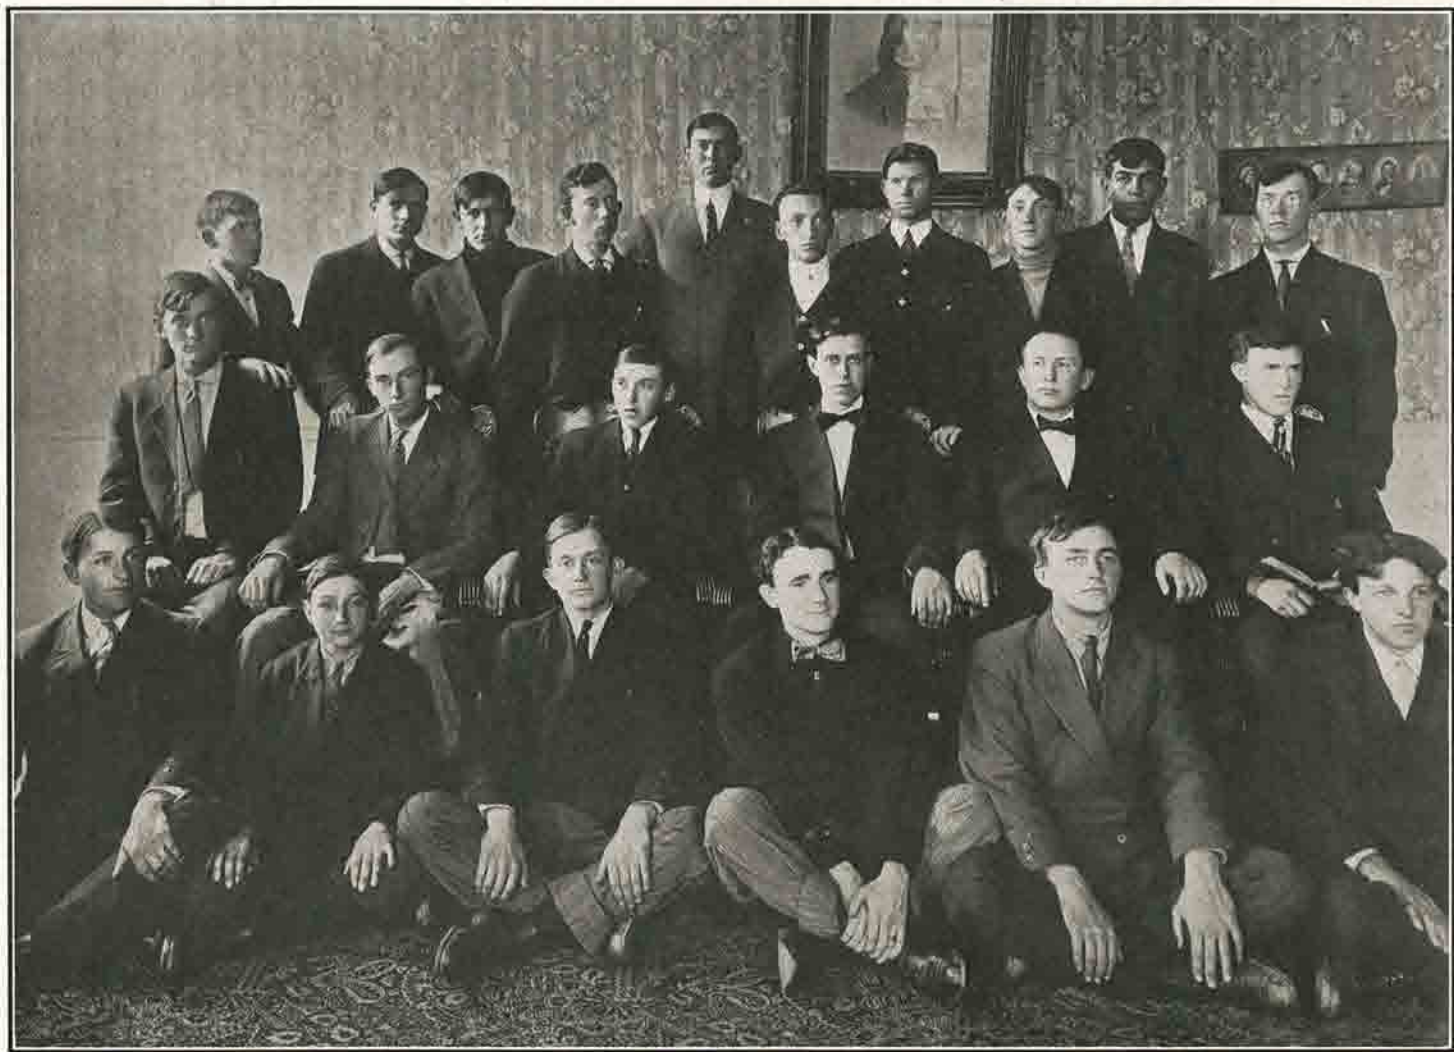

There is no permanent chairman, each member, in alphabetical order serves one week. This gives all practice in parliamentary law and does away with office seekers. During the week the chairman for the next meeting prepares a list of current topics, as a program. After the Club is called to order he announces the name of a member and, then, assigns him one of the subjects to discuss for five minutes. This continues till each member has performed. In this way all have a part in the program every meeting. Although a member is not always able to discuss the question assigned him as logically as if he had had a week to prepare and think the matter through, yet one would be surprised to see how well he could handle questions before an audience after he has had training in this way.

The good results, that have been derived already from this organization are positive proof that it should be carried on until it becomes a permanent literary factor of our school. Stammering youths have been transformed into orators of renown and the smouldering fires of oratory have been unearthed until a great conflagration is threatened.

Is the Excelsior destined to live? The answer to this question lies with the present members. Let us hope that those who come after us may unite their strength, as we have done and push forward this great educational movement. What success coming years may bring to us depends upon our present work, for we are the masters of our fate, and captains of our souls.

Kanawha Grange

Kanawha Grange, No. 387 was organized in December 1910. The membership is made up largely of the students and teachers of Glenville Normal School with some citizens of the community who are interested in the advancement of Agriculture. The work of the organization is somewhat correlated with the agricultural work of the school. Although this organization is yet young it has already had considerable influence in arousing the interests of the farmers of the surrounding counties in better agricultural education and in a higher type of farm life.

CADET CORPS.

The Military Department

THE Military Department of the Glenville Normal School was organized during the Spring Term, 1910, with an enlistment of seventy-five students. Of these, three had had previous military training and they aided the commandant very much in instructing the new men in the first principles of the drills and duties of the soldier. Great interest was shown by all concerned, and the work progressed so rapidly that on Decoration Day the corps organized into a battalion of two companies, marched through the important streets of the town, and made a very creditable showing. The officers were the following:

R. L. Cole, Commandant.

Brown McDonald, Cadet First Lieutenant and Adjutant.

Wm. E. Simpson, Cadet First Sergeant.

Harvey Hall, Cadet Principal Musician, with rank of First Sergeant.

Just before commencement a competitive examination was held, and the following promotions were made for the year 1910-11:

Cadet First Sergeant, Wm. E. Simpson to be Cadet Captain.

Cadet Private, Homer Witte to be Cadet First Lieutenant.

Cadet Private, W. D. Mason to be Cadet First Lieutenant and Adjutant.

Cadet Private, Lee Butcher to be Cadet Second Lieutenant.

Cadet Private, Marvin Cooper to be Cadet First Sergeant.

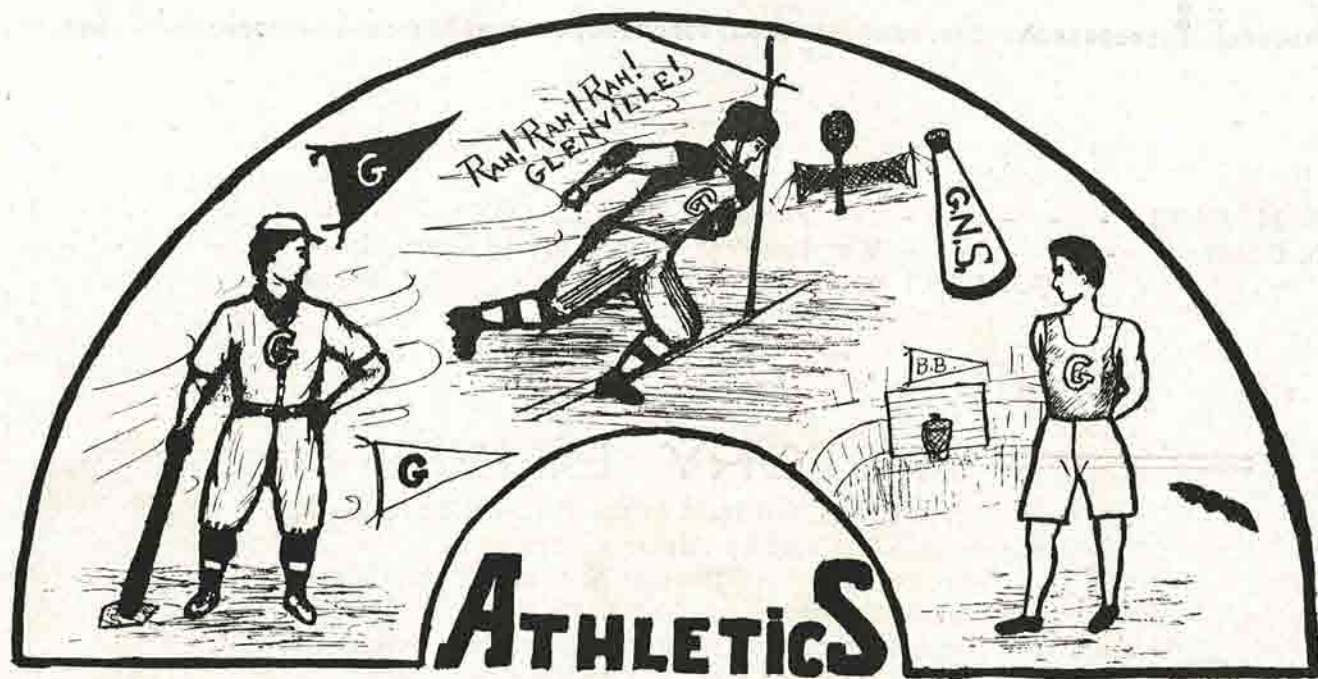

Cadet Private, Tracy O. Fling to be Cadet Second Sergeant.

Cadet Private, Willie Cooper to be Cadet Third Sergeant.

Cadet Privates, H. D. Rohr, W. W. Lovell, and H. H. Jones to be Cadet Corporals.

The Fall Term opened with an enlistment of about twenty-five. The most of those who dropped out having been only Spring term students who did not return to school. Uniforms were ordered, and the work took on a renewed interest. During the Winter Term while drill was impossible, weekly lessons in infantry drill regulations were conducted by the captain.

At present the enrollment has reached almost fifty. Many of the new recruits have purchased uniforms, and others are expecting to get them before the close of the term. An effort is now being made to furnish the corps with guns and other equipments at the expense of the State. The work is progressing nicely, and all indications are that the Military Department will remain as a permanent feature of the school.

EDITORIAL

In sending forth the first issue of the Kanawhachen we feel that no apology for its appearance is necessary. A school with the splendid record of the Glenville Normal certainly is justified in following the precedent of so many of our institutions of learning.

The work of the editorial board, on the whole, has been pleasant, although, as all who have spent the last term of the senior year in a Normal School will realize, our regular class duties have been sufficiently exacting that we have not been able to spend as much time in the preparation of our annual as we should gladly have done. Besides, no file of the early catalogues of the school has been preserved. Necessarily many interesting facts have been difficult to obtain, and some errors may have crept into the work.

We acknowledge our indebtedness to Mr. Crow and other members of the faculty for their valuable advice and criticisms.

We claim no special merit for the book, unless that it is the pioneer of our school in this field. However, we hope that it will give some information and real pleasure to its readers, and that in future years, when we, who are now students, shall fall into a reminiscent mood, it may assist "Fond Memory in bringing the light of other days around us."
