E. G. ROHRBOUGH

BECAUSE OF HIS MANY YEARS of unceasing loyalty and devotion to Glenville State Teachers College, it seems fitting and proper that this, the 1942 issue of the "Kanawhachen," yearbook, be dedicated to our president, Dr. E. G. Rohrbough. That he is a capable instructor and administrator has been proven by his services rendered as principal and president of this institution for thirty-four consecutive years. That he is a friend of all who know him is shown through the loyalty of the teaching staff and through the many responsible positions of trust which he holds. That he is public spirited is evidenced through his constant devotion to duties in local, and state educational, civic and other organizations. Dr. Rohrbough, a true friend, a competent college administrator, is a native of Randolph County and a son of the late William H. and Anne Conley Rohrbough. His first connection with what is now Glenville State Teachers College came in 1901, when he accepted a position as a teacher here. Glenville was then only a preparatory school, giving work for high-school credit and a few courses in education beyond the high-school level. In 1905, Dr.
Rohrbough was granted a leave of absence to study at Harvard University, where he received the Master of Arts degree in 1906. He returned to Glenville teach one year and then become vice-president of Fairmont State Normal School the following year. In 1908, he returned to Glenville as principal and served in that capacity until 1930, when Glenville, by an act of the State Legislature, was made a state teachers college, and Dr. Rohrbough was made president by the State Board of Education. In 1914, he was granted a leave of absence to study in Europe, but because of the outbreak of World War 1, which prevented him from securing ship passage abroad, he matriculated at the University of Chicago for a year of graduate study. Dr. Rohrbough has watched Glenville State Teachers College grow from a one-unit preparatory school to a modern teachers college, known throughout the State and other states as one of the finest of its kind. The growth of the College and its prestige are largely due to the efforts of Dr. Rohrbough, who is known throughout the State and even nationally as a man dedicated to higher education and its continuous advancement. Honest, loyal, faithful and fair in his dealings—these attributes characterize Dr. Rohrbough. Students and the many hundreds of Alumni think of him as an inseparable part of the College. They look upon him as a man always devoted to the job he is doing, as a man who always has advocated higher standards of scholarship and character, as a man who constantly has sought to better society through the many fine young men and women who are graduated here each year. As teacher, administrator, citizen and friend, Dr. Rohrbough is always seeking the best for the College. It was with this in mind that he was voted the "Kanawhachen" dedicatee of 1942.— James Heater.

Senior Class History

WHEN THE SENIORS hurdle last milestone of their career in Glenville State Teachers College by graduation in June, they face an uncertain future, but one with which they are supposedly better able to grapple through knowledge gained by their four years of College work. But if the future is uncertain, their course in the College is rather definitely settled. The class of 1942 organized by electing Jack Francis president; Juanita Haught, vice-president; and James Heater, secretary-treasurer. Freshman rules were suspended at Thanksgiving when the freshmen won a 6-0 victory over the upperclassmen in the touch-football game. Forrest White, Robert Armstrong, Jack Miles, Patsy Pumbo, and Robert Fiddler won college letters during their first year in basketball or football. Class officers during the sophomore year were: James Heater, Mary Betty Kidd, Forrest White, Edna Crummett; and the Junior year: Forrest White, Brooks Golden, Juanita Haught, and Robert Fidler. In the Junior year James Heater, Paul Beal, Juanita Haught, and Madelyn Conrad were elected to "Who's Who in American Universities and Colleges." Robert Stalnaker, Rosalea Huff, Forrest White, and Robert Fidler were chosen in the Senior year. Officers of the Senior class are: Robert Stalnaker, Jennings Jarvis, Madelyn Conrad, and Jack Miles. Prominent in athletics have been Robert Armstrong, basketball co-captain; Robert Fidler, co-captain in football; Forrest White, Jack Miles, and Brooks Golden.

Junior Class History

THE TRUE SPIRIT of American Democracy recognizes no superior government and vests itself in a feeling of power and ability. Through the corridors of time American colleges have accepted the doctrine that no hill is so high we cannot top, and no job is so difficult we cannot accomplish. Standing near the threshold of seniority, and feeling that we will reserve a niche in the annals of Glenville State Teachers College history, members of the Junior class, look backward at success, failure, misdirected effort, thwarted ambition, and a heavy strain of climbing upward. Yet, looking forward, they feel worthy of greater undertakings and vow that they will not "die on third." From the inexperienced days of blue caps and restrictions, the class has risen to the horizon from which they can see picturesque columns of caps and gowns. The second smallest class in school, numbering thirty members, they have played a prominent role in student government, athletics, extra-curricular activities, and scholastically, they have been above the average. Typical of all present-day college men and women, the class presses toward an unknown and indistinct future. Yet, recognizing and accepting the heavy burdens and responsibilities which lie upon their shoulders, each individual marches forward, imbued with the spirit, vigor, and desire to set men free of tyrannical shackles.

Sophomore Class History

THE CLASS OF 1944 entered Glenville State Teachers College the fall of 1940, a large group of boys and girls, to be heartily welcomed by upper-classmen. This welcome included an Orientation week which helped the Freshmen to become better acquainted with and adjusted to the college activities. Settling down to real college life, Garland Adams was elected president; Elizabeth Clark, vice-president; Sue Brown, secretary. By the end of the first year they felt as if they were no longer "freshies" as the upper-classmen called them, but full-fledged Pioneers, ready to show patriotism and school spirit for Glenville State Teachers College. Carl Eismen was elected president later in the year to fill the vacancy left by Garland Adams, who resigned his position because of illness. Mildred Keener was elected Freshman princess for Homecoming. In the fall of 1941 they reentered Glenville State Teachers College, with the knowledge acquired the previous year, and were ready to do all they could toward the betterment of the school. Officers elected for this year were: President, Catherine Withers; Guy Stalnaker, Jr., vice-president; Helen Taylor, secretary; Sue Brown, treasurer. The members of the class who were pledged Alpha Psi Omega, National Dramatic Society, are Donzel Betts, Charles Heasley, and Eunice Wilfong. This year the Sophomore princess for homecoming was Catherine Withers.

Freshman Class History

THE CLASS OF 1945, upon entering Glenville State Teachers College in September, 1941, could not have been mistaken for anything but the proverbial green Freshmen. To lead them throughout the first year of their college life they elected as President, Jake Fitzpatrick; vice-president, Jesse Lilly; secretary, Elzvie Osborne; treasurer, Joe Radcliffe; sergeant-at-arms, Brentford Brown; and Lyceum representative, David Tewell. As our first year rolls on we like to think of our past experiences: the Homecoming parade when the boys wore pajamas and the girls short skirts and pigtails, our lovely Homecoming princess, Mamie Jo Bush, our Freshmen on the basketball squad, Joe Rodriguez, Jesse Lilly, Jack Conrad, Orville Wheeler, Jake Fitzpatrick, Beecher Reed, and Jack Luzader. Now that we have nearly completed our first year as students in Glenville State Teachers College, we remember some good times and amusing incidents, along with our quest for knowledge.

Glenville State Teachers College

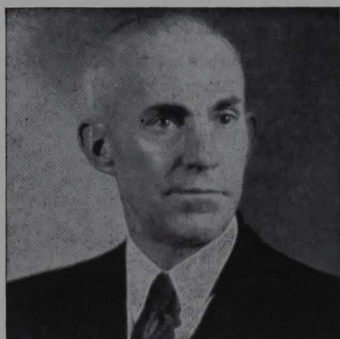

*I*N 1872 the Legislature of West Virginia established a Branch of the State Normal School to be located at Glenville. Such it remained until 1930 when its name and character were changed to Glenville State Teachers College. At first the work covered was equivalent to that offered in high school. Then there was added professional work in the amount of one or two units. This was increased from time to time until two full years of college work were given, at the end of which a student was graduated and given either the Standard Normal or the Junior College Diploma. Finally, the work was expanded to the four-year course, on completion of which a student was granted the Baccalaureate degree. Whatever the name of the institution, it has continuously served two purposes: To prepare teachers for the public and other schools and to provide a rounded, general education. For the past twelve years, it has offered sufficient work, both in amount and kind, to qualify persons for all certificates issued by the State Department of Education except those requiring the Master's Degree. For many years the scholastic year was divided into three terms of twelve weeks each. Then, the year was divided into two semesters of eighteen weeks each. Meanwhile a summer term was added, varying in length through six, nine, and twelve weeks. Extramural work was begun in the fall of 1909 in two forms: Correspondence and Extension. The former was discontinued some eight or ten years ago. The buildings have increased steadily in number and size from the original one small building to the present eight buildings, large and small. In equipment and value also the College has enjoyed a steady growth and development. Present property valuation would come close to three-quarters of a million dollars.

"As the teachers, so is the school." From two at first the faculty has increased to two dozen. It has been the policy of the administration to secure and retain well qualified instructors. On the Faculty at present are four Ph.D's (another to be completed this year), seventeen A.M's (some of whom are well along in Ph.D. work), and one Baccalaureate Degree, plus. The institutions in which these Faculty Members have studied are: Harvard, Chicago, W. Va. Wesleyan, West Virginia, Texas, Michigan, Minnesota, Virginia, Johns Hopkins, Missouri, Columbia, Colorado, Peabody, William and Mary, New England Conservatory, Clark, Cornell, Northwestern, Wisconsin, Ohio, Pittsburgh, Syracuse, Oxford and Paris. In addition to degrees, they have the knack, the attitude, the zeal, the sentiments, and the faith that enter into the make-up of a TEACHER. "And gladly wolde he lerne, and gladly teche."

Coach A. F. Rohrbough

A. F. (NATE) ROHRBOUGH, West Virginia's most colorful coach, came to Glenville to become head man of athletics in the school year of 1926-27, following a brilliant career in sports at Buckhannon High School and West Virginia University where he holds a guard post on the "all-time" cage quintet. Making his first court season with the pioneers a successful one, Rohrbough stamped himself in state circles as the intelligent, tricky and fighting basketball mentor that he is to the present day. Rohrbough's football teams were conference champions in 1931, 1932, and 1937. His basket-bombers have won ten West Virginia conference titles, a Tri-State title, three state intercollegiate tourney crowns and entered the National Tournament in Kansas City, Mo., twice, copping third place honors on one occasion. In 1937-38 his White Wave hoopsters were undefeated in twenty-eight contests. This year the Pioneers won the West Virginia Conference and the West Virginia Intercollegiate tournament championships.

FOOTBALL REVIEW

GLENVILLE 13—POTOMAC STATE 6

In the season's opener at Rohrbough Stadium, September 7, Glenville scored twice in the first period and coasted to a 13-6 victory over Potomac. Marra, guard, blocked a punt to set up the first tally. Scoring touchdowns: Glenville, Short and Whetsell—Potomac State, Yewcic. Short our boy with the educated toe, made the conversion good.

GLENVILLE 13—BETHANY 0

The White Wave was successful in stopping Bethany in the second game at home, October 4, in the rain, 13-0. Karantonis scored in the first period and Whetsell plunged for the extra point. Short scored in the final stanza on a pass from Rodriguez on the Bisons' twenty yard line.

GLENVILLE 7—WEST LIBERTY 12

Battling the Hilltoppers on even terms in first downs and yardage gained at their Homecoming, October 11, Glenville suffered their first defeat of the season to West Liberty by a 12 to 7 margin. Pelech and Zilla threw passes to ends Blair and Anderson to score for the conference champs. Whetsell ran a kick-off 85 yards and Short made good the placement for the Pioneers' 7 points. The great defensive work of Short, Kafer, Fidler and Marra was outstanding.

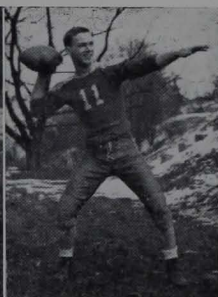

GLENVILLE 27—CONCORD 7

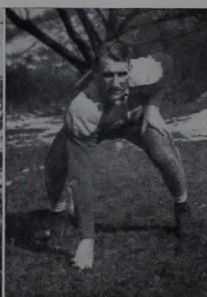

Rohrbough's lads dazed Concord at their Homecoming, 27-7, to hand them their first defeat of the season, October 18. The White Wave led 12 to 5 in first downs and far outdistanced the Mountain Lions in yardage gained throughout the afternoon. Karantonis, the 180 pound Glenville fullback, accounted for two of the markers while Whetsell and Marra accounted for the other two. Short made good three conversions out of four. Scoring the touchdown for Concord was Callahan. LaRue's placement was good.

GLENVILLE 14—W. VA. TECH 12

Our Pioneers came from behind twice, October 25, in a perfect Eleventh Homecoming at Rohrbough stadium to knock off erstwhile undefeated West Virginia Tech, 14-12. It was the White Wave's second consecutive victory over the state's last two perfect-record teams. Radcliff, the pint-sized back, tallied both touchdowns for the Pioneers. Both conversions were made good by Short. Lacy made both the markers for the Bears on long spectacular runs. It was Lamb that blocked both the single-marker attempts made by the the Bears.

GLENVILLE 0—FAIRMONT 13

Although Karantonis gained more yards than the entire Fairmont backfield and Glenville had the advantage of first downs, 11 to 3, the Marion Countians held the Pioneers scoreless. This is the only game during the season the White Wave failed to tally. After pushing the Fighting Teachers with very little difficulty all over the muddy Rosier Knob, the Marion County lads still managed to score twice in the final 6 minutes to win the ball game 13-0. Brabender and Tatta shared the scoring honors for the afternoon.

GLENVILLE 7—MORRIS HARVEY 35

Morris Harvey's Eagles left a cold, wet, and muddy Rohrbough stadium November 8 with a 35-7 victory in the bag. The 27 pounds advantage per man the Golden Eagle line-up supported was in large part the determining factor in the contest. The determination to stick in there and play ball characterized the Pioneers' throughout the game. Glenville's lone score came late in the game when Whetsell tossed a long pass to Karantonis and Short made good the conversion.

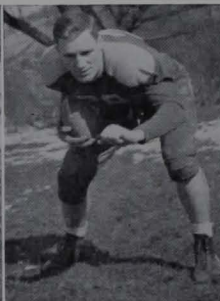

GLENVILLE 57—SHEPHERD 6

In their 8th game on consecutive Saturdays, the Pioneers ended the season as they opened it, with a victory on the local field. Glenville's ball-toters ran wild to smother their opponents. After a perfect record of 10 straight conversions, Short finally blew one to the four winds, not until, however, a comfortable margin had been gained by the White Wave. Scoring touchdowns: Glenville, Karantonis 2, Williams 2, Fidler, Short, Bailes, Whetsell, and Reed. Shepherd's lone marker was made by Shadel.

1942 State Champions

THE GLENVILLE PIONEERS, a name synonymous with basketball champions, topped off another great season when they breezed through Concord, 62-50, for the third time in 4 meetings, beat West Virginia Tech, 52-38, eliminated defending champions Alderson-Broadus, 61-47, and erased all doubts as to their superiority by trouncing the widely-heralded West Virginia Wesleyan Bobcats in the finals to win the eighth annual West Virginia Intercollegiate Tournament at Buckhannon March 16-17-18. Our conference champion White Wave cagers, who had averaged 65 points per game against 50 in state contests, were ceded "No. 1" in the tourney by the coaches. Mentor A.F. ("Nate") Rohrbough declined an invitation to enter his team in the National Tournament in Kansas City to collect the local crown for the third time in 6 events entered. Playing without their high-scoring center and co-captain, Earle Spencer, in the final game, Rohrbough's freshmen caught fire to play like real veterans. Bob Armstrong and Jack Conrad were named on the all-tournament team. Beecher Reed was high scorer of the final game with 23 points.

Armstrong, one of the state's greatest basketball players, ended his career for the Pioneers in glorious fashion befitting a champion, by being the wheelhorse of the attack and keeping the game under control. He kept the Blue Flashes going at just the right tempo and was Glenville's leading scorer of the tourney with 55 points. Whetsell carried through his great defensive work and offensive passing while Joe Rodriguez was a formidable guard. When the all-conference selections were announced, Glenville had 4 players on the 3 teams, more than any other college. Bill Whetsell was a guard on the 1st quintet, Armstrong and Spencer made the second and Rodriguez was named on the third.

After all is said, it took fifteen great lads, a good coach and the support of College and townspeople to make the Pioneers what they are.

Canterbury Club

THE OLDEST CLUB on the campus and the only one with scholarship requirements is the Canterbury Club. On the evening of October 11, 1921 Miss Willa Brand, who had just come to Glenville State Teachers College as head of the English department, called together her Senior English students. The result of this meeting was the organization of the Canterbury Club. The requirements for membership, which is limited to twenty-nine, are: a good standing on the campus and a high standard of work in English, the purpose is to familiarize its members with the great stories of the world, to give them practice in the art of story telling and to enjoy the social intercourse which such a club affords. The Canterbury Club has a few traditions. Every year a Christmas party follows a program of standardized Christmas stories. In April is the pilgrimage. This is the annual meeting at which the stories told are taken from Chaucer's CANTERBURY TALES. After telling the stories of the master story teller, the members of the club make a short pilgrimage to a local restaurant for refreshments and a merry hour. The club year ends with a program and a May breakfast which is a gala occasion outdoors. Officers for the first semester were: James Heater, president; Helen Taylor, vice-president; Evelyn Wagner, secretary-treasurer. Donzel Betts, Helen Taylor, and June Taylor held similar offices during the second semester.

Ohningohow Players

THE DRAMATIC CLUB was organized October 8, 1926, under the direction of Miss Margaret Dobson. It was decided and placed in the constitution that the name of the organization would be Ohningohow Players. The aim of the Dramatic Club was to develop dramatic talent and, by public performances, to stimulate interest in this work among the members of the Student Body. This organization has been continuous since its first appearance in 1926. It is now under the direction of Miss Kathleen Robertson, who came to Glenville State Teachers College in 1938. The present officers are as follows: Richard Harper, president; Reba Legg, vice-president; Roanna Gainer, secretary-treasurer

THE YOUNG MEN'S CHRISTIAN ASSOCIATION of Glenville State Teachers College was founded in the autumn of 1908. The Association is non-demoninational and every man in College is invited to become a member. Seeking to complement the intellectual training of the classroom, it aims for the higher development of the physical, social and spiritual natures of man. It fosters the spirit of helpfulness and brotherhood among students, endeavors to hold up a high standard of morality for them and bring them into closer relationship with Christ. The Young Men's Christian Association has for its objective a balanced personality embodied in the unity of life, which it seeks to further through physical fitness, mental training, religious idealism, social fellowship, and economic and vocational guidance. The Association is a member of the Student Christian Movement.

Choral Class

ALTHOUGH THE Choral Class is a regular, credit carrying class, its membership is made up chiefly of students who "love to sing for the sheer joy of singing." Since its beginning in 1932, the class has presented yearly Christmas Cantatas, an operatta or a concert, Baccalaureate and Commencement Music. Its activities have not been confined entirely to the campus but include three appearances at Jackson's Mill, two performances at the Salem Industrial Home, one radio program over WBLK in Clarksburg, two appearances in Weston High School and one in West Milford, as well as performances in the local churches.

Commuters Club

THE COMMUTERS' CLUB, organized on January 28, 1941, is made up of approximately eighteen young College men who either live in Glenville, or commute to and from Glenville via the county school busses and private automobiles. The Club, first of its kind ever to be organized on the campus, has for its chief purpose the bringing together in closer bonds of friendship those students who do not live on the campus. At the same time it gives to this group a closer connection with more participation in activities sponsored by student groups on the campus. The Club has, since its inception, sponsored three major social events and this semester presented such entertainments as scavenger hunts, square dances etc. Meetings are held every two weeks at the noon hour and the programs usually include brief talks and other entertainment features. First president of the Club was Elmer Cawthon, Jr., of Letter Gap. Other officers the first year were Eugene Critchfield of Burnsville, vice-president; and Jennings Jarvis of Minnora, secretary-treasurer. The present officers are: Jennings Jarvis, president; Russell Moore of Lockney, vice-president; and Leo Vannoy of Stumptown, secretary-treasurer. The faculty adviser is Linn B. Hickman.

THE WOMEN'S ATHLETIC ASSOCIATION was organized on February 4, 1938, with Mrs. Earl R. Boggs and Miss Margaret Christie, advisers. The sports organized were basketball, volley ball, hiking, tennis, table tennis and horseshoes. Later gymnasium sports, baseball and archery were organized. Mrs. Arlan W. Berry, physical education instructor, is the adviser of the club this year. The purpose of the W. A. A. is to provide good wholesome recreation, mastery of the sport being played and to teach good sportsmanship and fair play. To win a school letter one must have six letter points gained by participation in sports on the winning side. Since the organization of the W.A.A., eighteen letters have been awarded. Twelve points are required to win a pin, only one of which has been awarded.

Orchestra

FROM A HUMBLE BEGINNING of three members in the year 1931, the present organization has a membership of twenty-two. Rehearsals are held four days a week and membership is open to any college student who owns and plays an instrument. Until this past year the ensemble has always embraced violinist and cellist, thus making an orchestra. This year, however, no string players were available, so the organization became a band. The purchase on the part of the school of a bass horn, 2 E flat horns, a baritone and a field drum will insure future permanence of this organization. The school also owns a string bass and a cello, thus the future status of this ensemble, orchestra or band, will be determined by the players coming out of the high schools. The daily rehearsals are devoted to the preparation of music for the weekly assembly program, a Spring Concert, the Senior Class Play, and the Commencement Exercises.

Louis Bennett Hall Governing Board

LOUIS BENNETT HALL, located directly behind the Administration Hall is the College's newest dormitory. It is the residence of 132 men students. This building, constructed of brick and tile and completed in 1937, was named in honor of Mr. Louis M. Bennett, first principal of Glenville State Normal School. Dedication exercises were held in November of 1938. Louis Bennett Hall is modern in every respect. Each student's room is furnished with venetian blinds, two beds, a combination study and library table, reading-lamps, two large wardrobes, a chest of drawers and comfortable chairs. The east wing of the building consists of three faculty apartments. Each apartment has four rooms. A reception hall, located on the ground floor of sections C, D, and E, is used as a general recreation room. All organizations on the campus are free to use the room for meetings. A radio, several divans, many large and comfortable chairs, folding chairs and tables, a piano, floor lamps, and other necessary equipment are included in the furnishings. Adjoining the main room is a kitchenette. Louis Bennett Hall has a governing board consisting of four men students and two faculty advisers.

Mercury Staff

THE GLENVILLE MERCURY, student newspaper, published by Glenville State Teachers College, thirteen years old. The paper, founded by Mr. Everett Withers, of Glenville, first appeared in tabloid size and was published weekly. Later it was changed to a fortnightly publication. The frequency of publication was again changed in 1935, and from that date the paper has continued to appear weekly during the regular college year. Mr. Withers founded the Mercury while he was an instructor in what was then Glenville State Normal School. He continued as adviser until 1935, at which time Mr. Linn B. Hickman became adviser, replacing Mr. Withers, who was granted a leave of absence because of illness. Mr. Hickman has continued as adviser since 1935. The Mercury has consistently been edited and published upon the theory that such a newspaper serves as an excellent laboratory for students who enroll for and study journalism. Also the Mercury seeks to advertise the College to give complete and authentic news of students, instructors, alumni and former students. It seeks to keep the public informed of all College activities. The Mercury is a member of the West Virginia Newspaper Council, the West Virginia Intercollegiate Press Association, and the Associated Collegiate Press. The national advertising representative is National Advertising Service, Inc., of 420 Madison Avenue, New York City. For the past three years the Mercury has been given a first-place honor rating by the Associated Collegiate Press in a contest in which several hundred college and university newspapers are judged.

Homecoming Coronation

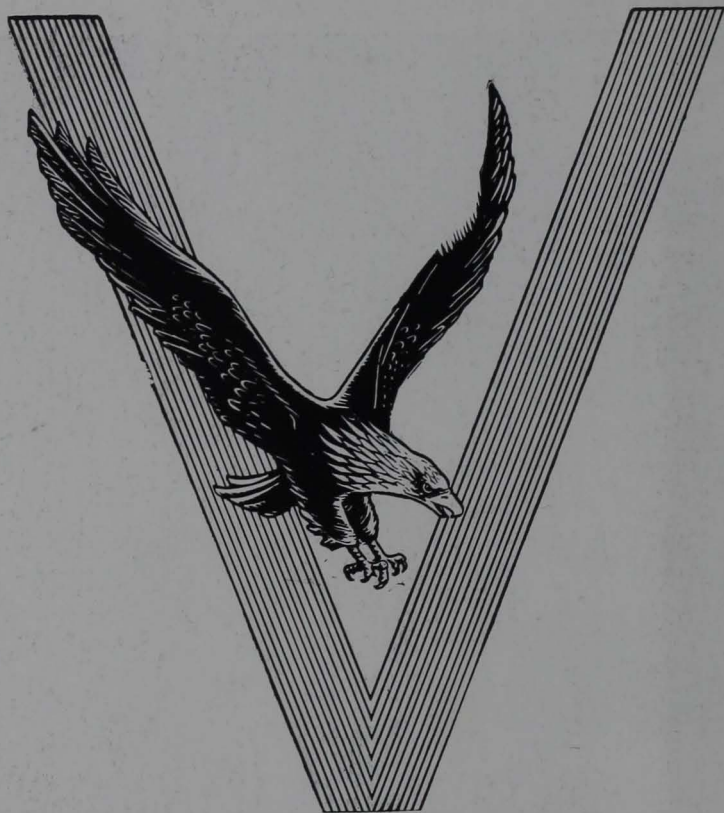

William Kafer, June Wilson, President E. G. Rohrbough, Madelyn Conrad, John Davis Rohrbough, Robert Fidler, Guy Stalnaker, Jr., Catherine Withers.

FOR MORE THAN TEN YEARS alumni and former students have returned each year to Glenville to join in celebrating a colorful event, commonly referred to as Homecoming. At this time of the year, if weather and other factors permit, the campus is again alive with students. Everywhere there is heard, "Hello, John, Hi, Bill." The campus is as busy as a bargain basement and many alumni will come back to where they once trod, celebrated, and made friends. On Saturday morning a queen is crowned, followed by a parade; in the afternoon, a football game; in the evening, a dance. The real reason for such a Homecoming is to greet friends and visit all the familiar places. Such a Homecoming is worth coming home to enjoy.

FOR VICTORY

H. G. LAW

THE SERVICES offered by Mr. Law and Mr. Fitzpatrick to Glenville State Teachers College are of a very commendable nature. Mr. Law attended Wesleyan College and afterwards served many years as an instructor in free schools. After accepting his present position he has distinguished himself as one of the most dependable, faithful, and tireless personalities on the campus. The College electrician, Mr. Fitzpatrick, has been with Glenville State Teachers College for seventeen years. During this time he has watched our College grow from a few structures up to the present size, which now includes eleven buildings. At the present there is being erected a Science Hall. Quietly, but not unnoticeable, Mr. Fitzpatrick goes about his daily chores. There is never longer delay than the time it takes this worthy gentleman to get from one job to another.

'In All Probability . . .'

NEVER BEFORE has there been a time that a college senior or graduate is more needed than at the present. However, we might look forward and see what our college seniors have and will have in years to come. Our Student President, Robert R. Fidler, has had pretty tough sledding through his year with football and council responsibilities, not to mention the opposite sex he has to contend with. And another, Lillian Hefner—it started last year when another Student President was in reign and it has lasted, and how. Brooks Golden, a stout sort of chap, will probably lead a group of High School youngsters through the mill, provided that a good body will win this war. Suppose we look at another person, one who grumbles at life because the sun doesn't shine, then grumbles because he has a sunburn. Forest White, who lives with his petite wife here in town, is the editor of the pages which you are now reading. It is said that 'grumbling starts the wheels of progress turning'—it must be true, for the yearbook was finished this spring with time to spare.

This year there are seventy-six seniors graduating from Glenville State Teachers College with some sort of degree. It is interesting to look into their affairs and see how and why the war will affect their career. Twenty-seven of these seventy-six are males and will undoubtedly be inducted into the army at any time. Billy Adams, our present Pioneer, will probably enter the medical corps with his physical and general science degree; Robert Armstrong, basketball co-captain for two consecutive seasons, will probably end up in an airplane flying and faking the enemy out of position; Edwin Don Hinkle, ordained the past year, will perhaps end up in the Chaplain services to spread good will among the soldiers; Jack Miles, the Kan of Korn originator, will perhaps end up fighting off the yankees who think he is the enemy in disguise. Edward Pickens—well, we'll let you 'knit mittins for Britain', James Heater and Sheldon Rhodes will end up this year being "English Majors" (how do you do it in four years?) Robert Stalnaker, Senior Prexey, said, "It would break my mother's heart for me to join the army"—mine too. But he will be there doing his part. And we find such fair ladies as Jean Brunn, Roanna Gainer, Rosalea Huff, Jean McMillian, Sarah Malcolm, Barbara Messenger, Madelyn Conrad and others leaving to join the Red Cross for aid to their loved ones that they have permitted to go before them.

Yes, the war has placed us all in a very rare position. We can graduate with little realization that it is being done until it is over. Why, back in 1880 and 1890, it was a custom for the ushers, during graduation exercises, to bring flowers up the aisle and place them around the candidates for graduation. The student receiving the most flowers was the most popular one in the class. However, the method is somewhat different now and it takes more flowers to prove the popular one in school.

It is said that a college senior is under restraint, but released from this restraint, may become either a constructive or destructive servant. I'm sure that when these seniors are released on June 3, 1942, that they will (at least the majority) end up as constructive servants. If they are destructive, let's hope it is against the common enemy, the Axis and not their own brethren.

Our seniors of yester-year have proved to be outstanding in their field of work. In conclusion, we pay tribute to those going out this spring and will have confidence in any work they set out to do.—Earle Spencer.
