ABOUT THE DEPARTMENT

Several degree programs are offered through the Department of Social Sciences at Glenville State, including a Bachelor of Arts degree in History and Political Science, a Bachelor of Science degree in Psychology, and a Bachelor of Arts in Education degree in Social Studies Education (5-9 or 5-adult.) Students majoring in psychology have recommended courses for those interested in specializing in clinical psychology, developmental psychology, and forensic psychology.

GSU's Department of Social Sciences is committed to offering high quality classroom instruction, providing professional and caring advising, and demonstrating a strong commitment to the values of a higher education community. The Department of Social Sciences offers a variety of opportunities and experiences that go beyond the formal classroom experience.

In addition to coursework, students are encouraged to be active and engaged citizens demonstrating leadership in campus and community activities. The department promotes and supports students interested in internships, work-ships, and other career-oriented opportunities.
