JUNIOR STUNTS PLEASE AUDIENCE

On Saturday evening, April twenty-eighth, the Junior Class presented its annual stunts.

When the curtain rose on the first scene, the audience looked upon a familiar scene in the Rohrbaugh apartments. Mr. Rohrbaugh, Mrs. Rohrbaugh, and Edward were all there. They were impersonated by Luther Berry, Mary Whiting, and Claud Reip, and for one time at least, the Rohrbaughs were given the opportunity of seeing themselves as others see them.

The second number was a play entitled "Enter the Hero," starring Kate Cain, Eunice Gerwig, Icy Denison, and Angelo Eagon. The acting was well done, and the entire play was enjoyed.

Tom Reed - Dr. Jones made more than one person in the audience shudder when he administered his favorite "patent." However, he was amply repaid for the misuse of his medicine.

The Greek dance presented by Susan Barnett, Dolly Lorentz, Eunice Gerwig, Virginia Morris, and Juanita Bell presented a very pretty scene.

An inverted quartette consisting of Fell Kennedy, Shirley Morton, and the Minney brothers truly showed their musical ability when they sang "Stars of the Summer Night."

The broadcasting of "I Miss You," and "What Do We Get from Boston," song by Susan Barnett and Virginia Morris, and accompanied by Hays Johnson on the saxophone, was very pleasing.

The concluding number, a moving picture, "Wild Nell of the Plains," was one of the features of the program. Susan Barnett delightfully portrayed the part of Lady Vere de Vere, an English heiress. Wild Nell, who was represented by Virginia Morris, did her part exceedingly well. Cray Minney was the fortunate cowboy, loved by both the fair English heiress and Wild Nell. "Skeeko" Lorentz and Fletcher Reip as Indian chiefs added a great deal to the western romance. Juanita Bell's make-up was so good that for a long time the audience could not tell who the old Indian squaw was.

At the close of the western tragedy, the loudspeaker of the radio announced: "This is Radio Station G. N. S. now signing off at eleven o'clock, eastern time. Good Night."

Music Week, May 4th to 11th!

BASEBALL SCHEDULE ANNOUNCED

Glenville Normal will officially open her baseball season with Morris Harvey College at Barboursville on May 1 and 2, as negotiations have been under way for some time and the dates are practically settled.

What material Coach Dawson will have is unknown. From last year's squad he will have Hardman, Lorentz, Miller, Bennett, Westfall, and several others that substituted. In addition to those there will be Powell, a former player, and Bill Treacy, who was here two years past. Morton, of Summersville, and Rexroad, of Cowen are also here. Very little is known of these boys.

The schedule consists of seventeen games, nine away and eight at home.

The feature of the schedule is a trip down the Virginia line, and the team will be very well pleased if it can break even on the schedule.

The Schedule

- May 1-2, Morris Harvey, at Barboursville.
- May 7-8, West Virginia Freshmen at home.
- May 15-16, West Virginia Freshmen, at Morgantown, pending.
- May 18-19, West Liberty Normal, at West Liberty.
- May 20, California Normal, at California, pending.
- May 22-23, Shepherd College, at Shepherdstown.
- May 29-30, West Liberty Normal,

SENIOR CLASS PLAY CHOSEN

The student committee, Edna McQuain, Vada McCutcheon, and Russell Ellyson met with Miss Giger three weeks ago and selected the senior class play. "Adam and Eve," a comedy in three acts, written by Guy Bolton and George Middleton, was chosen. The following cast was selected by Miss Giger.

"ADAM AND EVE"

The Cast

- Corinthia, his parlor maid, Edna McQuain
- Clinton DeWitt, his son-in-law, Elton Bush
- Julie DeWitt, his eldest daughter, Eula Gerwig
- Eva King, his younger daughter, Mary Holbert
- Aunt Abby Rocker, his sister-in-law, Caryl Cunningham
- Dr. Jack Delamater, his neighbor, Lynn Holstein
- Horace Pilgrim, his uncle, Cecil Wagner
- Adams Smith, his business manager, Russell Ellyson
- Lord Andrew Gordon, his would-be son-in-law, Otis Rexroad

- at home.
- June 1-2, Pittsburgh Collegians, at home.
- June 9-10, Open.

RED HOT STUNTS DRAW BIG CROWD

On Friday night, April tenth, a red hot stunt night was given in the auditorium for the benefit of athletics. Although the night was dreary and rainy, a large crowd attended the program.

The first stunt was the Curb Stone Melody, given by twelve boys and girls. The boys with their umbrellas, and the girls with their gleaming yellow slickers and galoshes were very entertaining when they sang, "I Know You."

The cabaret scene in the Glenville Follies of 1925 was very effective. Dr. Chimene was particularly good as a French waiter. Indeed one may say that his make-up was quite fetching. The solos by Russell Hardman were well worth the encore they got, and the dance given by Madelyn Beall was unusually good.

From the portraits that Marvin Miller drew of Dr. Chimene and Slim Treacy, we see that he is a promising cartoonist. We unanimously agree that the portrait of Slim should have a prominent place in the Louvre.

The session of the Gilmer County Circuit Court, in which all the football and basketball men took part was hugely enjoyed by the audience. Windy Holsberry as Mr. Bantz Craddock almost surpassed himself. We wonder if the other prominent townsmen would have recognized themselves had their names not appeared on the programs. There is no doubt that Windy would have been recognized anywhere.

Ryll Spaur, who impersonated Madame Schuman Heink, amused the crowd—as usual. With her harmonious color scheme of yellow, green, rose, and orange, her presentation of "Ach, du lieber Augustine" was extremely funny. It must be admitted, however, that the manner in which she sang "Where, Oh Where Is My Little Dog Gone" is beyond criticism. The snake dance given by Slim Treacy was a complete "knock-out," and the way he managed his shoulders is still a matter of mystery. Slim would do almost any stage justice in his line. We look forward to the Sophomore Stunts, for we feel sure that Slim will again dance for us.

Probably no other number of the program was more enjoyed than the concluding one, a clog dance and negro song in costume, given by Ryll Spaur. Young and old found delight

SPRING TERM

The spring term opened on March twenty-fourth, and many new students enrolled for the spring work. Students are glad to have two old teachers back with them. Mr. Post has resumed his work again, after attending Clark University in Worcester, Massachusetts, for several months. Mr. H. L. White, Extension Director, has also taken up his work for the spring term.

Music Memory Contest

As time goes on the value of music in education is becoming more and more clearly recognized. This is evidenced by the increasing time being given the subject in the curriculum, the school credits for private study being granted in many places, and the frequency of the public discussions of the subject. Dr. Charles W. Elliott, President Emeritus of Harvard University, says that the educational value of music is of two kinds at least, the first as a mind trainer, the second as a means of preparation for a broader, fuller, happier, life.

The Music Memory Contest has proved itself to be an effective device for familiarizing children with good music, and for inculcating in them that love for music which will make it a resource, a companion, and an enrichment of their later life. Acquaintance with good music is likely soon to merge into liking, and liking to mature into a love for it. The important thing is to acquire the taste for good music as early as possible.

The fact that in nearly every city or town in which the Music Memory Contest is adapted, it is becoming an annual event, gives it a permanent value which cannot easily be overestimated. This is the first year that Glenville has ever had a Music Memory Contest, and it is being received with enthusiasm.

MUSIC WEEK POSTER CONTEST

The Woman's Club of Glenville is offering prizes as follows: First $2.50, second $2.00, and third $1.00 for the best poster advertising National Music Week, May third to ninth. The contest is open to all persons, and the students in Mrs. Sample's drawing classes are particularly urged to submit posters. The posters must conform to the following specifications:

- (1) They must be made or mounted on cardboard 12 by 18 inches.
- (2) There must be a margin of one inch or more.
- (3) Any of the following mediums may be used: pencil, ink, crayon, oil, and water colors.
- (4) Posters must not bear the name of the maker.
- (5) The work must show originality.

The contest closes April thirtieth. All posters must be submitted on or before that date to Mrs. Sample at her office.

MUSIC ESSAY CONTEST

The Glenville Banking & Trust Company, and the Kanawha Union Bank are offering a prize of five dollars in gold for the best essay written on "How to Make Glenville the Most Musical Town of Central West Virginia." This is a splendid way for any ambitious person to gain wealth and prestige at the same time. The essay must not exceed four hundred words.

Last Monday night several of the students of Glenville Normal School gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Roland Holt, on College Street, to do honor to the "Flaming Tornado" Basketball team from Wallace High School, which won the West Virginia State Championship in Class "B" at Buckhannon, this year.

The Maroon and White team is well known to the students and alumni of Glenville Normal, as Francis "Jake" Miller, Glenn "Gabe" Garrett, Lynn "Bill" Hoey and George Wetzel were all students at G. N. S. last summer. W. W. Lovell, former coach of Spencer High School and Glenville Normal is now superintendent of the public schools of Wallace. For the honors that have come to the Short Line school, a great deal of credit is due the untiring efforts of the Maroon and White coach, in the personage of Clayborne "Red" Wilfong, former star of Glenville Normal and Davis and Elkins.

Edward N. Orr '26, who played with the "Flaming Tornado" aggregation from the time he returned to the east from Oklahoma, at the opening of the football season last fall, until he enrolled in Glenville Normal this spring, had charge of the affairs during the evening.

Mah Jongg, bridge and other games were the diversions of the evening.

At a late hour refreshments were served.

MUSIC MEMORY CONTEST

Each day at twelve o'clock those who are anxious to familiarize themselves with good music assemble in the old chapel hall where the preparation for the music memory contest takes place. Many of the compositions for the contest have already been played. The following are some of the compositions which will be used in the local memory contest:

PREPARATION FOR MUSIC MEMORRY CONTEST

The coming Music Week which will engage the hearts and minds of Glenville from May 4 to 11 will be in its best sense a Festival of the People, since all the people of every kind and character engaged in every department of activity that obtains here will be represented in the celebration. Music Week will make an appeal to all classes of the community; every hall, schoolhouse, and theatre will be devoted to music during the Festival; open air concerts will attract and please great audiences; churches will help harmoniously, school children will add their sweetness and melody to the general rejoicing and every element in Glenville will contribute something to the pleasure of the week and the success of the celebration, so humanizing and uplifting in its results in bringing a great community together in the interest of a divine art. Everyone should understand that everybody is invited to participate in the joyous incidents of Music Week, either as a participant or auditor; all should realize that Music Week is a peculiarly American celebration, the festival of all classes, all races, all religions, all trades, professions and occupations, and all are expected to unite with enthusiasm in making Music Week a season to be remembered as an occasion when the community realizes its common interests and its purposes its spirit in music.

OPEN FORUM

Shall We Have a Spring Tennis Tournament?
 We want a tournament!
 We want a tournament!
 How? Fight! Fight!
 This was the lusty cry of the tennis fans of Glenville Normal School when they were discussing among themselves the means of securing a tennis tournament near the close of the spring term. Upon asking one of the leaders of this movement, the following reasons were given for demanding a tournament:
 1. There will be no track team or spring football training at Glenville Normal School this year, and only a small portion of the boys enrolled can make the traveling squad in baseball. We must remember too, that girls can play tennis, even if they cannot play baseball.
 2. The sports of Glenville Normal School were below par this year because we did not have our inter-class games in basketball, nor did we have any kind of tournament.
 3. Many of the boys and girls who are great tennis fans will not be here for the summer term, and these persons particularly desire a spring term tournament.

CANTERBURY OFFICERS ELECTED

The Canterbury Club met in Miss Brand's room on Wednesday evening, March twenty-fifth, to elect officers for the spring term. After a short program consisting of two Kipling stories told by Claud Reip and Vada McCutcheon, officers were elected. Fred Barnett was chosen president; Fell Kennedy, vice president, and Mrs. Porter Dobbins, secretary.

EXPRESSION CLASS PRESENTS PLAY

"Trifles," a one-act play written by Susan Gaspell was presented in chapel Friday morning, April third, by the members of the expression class. The play was very well done, the actors showing careful training and leadership. The cast was as follows:
 Mr. Peters, the sheriff, Lynn McGee
 Mrs. Peters, his wife, Dolly Lorentz
 George Henderson, attorney, Paul Kidd
 Mr. Hale, a farmer, Adren Jones
 Mrs. Hale, his wife, Lucille Minor

EDUCATIONAL NOTES

As a result of a "Learn English Campaign" in Rochester, New York, the pledges of 2,500 persons to join a class in English and learn to speak, read, and write the language were obtained. The goal, originally set at 2,000, was raised when this mark was passed.

Benefits of the four open-air schools for the physically defective, operated by the London City Council, have been extended to an increasing number of children, and some experiments are in progress to determine how far sunlight treatment can be utilized beneficially.

To determine the general knowledge of students, a psychological test is given every year to the freshmen class at Pennsylvania State College. This year they were required to answer 230 questions in 40 minutes. Men students made an average score of 83.9 and women students 77.7. More than 1,000 freshmen took the test.

To give educational opportunity to distant students, the extension service of the University of Washington through the home study department, offers 255 courses in 90 subjects and 25 departments. Students are enrolled from nearly all parts of the world. In addition, extension classes covering many departments of university education are carried to more than 100 classes in nearby places. Extension work now carries residence credit, and graduate courses are offered in which one-fifth the credits required for the master's or the doctor's degree may be taken by home study.

For the sixth annual good roads essay contest of the Highway Education Board the subject is "Economies resulting from highway improvement." The principal prize is a four years' university scholarship, and the contest is open to all high school students. The essay, not exceeding 700 words, must be in the hands of school principals or teachers by May 1, 1925. Further information may be obtained from the Highway Education Board, Willard Building, Washington, D. C.

Services of graduates of American agricultural colleges are in demand all over the world. Exclusive of alumni in Alaska, Kansas State Agricultural College has 81 graduates working outside of the continental United States. Hawaii and the Philippines each has 12; China and Canada, 11 each; India 8; South Africa, 6; the West Indies, 5; Japan 3; and Panama 2; and 12 graduates are distributed in various other parts of the world, including Serbia, France, Poland, Rumania, Korea, Turkey, Brazil and Belgium.

WISE AND OTHERWISE

No Wonder

One of the aspirants for a pitcher's berth on the varsity nine had recently arrived from the sticks. He was told to warm up a bit by throwing a ball around.

"Well, how're they coming?" the captain of the nine asked him a little later.

"Rotten. Sump'n's wrong with my arm, boss. I ain't getting the speed I oughta."

"Great Scott, man! That isn't a baseball you're throwing. That's the 16-pound shot."

SOFT MUSIC

"Hear your cook quit, Jack."

"Yep. My Swedie Went Away."

PURE AND SIMPLE

"Does my question embarrass you?" inquired the professor of the dazed-looking student.

"Not at all, sir," answered the student. "The question is perfectly clear; it's the answer that's puzzling me."

AFTER THE BALL

"Why didn't you dance with my sister?"

"Because you said she danced well enough."

"What of it?"

"Nothing, but you're always telling me to let well enough alone, and I did."

TOUGH ON GWEN

"You'll always be my inspiration when I write, Gwendolyn," said the young literateur as he proposed to the light of his eyes.

They're married now, and he became an advertising copy writer. He writes those ads about coal crushers, poultry feed and bug exterminators.

FUNNY STUFF

"Hard at it, Mrs. Gray?"

"Yes, Mrs. Blucher; this is my washing day, and looking after a family of ten doesn't leave much time on my hands."

"Is that Kitty's voice I hear at the piano in the parlor?"

"Yes, that's her. I don't know how I'd get along without that girl. Always on these days she picks out her nicest pieces, like 'Sweet Rest By and By,' 'Mother's Growing Old,' 'Love Will Roll the Clouds Away,' and sings them for me while I'm running the clothes through the first water.

"Taint every girl who'd be so thoughtful, I can tell you."

POOR KIDS

Mrs. Dee—"Are you all settled in your new home?"

Mrs. Holbrooke—"A'! but the children. They can't sleep a wink. My husband hasn't had time to connect the aerial for the bedtime stories."

AT THE FOOTBALL GAME

He—"There's another man knocked out."

She (turning leaves of program)—"Oh, if he's dead I do hope they'll turn him over so I can see his number!"

HIS MIND ON BASEBALL

Music Teacher—"Why don't you stop? Those marks mean rest."

Johnny—"What's the use of restin'—let's get through with it."

UNDER SUSPICION

Several members of a Women's club were chatting with a little daughter of their hostess.

"I suppose you're a great help to your mother," suggested one.

"Oh, yes," replied the youngster, "and so is Ethel, but to day is my turn to equal the spoons after the company has gone."

TEMPO RUBATO

Music Teacher—"What is your impression of harmony?"

Smart Student—"A freckled-faced girl with a polka-dot dress leading a giraffe."

SHARP!

A musician I'll marry, I'm telling you that;

Because he'll find it easy to find me a flat.

AND THAT'S THE MORAL

A young man stood on the corner smoking a cigar. A wild-eyed Reformer went up to him and said: "My son, how many cigars do you smoke a day?"

"Two," was the answer.

"How much do they cost you?"

"Ten cents each."

"Young man, do you know if you saved that money, in twenty years you could be the owner of that big building there?"

"Do you own that building?"

"No," replied the Reformer, "I don't."

"Well," answered the young man, "I do."

PRACTICAL RELIGION

"Son," the prefect of Religion asked, "what have you gotten from your four year here?"

The youth was silent, his head bowed in shame. He left the room. The next morning the prefect received a trunk full of small articles.
