GLENVILLE IS BEST INSTITUTION WITHIN STATE, SAYS JUDGE

Jake Fisher of Circuit Court
Bench Talks in Chapel
About "Law"

PRAISES G. T. C.'s RECORD

No Student Has Been Arraigned
Before Him During His 12
Years as Official

"I believe Glenville State Teachers College to be the best educational institution in the State of West Virginia," Judge Jake Fisher of Sutton told the students and faculty of the College in assembly on Wednesday morning.

This statement was made by way of introduction to a discourse on "Law" as Judge Fisher explained that when a student here and elsewhere he resolved never to "lecture" to students.

Judge Fisher was a student here in the late eighties. While loafing in the offices of the late Judge Robert Fleming, he had his first desire to study law and wear the ermine, he said. For twelve years he has been judge of the Fourteenth Judicial District of West Virginia.

No G. T. C. Students Arraigned
Calling the subject "Law Observance" upon which he was asked to speak as too limited, Judge Fisher said that he believes the students of Glenville Teachers College do not need to be reminded of law observance. "During my twelve years on the bench I have had no knowledge of any crime or any prosecution of crime among its students," he explained. To his knowledge this record is not to be equalled by that of any other educational institution of similar size in the United States.

Judge Fisher gave his conception of the differences of the laws of man which are made for the abnormal and unusual 5 per cent. of the people and the laws of God which are for the normal being and which may punish him throughout a lifetime, not by imprisonment but through his conscience.

He defined freedom as the right to life, liberty, earning and possessing property, and pursuing happiness in one's own manner so long as he does not infringe upon the rights of others. "These sacred rights must not be violated. Because the law guarantees man these rights, the 5 per cent who infringe must be prosecuted."

Judge Believes Most People Honest

If one has not committed a crime it is because a high conception of human rights, associates, and neighbors have kept one from it, Judge Fisher believes. "Nature gives us laws which control our actions. It is the nature of a person to be honest. Ninety-five per cent of the people are industrious, honest, and in pursuit of real happiness which comes from fair dealing," he said.

"It is the natural law that when truth is violated one does violence to his conscience, or that which will destroy him.

"If one is square with himself, he will be a good citizen. It is the cheater who is always cheated," he concluded.

Miss Brand Entertains at Dinner

Miss Willa Brand entertained Miss Margaret Dobson and Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Arbuckle at dinner Oct. 7, at Verona Maple Hall.

Prexy Bakes for Ladies' Aid

Exchanging the black robes of the scholar for the white apron and cap of the chef, Prexy marched from his study to the kitchen Thursday to bake waffles for a ladies' aid. Satisfying twenty-five hungry gourmets is no simple task, but it is said that he did it in a way to make Oscar of the Waldorf envious. Strange Latin sounds escaping from the kitchen were interpreted by some as being invocations to the gods of the batter and by others as appeals to Pluto. Anyhow, the members of the Presbyterian Auxiliary which Mrs. E. G. Rohrbough and Miss Bertha Olsen entertained agree that President Rohrbough can man a waffle iron.

FIVE INSTRUCTORS TO ATTEND S. E. A.

Important Positions Held by Three—Arrangements Made for Classes Missed

Five members of the Glenville State Teachers College faculty will attend the meeting of the State Educational Association at Huntington, on Thursday, Friday, and Saturday, according to an announcement made by President E. G. Rohrbough. These members are Miss Willa Brand, Miss Margaret Dobson, O. G. Wilson, H. L. White, and President Rohrbough.

Three of the five members will hold important positions at the meeting. Miss Brand is the chairman of the English section, an office she has held for the past two years. Miss Dobson will attend the meeting of the West Virginia Collegiate Forensic Association which will decide on the subject for the state debating contest. Mr. White is the chairman of the Schoolmaster's Banquet committee.

In the absence of Mr. Rohrbough his classes will be taught by Mr. Whiting. Miss Brand's classes will be made up at some other date. Mr. White's advanced classes will be conducted by some member of the class while his other classes will be given extra written work to make up for the ones missed. Mrs. Wilson will have charge of Mr. Wilson's work. Miss Dobson has not yet decided what arrangements she will make.

'PLASTICS' TO BE PROJECT

Chemistry Club to Hear Discussion of 'Bakelite' Tonight

"Plastics" has been chosen as the subject for research work which the Chemistry Club plans to do. Reginald Lawson, president of the organization, announces. Plastics, such as radium and bakelite, are used to make phonograph records, celluloid, and cellophane.

The club will meet tonight at 7 o'clock and will discuss the subject of "Bakelite." Lorentz Summers will review the history of this plastic; Joe Ervin will discuss its components, properties, and uses; and Byron Turner and Reginald Lawson will make demonstrations of its properties.

Mrs. Sample Reported in Hospital

Mrs. Elwina Sample, instructor in art, has been confined to Saint Joseph's Hospital at Buckhannon for the past three weeks, it has been learned here. She is now recovering from an operation. Mrs. Sample is to return to Glenville the second semester.

PIONEERS DEFEAT STRONG SLIPPERY ROCK TEAM 12-0

Pennsylvania Teachers Lose
Close Battle But Threaten Goal Twice

BOTH SCORES COME LATE

First Parent's Day Game Lost by Keystone Eleven Proves to Be Surprise

Led by Capt. Clem, a determined Glenville eleven pushed across two touchdowns in the second half to defeat a stubborn Slippery Rock team by a score of 12 to 0 before a Parents' Day crowd of 3500, Saturday. It was the first time the two schools have engaged in battle on the gridiron, and the exhibition at Slippery Rock, Pa., was singular as it was the only time that the Rockets have ever met defeat in their Parents' Day games.

Confident of winning, the Pennsylvanians brought out to the field before the game a rickety buggy bearing the inscription, "The Last Ride of the Mountaineers." In this was a coffin which the freshmen pushed around the field amid the cheers of the spectators.

Pioneers Outplayed First Half

The Slippery Rock Teachers College presented a line that was big and powerful and a backfield, small, but fast and elusive. The outcome of the battle was uncertain until Clem accounted for the second six points in the last minutes of the final quarter.

The Pioneers, held scoreless the first half and outgained in first downs by a count of six to four, came back in the second half and outplayed the Pennsylvania teachers in every phase of the game. The first score was made after a series of runs by Ratliff and Clem, and a pass from Heron to Jeranko. The ball was carried over on a beautiful, twisting, 8-yard jaunt off tackle by Ratliff. The second was a result of line play, after a pass to Morford good for 16 yards, with Clem bursting through for 10 yards and a touchdown.

Pioneers Held on 1 Foot Line

Although most of the game was played in Slippery Rock territory, Glenville's goal-line was seriously threatened twice. The first threat came in the second quarter. Taking the ball on the Pioneer 45-yard line the Pennsylvania eleven marched down the field on thrusts inside tackle. Reverses and straight-away bucks behind strong interference carried the pigskin to the 12-yard line. Here the Blue and White forwards tightened up, and on the fourth down Kerr took the ball from center and ran back to pass across the goal.

New Orchestra Plays in Chapel

The college orchestra consisting of fourteen members gave its first program in chapel Wednesday under the direction of Miss Bertha Olsen. The personnel of the orchestra is as follows: Winifred Steele, Paul Bramlett, Jessie Williams, Fannie Lou Long, and Lou Williams, violinists; Donald Young and Toy Lee Long, saxophones; Charles Barnett, Frank Wolfe, and Adrian Barry, trumpets; Hugh Fultz, trombone; Dale Ball, and Paul Snodgrass, drums and Bonnie Chrisman, pianist.

1000 GRADUATES AND OTHERS EXPECTED TO COME TO GLENVILLE FOR ANNUAL HOMECOMING GAME ON SATURDAY

To Get Athletic Tickets Thursday

Student athletic tickets will be distributed on Thursday at the hours and place to be announced, Coach A. F. Rohrbough says. Students, he explains, must have these tickets before they will be admitted to the Concord-Pioneer game Saturday. Although a part of the registration fee pays for the ticket, each student will have to pay 8 cents, a sum representing the government tax of 10 per cent on admissions of 41 cents or more.

PLANS MADE FOR HARVEST DANCE

Wizards and Witches to Gather at 8:15 Monday for Celebration

Ghosts and goblins, witches, and wizards will celebrate the gathering of the harvest at the annual Halloween party on Monday evening in the gymnasium. It will cost only 25 cents for one to represent the worst of evil spirits, male or female, or a bonny farmer lad or lass. The program, much of which will be dancing, will begin at 8:15 and end at 11:45 o'clock.

Whether one wishes to masquerade or not, he will be welcomed provided he is a student or faculty member, Miss Goldie James, faculty chairman, says. Prizes, however, will be awarded to the person being the best disguised, to the one giving the best representation, and to the one wearing the funniest costume. The judges will be Miss Willa Brand, Miss Bessie Bell, and A. E. Harris. Besides dancing, it is said that a variety of entertainment will be offered to amuse everyone. Frank Beall and his six-piece orchestra will play.

The following committees are arranging the dance:

Entertainment: Mrs. E. G. Rohrbough, Mrs. O. G. Wilson, and Bertha Olsen, advisers; Kathryn Rohrbough, chairman; Virginia Brannon, Trell Reger, and Foster Hedges.

Refreshments: Alma Arbuckle, adviser; Winifred Steele, chairman; Mary Kathryn Riddle, Cly Reger, and Ivan H. Bush.

Invitation: Willa Brand, adviser; Virginia Brannon, chairman; and Winifred Steele.

Music: Everett Withers, adviser; Hugh Fultz, chairman; and Ila Carson.

FORMER G. S. T. C. HEAD HERE

J. C. Shaw, Principal, 1902-1908, Now in State Rehabilitation Work
John C. Shaw, principal of Glenville State Normal School from 1902 to 1908, visited Glenville State Teachers College last Tuesday. Mr. Shaw is now doing state rehabilitation work, with his headquarters in Wheeling.

O. A. Watson, of Buckhannon, who is doing the same kind of work, accompanied Mr. Shaw on his visit here. While here Mr. Watson looked after the business which concerns his work. Through this body, deserving crippled children are provided with tuition money and textbooks with which to continue their education.

LONG PARADE PLANNED

50-Piece Spencer Band Will Lead
Procession to Rohrbough
Field

Many familiar faces of graduates, former students, and friends of the College will be seen here on the second annual Homecoming Day on Saturday. It is expected that 1000 persons will come to Glenville for the Concord-Pioneer football game and the dance.

The program of events will begin on Friday morning, according to A. E. Harris, in charge of arrangements, when the classrooms and laboratories of the College will be open to visitors. On Saturday morning from 9 until 1:30 o'clock visiting alumni and former students are asked to register at the Robert F. Kidd Library.

At 1:30 the fifty-piece Spencer Public School Band will lead a parade from the Physical Education Building through the streets and past the shop windows, which are to be decorated with Concord and Glenville colors, to Rohrbough Field. The Holy Roller Court will have charge of the parade and will give a program of stunts before the kick-off at 2 o'clock. The Spencer band is said to be one of the best school bands in West Virginia. It will also play between halves.

Concord in recent years has become Glenville's greatest rival. Although the Pioneers are the favorites—because it is commonly thought they have the best team they have ever had—the Mountain lions are expected to resist stubbornly. Their last game resulted in a one-point victory for Glenville.

Gordon Eismon and Lionel Heron of Spencer; Edward Harris of Hinton; James Creasy, Sammersville; Clifford Clem, Weston; Kahle Vincent, Fairmont; Anthony Leeber, McAlpin; and Rowley Baker, Ruston, La., all seniors, will wear the blue and white of Glenville for their last time on Rohrbough Field.

A reception and dance will be held in the gymnasium beginning at 8:30 o'clock for graduates, students and former students, and friends of the College. Frank Beall and his local six-piece orchestra will play. The gymnasium will be decorated in autumn colors. Admission will be 35 cents a person.

Extension Class Taught at Clendenin

An extension class in history has been organized at Clendenin and is being instructed by Carey Woofter, registrar of the College. The course is known as History 233 or "Modern Imperialism," and it meets every Monday at 7 p. m. Twelve students are enrolled.

G. T. C. to Observe Holiday, Nov. 8

Tuesday, Nov. 8, Election Day, will be observed as a legal holiday by Glenville State Teachers College, according to President E. G. Rohrbough. "However," he added, "classes will meet as usual the day before and the day after election day."

INTEREST IN STUDENT CLUBS

Both Miss Willa Brand and Mr. Curtis Baxter, instructors in English, have time and time again called attention to the fact that on the campuses of European universities are found organizations of students devoted to the study of things of intellectual interest: philosophy, poetry, politics, or drama. They have further suggested the desirability of similar organizations in our own college.

Listed in the college catalog under the title of "Student Organizations" are the Y. M. C. A., Y. W. C. A., Men's Glee Club, Women's Glee Club, Chemistry Club, Ohningohow Players, Bird Club, Orchestra, Social Science Club, Canterbury Club, and "G" Club. Of these eleven "organizations" two are classes in the music department, several function scarcely at all, and the others, with the exception of the "G" Club, which is perpetuated automatically, are held together by the force of will of various instructors.

In a high school it is necessary for a teacher to assume charge of a club, but in a college the students are supposed to be a group of fairly mature men and women selected by a process of elimination until they belong to the upper strata of human society. Such a group of persons should find it to their advantage to form into groups voluntarily for the discussion and study of things that interest them. Why could not, for example, a group be formed of those interested in modern poetry, or of those interested in the possible solutions of our world economic problems, entirely on student initiative and for student benefit? Glenville has frequently been censured because it has only a few organizations, but we believe that one "volunteer" student club, lively intellectually, would be worth a dozen of the "scientifically" grown high school variety.

Is it that we do not have the background and interest necessary? Is it that we do not know what it is all about? Or is it that we are too busy with the relatively narrow curricula to recognize that there is much else of value?

DR. GOODNIGHT

The death of Dr. Cloyd Goodnight, president of Bethany College since 1919, must be regretted by students, teachers, and others throughout many parts of the United States. Especially in recent years and under the leadership of Dr. Goodnight, Bethany has become the best-known institution of West Virginia, unless the state university would be a possible exception. Its publicity has not resulted from its prowess in athletics—for Dr. Goodnight even abolished admittance tariffs for athletic contests—but apparently from the quality of its academic work and its quiet and sane atmosphere. A college of the Church of Christ, founded in 1818, Bethany has students of its faith and of others from many states and from abroad. Its finances seemingly are sufficient even now, and it has not had to depend upon hypodermic injections to prolong its life. We hope that Dr. Goodnight's successor will not permit the ranking of the college to be lowered.

"WISE GUYS"

"Wise guys" are always obnoxious. However, they seem to be an eternal element of mankind, and therefore are to be contended with always, and while everyone admits that something should be done about it, no one knows just what to do.

Contrary to the general belief, most of the wise guys of college are not to be found in the freshman ranks: the freshmen are usually the victims of these pests and their advice. The freshman who is considered too smart, is usually merely imitating some hero of the upper classes.

The wise guy is never in evidence more than on enrollment day. He appoints himself adviser for the freshmen and generously offers the newcomers the advantages of his experience in selecting courses of study. Of course, his aid is usually unasked, but that does not deter a wise guy. He simply can't allow his protégé to have a course to that teacher, for he flunks everyone; but now this one is a crip. Why doesn't the freshman take this course? He can pass it and never crack a book.

Thus are many of our poor freshmen enrolled, and thus many of them have to spend extra time in college later, getting the courses which they should have completed. Thus also does the student miss much of the value of the hard courses.

Truly, wise guys are obnoxious.

Country Life Association Thinks Farm Life Inadequate Socially, Economically

Farm life must be changed, so members of the student section of the National Country Life Association asserted at their national meeting at Oglebay Park, near Wheeling, on Oct. 14-16. Not only economically do they mean—for they believe that the farmer has never had the standard of living which he deserves—but socially.

It was granted that a bettering of economic conditions would potentially aid the farmer to change his social life, but economics was excluded as nearly as possible from the problems of the association which divided its members into seven groups, giving one of the following problems to each for discussion:

Seven Problems Discussed

1—"To what extent does farming provide steady work as compared with other occupations?" The answer, as reported by this group to a general conference which met later, is that farming affords steadier work than any other occupation.

2—"To what degree does farming provide good living on a moderate scale?" The answers were widely divergent, but the members did say that the farmer's standard of living has been lowered and that his life is rapidly changing.

3—"In what respects is the farm a superior place to rear children?" It is superior, they answered, in providing opportunity for health, for association with nature, and for better moral life, but it is not for education.

4—"In what ways does the farm promote co-operation in family life?" The emphasized answer was that the rural family must work together in order to attain or maintain the semblance of a "standard of living."

5—"What are the most satisfying activities in rural life?" Those of urban life—clubs, competitive games, and social functions—they said are in most demand. But they agree that there is a lack of leaders who can make them successful.

6—"In what ways does the farm afford opportunities for satisfying leisure?" Few they found, assuring themselves that rural people need to be trained to spend their leisure time profitably.

7—"What effect has farming Jealously with nature on one's philosophy of life?" They think the philosophy of the rural person to be fundamentally sound.

Nine From G. T. C. Attend

The basic elements of rural life, they found, are simplicity, privacy, obedience, responsibility, participation, proprietorship, and trusteeship.

One very practicable suggestion for rural aid was to circulate used newspapers and periodicals among the country folk, and to have circulating libraries.

Representatives from twenty-two colleges and thirteen states were present, totaling 360 students. Those from Glenville were the Misses Helen Bode, president of the College 4-H Club, Arna Wanda Singleton, Nellie Cottrill, Werneth Wilson, Janie Marple, Eula Stricklen, Hazel Fogarty, Mary Williams, and Avon Elden, Mrs. Otis G. Wilson, and Reginald Lawson.

line, only to fall over the referee's foot.

Heron kicked out of danger and their offense was kept bottled up until the third period when a long pass and a 15-yard penalty gave the Rockets the ball on Glenville's 10-yard line. On the first play Alton hit the line for 5 yards; the next attempt netted 3 yards; the next put the swineskin on the 1-foot line; and the last attempt was for no gain and the Pioneers got possession of the ball. After this it was just too much Pioneers.

The Glenville forwards showed much improvement over previous games with the work of Leebor, Moore, Jeranko, and Porterfield standing out.

Leebor, who has seen much of the bench in the last three years because of inexperience, has become in his senior year a real source of strength for the Pioneer line.

Cliff Clem, appointed captain for the contest, played one of his best games.

TO PRESENT TWO PLAYS NEXT MONTH

Students to Compete for Prize Offered by Ohningohow Players

Two plays, one a one-act serious drama, and the other a three-act comedy, will be presented some time next month by the Ohningohow Players, according to Miss Margaret Dobson, of the department of expression.

Tryouts for these plays will begin on next Monday evening at the college auditorium under Miss Dobson's direction. Any student is eligible to compete for a part in either of the two plays.

The first play, "The Undercurrent" was written by Tay Ehler, who is the wife of the Chilean ambassador at Washington. This one-act play was first produced by a drama group affiliated with Northwestern University and presented in Chicago. In 1928 it won the prize of the Drama League and was taken on a tour, ending in the Palace Theater, in New York City.

A note of interest is added to the presentation by the fact that Miss Dobson is personally acquainted with four of the original actors who produced the play. There are two male and four feminine roles.

In contrast to this play is the other which will be presented the same evening. This latter one is a three-act comedy, in verse, which was written in 1564 by William Stevenson, an English playwright. The play, "Gammer Gurton's Needle," precedes Shakespeare, and has been recently revised by Colin Clements, a modern English playwright. The play has ten characters, six of which are men and four are women.

PIONEERS MAKE 20 TO 4 FIRST DOWNS IN EAGLE CONTEST

Their Brilliant Offensive
Crushes Morris Harvey
38-6

SUBS SCORE 2 MARKERS

Glenville Line Plays Well, Backs
Having Little Tackling to Do

Unleashing one of the most brilliant offenses of recent years, Coach Natus Rohrbough's 1932 Pioneers completely bowled over the Morris Harvey Eagles 38-6 before 1500 spectators assembled Oct. 14, at Kanawha Park, Charleston. It was a night game.

Little doubt as to the Pioneers' superiority existed after the game was four minutes old. Here Clem culminated an 83-yard drive by going over for the first score of the game. Heron then added the extra point by a placement kick held by Morford. The Glenville drive was featured by off-tackle smashes and reverses by the Pioneer halfbacks, Ratliff and Heron. Six successive first downs were made.

Half Ends 20-0

The second touchdown came two minutes after the opening of the second quarter as Ratliff went over from the 2-yard line on a reverse just after he had made 23 yards on the same play the down before. Heron again kicked the extra point.

The third touchdown also came in the second quarter. It resulted largely from a series of passes thrown by Heron and Ratliff. Heron went over from the 15-yard line on a pass from Ratliff. He missed the extra point, and the half ended 20-0.

The fourth marker came late in the third quarter as Morford scored on a pass from Heron. The kick for goal was again missed.

Glenville substitutes made the last two touchdowns largely through the efforts of two hard-hitting backs, Baker and Combs, who were aided by Pierce and Graham's splendid interference.

Pioneer Line Plays Well

The game was especially pleasant to view in as much as the Glenville line really showed that it is capable of playing first-class football. The Glenville backs were not often called upon to do any tackling. However, late in the third quarter Canterbury, star back of the Eagles, sifted through the right side of the line, reversed his direction, and caught the backfield sleeping as he went over for Morris Harvey's only score. Although the playing of the entire Pioneer line was of a high caliber, that of Anthony Leeber was especially good.

The backfield under the steady generalship of Morford, coupled with the deceptive running of Ratliff and Heron, and aided by the timely plunges of Clem, clicked almost to perfection. However, two substitutes, Baker and Combs, almost stole the show by their splendid running and passing.

Stanley Jeranko acted as captain for the Pioneers and played his usual hard game.

Canterbury, substitute halfback for Morris Harvey, was easily that team's outstanding player.

GROUPS TO GIVE SKITS TOMORROW

Ohningohow Group Schedules 16th Century Comedy and Modern One-Act Drama

Nine stunts of varying nature will be presented on Wednesday night at the college auditorium by various groups about the campus, in competition for a $5 prize which will be awarded to the best of them by the Ohningohow Players.

In preparing for the stunt night the Players chose these nine stunts from seventeen which were submitted to their committee. Five judges, all of whom are Glenville town-people, will rate the events.

An admittance charge will be made for the events by the players, students being admitted for 10 cents, while all others will pay 25 cents.

Miss Nellie Cottrill, of Glenville, is the business manager of the enterprise, Miss Genevieve Welch, of Clarksburg, is the advertising manager, and Miss Madeline Linville, of Clarksburg, the stage manager.

MISS DOBSON TO BE Y. W. SPONSOR

Organization to Give Leap-Year Dance Nov. 18—All Women Are Invited

Miss Margaret Dobson was selected sponsor of the Y. W. C. A. at a meeting held on Oct. 12. Miss Dobson, who is head of the dramatics department, met with the club at the first meeting.

On Nov. 18 a Leap Year dance will be held. Plans for it will be completed at the next meeting, according to the committee of arrangements.

The president, Miss Marjerie Lindell, urges all women, including those who do not belong to the organization, to be present with a guest.

Because of a stunt night being held this week, there will be no meeting on the usual night. If a meeting is not called before, the regular one will be on Nov. 9, Miss Lindell says.

MAY SPEAK HERE ON RADIUM

Dr. Gable to Be Engaged If Faculty and Students Aid

If the students and faculty of the College are willing to aid John R. Wagner and the chemistry class in their plans, Dr. Luther S. H. Gable will speak here some time in the year on "The Astounding Story of Radium," it was learned from Mr. Wagner.

Dr. Gable, a radiologist, physicist, and lecturer, is head of the department of radium and heliology at the Detroit Institute of Technology. Mr. Wagner has heard him lecture and says, "He is the most interesting and constructive speaker I have ever heard."

In his press sheets it is said that Dr. Gable is the lone survivor of a group of six chemical engineers and research men who refined the first radium produced in America. The notice, however, does not say how the others died. Dr. Gable has received considerable note as being a man who drinks "radium highballs" for his health. They are compounded from orange juice and radium. He uses colored slides and samples of radium to illustrate his talk.

Baxter Gets Slides For Lectures

Curtis Baxter, instructor in English literature, announces that he has just received a new set of 125 colored slides illustrating the literary haunts of old England. They deal especially with the Thomas Hardy and Lorna Doone countries in southern England.

THREE CLASSES ELECT OFFICERS

Vass, Berry, and Combs to Lead Seniors, Juniors, and Sophomores Respectively

For the first time in several years classes at Glenville State Teachers College have organized at the beginning of the year, and not just in time to choose senior rings or plan a junior-senior dinner. On Oct. 6 the seniors elected Frank Vass their class president; the juniors, Arlan Berry; and the sophomores, Robert Combs. The supposedly negligent freshmen had organized on Oct. 2.

The officers who were elected by each class are as follows:

Seniors: President, Frank Vass of Clarksburg; vice-president, Miss Virginia Chidester of Weston; secretary, Trel Reger of Walkersville; treasurer, James Hatfield of Delbarton.

Juniors: President, Arlan Berry of Glenville; vice-president, Nelson Wells of Glenville; secretary-treasurer, Lawrence Keith, Harrisville.

Sophomores: President, Robert Combs of Clarksburg; vice-president, Foster Hedges of Spencer; secretary-treasurer, Cly Reger of Walkersville.

Honor Residents Guests at Luncheon

Miss Willa Brand, preceptress of Verona Maple Hall, gave a luncheon for the honor residents of the hall on Oct. 6. Her guests were the Misses Winifred Steele, Mildred Snodgrass, Mabel Hayhurst, Harriet Keith, Mabel Anderson, Ruby Ramsey, Pauline Facemire, Novena Marple, Kathryn Rohrbough, Marie Hall, Mable Rose, Virginia Brannon, Evelyn Bowyer, Marguerite Duckworth, Mabel Nichols, and Margaret Dobson, assistant preceptress.

Hunter Whiting motored to Clarksburg today and returned.

"What on earth are you up to now?"

FINDING things out, smarty! I thought I'd examine the tobacco in a cigarette.

"Look here...this is Chesterfield tobacco. Notice its lighter color...you don't see any dark heavy types, do you? I guess that's why Chesterfields are milder.

"I'm told that uniformly lighter color is due to cross-blending. It sort of welds all the tobaccos into one.

"And here's something else. Notice that these long shreds are all cut the same width. It stands to reason they burn smoother and cooler.

"I don't pretend to be an expert but it looks to me as if they make Chesterfields right.

"Here, light one. That's the best test after all. They Satisfy."
