Rex Pyles Leads His Battlers to State Championship by Defeating Concord

MARTINO GLENVILLE STAR

Injury as Coach Rohrbough's
Team Fails to Click

(By Isadore Nachman)

The Pioneers lost to Alderson-Broadbudd College in the semi-final round of the intercollegiate basketball tournament, 48-37. The Baptists, coached by Rex Pyles, a former Pioneer, went into the final round where they defeated the Concord Mountain Lions, 50-37, to win the state title.

After the Pioneers had vanquished the Davis and Elkins Scarlet Hurricane, 45-42, in the most thrilling, hair-raising encounter of the two day-session, they defeated the New River Collegians in their second encounter of the opening day of play, 50-36; it was in this game that Al Lilley, elongated center, tore a cartilage loose in his leg.

Broadbudd Defeats Tired Pioneers
The Alderson-Broadbudd team, one of the tournament favorites, won over Potomac State School in the first round, 36-30. In this game they looked anything but the championship they turned out to be. Had the Potomac Staters made many of their under the hoop shots and a greater majority of their fouls, the Baptists would have had a battle on their hands.

Playing a Glenville team that had put everything to the opening game, the Baptists trailed for the greater part of the first half only to slip away to a 20-19 lead, as the gong ended the first half of play.

Martino Plays Great Game
The Pioneers were literally "out on their feet" as the second half began, and if it had not been for the stellar play of Frank Martino, who acquitted himself nobly throughout the two-day session, the Pioneers would have been outclassed by a greater margin of victory. Martino came through with fifteen points in this game and stamped himself as the outstanding player of the tournament.

The Concord Mountain Lions, tournament runners-up, played great ball in both of their opening encounters. In the first round they eliminated the Fairmont Teachers, 48-37, in a fast game from beginning to end. They defeated the Salem Tigers, 51-38, to win their way into the final session against Rex Pyles' Battlers.

Finding Jailhouse Is Embarrassing Moment for Adventurous Coeds

(By Jarrett W. Jones)

Looking for a jail may not appeal to most people as a pleasant past time, but two freshman girls of the College recently thought it a good way to "kill" a few hours, as well as to satisfy their own appetite for adventure.

One of the girls had heard that somewhere in Glenville there is a jail. So, with a brand of "snooping" that would become the most "nosy news-hound," the two wended their way down Court Street to the courthouse. Having long associated the words "jail" and "courthouse" in their minds, they were sure there ought to be a jail somewhere around the courthouse grounds. So they began cautiously to reconnoiter the place.

After circling the grounds a number of times, the discouraged adventurers came to a halt beside the red brick building at the rear of the courthouse. With a sigh of resignation, one of the girls blurted out, "Well, where do they keep the bloomin' jail anyway!" From a barred window above the girls heads came the answer, "Up here it is, girls. We've been waitin' to see you a long time."

But like the night that fades before the coming dawn, the two girls hurriedly absented themselves with great informality.

PIONEERS DEFEAT SENATORS, 45-42

New River Bows, 50-36, Before
Glenville After a Close
First Half

By Isadore Nachman

Capt. Paul (Babe) Jones led the Pioneers into the semi-final round of the second annual intercollegiate basketball tournament as the Pioneers defeated the Scarlet Hurricane of Davis Elkins College, 45-42, in a fast thrilling battle that saw the Pioneers finish the game with all five starters on the bench. In the second game of the first round the Pioneers won a listless battle from the New River Collegians, 50-36.

After starting slowly against Davis-Elkins, the Pioneer attack gained momentum and at the half held a 23-21 lead. The playing of Lilley and Martino was outstanding from an offensive standpoint, while Jones, Cottle, and Davies flashed a passing attack that kept the Senators bewildered.

The first quarter saw the Scarlet Hurricane gain a 10-7 lead only to have the Pioneers, lead by Martino and Lilley, begin to function and slowly pull away from last year's champions. Kendall, towering guard, of the Senators, kept the invaders in the game throughout with his adept long shooting.

In the third quarter the Pioneers and Senators battled for the lead

COACHES TOURNEY WINNER

Former College Athlete

Lionel Heron, '33, coach of Spencer High School, sectional tournament winners, is a former Pioneer football and baseball star. Heron is spending his second year at the Spencer school, where he did his high school work. This is his third year as a coach. Two years ago he was coach at Wirt County High School, Elizabeth. Last year he came to Spencer and has enjoyed great success at his alma mater.

Heron was a member of the basketball squad here for two years, and played as a regular on the Pioneer football team for four years. Will Be 17th Annual Meet
For Sixth
District

EXPECT MANY TO ATTEND

Events Include Extempore Speaking,
Oration and Poetry
Reading

The seventeenth annual meet of the Interscholastic Public Speaking Contest for the sixth district will be held at Glenville State Teachers College, Saturday, March 21. This is the third consecutive year the contest has been held at the College, and according to Professor Wilbur J. Kay, head of the department of speech at West Virginia University and promoter of these contests, the two preceding meetings here have been the largest held in the state in those respective years. Two of the contestants who won first place in the contest at Glenville the past year, also won first place in the state meet at Morgantown.

14 Schools to Be Represented

Fourteen high schools sent a representation of forty-six students to the contest the past year. Miss Pearl Pickens, instructor in English in Troy High School, who is chairman of this district, estimates that approximately the same number of schools will take part this year.

The contest comprises competition in four events: debate, extempore speaking, poetry reading, and oration. The requirements for the poetry reading event have again been changed. There will be three groups of poems, but group one consists of only one poem, Edwin Markham's "The Man With the Hoe," which must be read by all contestants. Group two is composed of "Moonlight" by John V. A. Weaver, and "Wind in the Pines" by Lew Saret. Group three has "To a Waterfowl" by William C. Bryant, and "Daffodils" by William Wordsworth. Two other poems chosen from either group two or three are also to be read by the contestant.

Will Debate Free Medical Service

The subject assigned for the debate is "Resolved, that the several states should enact legislation providing for a system of complete medical service available to all citizens at public expense." The oration may be either original or selected, and the subject for extempore speech is "Our Federal Constitution."

There are eleven districts in the state. Winning contestants from each district will go to Morgantown where they will compete in the state contest held at West Virginia University.

Members of the faculty of Glenville State Teachers College will serve as judges for the contest here. The members of competing teams and their coaches will be guests of the College at a luncheon in Kanawha Hall.

Mr. and Mrs. U. B. Hardin and son, Ray, of Charleston, visited their daughter, Doris, of Verona Mapel Hall, Sunday.

Lucille Carpenter, '35, a teacher in the Spencer schools, attended the sectional tournament here last week-end.

OATHS FOR TEACHERS

Freedom of thought and speech has always been a prized privilege of every true American since the inception of our American democracy. Occasionally this privilege has been contested, chiefly by alarmists or self-seeking demagogues. But fortunately, with the courageous support of public opinion, this freedom has been maintained.

Of late, however, an inroad from a new angle has been made upon American thought and expression. Alarmists, seemingly, have attempted to legislate patriotism into an already unusually patriotic group—American teachers. By legislation in twenty-odd states teachers are now required to take "loyalty oaths" to uphold American ideals. Obviously, the teachers of America have been first and foremost in instilling into the youth of this country those ideals of patriotism, liberty, and freedom so highly valued by the framers of the federal constitution. Is there reason now to believe that teachers have become so grossly unpatriotic? Is the American teaching body to be singled out from all other influential groups in this country respecting patriotic zeal?

In New York state the Ives law requiring teacher loyalty oaths met opposition in the Kaminsky bill which is supported by students and teachers who concerned themselves enough to meet in Albany February 18 for a public hearing before the New York Assembly committee on Public Education. Marion Carpenter, of Skidmore college, who represented the National Student Federation of America at the meeting, stressed the "futility and unfairness of such legislation." She further substantiated her statement by saying that "the fetters of loyalty oaths interfere with constitutionally guaranteed freedom to learn as well as with freedom of teaching."

To all Americans this subject is a matter of concern; to American teachers, it is of vital interest.—Jarrett W. Jones.

OUR SOCIAL ACTIVITIES

The College Social Committee has completed the difficult task of planning a calendar of social functions for the second semester.

The calendar calls for several formal and informal dances, several dramatic productions and other necessary campus activities. Each event will require considerable work in the way of preparation, which means students and members of the faculty will be asked to assist.

Somehow our social functions seem to have been lagging recently. Somehow it seems we as students have not been taking advantage of various formal and informal activities. Where the trouble is we are not in a position to say. However, we are of the opinion that there is too much of the "let George do it" attitude—one fact which might be taken into consideration and then reckoned with.

We imagine that being on the social committee is not so desirable as it might be—meaning there isn't always the co-operation needed. Maybe students are not doing their part—maybe members of the faculty are not assisting as they should.

But, regardless of where the trouble is, let us not forget that attending social functions on the campus do enhance our social makeup and they often enable us to meet and mingle with people just a little better than we would otherwise.

PLEASE DO NOT FORGET

The books and magazines in the Robert F. Kidd Library are for the use of every student. Recently magazines have been disappearing. Evidently some student thinks that just because he or she wants a magazine, or a clipping from one of them, that 413 other students have no desire to read that particular magazine or article. But why should one student deprive the others of the enjoyment of using the magazines? After all, there wouldn't be a College if it weren't for the other 413.

SIGNS OF PROGRESS

Added advantages are indicative of progress, and progress is a requisite of a successful educational institution.

Recently graduates of Glenville State Teachers College were granted privileges entitling them to teach in secondary schools without first doing a minimum of six weeks' work in an institution which is a member of the North Central Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools.

Glenville's Own News Reel

By S. M. F.

Glenville in the spring, Oh, Oh! Oh, Oh!—"kids" on roller skates, marble-shooting contests, tournaments, the green campus in the noon-day sun, or a moon-light night on the library steps with "the one." What could be more entrancing? . . . The most recent high school sectional tournament in the College gymnasium served as a sort of stimulant for some of our fair coeds and dashing heroes who journeyed forth to Clarksburg yesterday to see the Pioneers in action for the last time this year.

Seemingly, it is quite the rage for alumni and former students to burst forth into verse. Perhaps we have a promising young author in our midst today. If we have, don't be bashful with your contributions . . . Marriages, too, seem to be in vogue at this time. From all indications this season will parallel the spring of '32 . . . The last number of our artist course is near at hand. By all means you must hear Mrs. Demarchus Brown . . . The cast for the state contest play—"Master Patelin's Solicitor"—is striving daily and diligently to be able to portray the French comedy in a superb manner before the judges of the West Virginia Speech Festival, March 26, 27 and 28 . . . Things are happening fast and furious. Be alert or you'll miss your part in this great epoch of history . . . So until next week it's "30."

CAN YOU ANSWER THESE 10 QUESTIONS?

Are you up on your local history? If so, answer these:

- 1—When was the Robert F. Kidd Library completed?
  - 2—What contractor will build the new College dormitory?
  - 3—To whom was Rohrbough Field dedicated?
  - 4—What College instructor owns a farm in Upshur County?
  - 5—How many pianos in the auditorium?
  - 6—Name two members of the faculty who are alumni of Harvard University?
  - 7—Who was recently elected the most popular girl on the campus?
  - 8—Where did the Pioneers play basketball before the new gymnasium was constructed?
  - 9—What was the "B and B."
  - 10—Why are some students always late?
- Correct answers will be found on page five.

WINS BILLIARD TOURNAMENT

Michigan University Reaches First Place With Score of 400

(Special to the Mercury)

Chicago, March 9—Michigan University today won the intercollegiate telegraphic pocket billiards tournament with a total score of 400. Indiana finished second with a 304 score with Michigan State counting 299 points for third place.

According to the report received from this year's tournament headquarters at Cornell, a total of twelve colleges competed in the competition, played annually under the auspices of the Association of College Unions. The other nine schools competing were: North Carolina, Brown, Purdue, Columbia, Pennsylvania, Cornell, Kansas, Illinois, and Iowa State; finishing in the order named.

The annual intercollegiate straight rail billiards tournament is scheduled for decision Thursday and the three-cushion event on March 12.

These privileges were granted only after a careful examination of the facilities of the College by the West Virginia committee on recommendations of the North Central Association.

This action corroborates our opinion that, as students of the College, we are indeed fortunate.—Avon Elder.

Academy Awards Made

Victor McLaglen and Bette Davis were recently ruled the screen's royal couple of 1935 after receiving gold statuettes from the Academy of Motion Picture Arts and Sciences emblematic of the best screen performances of 1935. "Mutiny on the Bounty" was selected as the outstanding picture of the year.

Katherine Hepburn was second choice in the award to actresses and Elisabeth Bergner, third choice.

A surprise in the voting was the "write-in" selection of Paul Muni for second place in the actors' awards. Charles Laughton was voted third.

Both Miss Davis and McLaglen won by large margins, although vote totals were not announced. Miss Davis won on her work in "Dangerous"; Miss Hepburn for "Alien Adams," and Miss Bergner for "Escape Me Never." McLaglen's award came for his work in "The Informant."

Miss Willa Brand, preceptress of Verona Maple Hall, spent the weekend in Clarksburg. She attended a meeting of the College Club, Saturday.

MY NEIGHBOR

He needs must work, though time's onrushing wings

Have left bright bits of soft down in his hair;

His gnarled old hands will potter with such things

As rake and hoe, or with painstaking care

He builds a rustic seat beneath the trees;

He cuts the lawn and keeps the hedges trim.

In simple daily labors such as these

He keeps an independence dear to him.

He who has always worked is not content

With idle hours; all toil to him is sweet.

He counts that day as lost, at least ill-spent,

That sees no labor of the hands complete.

Dear God, when he walks shining ways with You,

Please give his eager hands some work to do.

At the Library

"Time Out of Mind"

"Time Out of Mind," by Rachel L. Field, recently added to the Robert Kidd Library, is a novel of the Fortunes, famous ship owners of the 1870's. Major Fortune was determined that his frail son, the fourth Nathaniel Fortune, should carry on the family tradition. But Nat was in love with music and wanted to be a composer. To break him of that desire, his father sent him on a trip around the world in the last of the Fortune ships, "Rainbow." After a disastrous voyage, Nat went back to his music, backed by his possessively protective sister, Rissa, and by Kate Fernald, daughter of the housekeeper at Fortune's Folly. Kate, a fine, generous girl, was loyal all her life to Nat, and for him gave up her own chances of marriage. When Nat, almost completely broken by life and his unsympathetic wife, returned to Kate, she was able to make him happy for a time, before the final tragedy. The story purports to be written by Kate, who lived on in the Maine village for years after the Fortune family had died out.

Several other new books have been added to the library and will be available this week.

Over a period of years, certain basic advances have been made in the selection and treatment of cigarette tobaccos for Lucky Strike Cigarettes.

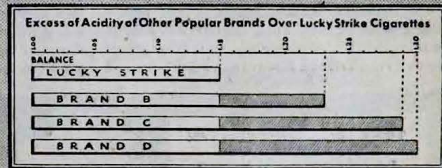

They include preliminary analyses of the tobacco selected; use of center leaves; the higher heat treatment of tobacco ("Toasting"); consideration of acid-alkaline balance, with consequent definite improvement in flavor; and controlled uniformity in the finished product.

All these combine to produce a superior cigarette—a modern cigarette, a cigarette made of rich, ripe-bodied tobaccos—A Light Smoke.

In Spring Young Men's Fancies Turn to Thoughts of Baseball and—Fair Women

By Jack Elder

In the spring a young man's fancies
Lightly turns to thoughts of baseball.

Thoughts of baseball and fair women
Supple forms and dusty diamonds...

Spring, that symphony of marvelous compositions by Nature. She, by a wave of her magic distaff, places on the masculine sex the pleasant, but at times depressing task of introductory speaker in the formulation of plans for the organization of that well known corporation, the family. Places on him the heavy burden of introductory advances and adds to his already troubled adolescent life the problem of finding a person with whom he can eat peacefully, three times a day, for the remaining part of his life.

But Nature never forgets. At all times her sense of balance prevails. With this added burden is an accompanying desire to flex the biceps, take a deep breath, and expand physically, thereby making it easier for one to carry the added weight.

Never overlooking the fact that equilibrium is necessary for the proper functioning of humanity, Nature answers the chivalrous advances of men by placing a coquettish smile on the lips of members of the weaker sex and an acquiescent twinkle in their eyes.

Thus we analyze spring.

REVEALS SCHOOL STATISTICS

H. K. Baer Says Elementary Pupil Population Not Stationary

That the elementary school population of West Virginia is far from stationary was revealed recently in figures made public by H. K. Baer, state supervisor of elementary schools. One out of 10 pupils, Mr. Baer said, either withdrew from or changed school last year, and half of them moved from the counties where they had been enrolled.

"There is no way of knowing how many of them merely moved to other counties or how many left the state."

The 40,601 students that withdrew, Mr. Baer divided into seven classes—those moving out of the county, 19,464; enrolled in other schools of the county, 11,063; received meployment certificates, 433; mental or physical incapacity, 2,958; above compulsory school age, 3,958; permanently suspended by county boards, 170; and 14 years or over and employed at home or on farm, 2,516.

Goff Giboney and Millard Cunningham visited friends in Parkersburg, Sunday.

For Digestion's Sake—smoke Camels

WHEN YOU'E HIT the books hour after hour and day after day, the strain and tension seek for a weak spot—so often digestion. You'll find that smoking Camels aids digestion.

Smoking Camels Helps to Ward Off Indigestion Caused by the Breathless Pace of Modern Living

Faster—faster—faster goes the modern rush. People are "always on the go." No wonder indigestion visits so many from time to time. People can't seem to pause for proper eating. But here's one simple step every one can take! Smoke Camels for the sake of the positive beneficial effect Camels have upon digestion. Camels stimulate and promote natural processes of digestion. And above all, with their matchless blend of costlier tobaccos, Camels bring a supreme enjoyment of mildness and flavor.

Modern life in one of its most attractive phases—the beautiful Trianon Room (above) at the Ambassador in New York. Louis, maître d'hôtel at this celebrated dining place, says: "Our guests come to the Trianon Room from New York and from all over the country. It is interesting to see how they agree in preferring Camels. Those who enjoy dining here also appreciate the delicate flavor of the finer tobaccos in Camels. Camels are an overwhelming favorite at our tables."

NO FRESH FOOD HERE—the Morrissey during an Arctic expedition. . . . Harold McCracken, leader, says: "Stomach upsets are a constant hazard. I've discovered that smoking Camels at every meal and after helps digestion."

"DELIGHTFUL with meals and after," says Betty Chase, star figure skater. "Camels make food taste better and help digestion along. And certainly smoking a Camel is one of life's most agreeable experiences."

PIONEERS LOSE TO BROADDUS, 48-37, IN HECTIC GAME

Large Crowds See Fast Battles
Large crowds attended all of the sessions which stamped the second annual affair a distinct success. Last year's play, at Fairmont, netted a loss of more than a thousand dollars.

The final game saw the Alderson-Broaddus sagers, probably the last team ever to represent the bankrupt college, really play good ball against a tired Mountain Lion aggregation that had been forced to put out in the afternoon session against the Salem College Tigers.

The lead changed hands frequently in the opening half after the Baptists had slipped away to a 7-0 margin before the Concordians began to click. From there on out the first half was nip and tuck. It was in the second half that the Battlers with Neil Sappinton at the helm drew away steadily and won hands down. Suder, Kelley and Hinzman played great ball for the Broaddus team. For Concord the play of Roney, throughout the tournament, D'Antoni, and Neff stood out.

which saw first one team and then another forge into the lead only to have a sensational bit of play wipe out a narrow margin. At the conclusion of this period Glenville led, 38-35.

Early in the fourth period the Pioneers took a commanding lead only to see Cottle, Jones, Martino, Lilley, and Davies leave the game via the personal foul route. Glenville's reserves acquitted themselves nobly and played sensational ball, holding the invading Senators at standstill in the last few minutes.

SPORTLITE

By ISADORE NACHMAN

The Fourth Annual Little Kanawha Valley basketball tournament was a success. Financially, the gate receipts were the largest; from the standpoint of sportsmanship the tournament was perfect; and from the crowd standpoint—well, to find standing room Saturday night one had to be a member of the Singer's midgets. Junior (Sonny) Rhoades was the outstanding player to compete. The Glenville boy averaged better than twenty-two points a game. Stanley Jeranko, tournament referee, said, "Rhoades is the greatest shot I have ever seen, either in college or high school." Rhoades should make a great college player; that is, if his size does not handicap him too much. Spencer, winning the tournament for the first time, played superior ball, especially the last few minutes of that exciting game.

Coach Heron of the Yellow Jackets is a former Pioneer football and baseball star. Scarlet fever kept the Calhoun County team from appearing. If they had appeared, it would have been interesting to have seen the crowd gain entrance to the gymnasium. State tournament fans have never been packed in any tighter than people were in the local gym Saturday night. Coach Rohrbough and his efficient staff of assistants certainly deserve all of the praise one can hand out for the efficient manner in which they handled the large crowds and other tournament details.

L. D. Moore, superintendent of Roane County schools, brought the Spencer cheering section out of the coldrums Saturday. Mr. Moore not only gave his vocal support but aided the cheerleaders and many times took the floor alone. He got a great ovation from the crowd, which he justly deserved. Baseball is beginning to creep to the fore, as the court season terminates. Paul (Scamper) Fuls is the only veteran. Coach Rohrbough, however, has a wealth of material on hand to mold into a strong nine.

SPENCER HIGH SCHOOL DEFEATS RED TERRORS, 35-33, TO WIN SECTIONAL TOURNAMENT SPONSORED BY COLLEGE

Normantown Wins Over Troy In Consolation Game

RHOADES BEST FORWARD

President E. G. Rohrbough Presents Awards to the Winners

Spencer High School defeated Glenville High School Saturday night, 35 to 33, to win the Fourth Annual Little Kanawha Valley basketball tournament and the right to represent this section in the regional contest this week-end in Clarksburg. The tournament was sponsored by Glenville State Teachers College and was directed by Coach A. F. Rohrbough.

Spencer advanced to the finals by downing Sand Fork, 38-14, Friday afternoon and by defeating Troy, pre-tournament favorite, 42-35, Saturday afternoon. Glenville reached the finals after winning 51 to 49 over Tanner and after trouncing Normantown, 48 to 45. Normantown won over Walton, 46-24.

Normantown Defeats Troy
Normantown defeated Troy, 44-36, in the consolation game played immediately before the final contest.

The tournament was by far the most successful event of its kind ever held here. Hundreds of out-of-town and local visitors attended each session. Standing room was at a premium Saturday afternoon and night. Student delegations from all competing schools were in their places and kept up a constant round of cheering. It was estimated that more than 200 visitors were here from Spencer.

Final Game Is Close

The Glenville-Spencer game was a fast and furious battle. Glenville led most of the way and held a 9-4 margin at the end of the first quarter. With less than a minute to go, Spencer was behind, 32-30. Cooper, of Spencer, tossed in a goal to tie the score. Mace, of Spencer, then scored to give the Roane County team a 34-32 lead.

Rhoades, Glenville forward who won highest tournament honors by scoring a total of sixty-five points in three games, was fouled. He made the first free throw and purposely missed the second. The ball went out of bounds and Rhoades snapped it back in and tossed another goal. The two points did not count because the noise had drowned out the referee's whistle when he had blown it to signify the ball was out of play. The gun cracked as the ball was in mid air.

Pres. Rohrbough Presents Awards
Immediately following the final game, President E. G. Rohrbough gave a brief talk, praising the excellent work of Stanley Jeranko, '33, coach of Northwest Junior High School, who officiated as referee throughout the tournament. President Rohrbough also praised the sportsmanship shown and the excellent playing exhibited during the sectional contest.

He presented a wall plaque to the tournament winner, gave a silver trophy to the runners-up and a wall plaque to Normantown, winner of the consolation game. Assisted by Fred Madison Whiting, Jr., and Richard Dyer, President Rohrbough presented individual prizes as follows:

For centuries the world has gone to the Near East for its flavors and aromas and spices.

...and today Chesterfield imports thousands of bales of tobacco from Turkey and Greece to add flavor and fragrance to Chesterfield Cigarettes.

Turkish tobacco is expensive. The import duty alone is 35 cents a pound. But no other place except Turkey and Greece can raise tobacco of this particular aroma and flavor.

This Turkish tobacco, blended with our own American tobaccos in the correct proportions to bring out the finer qualities of each tobacco, helps to make Chesterfields outstanding for mildness and for better taste.
