PREXY CALLS HOLIDAY

Parade, Speeches and Toe Dancing Are Featured Events of Tomorrow's Schedule

Glenville, April 1 (A. F.)—Tomorrow will be a gala day in Glenville. Students of the College, members of the faculty, and practically all of the townspeople are expected to turn out in huge numbers to celebrate the grand opening of the new College dormitory for boys, which received its finishing touches yesterday.

Realizing the long delay in bringing the dormitory to completion, President E. G. Rohrbough announced that students and faculty members should call an old-time holiday and celebrate in style. To further enhance the memorable occasion President Rohrbough has invited more than a hundred celebrities, including Haille Selassie of Ethiopia, Mahatma Gandhi, stylist of India; Chief Talks-in-His-Sleep and How's-Your-Health, not to mention their medicine man, Pint-of-Pills, all residents of the rim of the Colorado River; and last but not least, Mae West who has long expressed a desire to meet Hunter Whiting, prize catch of the College faculty.

Expecting Many Celebrities

"We are expecting the arrival of these celebrities at dawn tomorrow," President Rohrbough said, and added: "They will leave the train at Gilmer Station at 6:30 a. m. and travel by boat the rest of the journey, arriving here in time to fall in behind my car at the head of the

STUDENT COUNCIL CANDIDATE JAILED

Clifford Gibson Runs Afoul of the Law During Heated Campaign Speech

Glenville, April 1 (A. F.)—The law caught up with Clifford Gibson, candidate for president of the Student Council, late last night as he was going to his lodging place.

Gibson was placed in the escape-proof Gilmer County jail, where he will await trial on charges of electioneering within sixty feet of the polls and disturbing the peace.

It is alleged that Gibson had an audience behind the auditorium stage door entrance where he was whooping it up for "the free state of Preston," and at the same time passing out cigars and spirits (from Preston) to those whom he was addressing.

CHEMISTRY HEAD INJURED IN FALL

John R. Wagner Jumps From Second Story Window to Prove Experiment

Glenville, April 1 (A. F.)—John R. Wagner, instructor in the College chemistry department, was fatally injured yesterday evening when he jumped from the second story floor of the administration building in an attempt to prove an experiment to his students. He was accompanied on his way down by an old battered umbrella which he used as a parachute.

Although Wagner explained his act as "an attempt to prove to his students that inertia would overcome momentum," chemistry students believe it was a publicity stunt.

Wagner is resting painfully at his home in South Glenville.

WILL GIVE FREE DELIVERY SERVICE

Leroy Sheets Will Use School Bus to Transport Students From Suburbs

Glenville, April 1. (A.F.)—Little Leroy Sheets, custodian of the school bus and general handy-man about the gymnasium, announces that free delivery service will be given those College students who reside in Northview, Camden Flats, and River view.

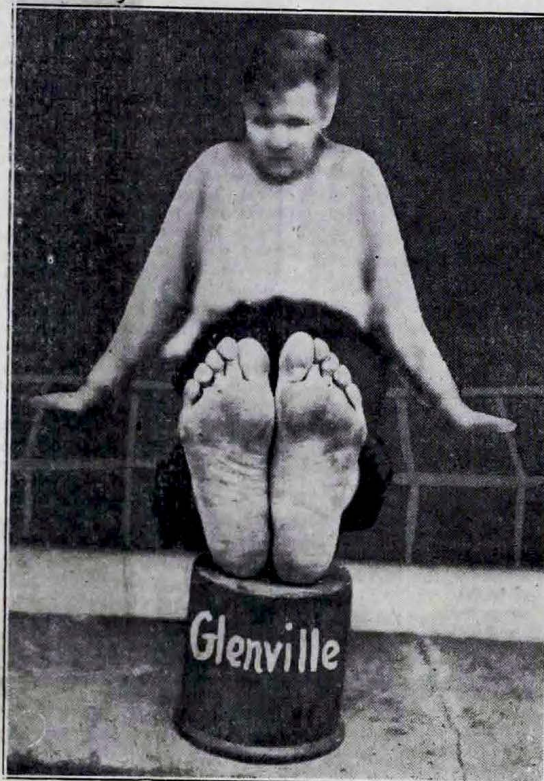

Sheets said: "Too many of our students reach the College in a state of exhaustion and in no way are they in a mood to learn. I mean to take this matter into my own hands and show the students I really know conditions here."

Many applicants have already filed their applications for the pilot's job, but it is thought that Mr. C. W. Post will be called from the geography department to take over this responsible position.

More than 300 individual exhibits will be on display here Friday and Saturday during the annual Chemistry Day program held under the auspices of Glenville State Teachers College.

HAMILTON WINS BIG FOOT MEET AT FEETSTOWN

Olsen Corn Remover Company Sponsors Spectacular Show

200 ENTER CONTEST

Haille Selassie Provoked at Decision And Threatens Open Warfare

Feetstown, April 1 (A. F.)—Jack "Screwdriver" Hamilton carried off high honors in the "Big Foot Contest" sponsored by the Olsen Corn Remover Company here yesterday. The contest was held in the Olsen Municipal Building, built last year by a gift from Bertha E. Olsen, as a memorial to persons afflicted with corns and bunions.

Of the two hundred entrants in the contest from all over the world, Hamilton easily eliminated them all by five inches of foot.

"Screwdriver's" nearest opponent was Haille Selassie, of Ethiopia. When the final decision had been made and Hamilton was adjudged the winner, a verbal battle ensued between the versatile bearded warrior and the big-footed champion. Selassie threatened to launch an attack upon Hamilton's home town, Grantsville, with his aggressive Ethiopian army.

The champion was awarded five gross of Olsen's corn remover and one kitchen paring knife, by the tournament sponsor. Presenting the award, the corn remover magnate smilingly said, "It is with the greatest of pleasure that I present you with our splendid corn remover and bunion amputator. I know you'll like it. I do."

WILL NOMINATE OFFICERS TODAY

Primary Election for Student Council Officers to Be Held Friday

Definite assurance that nominations for Student Council positions will be heard today in chapel, was given yesterday by Lloyd Metheny. In addition to those already named by the nominating committee, any student may be nominated from the floor at the meeting this morning.

The primary election will be held Friday to determine the two highest candidates for each office. Ballot boxes will be placed in the hall of the administration building and the polls will be open all day.

The general election will be held sometime in April.

Glenville, April 1 (A. F.)—Slamming his heel down viciously on the top of his desk, H. Y. Clark, of the education department, declared yesterday: "I am going to see that college boys and girls are not pestered with tests next year, even if it takes me all summer."

A school dance ban of 78 years has been lifted at Baker University in Baldwin, Kan.

WHY ALL-FOOLS' DAY?

What is the origin of our April-Fool's Day? Probably the best theory for the beginning of this day is that it is a relic of those once universal festivities held at the vernal equinox, which began on Old New Year's Day, March 25, and ended on April 1. When the reform Calendar was adopted by the French, decreeing that the new year should begin on January 1, the New Year's gifts which had been a feature of April 1, became associated with January 1. Those who disliked this change amused themselves by sending mock presents and paying calls of pretended ceremony on April 1.

In the beginning, April 1 was observed as a general festival; but in the early part of the eighteenth century, it became commonly known as April-Fool's Day. Sometimes it is referred to as All-Fools' Day and those who are fooled are called April-fish. Perhaps this is because in April a fish is young and easily caught.—Ina Grim.

ATTENDING CHAPEL PROGRAMS

We are convinced that a good many students in the College either regard chapel programs with abhorrence, or feel that the chapel hour is sixty minutes in which to clatter up and down the steps or loiter in the front hall. In the main, the College assembly programs are interesting and entertaining as well as instructive.

We see no reason for students skipping chapel and then spending the hour parading through the hallways and talking in overtones that drown out the voices of those who are speaking in the auditorium.

There may be rare instances when students have reasons for not attending chapel programs, but we are not convinced that there are sufficient reasons for half of the student body being absent at one time. The chapel period, beginning with this semester, was lengthened to include the hour from ten until eleven o'clock in order that more time might be given to entertainment and various activities of an extra-curricular nature. The programs are designed to benefit students and faculty.

To make the chapel hour worthy of its purpose, the support of the student body is required. The absence of one student may not be generally noticed, but when two hundred others try to convince themselves that they will not be missed they can only become assured of the fallacy of their argument.—Jarrett W. Jones.

COLLEGE AND CELEBRITIES

What's the matter with this College, anyhow? Why can't we have some celebrities in here now and then? Instead of ham actors such as the Hedgerow Theatre troupe, Bohumir Kryl, Lowell Thomas, and the Don Cossacks, why can't we have some real actors come here?

For instance, may we cite a few of those celebrities: Hank Warner, the renowned soloist of the Metropolitan Opera; John Campbell, "tops" in the movies, who recently replaced Clark Gable as the nation's heart-throb; J. P. Hunter, the pea-weight boxing champion of the world; Fritzie White, chief cheer-leader of the "U-Write-It" Correspondence School; Margaret Isner, movie star who makes Mae West look like an 1890 quilting party dame; A. F. Rohrbough, chauffeur to John Campbell; Laura Ann Miles, who succeeded John Dewey recently as the world's most eminent librarian; or the Lodge Bathroom Chorus.

With such numbers as these on the Artists' Course, the College would indeed be something worthy of praise. Until we do get such celebrities as these, we will continue behind the times.—(A. F.)

Chemistry Club Asks Cooperation To the Editors of the Mercury:

Once again the Chemistry Club is sponsoring the annual Chemistry Day. The benefits derived from this project are many. First, there is the benefit to the College. It is good advertising for prospective students to become acquainted with our College. Doubtless, they in choosing a college will consider what they have seen when they visited us. Besides rendering this service, the Chemistry Club has been supplying high schools throughout the eastern United States with information about where they may get displays. This keeps the name of the College before the people.

The Chemistry Club is contacting corporations which deal with industrial chemistry. We cannot all be science teachers; some of us must be industrial chemists, so the displays which are shown on Chemistry Day are of educational value. Besides this we have been engaging lecturers to speak on scientific subjects. While they are here they judge us for what we are worth. This not only applies to science students but to the entire student body. The small admission charged for these lectures is justifiable because of the Club's expense in obtaining these men and also the current expense of Chemistry Day. We believe that in return for the admission price we are rendering you a service which will justify the outlay.

Besides gaining back the immediate return, the Chemistry Club is giving services to the College and to the individual student. Because of these things we feel we should ask the student body to cooperate with us and make the coming Chemistry Day the best we have had.

BENJAMIN TATTERSON,
President of the Chemistry
Club.

Don't let 'em fool you.

Glenville's Own News Reel

By S. M. F.

Today may be All-Fools' Day to some but to a certain little brown-eyed sophomore girl, Saturday night seemed to be. Complete details of the story have not been made known, but at 9:10 p. m. she was still waiting at the Grill for her "basketball man." . . . Saturday is Chemistry Day. Invitations have been sent to more than sixty high schools and more than 700 visitors are expected. Dr. Phillips Thomas of the Westinghouse Electric Manufacturing Company will be the principal speaker.

A picture of Josephine Riffée, sophomore in the College, appeared in Sunday's Exponent-Telegram. . . . Congratulations to Curtis Baxter for obtaining the Don Cossack Russian Chorus for the first number on the 1936-1937 artists' course. And speaking of artists' courses, don't forget that Mrs. Demarchus Brown will "Revisit Athens," Thursday evening, April 9, in the College auditorium.

Two of our fair coeds believe there is nothing so vital to the health as plenty of vigorous exercise. Roller-skating is one means of getting this, especially when one falls every second and a half. . . . Dick Dyer seems to be playing the part of "Wee Willie Winkie" about the campus. At any rate, he took it upon himself to inform Miss Dobson about a Verona Mapel girl's late hours. . . . Seventy-two out of the 224 pupils who have classes to Mr. Freed have completed their supervised reading. . . . Tank Hill, the Beeches and other abodes of the lovers were swarming with eminent couples Sunday afternoon. This, along with the sudden array of white shoes, is a sure sign that spring is here. And with the approaching of this exquisite season comes mid-semester tests, Easter vacation, etc. Until next week, it's "30."

"The Last Puritan"

"The Last Puritan" by George Santayana, is among the more recent books added at the Robert F. Kidd Library. It is believed by Henri Seidel Canby, to be a book worth attacking, worth defending, worth digesting and what may come to be a controversy in American literature as did "The Education of Henry Adams." The book was published by Charles Scribner and Sons, 1936.

Included among the other new books are: "The World From Below," Jules Romains; "A Footnote to Folly," Mary Heaton Vorse; "An Outline of Forestry," Illick, and "The Sound Wagon," by T. S. Stripling.

E. R. Grose's Sago Bovine Wins Top Honors at Livestock Exhibition

Sago, April 1 (AF)—Prof. E. R. Grose, premier agricola and livestockman, exhibited Betsy, the champion buttermilk cow, here today to win first place in the Sago Livestock Exposition and the right to enter his entire herd of one cow in the forthcoming show at Adrian.

More than 10,000 persons, most of them farmers and miners, pushed and shoved their way through the gates early this morning to view the champion quadruped as she was led from the green pastures to the judge's stand. The cow wore a pea-green halter, a short bobbed tail and was neatly groomed for the occasion. Prof. Grose, the owner, assisted by a posse of deputy sheriffs who only yesterday had levied on the cow, walked along the side of the animal. Each man carried a heavy sassafras pole, used to brace against the sides of the brute as a safety measure against the cow's being blown over into a nearby field.

Congratulates the Winner
Among the curious spectators was Miss Goldie C. James, former instructor in Glenville State Teachers College and now owner of the Dead Cat Ranch, two miles east of here. Miss James was among the first to congratulate Betsy on her remarkable achievement and was seen to shed tears as deputy sheriffs unhaltered the cow and loaded her on a sled which was to carry her to the Buckhannon packing house, located in the basement of the Upshur County jail.

Broken hearted and grief-stricken, Prof. Grose stood nonchalantly before the curious throngs as Judge Knowlitt presented the annual championship award—one pair of overshoes and a bright red umbrella.

Determined to Win

Prof. Grose bowed his head as he left the reviewing stands and was heard to remark, "I'll bet I'll produce the champion buttermilk next year even if there is only one animal entered—as was the case this year."

Considerable confusion and commotion was expected at the Grose residence upon receipt of the exposition news; however, several persons who were known to have visited the home said Mrs. Grose received the report with extreme calmness and serenity.

BELL APPROVES "DECAMERON"

Librarian Sanctions Purchase of Tales by Boccaccio

Glenville, April 1 (A. F.)—Decameron, by Boccaccio, was added to the library today. The book was a "first" to be approved by the librarian, Miss Bessie Boyd Bell, former instructor in history in the College. Miss Bell said the reason she placed the book as a "first" is: "There are seven men characters and only three women, thank heavens!"

Shocked at such a statement, Curtis Baxter said, "This book will corrupt the youth of today and should not under any consideration be added to the library."

SIXTEEN GIRLS CAMPUSED

Miss Brand Penalizes Girls For Not Wearing Hats

Glenville, April 1 (A. F.)—Miss Willa Brand, preceptress of Verona Mapel Hall, has been compelled to campus sixteen girls for a period of six weeks for not adhering to rules of common decency and etiquette. These girls, we are not permitted to disclose their names, were reported to have been seen downtown Sunday afternoon in attire too scanty to be conducive to common decency.

Miss Brand, after several hours of careful consideration and investigation, found the girls guilty of appearing in public without their heads being properly covered. Miss Brand states that, at first glance, this punishment may seem drastic, but harsh measures are necessary if this type of conduct is ever to be eliminated.

Library Offers Service to Lovers

Glenville, April 1 (A. F.)—Miss Alma Arbuckle and Miss Laura Ann Miles announced that starting today all courting couples may come to the library immediately after dinner and stay until 8:30, when the library closes. Couples may have tables reserved if they wish, or should they choose to sit on the steps, the lights will be extinguished promptly at the first signs of darkness.

"I have 150 persons enrolled in education 442," he said yesterday, "and I expect to see all of them get teaching positions. Eighteen weeks of training will make a first-class teacher out of any student."

Dr. Shreve also intimated that he plans to complete his work in fourteen weeks this semester so that he may get out in time for fishing season. Students, however, will be required to attend class regularly but will not be asked to prepare any assignments.

A LIGHT SMOKE

OF RICH, RIPE-BODIED TOBACCO

The simple mechanical details of cigarette manufacture are of surprising importance. Upon them depend the physical properties of the cigarette, such as weight, size, firmness, moisture-holding properties, uniformity of fill, uniformity of product—all of which have a far-reaching effect on the character of its combustion and the constituents of its smoke.

In the manufacture of Lucky Strike Cigarettes all of these properties have been standardized with care for the perfection of A LIGHT SMOKE.

Verona Mapel Hall Girls Go on Strike As Preceptress Pigeonholes 151 Rules

Glenville, April 1 (A. F.)—Eighty-four girls, all inmates of Verona Mapel Hall, went on a strike today because Miss Willa Brand, preceptress, announced last night at the regular weekly house-meeting that all of the 151 rules of the hall had been thrown into the waste-basket. When Miss Brand made the statement, the girls were quite calm and peaceful, but as evening wore on and the girls began to realize that they once more had the freedom of the world at their feet, they decided to strike.

When the breakfast bell sounded at exactly 7:15 a. m., eighty girls took their places in line and marched lock-step to the front lawn, where they asserted themselves.

"I simply wont stand it," "Fritzie" White, College cheerleader, was heard to exclaim, "my parents sent me to a home of culture and refinement and I intend to uphold my family traditions."

The mob came to such violence that it was necessary for President E. G. Rohrbough to summon the Kanawha Hall Firemen in order to restore peace.

Miss Brand and Miss Dobson stood quietly on the porch. Both were amazed. "I never thought it would come to this," Miss Dobson said, and added, "I knew they liked the rules, but not so much as all this."

Entertains With Party

Glenville, April 1. (A. F.)—Laura Ann Miles, instructor in library science, announced last evening that she has at last found the perfect class. According to Miss Miles there are twenty students in English 221, Library Science, and all have an A-average. She says, however, that all of the work assigned has been of an elementary nature. For the remaining part of the semester, the work will be more serious and much more difficult.

Miss Miles further states that so far all work has been done in class, no difficult outside assignments being made. However, she says that she intends to continue to cooperate just as much with her students as she has in the past and she feels sure the excellent work will continue.

Thirty Princeton seniors have qualified to be excused from all classes and pursue studies on an independent basis.

LILLEY DISCOVERS LOST LIBRARIAN

Miss Alma Arbuckle Found Under Copy of New York Times

Glenville, April 1 (A. F.)—After being lost for twenty-four hours, Miss Alma Arbuckle, one of the many librarians employed at the R. F. Kidd Library, was found late yesterday evening. An extensive search had been conducted for her for at least ten minutes when the small librarian was discovered by Albert Lilley on the fourth floor of the library where she was buried beneath an old edition of the New York Times. When found, Miss Arbuckle was in a weakened condition, suffering from hunger and exposure. Three times before Miss Arbuckle has been lost in the same building.

FOR DIGESTION'S SAKE — SMOKE CAMELS

CROWDED HOURS

—Studies, sports, intramural activities — no wonder digestion often rebels at the strain of college life. Remember: Smoking Camels promotes digestion and well-being.

Smoking Camels Assists Digestion to Proceed Normally and Promotes Well-Being and Good Feeling

We live in high gear. So much to do and so little time to do it in! All too often the rush and tension play havoc with nerves and the digestive system. How can one offset the effects of modern living—that's the problem! Here is an interesting established fact: Smoking Camels has been found a definite benefit in promoting natural digestive action. Camels are supremely mild—never get on the nerves or tire your taste. Enjoy Camels as much as you like... for their good cheer and "lift"... for their rare flavor! Smoke Camel's costlier tobaccos for digestion's sake.

"Good times and good tobacco go together," says Fred, maitre d'hôtel of the Marine Dining Room. "So many of our guests smoke Camels. They are immensely popular."

"I HAVE TO EAT in 30 minutes—and a riveter can't be walking around with nervous indigestion, on narrow beams hundreds of feet in the air," says Harry Fisher, steel worker. "Smoking Camels makes my food set better and helps my digestion."

SHE FEEDS THOUSANDS DAILY. Miss Lenora Flinn, dietitian, says: "With me, it's always Camels! Smoking Camels during meals and after promotes digestion, causing increased flow of digestive fluids. Camels never jangle my nerves."

TOBACCO SPITTERS WILL "SPAT" HERE

Novel Tournament Is First of Its Kind Ever Sponsored By the College

Glenville, April 1 (A. F.)—The first annual tobacco-spitters tournament will get under way here Saturday. Coach "Nate" Rohrbough, originator of this novel tournament, has invited sixty-two colleges to send representatives. To date sixty-one colleges have signified their intentions of having their prize expectorators present.

Plans were first formulated about a month ago when invitations were sent out. Many of the schools were opposed to the idea at first because Rohrbough himself is considered a prize "cud-handler" and "expectorator" of no mean ability.

This misunderstanding was cleared up when Coach Rohrbough announced that all competing schools would be given a ten foot handicap, and that Glenville State Teachers College will enter only freshmen.

The tournament will be held in the College auditorium. Contestants will spit from the balcony door toward the stage. The judge for the novel event will be Miss Grace Lorenz, Humbolt Yokum Clark and Carey Woofert will assist and inspect all acts before the spitting gets under way.

SOPHOMORES WIN CLASS TOURNEY

Cottle and Martino Pave Way to Victory Over First-Year Men

Frank Martino's Sophomores defeated Robert (Red) Davies' Freshmen in the final game of the class basketball tournament, Wednesday, 38-33. The Sophomores took an early lead and were never behind. They were in front, 16-11, at the half. The Sophomores won their way to the finals by defeating the Seniors, 42-21, while the Freshmen were trouncing the Juniors, 27-19.

In the final game the Sophomores started fast and held the first-year men scoreless in the first quarter. They held their margin in the second quarter although the Freshmen fought valiantly to overcome the large lead. Hillis Cottle and Martino paced the Sophomores with fifteen and eleven points respectively. Davies and Lilley were high scorers for the class of '39.

Large crowds attended both games. Line-up and summary of final game:

John Davis Rohrbough Wins Contest

Glenville, April 1. (A. F.)—John Davis Rohrbough, infant son of Coach and Mrs. A. F. Rohrbough, won the College intra-mural skating contest last night in the College auditorium. John, favorite among the College students, was cheered to victory by his many friends. Those competing against him were: "Lardy" Mendenhall, John Campbell and Jack Hamilton, fancy skating aces and student records. The inner re-

Willa Brand's Favorite to Win Boloney Mapel Hall Sweepstakes

Glenville, April 1 (A. F.)—Whoa! Whoa! Whoa! Dobbins, keep that left ear up and don't forget to smile. Also, remember Rule 236 in Woolley and you can't lose.

And so Dobbins got her — Whoa! — His — instructions today as Miss Willa Brand left the campus in a mad pace for the county fairgrounds where she will enter Dobbins in the Boloney Mapel Hall sweepstakes this afternoon at 3 o'clock.

Although Miss Brand was questioned by several hundred local racing fans, she refused absolutely to confirm the statement that Miss Margaret Dobson would ride Dobbins, at least throughout a part of the race. Miss Dobson said she had nothing to say and continued to dunk another slice of wheat bread into the liquid of two poached duck eggs. Miss Dobson did intimate, however, that she knew she would be terribly nervous at the thought of endangering the life of an $8.97 Percheron steed in such a race of unprecedented speed and endurance.

The race will start immediately after the gong sounds three and will continue until the first horse has reached a last year's hay stack 100 yards east of the grandstand. The owner of the winning horse will receive a sparkling new cocktail shaker and three pounds of cracked ice. Both prizes were donated by the "Y. W." and Y. M. C. A. Miss Brand's horse would have won the grand prize last year had he not stopped to criticize a neighbor horse for entering the race without a collar.

Claude Rader will have charge of Miss Brand's classes during her three-hour absence. Both Miss Brand and Miss Dobson will be accompanied to the tracks by the Kanawha Hall Fire Department.

Will Speak in Charleston

FREED'S FIREMEN ANSWER ALARM

New Organization Has First Chance to Demonstrate Ability

Glenville, April 1 (A. F.)—Fire Chief Raymond E. Freed and his Kanawha Hall Fire Department were aroused from their sweet Sunday morning snoring when a loud cry, "fire in the hole!" reverberated through the halls at about 11 o'clock.

There was a great flurry. Samuel Whitman rounded up his bucket brigade and rushed pell-mell to the banks of the Little Kanawha River. Jason Meadows grabbed a fire extinguisher and went after his prize winning oration which he felt sure was the cause of the fire. John Hunter hoisted his five feet, all of it, upon a stool and began reciting, "The Boy Stood on the Burning Deck." Coach Rohrbough, "Nate" to you guys, started out with John Davis. dropped him and went back after Bud. Fire Chief and Mrs. Freed made a hasty retreat down the drain pipe. Many other spectacular exits were made. . . . but as all of the hustle and hurry was in progress Evert Howes slept, snoring, with a smile of complacent satisfaction on his jam besmeared face.

State Board of Education Approves College Faculty Parties

BULLETIN

Members of the College faculty received hearty congratulations from the State Board of Education in a telegram received here ten minutes ago. Parties such as the one exposed last night are merely signs of a progressive institution, members of the board declared.

Glenville, April 1 (A. F.)—Glenville State Teachers College awoke this morning to find the student body and faculty in a turmoil. Teachers were hurrying here and there with their faces covered and heads bowed. Students were found in small and large groups earnestly talking over the shocking news that had leaked out late last night.

Reynolds Discovers Wild Party

The fuss and turmoil came as a result of wild parties members of the local faculty have been throwing in the College gymnasium. Last night Bertram Reynolds, department of justice investigator, heard loud noises emanating from the rear of the gym. Reynolds immediately summoned local officers and raided the "Faculty Den" at exactly 11:55 o'clock.

When members of the raiding party finally gained entrance they found the basement rooms clouded with cigar and cigarette smoke, empty whiskey and gin bottles and numerous other indications of modern times.

Conflicting Stories Told

It seems a small window on the southeast corner of the gymnasium had been left open and that through it Clifford Gibson, Junior Craddock, Lloyd Metheny, and Thomas Pierce witnessed the entire performance.

Gibson said: "It was about 11:21 that I was summoned from my bed by Mr. Reynolds, who had already rounded up the rest of the boys. He told me of the noise he had heard and said I was deputized, or words to that effect, and for me to come with him. I did. Going to the rear of the gymnasium we heard various terms of endearment coming through the open window.

"It was then that I got this scratch on my face, as we all rushed for the window at the same time. But I won the race—Craddock ran second. Well sir, we just stood there open-mouthed—cause what do you think we saw? There was Margaret Dobson, giving an interpretation of Sally Rand and it was 'Pulenty good.'"

Although no charges have been brought, the following faculty members will be asked to explain their uncalled-for behavior: President E. G. Rohrbough, Dean H. L. White, Curtis Baxter, H. Y. Clark, Raymond E. Freed, E. R. Grose, who gave an alias as "Buttermilk Slim"; A. F. Rohrbough, Clarence W. Post, Linn B. Hickman, Dr. J. C. Shreve, Hunter Whiting, Miss Willa Brand, Miss Margaret Dobson, Miss Alma Arbuckle, Miss Goldie James, Miss Bertha E. Olsen, and Laura Ann Miles.

parade which is to start at the corner of Court and College Streets at ten o'clock sharp."

Following closely behind the distinguished visitors will be a volunteer band, composed of Carey Woof-ter, drum major; Robert T. Crawford, Dean H. L. White, H. Y. Clark, E. R. Grose, and C. W. Post, playing their theme song, "I Ain't Gonna Rest Till I Sleep in Your New Bed," which they dedicated to the boys who will move into the hall tomorrow afternoon.

Circling the town in a fashion reminiscent of the days of the Apache savages, the gigantic parade will come to a halt before the Grill.

where Chief How's-Your-Health and George Firestone will drink a loud, and long toast to Pioneer days and the new dormitory.

Miss Brand to Dance

Immediately following the luncheon hour, Miss Willa Brand and Mae West, sister of Wild West, will stage a competitive toe dance, to the accompaniment of the jew's harp by Miss Bertha Olsen and Lloyd Jones. The decision will be made by popular applause, the winner to receive her choice of either an Indian blanket, offered by Chief Talks-In-His-Sleep, or an ancient tom-tom with the compliments of Haille Selassie, King of Kings.

Mayor W. H. Taylor of Delphi O., has banned public dancing.

I want my cigarette mild, of course—I hardly think anybody enjoys a strong cigarette. But deliver me from the flat, insipid kind.

I find a great deal of pleasure in Chesterfields. They're mild and yet they seem to have more taste and aroma. I enjoy them.
