Summer

MISS RADER IN CHARGE

Normantown, Glenville, Sand
Fork and Gilmer

Twelve instructors have been employed to teach in the College training school this summer, it is announced by President E. G. Rohrbough. The school will begin Thursday, June 11, and continue until Wednesday, July 22. Classes will be taught five days a week in all the elementary grades and special work will be offered eighth grade pupils.

The training school this year will be much larger than any conducted here in the past. Three busses will be used in transporting pupils from Sand Fork, Troy, Gilmer, and Normantown. A fee of fifty cents, to be used in purchasing supplies, will be charged each pupil.

Miss Esther Rader will direct the training school and supervise the various activities. Earl Boggs will be principal of the school and will also supervise the teaching.

All rooms in the Glenville High School building and six rooms at the College will be used. More than fifty pupils from Normantown and ten from Sand Fork have enrolled. Enrollment figures for Glenville and Troy are not available.

Classes will be held from 8:30 to 11:30 a. m. Miss Ivy Lee Myers, education instructor, believes that facilities will be available for the training of about 220 student teachers.

Rodney Turner Builds New Device For Rapid Combination Flash-Card Drill

A device to be used for rapid combination flash-card drill was completed the past week by Rodney Turner, of Glenville, a sophomore in the College, and is now on display in Miss Ivy Lee Myers' classroom.

The machine, which members of the education department say is the most original piece of work done by any College student in recent years, is made of ply-wood, is three feet square and has space for twelve flash cards which turn on a revolving base. The machine also has a brake which may be released for rapid drill and a reverse which may be used in backing up the cards in case they are moved before the pupils see them.

In the center of the machine is a small window through which the cards are seen. Directly under the center is another window which remains closed until an incorrect answer has been made and the correct

DORMITORY WORK IS SLOWED DOWN

Contractors Unable to Continue Until Shipment of Steel Arrives

Work on the new College dormitory has been suspended for two weeks to await the arrival of a shipment of steel which must be installed before the brickwork can be continued, according to C. W. Loar, superintendent. All workers, except a few P. W. A. men, have been laid off until the steel arrives.

Mr. Loar, who will supervise the W. P. A. work this week, said yesterday that he will go to Greensburg, Pa. next week where he will remain six weeks superintending the construction of a building for the Pennsylvania State Road Commission. In the absence of Mr. Loar, the work on the dormitory will be supervised by S. S. Lynch, who has been managing the brickwork.

The first cut stone was laid the latter part of last week toward erecting a wall along the east side of the College campus. The wall will extend from the driveway entrance on east College Street to the campus limits near the Lodge.

Margaret Bell Zinn spent the week-end at her home in Parkersburg.

COUNCIL HONORS FOUR FRESHMEN

Harliss, Stalnaker, Dye and Musser Voted Best First-Year Students

Sadie Harliss, Leah Stalnaker, James Croner Musser, Jr., and Delmar Dye were voted the most outstanding freshmen on the campus at a called meeting of the Student Council last night. Voting was done by secret ballot with only the retiring council members voicing their selections.

Because of the difficult task of making such selections, the council chose four leading freshmen instead of two, as had been originally planned. All four students were named on the basis of their scholastic standing, attendance at all athletic events, attendance and participation in social functions, attendance at assembly, wearing of freshman caps and general conduct throughout the school year.

No provisions were made for presenting awards to the students honored this year. Lloyd Metheny, retiring council president, states that awards will probably be made next year.

THEY DO COME BACK

Among all the pleasant impressions which members of this year's graduating class have received during the four years they have spent in Glenville State Teachers College, the spirit of friendliness of the students will perhaps remain with them longest. Although many colleges have a student enrollment equal to ours, none of them, we believe, can boast of an atmosphere of congeniality equal to that which pervades generally among Glenville students.

The College is practically free from cliques and clans that are usually found in most colleges. The apparent disregard for exclusive groups is especially noticeable here. New students are often heard commenting upon the spirit of comradeship that prevails among the members of the student body regardless of their class standing in the College. In all undertakings common to the student body, one can not help admiring the cooperative way in which each class does its share.

The freedom of association between the student body and teachers is no small factor in promoting this spirit of friendliness.

With such congenial conditions existing year after year can one wonder why old students find it a pleasure to return each year and why new ones choose such an atmosphere in which to get their college training?—Jarrett W. Jones.

SERVICE WE APPRECIATE

Many thanks should go to President E. G. Rohrbough for seeing to it that a public address system is to be made available for the commencement address here Monday morning, June 1.

The Mercury feels that College seniors, College students, the College faculty, and Glenville townspeople will be fortunate in having Will Durant here Commencement Day. Certainly a man who has traveled as widely as Will Durant and who has been in constant touch with the affairs of the world can bring nothing other than an interesting lecture. Although Mr. Durant may confine his remarks largely to those among us who are to be graduated, we are all likely to receive a valuable message from a man who evidently says what he thinks.

Placing loudspeakers in three classrooms will mean that several hundred visitors will be able to hear Will Durant's lecture, in addition to the 600 or 700 who are lucky enough to get seats in the auditorium.

Installing the public address system is a service we feel will be highly appreciated by the public in general.

WE ARE ON THE ROAD

Student Government in Glenville State Teachers College has successfully undergone its initiation, has received its criticisms and commendations and is now at liberty to further improve the activities of the College. We feel sure that the student council members have acquitted themselves admirably during the past year. Little reason for complaint can be found in their work. Their experience may be profitably used by the council next year.

College activities can be further improved. Students can be made to feel that they are an indispensable unit in college life. Loyalty can be stimulated. We believe that student government can become a permanent institution in the College, if active interest can be created in the personnel of the student body.—Jack Elder.

SENTIMENTALITY, OR WHAT YOU WILL

The Mercury takes this opportunity to thank the student body, the College faculty and all others who have cooperated so admirably throughout the school year—who have read the paper and who, in many instances, have been thoughtful enough to offer constructive suggestions.

The Mercury also appreciates the many fine stories which have been obtained from the office of President E. G. Rohrbough, from Dean H. Laban White, from Carey Woofert, registrar, and from Miss Alma Arbuckle and Miss Laura Ann Miles, librarians.

Members of the Mercury staff have also found that all members of the faculty are willing to contribute news items when they are properly approached and when reporters go to them prepared to ask sensible questions.

We have tried to cooperate with the Student Council. We believe the council has done a splendid piece of work. Therefore, next year, members of the new Student Council, we promise even better cooperation. We are at your service so long as your interest is in building a bigger and better Glenville State Teachers College.

May we continue to travel along to-

The chief characters are Sarah Burton, head mistress of the girl's high school, who stands for the new day; Robert Carne, stubborn conservative; and Alderman Mrs. Beddows, who understands and helps them both.

AND SOME VERSE—

May Wears a Rose Wreath

May winds are piping a rollicking tune,
Like the voice of the oriole fluting his rune.

That dimples with steps of the breeze tripping over.

Hawthorne is feathering—what do I care!

May wears a crimson rose in her hair.

A queen with red strawberry stain on her hands,

Her gay, dancing feet thread a path through the boulders,

She's flinging a buttercup chair round her shoulders.

With gold hearted daisies she's framing her face.

And her dance frock is fashioned of white Queen Anne's lace.

English Instructor Showers Affections on Brown and White Springer Spaniel

By Woodrow Wolfe

"Maida is the most valuable thing I have," declares Curtis Baxter, instructor in English in the College. Maida is a beautiful springer spaniel dog whose father is the Ohio champion in his field. The name "Maida," of course, goes back to the days of Sir Walter Scott, who also called his favorite dog "Maida."

Maida, who will be two years old in June, is a beautiful specimen of the canine family—the answer to any dog-lover's dream. A coat of brown and white hair, appearing as though it were recently marcelled, adds to the beauty of the valuable pet.

Her full name is Maida Kathie Snowshoe. She is most affectionate. The absence of Mr. Baxter for any length of time causes her considerable worry, and howls of despair all ways echo from out her kennel until her master returns. She is especially fond of children, and company of any sort brings her great joy.

Mr. Baxter guards Maida's diet as carefully as one would feed a baby. She is fed only on scientific foods. Maida is registered in the New York Kennel Club.

Mr. Baxter says that although Maida is a very valuable hunting dog, he never uses her for that purpose. He declares that he is not a hunter. He likes Maida just because she is Maida.

New Stage Equipment Bought

Freshman Girl Finds Pal of Her Dreams —Says Once a Friend Always a Friend

[This story was written by Violet Hoover, a student in English 102 (Composition), taught by Carey Wooster.—The Editors.] Being the only one in the family, was often very lonesome and wished for a playmate to share the many toys that my parents gave me. Even the big dolls that Santa Claus brought to me every Christmas didn't fill the lonely spot in my heart. At night, after I had said my prayer and Mother had tucked the covers around me, I would cry myself to sleep because I was all alone. Of course, once in a while some neighbor's children would come over for a few minutes to play, but they were always older or younger than I. Soon they would get tired and go back home or find someone else to make their mud pies with.

Then one beautiful night after Mother had kissed me and turned out the lights, I lay in my bed and wished for a playmate. That night after I had gone to sleep I dreamed that I had found a playmate. She and I were almost the same age. Her hair and eyes were the same color as mine and she always had a happy smile for everyone whom she met. We always seemed to be wanting to play the same game or to go to the same place.

Was a Green Freshman

The next morning when I awoke, I was determined that I would always watch for the little girl I had dreamed about. I was sure that she had to be somewhere and that I would find her, although it might require a long time. I told my mother the dream that I had had, and she promised me she would help me find her. Almost all that day I sat on the front porch rocking my doll and watching for my playmate. In every car that passed I would look for her, but could not see her.

When I became old enough to go to school, I made friends quickly and I was no longer as lonesome as I had been; but I was still looking for the little brown-eyed girl of my dreams. All through the grades and junior high school I continued to make many friends. Two or three times I would see a girl I thought was my ideal friend, but after I had been with her a few times I soon learned that she was not. Time passed like this until I was a freshman in high school. True to the old saying, I was a very green freshman. I could always be found standing around in the halls with a blank look on my face.

Finds Ideal Friend

About the second month of school I was feeling more lonesome than usual. As I stood in a dark corner of the hall, something seemed to make me look up. When I did, I saw my ideal girl friend standing across the hall. Her eyes and lips both smiled at me and I smiled back. We started walking toward each other and began talking. She proved to be the very girl I had dreamed about, and we were the true pals all through high school. She was unable to go to College this winter with me, but she is always waiting with her happy smile for me every time I go home.

—for Digestion's Sake—Smoke Camels

They stimulate digestion in a pleasant, natural way
...increase alkalinity

The human digestion is a marvelous but delicate mechanism. It responds adversely to the hurry and mental strain so common to our busy lives today. It is definitely encouraged by smoking Camels. Scientific studies show how Camels aid digestion. Sensitive machines of science have measured the increase in digestive fluids—alkaline digestive fluids—that follows the enjoyment of Camel's costlier tobaccos.

For a cheery "lift"—for digestion's sake—for their finer tobaccos, enjoy Camels.

AT IT DAY AND NIGHT. Lectures all day—long hours of study at night—keep a man going at a fast pace mentally. How welcome Camels are with their "lift" in energy and aid to digestion.

PARIS IN LOS ANGELES! So the world of fashion and of Hollywood calls the charming, palm-studded Garden Room of Victor Hugo's in Beverly Hills. And, as the diners pause between courses to enjoy Camels, Hugo himself gives the nod of approval. "Our guests know fine tobaccos as well as fine foods," he says. "They have made Camels the outstanding favorite here." Camels never frazzle your nerves or tire your taste.

MRS. WILLIAM I. HOLLINGSWORTH, JR., made her debut at the Court of St. James. "How natural it is to smoke Camels between courses and after dining," she says. "Camels stimulate my taste, aid digestion."

GEORGE REIS wound up El Lagarto to over 55 m.p.h. to win the Gold Cup Trophy for the third straight time! "I'm a hearty smoker," he says, "take a Camel as often as I like. I eat heartily, smoke Camels, and enjoy good digestion."

Threatened

Edwards' Rivermen won the playoff game from the Minutemen yesterday at Rohrbough Field, 7-0, led by the air-tight pitching of Robert (Red) Davies, the Rivermen took an early lead and continued their pace to win the championship.
Guy Bennett, of no-hit fame,
started for the Minutemen but was ineffective. Bennett was shelled from the mound in the fourth frame, and Fulks replaced him. Fulks allowed but one run.

The Rivermen started fast, scoring four tallies in the initial inning.
Based on balls, two hits and two errors accounted for the opening tallies. The Rivermen scored their other runs one at a clip, scoring once in the third, fourth and sixth frames.

Davies seemed to get stronger as the game progressed. The six strikeouts he registered, all came in the last three innings. The relief pitching of Fulks was good for the losers.

IN THE SPORT LITE

By ISADORE NACHMAN

THE INTRAMURAL BASEBALL league ended the first year of play with a tie for first place honors. Fulks' Minutemen and Edwards' Rivermen lived up to early season expectations and then indulged in a play-off for championship honors ... What was supposed to be a three game series for the championship was shortened to one game. Davies and Bennett carried the brunt of the pitching burden for their respective teams ... Bennett was the league's leading finger, winning five and losing one. He also pitched two shut-outs, one of which was a no-hit game.

THE MAJOR LEAGUES have seen some high powered slugging during the past week. However, individual honors seem to go to "Poosh 'Em Up" Tony Lazzeri, second baseman of the New York Yankees. Playing in three games in two days, Tony propelled the old agate for six home runs, three of them in one game Sunday, when he batted in eleven runs. Lazzeri broke the American league record for runs batted in in one game when he knocked eleven tallies across the platter in a game which saw the Yankees trim the Philadelphia Athletics, 25-2. The score of this game was another American League record, but short of the National League's record of wild and woolly scoring in 1929 when the St. Louis Cardinals defeated Philadelphia 28-6.

HERE, THERE, AND everywhere: Commencement Day will have an added attraction. A team of All-Stars, picked from those boys who played in the intramural baseball league, will engage an alumni nine the afternoon of June 4 ... Coach A. F. Rohrbough has scheduled about fourteen games for the 1936-37 Pioneer basketball squad ... With four of this year's starting five returning next season, it looks as if Pioneer opponents will have a "hard winter" ... Football opponents will not find an easy touch when they stack up against the local eleven. Only two men will be lost from the 1935-36 squad which won four and lost four games. The latest addition of the Pioneer grid machine compiled an enviable record, scoring at least one touchdown in each game played.

TEAMS TIE COUNT IN FINAL GAME

Rivermen Win Two Contests
By Defeating Minutemen
and Bulldogs

The intramural baseball league ended its first year of play Thursday with the Rivermen and the Minutemen tied for first honors and the Bulldogs and the Hilltoppers gaining second and third places respectively.

The Rivermen won two games the final week of play. They defeated the Minutemen 12 to 3 and then trounced the Bulldogs 6 to 1.

In the first game of the championship play-off Friday, the Minutemen and the Rivermen tied at 5 all. Bennett handled the mound assignment for the Minutemen and Davies pitched for the Rivermen.

Pitchers Allow Eight Hits

Both pitchers gave eight bingles
and each walked five men to first.
Springer and Davies, of the Rivermen, were the leading hitters for Edwards' team while Philip Springer and Wright paced Fulks' men.

The Rivermen opened the scoring with two runs in the first inning, but the Minutemen came back with enough tallies to tie the count at 2-all, when Springer hit a home run with Fulks on base in the last half of the same frame. The Minutemen picked up another tally in the third round on two walks and a hit to take a 3-2 lead.

Davies Stars in Fifth Inning

Davies, slugging pitcher of the Rivermen, put his team ahead in the first half of the fifth when he hit a long triple into center field with Springer and Lilley on the sacks.
The Minutemen tied it up in their half of the same inning. The Rivermen again forged into the lead in the sixth inning.

Haught opened the last half of the seventh by doubling into right field.
Sullivan walked, and then Wright singled Haught in with the tying run. With runners on third and second, no out, and Fulks at the bat,
the Minutemen tried the squeeze play but Sullivan was picked off of third. Fulks fanned. Springer was then purposely passed, and Bennett struck out to end the inning and the game.

Burnsville the past week-end.
