BISHOP EDWIN HOLT HUGHES DEFENDS YOUTH

Assembly Speaker Says Young People of Today Need Sympathy

ADDRESS WELL RECEIVED

President E. G. Rohrbough Presents
Guest to Students and Faculty

"No young people in my lifetime ever faced the complex and mixed dilemma of affairs that you young people face today," declared Bishop Edwin Holt Hughes in an assembly address Wednesday.

"Whether you know it or not," Bishop Hughes said, "you young people of today need sympathy. The sympathy must come in the form of understanding the present problems of youth."

Bishop Hughes insisted that the public schools must serve as the mediators between youth and parents. It is the business of the teacher, he continued, to bring about harmony of understanding between youth and elders.

He condemned those who persistently condemn the youth of today and pleaded throughout his talk for sympathy and a better understanding of young people, especially those of college age. He referred to the wisdom of older generations, stating that often "our elders have been in need of advice, just the same as you young people are today."

"Ever since I can remember," Bishop Hughes continued, "I have heard people harping on the idea that youth is going to the dogs, but so far as I am able to tell the dogs are still waiting. The one great trouble today is that we are trying to make young people fit into a sixty-year-old standard of living." He concluded.

Bishop Hughes came here from Weston in company with Dr. M. S. Holt, an uncle. He was presented in assembly by President E. G. Rohrbough.

WALL UNDER CONSTRUCTION

Native Sandstone Used in Project
Supervised by Noah Wells

Construction of the stone wall along the eastern bank of the campus is now under the supervision of Mr. Noah Wells. The base of the wall has been set but no part of it has been completed. It is a W. P. A. project.

The allotment for the wall and other repairs on the campus is $12,000.

The length of the wall will be about 550 feet, and it will vary in height eight to thirteen feet.

Native sandstone from a quarry on Nutter Run is being used.

HALLOWEEN PARTY PLANS ANNOUNCED

Admission to Be 25 and 50
Cents; Prizes Will Be Given
For Best Costumes

Amid the gaiety of fall festivities, students and faculty will gather in the College Gymnasium Friday night for the annual Halloween masquerade party.

John Mowrey, chairman of the arrangements committee, announces that students have been appointed to take charge of the following: Entertainment, decorations, and refreshments.

Admission will be twenty-five cents single, or fifty cents a couple. The opening feature will be a grand march, after which the most original costume, the best disguised individual, and the best couple will be selected and prizes awarded. The remainder of the evening will be devoted to dancing.

COED RECEIVES BROKEN NOSE

Billie McVey is Injured When Automobile Leaves Road

Miss Billie McVey, a sophomore in the college, was painfully injured Friday night, when the automobile in which she was riding left the road near Spencer.

Miss McVey received a broken nose and deep cuts on the face. She is a patient in St. Mary's Hospital, Clarksburg.

The '36-'37 Pioneer

Millard "Shi" Cunningham, who was recently elected 1936-37 College Pioneer, is pictured above in his new "G" sweater which is awarded the Pioneer-elect each year. Cunningham is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Cunningham of Tanner.

COUNCIL NAMES YEARBOOK STAFF

Otis Rexroad Elected Editor;
Dotson and Mowrey to Help

Otis Rexroad, of Camden-on-Gauley, was elected editor-in-chief of the College yearbook at a meeting of the Student Council last night in Room 203. Thomas Dotson, of Springdale, was chosen business manager, and John W. Mowrey, of Clarksburg, was named advertising manager.

Preceding the election of the three-member staff, the council discussed plans for the book with H. C. Shelenberger, a representative of the Clarksburg Publishing Company. Further plans for publishing the yearbook will be announced within the next two weeks. Meanwhile, associate staff members will be named.

WILL MEET TONIGHT

Current Events Club Will Discuss Party Platforms; Campaign Issues
Members of the Current Events Club will discuss party platforms and campaign issues tonight at 7 o'clock in Room 106, announces John Barrett, chairman of the program committee.

Four students will discuss the campaign issues of the Democratic, Republican Socialist, and Progressive parties.

Wendell McNemat, president, will preside.

VIRGINIA VINSON IS HONORED

Canterbury Club Elects New Member; Announces Program

Miss Virginia Vinson, of Tanner, was voted a membership by the Canterbury Club at a meeting held in Room 1 of Robert F. Kidd Library, Wednesday night.

Stories told at the meeting were: "Sister Maddelena," Ralph Adams Cram, by Willis Tatterson; "The Furnished Room," O. Henry, by Velda Betts; "The Ghosts," Lord Dugon, by Denzel Garrett.

Stories for the next meeting will be told by Goff Giboney, Eleanor Waggoner and Laddie Bell.

NEW DORMITORY MATERIAL COMING

Plumbing Will Begin at Once;
Tile Flooring to Be Placed
About Dec. 10

Material for the new dormitory including a hoist for removing ashes from the basement and ventilator grilles for the attic will arrive this week, according to C. W. Loar, superintendent of construction.

Installation of plumbing fixtures and weather stripping of windows will begin at once. The operation of laying the composition tile flooring is scheduled to start about December 10. The flooring and interior wood trim will be applied in the third floor apartments first. From that point, the interior finishing will progress to the second floor, the first floor, and basement.

EIGHTEEN PLEDGES INITIATED

Three Members Appointed to Talk at Next Meeting

The Chemistry Club initiated eighteen pledges Tuesday evening, says Creaver Dimmick, president. Other pledges will be initiated soon.

Clifton Huffman, Lota Carnifax, and Willis Tatterson were appointed by the president to discuss any problem they wish at the next meeting.

PICTURE GIVEN TO COLLEGE

Canterbury Club Presents Painting of Chaucer's Pilgrims

A picture of Chaucer's Canterbury Pilgrims was presented to the College by the Canterbury Club recently.

While traveling in England, Miss Willa Brand purchased the picture from an antique shop in Canterbury and later made the club a gift of it.

The picture, which depicts each pilgrim as portrayed by Chaucer, now occupies a conspicuous place in Room 1 at the Robert F. Kidd Library, where the club holds its meetings.

Students Guests At Pictureland

College students and members of the faculty were guests of the management of Pictureland Theater Monday night at the showing of "Satan Met A Lady," featuring Bette Davis and Warren Williams.

PIONEERS DOWN CONCORD

More Than 300 Persons Attend
Reception In College
Gymnasium

By EARL WOLFE

Hundreds of Alumni and friends gathered here Saturday to celebrate the sixth annual Home-Coming of Glenville State Teachers College. A long parade, a football game, and a reception and dance were the main features of a brisk, cool day.

Local merchants decorated their windows in appropriate colors. First prize went to Moore's Grocery Store, second prize to the Hardman Hardware, and third to the Glenville Bakery.

People lined the streets to watch the parade, which started about 10:30 a. m. All organizations on the campus participated. The Calhoun County Band led the procession. Millard Cunningham, the newly-elected Pioneer, rode in an ox-cart, and was followed by a large, green dragon and a mountain lion.

Miss Alma Arbuckle, head marshal, rode her sorrel horse, Victor, and led her twenty-four honorary marshals. Twelve members of the Sophomore Class, acting as pallbearers and wearing the names of the members of the football team on their backs, carried a coffin labeled "Concord." Others of the class held signs representing "Glenville Victorians."

The freshman entry was an old-fashioned hearse, in which were a large freshman cap and a copy of the freshman rules. The Freshman Class followed in a body. The Current Events Club used a model of the White House, behind which rode members representing presidential candidates. The Onningohow Play-

Journalism Students Vote 'Thumbs Down' On Wedding Bells for England's King

By ALBERT PIERCY

Twenty-four members of the College Journalism Class vote "thumbs down" on any matrimonial alliance between Mrs. Wallis Simpson and King Edward VIII. Seventeen of the up-and-coming journalists say "It's okeh by us."

The majority of the class thinks "King Edward VIII should try to preserve his dignity, and certainly he is not doing it by running around with a divorcee. Students opposed to the marriage believe "the King owes his people the dignity of the throne and a marriage into royalty." Also, they say "The Church and State would not cooperate; the English people would lose respect for their King, and they would not give full allegiance to him."

Many of the students do not sanction the King's actions, which, they suggest, "are more becoming to a 'gigolo' than a king." Others think "a woman that will have been divorced two times would make a doubtful wife for any man, much less a king." Some students think Mrs. Wallis Simpson "is not the wife, and besides, she is a 'title hunter." Others suggest "the marriage might break the unity of the British Empire."

Exponents of the marriage say "it is time to break down class barriers; tradition must bow to legality." Some claim "it would bring about a better understanding between the King and his subjects." Others intimate "a man must have matrimonial bliss to be a good ruler." A few claim "the marriage would revolutionize the English government"; while others point out "the King is a mere figurehead in the English government; so why not let him marry whomever he pleases."

Another group suggests that "the King denounce the throne in favor of the Duke of York and find his true happiness in matrimony with Mrs. Wallis Simpson."

Such were the thoughts expressed in English 321 Class the past week when forty-one students were asked to give their views on the current rumors emanating from England—possibilities of King Edward VIII marrying Mrs. Wallis Simpson, of Baltimore, if and when she has divorced her present husband.

WANTED! A PLACE TO EAT

Wanted! a room that will make a desirable place in which to eat and chat during the noon hour.

Approximately twenty young men and women from various sections of the county ride the school busses to and from the College. This arrangement is convenient for them and makes it possible for many to attend the College who otherwise would be deprived of a liberal education. The greatest saving, of course, is in the payment of board.

Just now these students find it extremely inconvenient to have to tuck their lunches away in some dusty corner in the basement and then rush from classes at the noon hour to some undesirable eating place in one of the buildings.

Frequently they express themselves as feeling they are deserving of a room where they may leave their lunches and rest assured they will be there when they return for them at noon. Would it be possible to provide such a room for these students?—Paul Carr.

YOUTH VS. SUCCESS

Some people regard youthfulness as a handicap and think an individual is not fitted for a position because he lacks years of experience. Excellence is by no means proportionate to old age. Probably Methuselah was a very good man; yet his only claim to distinction is in the fact that he lived longer than anyone else. By way of contrast, note what our Lord did during a life of thirty-three years; and we wonder at the accomplishments of a public career of three years.

When we consider the number of businesses that are being managed by young people, we are convinced that age is no basis for judgment. Because beauty and strength are endowments of youth, it would lead one to believe that more courage and initiative are shown during youth than any other time in life. Any youth with a good mind and a determination to move forward will find success.—Teddy Taylor, '37.

WHAT IS THE NAME, PLEASE?

Within a short time a new dormitory will be completed on the campus—a dormitory which will serve as a living quarters for approximately 150 students and members of the faculty.

So far we have not heard a name suggested for the new building. And so we venture the suggestion that the building be named in honor of some member of the faculty or some member of the Alumni Association who has earned the honor. Many of our graduates have achieved fame in their various endeavors. Surely they would welcome the honor of having the new dormitory named for them.

Then, too, maybe the present student body could suggest a name.

Alumni and students, let us hear from you.—Denzel Garrett.

HEADED FOR RUIN? NO!

Headed for ruin? No! comes the thunderous reply of multiplied millions of voices from every quarter of the globe. Youth, Middle-age, and Old-age join in the swelling chorus. But now we begin to hear a discordant note. Harmony no longer dominates. We must reckon with this powerful and insistent voice. What have you to say?

The voice called "Alarmist" replies: The Youth of today are pleasure-mad; they rush from work to recreation; they run constantly in high gear; they don't take time to relax; their thinking lacks depth and their vision lacks breadth; they are no longer interested in the cultural subjects; they strive only for greater efficiency in dealing with the commercial and material aspects of life.

Youth, you are under indictment. Have you no defense to offer?

And Youth answers: I am the product of my environment. Just as the youth of all ages in past history have reflected distinct phases in the evolution of society, so my mental and physical responses are the result of the mechanized society in which I find myself.

Science has generously supplied us with machines that can do almost everything but think. We must have time to adjust ourselves in order that we may solve some of the problems that have arisen as a result of our changed environment.

You of more mature years can help by believing in us, and giving us the wise counsel and sympathetic understanding that your greater experience qualifies you to give. We can correct some of the evils in our society by working together; or we can wreck even that which we have by lack of faith, tolerance and fair play.—Otis Rexroad, '37.

With the last thoughts of Homecoming hovering on the horizon, the playboys, gigolos, wiseguys and men-about-town are wondering what and when will come next . . . All the "importations" are gone now, so some of the Elite will have to be content with the local talent for a while . . . The Alumni of dear old Glenville Tech should be heartily congratulated for the manner in which they conducted the Homecoming program . . . The reception and dance was a "Wow" . . . The parade was something to write home about, too . . . Thanks to the perennial efforts of our diminutive librarian . . . Is everybody happy? . . . I should kiss six pigs . . . Did you all notice John Marra swinging a wicked foot with one of the West-tonites?

Before this rambling narrative gets too long, a bit of praise is extended to the decorating committee . . . The gymnasium certainly looked plenty neat . . . See where Jimmy Boggs and Gene Reed are doing a powerful lot of trucking with a pair of Verona's latest acquisitions . . . John (Never Worry) Rogers has also been putting in several appearances at the house on the hill . . . The new dorm is still the campus' No. 1 rendezvous . . . Ask Kenneth Norris . . . W. V. U. sent quite a prominent delegation to Glenville the past week . . . And was Marguerite Moss tickled? . . . Glad Homecoming is over? . . . Two campus factions are, anyway . . . Who? . . . Freshmen and Holy Roller pledges . . . It won't be long before the plebes will be one of us, and I'll bet that some of those court lads shoah am tired of stopping that wood . . . "Boxcar" Hamilton, ("Wimpy of the Lodge") is getting to be a charming host.

Brooks Sheppard is catching up on his courting after a brief lapse . . . Lookie, lookie, here comes Cookie . . . Not Cookie, I mean Maggie . . . And strutting her stuff with one of the big football men . . . Pretty nice match . . . Here's hoping that it lasts . . . Al Lilley was a happy man the past week-end . . . I wonder why? . . . Kanawha Hall and the Lodge had their share of the bull sessions during the Homecoming . . . Did you sit in on any of them? Wow!—The Mercury Stogie.

Basidiomycete After Home-coming

After Homecoming My dear Parasitic Basidiomycete:

Did you think your little Musci Albugo never intended to sphagnum you anyhow? Well, the fact is, I've been zygoting around so much that I caught Gametophyte stage of Lycopodium ever since. My myxobacteria were all progamotated and turned into aleurone grains, so you can imagine what a state of chlamydomonse I have been in.

I am much better now though my selogimelin still pains me a little. I took a treatment of imibition and dissemination for two weeks and it practically brought me from my death bed. Because of such irregularities in the distribution of chromosomes I had to take a treatment of oenohera lamarckiana.

Speaking of diacotyledonous times, I had one then. However, the epocytioe lasted shortly and now I've regained my teleutospore and feel just like a mycelium.

Very truly yours,
WILLIE FRESHMAN.

For Digestion's Sake . . . Smoke Camels

MENTAL EFFORT TOO—especially long hours of study—builds up tension and puts an extra strain on digestion. When you're tired, get an invigorating "lift" with a Camel. And at mealtimes and after, "for digestion's sake . . . smoke Camels." Camels set you right!

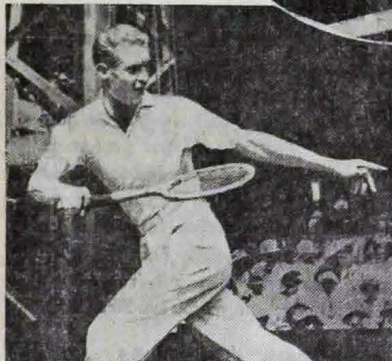

Smoking Camels with meals and after helps bring a delightful sense of well-being EATING is one of life's real pleasures. And Camels make it even more enjoyable! Thanks to Camels, food tastes better and digestion goes along more smoothly. For it is a scientifically established fact that smoking Camels at mealtime and after speeds up the flow of digestive fluids...alkaline digestive fluids, which good digestion and proper nutrition require. Mild, rich-tasting Camels are a refreshing stand-by the whole day through. They give you a cheery "lift" when you need it most. Camels set you right! They never get on your nerves . . . tire your taste . . . or irritate your throat. So, make Camel your cigarette!

Mercury Reporter Enjoys Dinner
With Bishop Edwin Holt Hughes

By VORLEY REXROAD

Bishop Edwin Holt Hughes is of the opinion one cannot judge young people by the superficial standards of today. He believes in giving youth a chance and declares emphatically he is not in sympathy with those persons who continue to belittle the present generation.

Chatting for a few minutes following his appearance here Wednesday in assembly, the noted educational leader and high official in ecclesiastical circles reiterated some of the interesting statements he made during his address and also recalled some of his former visits to Glenville.

Bishop Hughes is a former president of Depaw University, Boston University, and American University. He is a native of Lewis County where he received his early education. Later he attended Ohio Wesleyan and the Boston School of Theology. His grandfather, Mr. Fletcher Holt, was one of Glenville's pioneer merchants and lived here until his death in 1868.

TO COMPLETE INITIATION

Twelve Pledges Characterize Plays In Home-Coming Parade

Final initiation for twelve pledges of the Ohningohow Players will be completed at the next meeting of the organization, says Miss Elanor Waggoner, president.

Pledge cards were worn until after the dance Saturday night. For the Home-coming parade the pledges, as a part of the initiation, characterized plays given by the club during the last five years.

The pledges are: Velda Betts, Paul Collins, Sadie Harliss, Howard Reeder, Goldie Reynolds, John Sims, Damon Starcher, Teddy Taylor, Hansel Warner, Winifred White, Imogene Dye, and Virginia Vinson.

STRONG CONCORD LIONS, 7 TO 0

Martino Catches Pass Over Goal Line to Score For Glenville

BOHENSKY STAR OF GAME

More Than 1500 Persons See Game—Two Bands Furnish Music

Displaying a strong defense and taking advantage of every break, the blue and white clad football warriors of Glenville State Teachers College humbled the powerful and unbeaten Concord Mountain Lions, 7-0, in the sixth annual Homecoming game here Saturday. Approximately 1500 persons saw the game.

The Gilmer and Calhoun County bands were on hands for the game, and during the half the Calhoun musicians presented an interesting exhibition of marching and intricate formation drills.

The victory over Concord gave the Pioneers their second West Virginia intercollegiate conference win of the season and knocked the mighty Lions out of first place in the conference standings. Both teams presented formidable aggregations and gave the fans a thrilling sixty minutes of clean football strategy. Up until Saturday Concord had not been scored on this year.

After a scoring thrust had been stopped in the first quarter, the Pioneers started clicking and tallied in the early part of the second period. Gibson downed Bower's punt on the Concord 30-yard line. Porterfield hit the center of the line for a 15-yard gain and a first down on the Concord 15 and Gibson faded back to rifle a bullet-like pass to Martino, who leaped high into the air and snagged it for the score. Martino's kick for the extra point was good.

The visitors presented a deadly passing attack and penetrated the Glenville 10-yard line three times, only to lose the ball on downs. In the last quarter, the Lions, through aerial maneuverings, drove to the Glenville 6-yard stripe, but were held for three consecutive downs. On the fourth try, Summers and Martino rushed Roney, who was attempting to pass, and threw the Concord star halfback for a 10-yard loss on the Glenville 16. From this point, the Pioneers started another scoring drive, with Gibson and Edwards lugging the ball to the Concord 40 as the game ended.

John Bohensky, Pioneer quarterback, was the outstanding star of the game. He managed the team like a master and played a powerful defensive game. Gibson, Porterfield and Bennett turned in brilliant performances in the backfield while Bickel, Martino, Summers, Mowrey, Capt. Fulks, Howes and Callahan made up a line, the like of which has not been seen here this year. Roney, Sech and D'Antoni were outstanding stars for the Lions.

Lineups:
Glenville Concord
 Martino L. E. Bowers
 Summers L. T. Hatcher
 Howes L. G. Shura
 Bickel C. Wood
 Mowrey R. G. Green
 Callahan R. T. Keatley
 Fulks R. E. Jackson
 Bohensky J. B. D'Antoni
 Gibson L. H. Sech
 Bennett R. H. Roney
 Porterfield F. B. Massie

Nice going, Pioneers! You played a real game of football Saturday... The Pioneers of former years—and there were several of them present—couldn't ask for a better game than they saw Homecoming Day... And we wouldn't be so little as to ask for a better game but we should like to ask that you repeat the performance Saturday against Morris-Harvey.

Well, we wonder now what the Concord Lions, candidates for all-conference honors, are thinking of their chances to come through a top-notch season... Evidently, they can't dispense with the fact they were scored on Saturday... And that is more than Poontac State, Fairmont or Morris-Harvey did to the boys from Mercer County.

Nathan Callahan, offering a few sidelights on the game, says, "They (meaning Concord) were plenty tough"... Far be it from us to disagree with the statement of Mr. Callahan... We imagine the same statement would receive support by other members of the Pioneer squad.

Coach A. F. ("Nate") Rohrbough should come in also for some of the praise... After all, you know, a coach does have something to do with winning football games... Mr. Rohrbough, we believe the Homecoming visitors were well pleased with the team you presented Saturday.

John ("Singing") Bohensky forgot all his music Saturday and concentrated on football... The result, Bohensky was easily the star of the game, with that husky Porterfield boy coming in for top honors... Bohensky's blocking and defensive tactics in general were the best we have seen this year at Rohrbough Stadium.

But don't forget that Gibson fellow... Boy, did he play a nice game and how!... Likewise, Martino, who snagged a beautiful pass over the goal line to score the only touchdown of the game.

And now for a little early-season figuring: Pitt beat West Virginias, Duquesne defeated Pitt, Wesleyan trimmed Duquesne and now all we have to do is down the Buckhannon Methodists and we have conquered almost the whole Eastern Seaboard. At least such a star is worth shooting at, Pioneers.

Nursing injuries this week are John Bohensky, a bruised ear; John Barnett, a dislocated shoulder; Andrew Edwards, a painful charley-horse; Russell Porterfield, a bruised knee; Hillis Cottle, a sprained knee... And so, so long until next time.

MORRIS HARVEY

Twenty-Five Men Will Make Trip; Game to Be Played at Laidley Field

After playing three games at home, the Glenville Pioneers will take to the road this week-end to invade the capital city, where on Saturday they will face the down-trodden Golden Eagles of Morris-Harvey College. The game will be the home-coming contest for the Eagles and will be played at Laidley Field. Having turned back the strong Concord Lions here Saturday by a 7-0 count, the Pioneers will be after their third West Virginia intercollegiate conference win.

Coach A. F. ("Nate") Rohrbough was well pleased with the performance of his team against Concord. With the exceptions of Porterfield and Bohensky, the Pioneers emerged from the gruelling battle in good condition. The two casualties are not serious; however, and by game time Saturday the Pioneers will be able to pit full strength against their opponents. Hillis Cottle, veteran ball-toter, who has been nursing a bad knee injury, will be ready for action Saturday.

game in the present campaign, just on their home lot they will be expected to give the Pioneers a stiff battle. The Eagles scored a 14-7 setback over Glenville last year. Saturday's game was originally scheduled to be played under the lights at Kanawha Park, but since it will be Morris-Harvey's home-coming, the contest is to be an afternoon affair, and will be played at Laidley Field. With five days of practice ahead, Coach Rohrbough plans a series of hard drills before going to Charleston. The squad will leave Glenville early Saturday morning and arrive in Charleston shortly before game time. Twenty-five players and Paul Collins, student manager, will make the trip.

R. Worth Shumaker, superintendent of Upshur County schools, was once the champion pole-vaulter, representing West Virginia Wesleyan College, in a Glenville-Wesleyan field meet held here.

Many Alumni Here For Home-coming

 ers made use of new members, each of whom dressed as some character in plays given here during the last few years. The three witches of "Macbeth and Vorley Rexroad as Geoffrey Chaucer represented the Shakespeare Class and Canterbury Club, respectively. The Y. W. C. A. was represented by a float covered with balloons. Mrs. N. E. Rymer, appropriately dressed, represented the class of 1880, while Mabel Wolfe and Stanley Hall rode bicycles for the class of 1890. A Model T Ford, driven by Carl McGinnis, carried four members of the class of 1923. The Gilmer County Band ended the procession. There were about thirty units in the long chain, which marched from the gymnasium to College, Main, and Lewis Streets, and back to the campus.

In the afternoon, Rohrbough Stadium was nearly filled. The Pioneers won a 7-0 victory from a strong Concord eleven.

Saturday night, a reception and dance in the College gymnasium was well attended. The gymnasium was decorated in large crepe-paper panels on either side, a blue canopy, and large oblong strips at each end. The freshman cap and rule-book, used in the parade, were placed over the baskets. Joe Mallory's orchestra of Clarksburg played for the dance, which lasted from 9 until 12 o'clock. As special entertainment features, little Miss Patsy Ann Durkin of Akron, O., sang and danced; and William Spriegel, former student, now at West Virginia University, gave a tap dance on a special request.

Dr. H. G. Wheat, instructor in education at West Virginia University, used his own textbook in Methods in Reading during his tenure as instructor in education in Glenville Normal School.

ATTENTION!

If the following men will send in a suit, we will clean and press it free for their part in beating Concord: Bohensky, Porterfield, Gibson, Bennett, and Martino.
