James C. Wilson to Tell of His Trip on Motorcycle Through Darkest Africa

James C. Wilson, who comes to the College Auditorium tonight at 8:15 o'clock to speak on the subject bearing the same title as his famous book, "Three-Wheeling Through Africa," has had many unique and colorful experiences.

Fresh out of the University of Nebraska, he and his traveling companion, Francis Flood, began a trip around the world on a big black freighter to complete their education, ending up finally in a thirty-eight hundred mile motorcycle crossing of Africa. Their reason—"Everyone said it couldn't be done." At Lagos, Nigeria, the betting was five to one that they couldn't get through and even money that they would lose their lives.

The Emir of Birmin Gwari was so taken with Mr. Wilson's banjo playing that he offered him four of his best wives if he would settle down and become chief court musician. When Mr. Wilson and his companion said "goodby" to the French commandant at Zinder, the following note was written across their passports: "Last seen at Zinder, December 24." Regardless, however, of the dangers to be expected, the journey was made in five months.

Tonight, in his own words and with the aid of slides, Mr. Wilson will relate many of his thrilling experiences among the tribes of Africa and with the French officials in that country.

JAMES C. WILSON

GOVERNMENT OF, BY AND FOR THE STUDENTS

When the time comes, and we think it will, that our Student Council can formulate, regulate and execute student government in a manner patterned after that of our own democracy, we will feel justly proud of a worthy accomplishment.

However, as it was demonstrated in the recent meeting of the student body, we only have thus far a skeleton that needs to be clothed with flesh and blood. Fearing that the clothing might fit too well, or even be uncomfortable, the majority of the students chose to postpone definite action as to whether or not their liberty is to rest in the hands of the Council. This negative action indicates more than just the gratifying fact that we have a group of thinking students. It indicates that there is keen interest in the movement to grant broader powers to our student governing body.

As for us, we always have had faith in our Student Council. So far we have been willing to risk their good judgment. And the little episode in assembly the other day has not changed our opinion. We believe the Student Council is capable of going ahead with its constructive program for student betterment. However, that constructive program should be made clear to the students and there should not be any attempt to single out any one group with which to make an example.

With a capable group of students sitting on the Council and with a faculty adviser to guide and direct, when guidance is needed, surely there will continue to be sane, sensible government on our campus.

We salute the student body upon their interest in government. But let this interest take a sensible course. Let there be no malices or petty campus politics. Let us have a government of the students, by the students and for the students.—Denzel Garrett.

BEST WISHES, MISS WALKER

The closing of this semester brings to a close here a brief but successful teaching career for Miss Gladys Walker of the biology department. While serving in the capacity of a substitute for Miss Goldie James, Miss Walker has gained the admiration of the student body; her association with the students has been both pleasant and beneficial, and we are sure that all of the students wish to join with us in wishing her continued success and happiness.—The Mercury Staff

ON "UNGENTLEMANLIKE" CONDUCT

Are colleges producing the results society has a right to expect?

It seems foolish to ask such a question during this progressive age of ours, when we are training people to become useful citizens, educated citizens.

Yet, when seventy-five per cent of a group of college students will demand a cut and dried definition of "ungentlemanlike" and "unladylike" conduct, one stops to wonder about this thing called education. Surely it is not necessary, perhaps not even possible, to write out a detailed list of don'ts for college people. College students should know how to act without having a detailed list of rules to suggest what they can do, what they should do and what they should not do.

But then it might be that some students prefer a barrier set up so that offenders may find a weak place and escape therefrom.—Paul Carr.

THE NEGRO PROBLEM

There seems to be some indication that the "Negro Problem" is coming up for new consideration.

Recently at the National Conference on Problems of the Negro, four sets of resolutions defining social and economic problems of the race were introduced and approved. Soon these resolutions are to be submitted to our national legislative bodies.

Things asked for in the resolutions include legislation for a greater degree of economic security among Negroes, the destruction of racial barriers to employment; more adequate medical, educational and recreational facilities, free and effective use of the ballot, and amelioration of the evils of the farm tenancy system.

There seems to be a general interest in the Negro problem, and many authoritative sources predict a brighter future for the race. Because the Negro population constitutes a large part of our nation, the outcome of this movement will be of interest, even to college students.—Decoe Parsons.

BETWEEN THE COLUMNS

MORE POWER TO THEM

The student body meeting the past Wednesday ended with no definite action taken. Motions on the floor were both contradictory and confusing. However, two major points evolved from the general discussions.

First, the Student Council was asked to define "ungentlemanlike and unladylike conduct." Second, there seemed to be the notion that a special committee on definitions should be appointed or elected from the student body. The vote revealed that the Council should do the defining.

And now the Council perhaps is wondering which way to turn. First the Council is asked to extend its powers over the upperclassmen, then it is asked to reconsider a motion to extend this power. We feel the Council should have the power with which to remedy certain undesirable conditions existing on the campus.—John Rogers.

FREEDOM OF THE PRESS

Volumes have been written and countless speeches have been made on the subject of Student Government, but the essentials of what has been said and done about it boil down to a few fundamentals.

Self-imposed restraint and regulation is an ideal possible of attainment.

No form of government is so good that it cannot be improved through constructive criticism.

Student government is still in the experimental stage.

Further experimentation is necessary in order to determine what is good and what is bad in the present set-up.

Effective student government is impossible without the hearty cooperation of students and instructors.

Publicity for all criticism, suggestions and comments, is necessary in order that a well informed student body may act through its representatives, the Student Council, in the best interest of all.

The Mercury is published by and for the students of the College. Its columns are open to your comments and criticisms so long as they are tempered with reason, common sense and fair play.—Otis Rexroad.

IN THE DAY'S NEWS—

A symposium on "The Future of Art in America" was offered in New York. A more interesting one would have been "The Future of Edward in Europe."

AND SOME HUMOR—

Professor (to mother of freshman): "Your son has a great thirst for knowledge. Where does he get it?"

Mother: "He gets the knowledge from me and the thirst from his father."

A student was showing his father around his college. He had pointed out the gymnasium, the library, etc., when the father asked, "And where is the curriculum? They say you have a good one here."

—A THOUGHT FOR TODAY

Soaring high, a crow may appear like an eagle to other crows, but not to the eagle; for he knows the beat of the wings of his own kind.—Selected.

FRESHMEN SHOULD KNOW— CO-ED

She goes to college. She differs from her sisters in that she is beautiful, for her features are delicate and regular and her figure is a perfect 37. She uses cosmetics, but to accentuate her natural loveliness, and then only privately.

Her lips are red and kissable, but she does not use them to promiscuity. She is faithful to the owner of the ring she wears.

Her clothes are informal, in good taste. She carries them with an appealingly unconscious charm.

She studies hard, makes good grades. She does not employ soft-soap with her professors, nor does she cling about their necks.

She chews gum slightly. She smokes occasionally and her dancing is exquisite, but restrained.

Having no affectations, she does not attempt to employ a "line." Her great characteristic is her naturalness, her poise.

She does not exist.

—AND SOME VERSE

HORSE SENSE
In shoeing flies or hauling freight
It's wiser to co-operate,
For better jobs are sooner done
If two take hold and work as one.

Now, that's a truth all horses know,
They learned it centuries ago.
When days are hot, and flies are thick

Co-operation does the trick.

One tail, on duty at the rear,
Can't reach the fly behind the ear,
But two tails, if arranged with craft,
Give full protection, fore and aft.

Though fools pursue a lonely course,
Let wise men emulate the horse.
Two make a burden half as great:
Use horse sense and co-operate!

Campus Activities As Time Marches On

Time marches on. How true. How interesting.

A perusal of the past eleven issues of Volume 8 of the Mercury leads one to believe that time not only marches on; it flies.

For instance, in issue No. 1 there is the information that the College begins year with three new instructors, the alumni are planning for Home-coming Day, the Don Cos sacks will present a concert in the College Auditorium, there are forty-one students on Mercury staff as paper begins eighth year, and from ocean to ocean reads faculty's travel-log.

Then in issue No. 2 one finds the Russian chorus was well received, the College has 100 students from Gilmer County, Miss James writes about International House at Columbia University, freshman rules go into effect, the Holy Rollers plan a thirteen-day paddle parade, the Pioneers No. 1 football man wears No. 13 jersey and his picture makes the front sheet.

Issue No. 3

Issue No. 3 reveals that Home-coming Day features are to be varied, McNemar is elected chairman of the Current Events Club, the Jitney Players, featuring Ethel Colt Barrymore, will give Sheridan's "The Rivals," Victor, prize steed from the Ar buckle Farms, warms up for Home-coming parade, and a picture of the horse and the equestrienne make Page 1, and Millard Cunningham is elected "Pioneer".

President E. G. Rohrbough extends his message of welcome to Home-coming Day visitors in issue No. 4, and major headlines reveal that hundreds of alumni and friends are expected here Saturday, a noted Russian Countess is to be here November 9, seventy-eight students are enrolled in the training school, Miss Alma Arbuckle is named to Social Committee and a large audience enjoys Jitney Players' comedy.

down. Many students are here for Home-coming, Bishop Edwin Holt Hughes defends youth in assembly address, and John W. Mowrey, Jr., announces plans for Halloween dance.

A talk on "Trees and Grass," by Hunter Whiting, starts off issue No. 6, while Irina Skariatina captivates audience with vivid story of Imperialistic Russia and present-day U. S. S. R., Atty. B. W. Craddock is scheduled to speak Armistice Day, the contract is let for dormitory furniture, Miss Louise Preysz is honored by Clarksburg College Club, masqueraders revel at Halloween party with Mrs. E. G. Rohrbough and Miss Bertha E. Olsen as the two most artistically costumed, and H. Y. Clark gets invitation to speak at Ravenswood.

Carey Woofter Speaks

With a "subscribe to the Mercury advertisement" at the bottom of Page 1, issue No. 7 exhibits three No. 2 headlines without a single bit of art in any of the five columns. The new dormitory is to be ready for occupancy soon, E. Kidd Lockard is appointed in St. Louis, B. W. Craddock gives his Armistice Day address, the Student Council sentences seven freshmen and Carey Woofter speaks to Glenville High School assembly.

Basketball pops up in issue No. 8 and the headline reads: "PIONEERS WILL OPEN SEASON DECEMBER 15." Staff members of the "Kanawhachen" speak in assembly, Morris Harvey will entertain W. V. I. P. conference, Faculty Club is entertained at reception given by foreign language department, Art 201 students exhibit lettering, and Dean H. L. White speaks at Troy.

James C. Wilson's Address

Plans for James C. Wilson's lecture are announced in issue No. 9, which carries a picture of Otis Rexroad, "Kanawhachen" editor. College freshmen are to offer one-act plays in auditorium, the G Club minstrel will feature songs, jokes and stunts with Paul Fulks as interlocutor, the Choral Class will present cantata in assembly and a Christmas dance for December 11 is scheduled.

Class gives cantata at Presbyterian church, Mr. and Mrs. John Hieroux appear in concert and the G. Club minstrel scores hit in issue No. 10, the last before the Christmas vacation.

Resuming after the holidays, the Mercury carries in issue No. 11 a story of James C. Wilson's travels, lists H. Y. Clark as the principal speaker in assembly, announces Miss Margaret Dobson gave a lecture at Burnsville and Hunter Whiting talks on trends in drama at Woman's Club meeting.

Jacob T. McClain, aged 87, grandfather of Mrs. Paul Parsons, S. N. '34, formerly Miss Elizabeth McClain, and Robert McClain, S. N. '36, died at his home in Norman-town, January 6.

Funeral services were held at the Normantown Methodist Episcopal Church, Saturday, Jan. 9, with the Rev. W. D. Winters of Glenville officiating. Burial was made in the Meadows cemetery near Norman-town.

For Digestion's Sake—Smoke Camels

BIG ASSIGNMENTS

(right) don't seem so hard with Camels! For Camels ease the strain, stimulate digestion, and add to your sense of well-being. Make Camels a regular part of your dining. Get a "lift" in energy with a Camel—they never get on your nerves, or tire your taste.

Digestion often needs Camel's aid too!

OFTEN during a hard, tiring day, smokers pause to get a "lift" in energy with a Camel. And at mealtimes, Camels offer a helping hand to good digestion. They help you to enjoy your food more. And Camels increase the flow of digestive fluids—alkaline digestive fluids—so vital to a sense of well-being. Make every meal more zestful—more pleasant—by smoking Camels. With their matchless mildness, Camels are better for steady smoking.

GLENVILLE DOWNS PANHANDLE QUINT

Second Team Plays First Half; Lilley and Martino Lead Scoring

The Pioneers found the opposition easy Saturday night and ran roughshod over the West Liberty Hilltoppers. During the first half, the Glenville second team held the Hilltoppers to a 26-30 count, but the first team turned the tide during the second half and went on to win, 67-47.

Kuznicki scored first to give West Liberty the opening lead. Glenville gained the lead at the middle of the first half, and field goals by Wolfe and Chokey put the Pioneer second team ahead, 18-12. West Liberty tied the count at 22-22 and went on to strengthen their lead to 30-26 by half-time.

Lilley scored two field goals to tie the count at the opening of the second half, and two more added by Davies gave the Pioneers a lead which they never relinquished. The boys from up-state scored 17 points during the second half while the Pioneer machine accounted for 41.

Rhoades and Bennett were outstanding for the Pioneers during the first half, but Lilley scored 15 points the second half to take high scoring honors. Martino played his usual strong game at guard, while Davies rang up 10 points during the last half. Twelve Pioneers broke into the scoring, while only five Hilltoppers were able to hit the hoop. PIONEERS DOWN 1936 CHAMPIONS

Broadus Bewildered by Late Second Half Rally; Kelley, Lilley Play Well

After trailing the Alderson-Broadus Battlers for three periods, the Pioneer basket-makers turned on the heat in the final chapter to trounce the defending state champions by a 51-42 count Thursday evening at Philippi. Outleashed in the first half, the Pioneers staged a brilliant last-half rally and brought home the bacon in typical Frank Merriwell style.

The Baptists set the pace throughout the early stages, holding a 30-19 advantage at half time, mainly through the long distance sharp-shooting of Kelley and Manning, who registered five buckets each in the initial period. But the Pioneers' attack steadied after the close of the third period, when Davies tied the count at 35-all, and in a whirlwind finish amassed sixteen points, while the faltering Battlers counted seven.

Featured in this repulsion of the Battlers, coached by Rex Pyles, former protege of Coach Rohrbough, was the return to form of Co-captain Hillis Cottle and Robert ("Red") Davies who broke into the scoring

The second team made a good showing Saturday night before home folk. It just gives more proof of the fact that the Pioneers are in for another successful court season. Reserves are highly important to any ball team and Coach A. F. Rohrbough gave his bench warmers a chance to do their stuff against West Liberty. They showed that they have the old game in their mitts.

Davis and Elkins is coming to Glenville Saturday night to resume court wars with the Pioneers. This will be the first regular season game for several years between the two teams.

ODDLETS AND ENDDLETS: James McMillen, a freshman intramural star, broke into the scoring in his first appearance for the Pioneers. . . Hazel-Atlas of Clarksburg must have set some kind of a record Saturday night when they scored 113 points against Wheeling. . . Goff Giboney and Robert Mason led their teams to a remarkable battle Monday night in the intramural league. The game went into the third extra period before it could be decided.

What are all of these rumors about baseball for the Pioneers in the spring? Let's hope they are true. . . Marshall seems to have a powerhouse when it comes to the court season. They suffered their first Conference defeat of the season when Ohio Wesleyan nosed them out 27-26. . . Sounds like a Glenville-Waynesburg affair. . . John Jett of West Union high school would be a valuable addition to the Glenville athletic squads.

Let me take this privilege to bid a "so-long" to the readers of the Mercury and the Mercury staff, since I will not be on the job next semester. Pioneers, I hope that you may finish the season undefeated and then add the tournament to your list of victories. It has been a pleasure to watch you during these four years.

column after monotonous early season slumps. Each registered eleven points, Davies' all coming in the second half when they were needed most. Davies also turned in a brilliant floor game.

Manning and Kelley, Alderson-Broadus aces, led the high-scoring parade with sixteen and fifteen points respectively. Co-captain Frank Martino, who limited Hinzman, erstwhile Broadus flash, to six points, was third with thirteen points, and Albert ("Abe") Lilley placed fourth with twelve. Noroski was content with two points, but he played a bang-up game and held Suder, veteran Battler forward, to a single point. The line-ups:

Glenville	G	F	T
Cottle, f	4	3	11
Davies, f	5	1	11

THREE TEAMS UNDEFEATED

Durgan Wright Tosses Last Minute Field Goal for Victory

Durgan Wright scored a field goal in the final seconds of the third extra period to give Giboney's team a 37-35 win over Mason and his teammates in the intramural league Monday night. Giboney remained undefeated, having won five straight games. In the second game Mendenhall walloped Wilson, 34-15.

No games were played on Tuesday or Wednesday, but on Thursday Riley beat Barrett, 25-18, and Urbanick trounced McNemar, 46-18.

Two teams, those of Haught and Wilson, were cut off the regular schedule and the players placed on the remaining eight teams in order to strengthen the league.

MANY ATTEND ROTARY DINNER

Three Members of Faculty Hear Edwin B. Weeks at Weston

Approximately 125 persons, including three members of the College faculty and several others from Glenville, attended an inter-city Rotary dinner yesterday at the Masonic Temple in Weston. Clubs represented were Glenville, Weston, Buckhannon and Sutton. District Governor A. U. Tiesch of Beckley was an honor guest, as was the principal speaker, Edwin B. Weeks, a representative of the community service committee of Rotary International.

Mr. Weeks, using the subject, "Misunderstandings in the Home," made these pertinent observations: "A better understanding among people means less of warfare between nations. One-seventh of all marriages go on the rocks. Reno is rapidly taking the place of Philadelphia as 'The Cradle of Liberty'. Divorces are the most tragic things going on in our country today." He interpreted the word "alibi" to mean "the excuse that fools only the person that makes it."

Those attending from Glenville were: Mr. and Mrs. H. Y. Clark, M. and Mrs. Earl Boggs, Dr. and Mrs. H. F. Withers, Mr. and Mrs. Linn B. Hickman, and Mr. and Mrs. John E. Arbuckle.

College Orchestra Draws Members From Many Central West Virginia Counties

By JOHN W. HAMILTON

Interesting is the College orchestra, both in physical characteristics and in students from the same localities specializing on similar instruments. The best example in both physical likenesses and instrumental parallels are Gara Oles and John W. Hamilton, trombone players, from Grantsville. Each boy is six feet four inches tall.

To Lewis County, the College is indebted for contributing four of the six violinists, who are: Bertchel Kittle, Marian Means, Mildred Riley, and Esthelene Frame. Other violinists are Thomas Dotson and Dale Snider. Seven of the trumpet and clarinet players are from Gilmer County. The eighth member, Nathan Callahan, comes from Nicholas County. Gilmer County members are: Mary Allen Boggs, James Musser, Jr., Marie Bonnett, Willard Shreve, Everett Cooper, Earl Wolfe, Laddie Bell, and Doris Spray. Horn players are John Marra, Clarksburg and Howard Winters, Wheeling. Mary E. Young, Glenville, is pianist. The only out-of-state member is the drummer, Fredrick Bell, Warren County, Va.

The one function of the organization is playing in assembly. One
