CONTEST PLAY IS GIVEN IN CHAPEL

Marjorie Craddock, Velda Betts and Otis Rexroad Display Superior Talent

By AGNES FLEMING

"Old Love Letters," an amusing one-act drama written by Howard Bronson in 1885, was presented in assembly, Wednesday morning, by a cast who represented the College at the State Speech Festival. The theme of the comedy centered around some old love letters which Mrs. Brownling was reading, thirteen years after they had been written.

Miss Marjorie Craddock in the role of Mrs. Brownling and Otis Rexroad as Mr. Warburton showed remarkable ability in their command of the Bostonian dialect. A splendid performance was given by Velda Betts in the minor role of the Maid.

The dress and make-up were so realistic that one could almost believe he were witnessing a scene in the gay 90's.

The peculiarities of speech—"hi, hou, and eh," Mrs. Brownling's pointing and foot tapping, together with Mr. Warburton's haughtiness created much merriment on the part of the audience.

CRADDOCK URGES VOTING

Callahan and Garrett State Plans; Election Being Held Today in Y. M. C. A. Room

Candidates for Student Council offices "electioneered" at a meeting in the College auditorium, Wednesday morning, following the one-act play, "Old Love Letters," presented by the cast which is representing the College at the annual speech festival in Athens.

President Bantz Craddock, Jr., of the Student Council, after calling the meeting to order, urged all students to vote in the general election which is being held today in the Y. M. C. A. Room.

"The student government here was created in order to establish closer cooperation between students and teachers," he said, "so don't fail to vote." Then, in order of importance of the offices, he introduced the candidates.

Nathan Callahan, of Richwood, candidate for the Council presidency, stated his platform in three steps: "First, if elected, I shall be a leader of the students, not in scholastic standing, but in fulfilling their wants, satisfying their grievances, and in establishing certain laws which the student majority may desire. Second, I shall endeavor to carry out my duties as set forth in the constitution. Third, I shall work to publish a College handbook, which will include the constitution of the

Scavenger Hunt Sets a New Pace in Social Whirl—Harrison, Bell Winners

By AGNES FLEMING

College students ordinarily hunt for knowledge either in books or at the library, but Friday night proved the exception and they went looking for horse hairs, sour grass, prints of dogs' feet, dandelions, Indian-head pennies, four-leaf clovers and many other "common" articles. As a result, the Current Events Club's scavenger hunt, sponsored in connection with a dance and party in the gymnasium, proved to be one of the highlights of the current social season with approximately 125 students and two faculty members attending.

Miss Ernestine Harrison and Frederick Bell won top honors after returning in twenty-two minutes with their quota of articles and information, including ten dandelions, a bottle of water from the Little Kanawha River, a safety pin, a print of a dog's foot, and figures indicating the number of years Mr. E. R. Grose has been an instructor in the College. Miss Hilma Nutter and Bruce Parsons, with an entirely different scavenger list, won second honors and also received a prize. All hunters were served punch upon their return.

ners fed each other rice and milk, created much hilarity. This contest also was won by Miss Nutter and Mr. Parsons. The prize awarded to the most graceful dancers went to Miss Winifred White and Evert Howes.

SQUARE DANCE PROVES POPULAR WITH STUDENTS

Approximately 100 people attended a square dance in the College gymnasium, Thursday from 6 to 7 p. m. Five sets were on the floor with Frankie Woods, Samuel Whitman, Thomas Simon, Sexton Wright and James Mick as callers. Music was furnished by Thomas Dotson, piano; Jearl Nelson, violin; Creaver Dimmick, Dale Snider and Glen Melrose, guitar. Miss Alma Arbuckle, College librarian, sponsored the party.

Slides Shown in Forestry Class

Effects of sand-dunes on tree growth, excessive erosion caused by removal of trees along streams, forest types, forestry methods and scenes of virgin timber were shown by means of slides in the forestry class, Friday by Mr. E. R. Grose.

New Boys' Dormitory to Be Open at Beginning of Summer Term, June 7

The new boys' dormitory, at last near completion, will be open for occupancy at the beginning of the summer term on Monday, June 7, announces President E. G. Rohrbough. All students' rooms have been completed, with all furniture distributed, and are now ready for use.

The huge structure, modern to the last word in dormitories, will provide rooming facilities for 132 boys and three apartments for instructors who will act as preceptors. Teachers who will reside in the apartments have not been selected yet, the President stated, but will be named before the dormitory is opened for use.

The building cannot be declared complete until the finishing touches have been added to the reception room and apartments, which are still in need of some furnishings. All foremen and workers are absent at the present, but they will return in the near future to finish the work.

The spacious, well-equipped reception hall on the ground floor of sections C, D and E will be used as a general recreation room. All organizations of the College will be free to use it for meetings, parties, to artistic wall decorations and lamps, are included in the beautifully constructed hall. A small kitchenette opens off the main room for use in preparing refreshments for social gatherings.

All students who reside in the new dormitory will obtain their meals at Kanawha Hall.

Pres. Rohrbough to Deliver Address

President E. G. Rohrbough will deliver the commencement address at the third annual graduating exercises at Normantown High School on Friday, May 21. The Rev. Fell R. Kennedy, S. N. '27, Normantown High School faculty member, will preach the baccalaureate sermon on Sunday evening, May 16.

MEDICAL EXAMINATIONS FOR TEACHERS

According to Dr. H. D. Lees, director of student health service at the University of Pennsylvania, 2.15 per cent of the 871,607 elementary and secondary teachers in this country are tubercular. This means 18,739 teachers are exposing school children daily to tuberculosis. This class-room contact is frequent and often long and is nearly as dangerous as exposure in the home. Dr. Klein, in Germany, has found infection two or three times more prevalent in children thus exposed.

In control of tuberculosis among school children, teachers must be considered first. This can be accomplished best by suitable legislation. The danger of employing tubercular teachers can be reduced by requiring a tubercular test in the freshman year and another at graduation.

Many teachers are placed every year who are not aware of their condition. The disease is insidious and the harm is done before they know they are infected. Only medical examination can remove the guess work from determining the presence of the affliction. For this last reason alone, medical tests should be enforced.—John Rogers.

THERE IS YET TIME TO CHOOSE

How frequently is heard the expression, "If I had that to do over again I would do thus and thus." Seniors in the College make this lament as frequently as any other representative group of people and perhaps they are no different from the others in the mental attitudes which prompt their remarks.

There are two groups of people who would do things over again; those who feel sorry for themselves because they didn't make an impressive showing, and those who stand before the bar of self-analysis and say, "I have made mistakes, but from now on I won't make the same mistakes again."

Those in the first group blame all their failures on fate, circumstances and the unkindly schemes of other people who oppose them. Ultimately, those in the first group constitute the majority of that portion of our population which is made up of misfits and malcontents. They resent the success of others, feeling somehow that it is a reflection on their own ability. Circumstances sometimes place such people in a position where they make use of power with the heavy hand of a despot.

From the second group will come most of the social, economic, political, educational and religious leaders of their generation. The people in this group have no illusions about themselves. They know that ability combined with persistent effort will get results. They look upon mistakes and disappointment as an necessary part of their training. When people of this type are placed in positions of great power and responsibility, they usually exercise moderation, wisdom and justice in all their official acts.

Which group will you choose for yourself? If your ability is average or better, there is yet time to choose.—Otis Rexroad.

THE NEW DORMITORY

Our homes are our palaces. Usually, there is nothing in our lives which elicits quite so much reverence and fine sentiments as our homes which we originally occupied, as well as the ones which we own or hope to possess. Few of us would like for some one to come into our homes, scratch the furniture, mark on the walls, or be guilty of other depredations of our property equally as bad. There is little else that would contribute so liberally to the degeneration of our opinion of an individual.

There is an old but excellent rule which states: "Do as you would be done by." We who live in a dormitory are living in a home shared by we not conduct ourselves accordingly? It is not dissatisfied to be sane enough to try to take care of things in which we have an interest. Neither is it manly to wantonly destroy public or other property. Further, it is hardly indicative of good judgment to destroy that for which we must ultimately pay.

Soon the new dormitory will be opened to students. During the period of occupation, it will be a home—a home on which we will finally pay installments for upkeep and building, along with the other taxpayers. Disregarding the financial phase of the question, may it be remembered that it is more blessed to act naturally civilized than it is to put on a show of heroic barbarism.

AT THE LIBRARY

New books that have been received at the Robert F. Kidd Library recently are: "France, A Regional and Economic Geography," Hilda Ormaby; "Note-Taking," S. S. Seward; "Blennersassett Island," Minnie Kendall Lowther; "How to Write Advertising," Kenneth Goode, and "Etiquette," new and enlarged edition, Emily Post.

New copies of books already in the library are: "Jungle Book," "Just-So Stories," Rudyard Kipling; "Rootabaga Stories," Carl Sandburg; "Mrs. Wiggs of the Cabbage Patch," Alice Hegan Rice; "Silver Pennies," Blanche Thompson; and "Educational Psychology," Daniel Starch.

Students in the class of school library management have been doing practice work which is part of their course. They have worked at the circulation desk, checked periodicals and newspapers, shelved books, slipped books, filed cards, and have attended to various other duties relative to the day's routine. Each student has had an hour of work at the circulation desk. Other practice periods will be devoted to reading shelves and putting new books through the usual routine of checking, classifying, accessioning and cataloging.

RELIGION ON THE CAMPUS

Scarcely seen but often heard about are the Y. M. C. A. and the Y. W. C. A. organizations on the College campus. Perhaps the greatest reason for this is our constant tendency to look for some unpleasant condition, thus failing to take account of the good things which we possess. We cannot help noticing some of the good results in civic accomplishment which our Y. M. C. A. and our Y. W. C. A. organizations have guided. Loyalty to these groups is tested quite as much by the attitude we have on world politics and economics or how we treat our brothers of other races and creeds as by our personal integrity, and we are not surprised at the difficulties of these organizations when we look at the results of a survey made by Yale University. After making a study of 3,167 students from thirty-nine colleges who came from 103 secondary schools, it was found that a quarter of the group were not interested in religion and only about a third found it helpful.

Surely the question uppermost in the minds of the organizations is: What can a student Christian group do when faced with this kind of campus situation?—Denzel Garrett.

Paul Fulk, Lois Jarvis, Lloyd M. Jones, and John W. Mowrey, Jr. attended the Glen Gray dance, held Thursday night, April 8, in Carmichael Auditorium, Clarkburg.

The LETTER BOX

"An Importer" Versus "A Student"

To the editors of the Mercury: Realizing the fact that "A Student" has far surpassed me in the study of English grammar, I will not try to compete with him, for Mr. Webster's New School and Office Dictionary, says that a student is "one devoted to books or learning." I should have realized the competition was too great in the first place. But "A Student" has contradicted herself (it is a her, isn't it?) so many times during her letter that I cannot see her point.

But, coming back to the topic of conversation, if a girl isn't clever enough to make herself attractive in something she is interested in, then it isn't anyone's fault but her own. Let her use Woodbury's, Pepsodent, Lifebuoy, eat Fleishman's Yeast, or take Carter's Little Liver Pills. Whatever she does, let her "be noticed" in what she is interested in. Let her attend the dances and make herself seen and if she can dance and cultivate a pleasing personality, she will have the lads eating out of her hand.

But since it is customary for women to have the last word, we will let "A Student" have the last say. This is my last contribution, and I really hope that our problem is improved in the near future.—"An Importer."

Men who have blazed new paths for civilization have always been precedent breakers. It is ever the man who believes in his own ideas; who can think and act without a crowd to back him; who is not afraid to stand alone; who is bold, original, resourceful; who has the courage to go where others have never been, to do what others have never done, that accomplishes things that leave his mark on his times.—Selected.

Dear Professor Wagner:

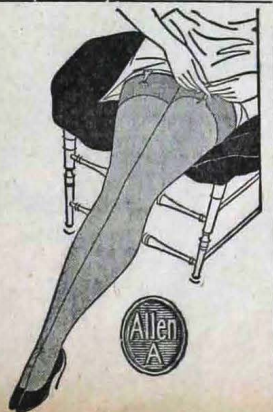

In behalf of the United Carbon Company, the writer wishes to thank you and the Glenville State Teachers College for the privilege accorded us of placing our display on exhibition in your school in connection with your sixth annual Chemistry Day and first All-Science Day program held on Saturday, April 3.

We feel that, in conducting this annual event, you are furnishing the students and residents of Glenville and the surrounding territory with information regarding the industrial world, which will be of great value to them. In our opinion the exhibitions, lectures and demonstrations, which comprise the program for this event, are promoting an interest in science and industrial activities, which could not be brought about in any other way.

We wish to congratulate you upon the splendid manner in which the program was conducted and the educational facilities which this event affords to those attending it.

THE FIRST PRODUCT TO HOLD TWO NATIONAL RADIO AWARDS

The Alumni Student Loan Fund of the College Increases Steadily Since 1934

There is now $245 in the Glenville State Teachers College Alumni Student Loan Fund, and a forty-five dollar loan will soon be due, which will raise this amount to $290, states Mr. R. T. Crawford, treasurer.

The loan fund was started by a fifty dollar donation from the treasury of the alumni association, July 18, 1934. Twenty-five dollars, the largest amount received from any one individual, was given by an alumnus. Smaller donations made by other persons brought the total to $183.

That year only one loan was granted. Since that time, the fund has grown from interest and contributions to $290, which has made possible five more loans to students. One application is being acted upon now.

Miss Alma Arbuckle organized the fund. She suggested it in 1932, but nothing was done toward completing it until 1934, when she became president of the association. At a meeting July 18, the plan was placed before the alumni and was acted upon and approved.

The original plan was for each member to donate one dollar yearly. After graduation, seniors become alumni, therefore, it has been the custom for them to contribute to the fund before leaving in the spring or as soon thereafter as possible.

Certain rules must be complied with before a student can obtain a loan. The first year not more than fifty dollars could be lent to any one student, but the next year the fund had grown to sufficient size to raise this maximum to one hundred dollars. The same student may not obtain a loan two years in succession, however. Rules for repaying the loan and interest also must be met.

The Loan Fund is administered by an alumni committee of five members appointed by president of the Alumni Association.

Lily Pons to Be on the Air

Lily Pons, famous operatic singer, will return to the Kostelanetz program, Wednesday, April 14, at 9 p. m. With the exception of two or three guest-star appearances, the voice of Miss Pons has not been heard over the air for nearly a year. Making movies and doing concert trips between opera engagements, "That Girl From Paris" has had a busy year.

While Miss Pons has no idea of abandoning the famous operatic arias with which she has thrilled millions of listeners, there are reliable reports that she plans to render many of the lighter variety of songs in her own individual style. Andre Kostelanetz will continue to present the Chesterfield chorus on the same program. This chorus was one of the reasons for the Chesterfield hour being voted the most popular all around musical programs on a recent nation-wide poll.

A man may talk like a wise man and yet act like a fool.

Six Colleges Participate in Third Annual State Speech Festival

Six colleges sent representatives to the third annual festival of the West Virginia Intercollegiate Speech Association, held the past week-end in Athens, with Concord State Teachers College as host. Schools represented were Glenville, Marshall, Fairmont, Wesleyan, Morris-Harvey and Concord.

The festival was not a contest this year, consequently no decisions were given. Each event, however, was publicly criticised.

George Miller, Millard Cunningham and Laban White, Jr., represented the College in a debate contest with Wesleyan, and Goff Giboney, also a member of the College debating teams, took part in the fourth round of arguments and was selected to represent the College in an open forum.

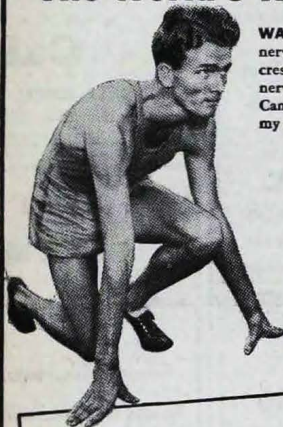

Richard N. Cage, director of the Kanawha Players of Charleston, was pleased with the variety of dramas presented, states Miss Margaret Dobson, who accompanied the College students to the festival. After generally criticising the one-act plays, Mr. Cage selected an all-state cast merely for the pleasure of the audience. Among the selections was Miss Velda Betts, a sophomore in the College, who played the role of the Maid in "Old Love Letters," by Bronson Howard. Others students who were placed in the all-state cast were Victor Pettite of Fairmont, Maxine McCarty of Marshall, Cleo Intine Hall of Wesleyan, and Elizabeth Orton of Concord. Other members of the play cast who represented the College were Miss Marjorie Craddock and Otis Rexroad.

All contestants, coaches and other visitors were entertained with a festival dance Friday night and were guests at a dinner, Saturday. Miss Dobson, Millard Cunningham, Miss Betts, George Miller and Miss Marjorie Craddock stopped off at White Sulphur Springs for a short stay before returning here Sunday.

The World's Record Holder... Glenn Hardin... Going Over the Hurdles

WAITING for the gun—when nervous tension reaches the crest. Because he prizes healthy nerves, Glenn Hardin smokes Camels. "They don't get on my nerves," he says.

SAILING over a low hurdle—Glenn's strained face shows how the race drains tremendous physical and nervous energy.

TOPPING a high hurdle—superb form helped Glenn win 2 Olympics—set the world's record. His time for the 400-meter hurdles was sensational—50.6 seconds!

SPRINTING to the finish—Glenn calls on all his reserve energy. And after the finish, he lights a Camel. "Camels give me a lift and ease the tension," he says.

THE YOUNGEST MAN on the Olympic track squad. Glenn Hardin was only 20 years old when he won his first Olympic victory for the U. S. He eats sensibly—takes good digestion for granted. The picture below shows Glenn enjoying his favorite meal—rare, thick, juicy steak, green vegetables, fruit, milk, and Camels. As Glenn phrases it: "It wouldn't do me much good to eat and not digest properly. So I smoke Camels for digestion's sake. It's grand to light up Camels and enjoy the sense of well-being that comes when digestion's o-kay."

WORKS HARD on all five college courses. "Rege" Kennedy, '40, says: "I smoke Camels pretty steadily—they ease the tension of long, hard concentrating. Camels don't jangle my nerves."

AS SPOKESMAN for the hostesses of a leading air-line, Betty Steffen observes: "Camels help me keep feeling pepped-up. I smoke all I please. Camels never get on my nerves."

COSTLIER TOBACCOS

MRS. ANTHONY J. DREXEL 3rd says: "Social life keeps nerves on the qui vive. Smoking Camels tends to minimize the strain, I find. Camels are so mild."

Robrbough Divides Men into Two Teams; Summers and Howes Captains

Under the direction of Coach A. ("Nate") Robrbough and Paul Howes, thirty-five Glenville Pioneer basketball candidates opened their second week of spring training yesterday. Coach Robrbough has divided the squad into two teams, who will play a regulation game at the conclusion of practices this Friday. Summers and Everett Howes are selected captains of the respective teams.

In the first sessions held the past week, Coach Robrbough stressed fundamentals, fundamentals and fundamentals. The squad as a whole gave evidence of improved ball handling and showed promise of developing into a strong aggregation this fall. The past week's sessions were cut short because of bad weather, but it is probable that the veteran Pioneer mentor will advance his underlings to light scrimmage sessions next week.

First string players, Lee Summers, C. I. Karnes, John Mowrey, John Bohensky, Earle Bickel, Everett Howes, Paul Mason, Nathan Callahan, Andy Edwards, Russell Porterfield, Guy Bennett, Hillis Cottle, Robert Gibson and Ralph Mendenhall reported for the first work-outs. Frank Martino, three year veteran forward, did not report because of illness.

Prominent reserves from last year's team are Chester Staats, Elton Huffman, Sterling Cunningham, Brooks Sheppard, Elwin Williams, John Barnett and James McMillen. Other holdovers from the 1936 squad include Bruce Parsons, Laddie Bell, Woodrow Maxwell, Earl Keister and Louie Romano. New men are Willard Archer, Earle Wolfe and Dale Snider.

VICTOR HYRE TURNS BIG-GAME HUNTER; CAPTURES DEADLY-SUCKING INSECT

By JAMES MICK

Big-game hunter, Victor Hyre, a student in the College, presented to the biological science department, Wednesday, a female black-widow spider, which so far as is known is the only one of its kind on the campus.

The spider, having emerged from its crevice amid the jungle of splinters on the "continent of the Telephone Pole," near Burnsville, dropped by his silvery thread to Hyre's shoulder. Mr. Hyre noticed the deadly-sucking insect perched within inches of his jugular vein, and without more than severe trembling and a case of hunter's buck ague, courageously prepared to ensnare this mite creature for benefit to students of the College.

Enticement to enter a cigarette case was forced upon the unsuspecting victim by means of a stick. With much crying by the "natives" and the beating of the brush in the "jungle," the dangerous task was finally completed. Was this all? No. Again heroic efforts were called in to play in transferring the enraged to its present quarters, a peanut jar.

With the reservation that the captive not teased or fed peanuts, all students may view the "caggee" which is on display in the biology laboratory and in care of Mr. E. R. Grose, instructor in biological sciences.

Mr. Hyre was ably assisted in the capture by B. W. Pecky, Jr., "round-er of the native beaters."

You drift toward the rocks but you have to row to reach success.

Thomas Simon spent the week-end at his home in Walkersville.

Ivan Hays Bush, A. B. '34, biology instructor at Alderson-Broadus College, Philippi, was at his home in Northview, Sunday.

The spring football game that is to be played within the next week or so seems to be creating a lot of interest among those that are to take part. . . . Evert Howes and Lee Summers were selected as the captains of the teams. . . . Bohensky, member of Summers' team, says his squad has all the brains, and the other outfit has nothing but power. . . . Guy Bennett and John Mowrey, the two members of the squad who live in the gymnasium, are on opposite teams. . . . Drop around sometime and listen to what is going to happen when the two meet. . . . There are seventeen members on each squad. . . . Russell Porterfield is out for spring practice, but will not take part in the game due to an injured knee. . . . Frank Martino has failed to report for practice, due to a bad cold.

Robert Gibson's team played heads-up basketball in winning the intramural tournament. . . . Andrew Edwards, who was a member of the champion five, was as hot as jail house coffee in the game with Urbanick. . . . John Mowrey has been a member of the intramural champions for three straight years.

Robert Feller, youthful member of the Cleveland Indians' pitching staff, is rated as the greatest drawing card since Babe Ruth. . . . I bet Dizzy Dean won't agree to this. . . . "Pie" Traynor, manager of the Pirates, says with just an even break the Pirates will finish on top. . . . Most of the major league teams are returning to their home towns, getting ready to open the regular playing season. . . . The New York Yankees had the best playing record during the exhibition season. . . . It looks to me like the "Gas House Gang" from St. Louis will play the New York Yanks in the World Series.

JIM CLUB MEMBERS TO PICK 'JIM GIRLS'; PETRY IS ELECTED PRESIDENT

A "Jim Girl" to be selected by each Jim Club member, is the decision made by the Jims at a meeting Friday in Room 204. Each "Jim Girl" will be presented with a pin with "Jim Club and Jim Girl" engraved upon it. All honorary members must be College students, or faculty members. This will make the fulfillment of the motto, "More work and less jimmin'," inevitable.

Officers elected at the meeting were Jim Petry, president; Jim Woofert, vice-president; Jim Price, secretary; Jim Boggs, treasurer; Jim Mick, publicity and business manager; and Jim Smith, sergeant-at-arms.

The faculty sponsor has not yet chosen. Honorary members will be chosen or accepted, if any acceptors can be found, at the next meeting. The remaining officers and committees will also be elected or appointed at this meeting. All members are urged to be present.

Will Organize Intramural Baseball

At the conclusion of the spring football training session this week, Coach A. F. ("Nate") Robrbough will organize an intramural baseball league. The league was established last year and proved to be successful. It is probable that four teams will comprise the league. Numerous baseball enthusiasts around the campus have been practicing for some time and are anxious to get started.

GIBSON'S TEAM WINS MEDALS

Athletic Department Will Award Individual Honors

Coach A. F. ("Nate") Robrbough announces that Robert Gibson's intramural basketball team, winner of the recent intramural tournament, will be awarded individual medals.

The medals will be purchased by the athletic department and awarded to the following members of the team: Robert Gibson, captain; John W. Mowrey, Jr., Vodka Stalnaker, Andrew Edwards, Laddie Bell, Damon Starcher, Bruce Parsons, and Ralph Barnett.

Mr. and Mrs. O. K. Wilfong, Jr. and daughter, Bertha, were weekend guests of Mr. Wilfong's parents in Northview.

BASKETEERS ARE GIRL CHAMPIONS

In an extra two-minute period, the "Basketeers" scored 3 points to win the game, and the tournament with a total of 8 points.

vidual awards, which will be presented soon in assembly.

President E. G. Robrbough made a business trip to Charleston, Saturday, where he was in conference with the State Board of Control.

A. F. Robrbough, instructor in physical education, attended a curricula revision committee meeting in Morgantown, Saturday.

Let the Doctor be your guide.

"IT CAN'T HAPPEN to me. Yes tuberculosis did happen to John, freshman student, crack athlete and picture of health. It happened to Betty, just turned eighteen, vivacious and care-free. In fact tuberculosis shadows the lives of more than one hundred thousand young American men and women between the ages of 15 and 25.
