RADIO, THE ASSISTANT TEACHER

Probably the greatest "assistant teacher" of all time is paid the most absurdly small salary. The broadcasting of educational programs by radio has usually been looked upon as a failure. The chief stumbling block, past and present, of teaching by radio is then a lack of financial aid; and that pain is not unique to this type of education.

Radio broadcasting of educational programs is here, and it is here to stay. It cannot sweep into widespread acceptance because it is an important step and the people are naturally going to take it slowly and cautiously. Those who do not ardently favor this attempt in the field of education usually adopt a passive attitude. Those who do favor it state its chief aim as being to bring the truth to "His Majesty, American Youth," this to be accomplished by bringing the best teachers into his classroom. Since great people are not in the majority, it is desirable to secure the benefits of their teaching to the maximum number of students. Radio is the means.

Radio in education is fairly certain of a permanent place, at least, until it is supplanted by television. Adequate financing and the acquisition of receiving sets are still the problems to be solved. Rapid changes in radio are providing for the latter, but the question of money still remains. Sponsorship would solve the financial side of the question, but it brings a great many problems with it. That radio may succeed as an educator, the cooperation of two groups in particular is necessary—the parents and the teachers. With the gradual solution of its problems and its acceptance by the general public, radio as an educator will not only be looked upon as a complementary source of education—as an "assistant teacher"—but as an indispensable part of our educational system.—Millard Cunningham.

SORRY TO LEAVE YOU NOW

We inquired of a senior the other day as to whether or not he was glad to be getting the chance to leave college. He replied that, although he was glad that he was graduating, he had had a most wonderful time and, in many respects, hated to be leaving the College. This remark is perhaps expressing the feelings of the many graduates, and the significance lies in the fact that they were well pleased with what they got here; or at least they were well pleased with the opportunities that are offered here.

There are many factors which are responsible for their attitude, and we like to think of them, because those same factors will bring the children of our graduates to this school, and not merely for a sentimental reason. They will feel that the guidance they received here will be the kind they prefer their children to have. We do not say that no other college offers the same judicious blending of work and play, but we do like to think that Glenville State Teachers College has turned out men and women who have a steadfast attachment to their alma mater and its ideals.—Denzel Garrett.

All the News That's Fit to Print

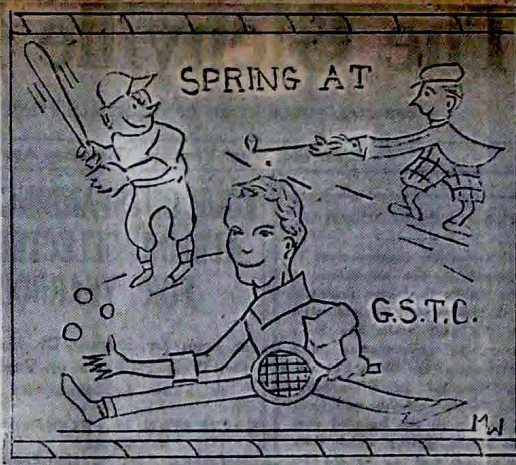

BETWEEN COLUMNS

Students of this college have set up a miniature democracy on the campus. They have elected student officers to carry out their will. How many students are informed of the actions of their elected representatives? After the people of England wrested much of the power from the hands of the king, Parliament was just as despotic. Not until legislative action was exposed to the eyes of the public through the press was democracy really realized.

The same is true of the Student Council. Its meetings, except when it is sitting as a grand jury for the indictment of offenders, should be open for student attendance. The "qualified privilege" of a fair report of the activities of law making bodies and courts is of fairly recent recognition. But so is democracy comparatively recent, and democracy depends upon the other.

Every session of the Council, especially if it is a trial of an offender, should be open. At every meeting there should be a student reporter for the MERCURY who will give a fair and accurate account of the proceedings. Other papers realize the value and interest of legislative and court news. Why doesn't the Mercury?—George Miller.

AT THE LIBRARY

Two books written by physicians have recently been accessioned at the Robert F. Kidd Library. One, FROM A SURGEON'S JOURNAL, is by Dr. Harvey Cushing, a medical officer who served during the World War. It is recommended to those who like humor, philosophy, surgical methods, history, personal narratives, anecdotes, and war stories. One of the most interesting incidents in the journal concerns a delicate operation to remove a tiny piece of steel from a soldier's head. Dr. Cushing used a magnet to draw it out. His description and accompanying pen sketches are graphic.

THE AMERICAN DOCTOR'S ODYSSEY has been called one of the most fascinating books in the library and it well deserves this high praise. Dr. Heiser's description of his adventures in forty-five countries is exciting, humorous and instructive. His accounts of manners and customs in other lands, especially diet customs, are most entertaining. He tells how he had to be polite and eat little bugs in one country, how diseased persons are detected at Ellis Island, how leprosy is treated, how Philippine hill-people are induced to submit to vaccination. He talks about witch-doctors, nursing, and the heroes of medical science.

Another physician who has turned to writing as a means of expression is Dr. Alexis Carrel, a Nobel prize winner and an associate of Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh. Dr. Carrel's book, MAN THE UNKNOWN, was a best-seller for months.

PARTNERS IN PLAY is Mary J. Breen's contribution to the cause of amusement, entertainment, recreation and general happiness of young people. Miss Breen's material is about social activities of young men and women together. She suggests that they dance, play games, hike, swim together, that they have parties, snow and ice sports, discussion groups and study groups, that they sing and act, and generally enjoy each other's company. The chapter on dances includes such topics as "Making Dances More Attractive," "Dancing Classes," "Music," and "Drinking at Dances."

Now for a little foreign news: The Chemistry Day that was held at Glenville state the first of this month was crowned quite a success and we think this is a good idea and believe that it should be tried in the other colleges because it stimulates the interest of the high school students in college work. Twenty-five high schools of the central section of the state were represented as well as 60 cities of the eastern United States.

One of the unique clubs that we have ever heard of has been organized at the Glenville college and that is the Jim Club. It is made up of all the fellows on the campus who have the name of Jim. They now have 11 members.

Dean H. L. White will give commencement addresses at Barrackville High School in Marion County, Friday, May 29, and at Cedarville Junior High School, Wednesday, May 19.

DEAN WHITE IS CHAPEL SPEAKER

Reviews Work of Legislature; Cites Need for Equalization of Proper Valuations

By ELWIN WILSON

"The State will accomplish its aim when each county comes up to a 50-50 basis in bearing the cost of education," declared Dean H. Laban White in an assembly address Wednesday morning. He added, "When the teams—county and state—hook up and pull in the same direction, we will have harmony and smooth sailing on the sea of education."

Using the subject, "What the Recent Session of the Legislature Did and Did Not Do," Dean White presented a brief summary of the accomplishments of that body in the field of education, which he said, was "the most favorable in sentiment toward education that has met for many years." Important legislation was done on tenure and retirement, non-partisan school boards, and pay for sick teachers.

While serving on a committee for the Central West Virginia Roundtable, Mr. White learned that some of the difficulties in school administration are that "state aid is not equally distributed, average daily attendance is low, and, due to the unequal distribution of population, counties receive unequal appropriations for teachers." Charles E. Hodges, president of the Senate, informed the committee that certain counties, sensing that they may receive larger state appropriations by so doing, lower their assessed valuations. "In some counties property of unequal value is assessed seven times higher than that in other counties," Mr. Hodges explained.

"There is a way out of these difficulties," Dean White continued, after referring to the Governor's proposal that a special election be held to vote a special levy. "Each county should raise its assessed valuation to the normal assessment, for at the rate we are now going, by 1941 the State will be carrying 100 per cent of the cost of education in West Virginia."

In conclusion Dean White stated that the major thing the legislature failed to do was to make any appropriation to care for a salary increase. He pointed out the unfairness of making state appropriations by average daily attendance per acre and the need for amendments to the bill providing such an arrangement.

James G. Stahlman, publisher of the Nashville (Tennessee) Banner, was named president of the American Newspaper Publishers Association at the organization's annual jubilee convention in New York City the past week.

Senior Play, "Let Us Be Gay," to Be Presented Here on Saturday, May 29

Miss Margaret Dobson, instructor in speech in the College, announced recently the selection of "Let Us Be Gay," a three-act comedy by Rachel Carothers, as this year's Senior Class play to be given Saturday night, May 29, in the College Auditorium.

The play tells the story of Kitty and Bob Brown, who separate in the beginning of the drama when Kitty discovers that her husband has been having an affair with another woman. Bob protests, saying that things are as they have always been; but Kitty, seeing through his explanation, takes her two children and leaves.—They meet again three years later under somewhat farcical circumstances. In answer to the plea of the crustily wise old lady, Mrs. Boucicault, Kitty drops into her home to rescue the wandering granddaughter, Dierdre Lessing, from a mistaken love. She discovers that the man she is to captivate to effect this rescue is her husband. The story then winds up to a very intriguing conclusion.

The cast of characters is as follows: Kitty Brown, Sally Young; Bob Brown, Avon Elder; Mrs. Boucicault, Ima Wilson; Dierdre Lessing, Ella Summers; Townley Towne, Goff Giboney; Bruce Keen, H. Laban White, Jr.; Madge Livingston, Agnes Fleming; Wallace Grainger, George Miller; Whitman, Samuel Whitman; Struthers, Millard Cunningham; Williams, John Willard Shreve; and Perkins, Mildred Thompson.

Miss Dobson will be assisted by Elizabeth de Gruyter in directing the play. Members of the production staff have not been selected.

DR. CHRISMAN TO SPEAK

Wesleyan Professor Will Address College Assembly Tomorrow

Dr. Lewis Herbert Chrisman, professor of English literature at West Virginia Wesleyan College, will speak in assembly tomorrow morning, announces Pres. E. G. Rohrbough.

Dr. Chrisman was born in Chester county, Pennsylvania, August 21, 1883. He has attended Dickinson College, University of Pennsylvania, University of Michigan, and the University of Wisconsin. Dr. Chrisman was professor of English at Union College in Barbourville, Ky., from 1908-1910; professor of English literature at Baldwin-Wallace College in Berea, O., from 1911-1919; and he has been at West Virginia Wesleyan since 1919. He wrote "John Ruskin, Preacher, and Other Essays," which was published in 1921.

The College's new boys' dormitory will not be officially opened to students until the summer term begins on June 7, but two students, Willis Tatterson and Albert Piercy, juniors in the College, have already established their residence there. This honor was bestowed upon these two boys when President E. G. Rohrbough discovered that it was necessary to have occupants in the building before the State could insure it.

RAY ELLINWOOD, sensational track star of the University of Chicago, clipped .3 second off the world's indoor 440-yard dash record in his first college meet.

HE DUPLICATED the feat 20 minutes later as anchor man on the relay team. Ray's start enables him to jump into the lead at the crack of the gun.

IN THE FIRST FEW STRIDES, Ray unleashes almost explosive power. And keeps driving!

JUST IMAGINE breaking the world's record twice the same day! That takes stamina and endurance of high order.

EVERY HOUR'S A BUSY ONE for attractive Claire Huntington (right), public stenographer. "Yes, it's a strain," she says, "but no matter how tired I get, smoking a Camel brings back my energy. Although I smoke a lot, Camels never jangle my nerves."

SURVEYOR William Barrett (left) speaking: "I get in a lot of Camel smoking during the day. When I begin to feel below par, it's me for a Camel and that invigorating 'lift' in energy."

MRS. JOHN W. ROCKEFELLER, JR., prominent in New York society, says: "It's wonderful, when you're tired, to get a cheering 'lift' with a Camel."

"Please add me to the athletes who get a 'lift' with a Camel"—Ray Ellinwood

"I NEVER fully realized just how much 'Geta' lift' with a Camel meant to me until I ran two world record-breaking quarters in one afternoon," Ray continues. "That's the time I put on my supreme effort. Afterwards a Camel helped me pull myself together—helped me change over from being tired to feeling full of pep. And that night I ate heartily and digested my meal as well as ever. This convinced me 100% on the value of enjoying Camels for digestion's sake."

In every line of endeavor—active, hard-working men and women light up Camels to renew their vim and energy—to add more enjoyment to mealtimes—and to ease strain and tension.

EMPIRES TO BE CHOSEN

Summers to Act as Co-Director;
All Games Will Start at 3 O'clock Sharp

Under the direction of Coach A. F. ("Nate") Rohrbough and Lee Summers, a four-team intramural baseball league was organized the past Wednesday. Included in the outfit are such clubs as: The Yankees, captained by Frank Martino; The Pirates, captained by Robert Davies; The Cardinals, captained by Albert ("Abe") Lilley; and The Tigers, captained by George Miller. Having been started the past year, the league proved to be a success, and the athletic department decided to reorganize it again this year. Incidentally, Glenville is one of the three colleges within the State that sponsors an intramural baseball league. Coach Rohrbough estimates that approximately seventy-five students will participate. Each team will be allowed twenty men until the first game has been played, but after that the various rosters will be cut to a squad of fifteen men.

From all indications the respective clubs are evenly-matched, and local sport hounds should witness an interesting pennant scramble before the league comes to a close. Empires have not yet been named, but it is probable that the captains, whose teams are not playing on the days of the games, will serve in that capacity.

Co-director Summers has not completed the schedule as yet, but will probably do so this week. Each team will play two contests a week. The games will start promptly at 3 o'clock. Days on which the games will be played are Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday. Postponed contests probably will be played on Saturday.

TO OPPOSE SALEM, WESLEYAN

Four Tennis Matches to Be Played, Beginning May 4

Athletic Director A. F. ("Nate") Rohrbough announced today that the College's tennis schedule has been completed, with four matches, two at home and two away, arranged with Salem and Wesleyan. The opening match will be played with Salem on Tuesday, May 4.

Coach H. Y. Clark was to have assembled his proteges yesterday for the initial workout but had to abandon the idea because of inclement weather. It is probable that the squad will meet today or tomorrow. Outstanding aspirants expected to report for practice are David Hought, William Hamilton, Lorentz Hamilton, Richard Prim, Robert and Willard Shreve, and H. Laban White, Jr.

John R. Wagner Gives Demonstration

The freshman general science classes of Glenville High School were entertained Thursday by Mr. John R. Wilfong accompanied the classes to the demonstration.

The intramural baseball league is to get in full swing this week, providing the weather will permit. . . . The league should be a real race this year as the teams are equally divided. . . . Every captain has selected the nickname of some major league club for the name of his team. . . . Albert Lilley after looking over his squad decided to call them the "Gas House Gang". . . . Robert Davies says he will stay with his old home town and call his outfit the "Pirates". . . . Frank Martino will be the second Joe McCarthy and manage the "Yanks". . . . George Miller looks more like Burleigh Grimes than anyone I know, but he insists on trading places with Mickey Cochrane and managing the "Tigers". . . . They all have picked a first division club to manage. . . . Too bad the Cleveland "Indians" aren't in the league. I would like to see this boy Robert Feller work. . . . Of course we will see Dix Dean of the "Gas House Gang," Schoolboy Rowe of the "Tigers," Cy Blanton of the "Pirates," and Lefty Gomez of the "Yanks."

John Mowrey, who is a member of the "Gas House Gang," says if you want to see the second Joe Medwick play, come over when they play their first game. . . . Another interesting point is the fact that Louie Romano is going to attempt to catch the slant of Guy Harvey Bennett, Jr. Russell Porterfield states that he will take the place of Hank Greenberg in the "Tigers" infield. . . . The man that I pick to have the tough time in the League is none other than the umpire. . . . Lee Summers will act as Judge Landis of the league. . . . When players are being bought and sold, the head man will have to O. K. all deals. . . . All boys in school are pain is not unique to this type of education.

Physical Education Classes Present Demonstration of Stunts and Dances

By MARIE ELLYSON

A physical education demonstration under the direction of Mrs. Earl Boggs, instructor, was presented by the girls' physical education classes Nos. 102 and 202, Thursday, at 4 o'clock in the College gymnasium. The demonstration included stunts and folk dances representative of those given in Denmark, Sweden, and Norway.

Girls who participated were: Doris Spray, Madeline Reese, Mary Barbarow, Velda Betts, Nettie Walker Cook, Alyce Marie Bonnett, Tulsa Hinkle, Elfreda Wiseman, Bonnie Wildman, Alah K. Westfall, and Inez O'Dell.

The following Danish dances were given: "The Crested Hen," "Tinker's Dance," "Little Man in a Fix," "Knytnapsolska," and "Three Dance."

Swedish dances included "Blekning," and "Skodobansen," an old man's dance, which was given by the girls who wore men's costumes. This dance was first given in 1885 by the Swedish farmers at a Christmas festival in Hofferup, county of Harjagers, province of Skane.

The only Norwegian dance given was the "Norwegian Mountain March."

Girls who performed stunts included Virginia Gibson, Virginia Donnelly, Sadie Harless, Hilda Leader, Alma Miller, Lomus Gulentz, Madeline Moore, Evaline Robinson, Virginia Lee Tucker, and Elizabeth Andrews.

The following stunts were given: "Eskimo Roll," "Diving," and "Human Wheel." "Post Ball," a relay, concluded the performance. Virginia Vinson, a senior in the College, was the piano accompanist.

Biology Classes Take Field Trip

Biology classes, under the direction of E. R. Grose, instructor, studied trees and birds, on a field trip Saturday morning. Among the birds studied were starling, swift, vireo, hawk, warbler, sparrows, gold finch, swallow, phoebe, cat bird, and titmouse. Trees observed included pine, oak, hickory, walnut, birch, beech, buckeye, poplar, and sycamore.

Sports Scoops

By RICHARD DYER

The inter-squad practice football game that was to have been played the past Friday has been definitely canceled because Coach A. F. ("Nate") Rohrbough was forced to conclude the spring training season to make way for the organization of the intramural baseball league.

During the two weeks session Coach Rohrbough was impressed with the squad as a whole, especially with the improved ball-handling of the backs. However, he discovered that tackle material is not so plentiful, and may be forced to remedy this situation by transferring some guard candidates to the tackle berths. Other line positions seem to be well taken care of by a host of lettermen from the 1936 eleven.

The backfield situation looks much brighter than it did a year ago also. All of the 1936 ball-luggers will be back this fall. Hillis Cottle, speedy halfback, and Russell Porterfield, pile-driving fullback, who were on the injured list for the most of last year's campaign, are in good shape and ready to go. Great things are also expected of John Bohensky, Robert Gibson, Guy Bennett, Ralph Hought, and Andrew Edwards, all of whom will be playing their last year for the Pioneers.

The Pioneers have a difficult eight-game schedule facing them this fall, meeting such formidable aggregations as St. Vincent, Waynesburg, Bethany, West Liberty, Concord and Potomac State. Three teams, Wesleyan, Rio Grande and Shepherdstown, met last year, will not be played. The Pioneers will open their 1937 campaign against St. Vincent on September 25 at Latrobe, Pa.

Mr. and Mrs. Ivan Hays Bush were week-end guests at Mr. Bush's home in Northview.

OUR OFFER

DR. BROWN TO SPEAK COMMENCEMENT DAY

In the field of biography he has written a series of short sketches under the title of "Lonely Americans," and a volume entitled "Dean Briggs," the biography of Harvard's famous dean. Recently a brochure entitled "On Writing the Biography of a Modest Man" has been published by the Harvard University Press, and has received favorable notice. Dr. Brown has also published a series of novels dealing with life in southeastern Ohio, where the author spent his boyhood.

Popular With College Audiences

As a lecturer Dr. Brown has been popular for a number of years with college audiences, educational meetings, open forums, and men's and women's clubs.

Rollo Walter Brown was born in southeastern Ohio, near Crooksville, a small town in the mining region about which he has written in "The Firemakers" and "Toward Romance." As a boy he worked on a hill farm, in a clay mine, and occasionally in a coal mine. After graduating from high school, he had an opportunity to study law in an office at Zanesville, but the drama he saw in the courts interested him much more than bare questions of legality. Consequently he went to Ohio Northern University and to Harvard to explore the field of literature. Then he taught at Wabash College, Carleton, and Harvard. But throughout his varied life, through what one college president called "his disturbingly vivid career" as a teacher, his great interest remained in the drama of America which he saw all about him, and a dozen years ago he turned exclusively to writing. He lives half the year in Peterboro, New Hampshire, and half in Cambridge, Massachusetts. He was a close friend of Edwin Arlington Robinson. In "Next Door to a Poet," he writes the story of his friendship with Robinson.

His latest novel was published February 5, 1937, and is entitled "As of the Gods."

Speak but little and to the purpose and you will pass for somebody. Speaking without thinking is shooting without taking aim.

He who would be well spoken of himself must not speak ill of others.

OPERETTA CAST CHOSEN BY MISS BERTHA OLSEN

son, Laddie Bell, Neil Albaugh, Albert Lilley and James C. Musser.

Miss Virginia Vinson will be the piano accompanist, while Miss Mary E. Young will be the assistant accompanist. The stage manager is Andrew Edwards, who will be assisted by June Riley, Rudolph Urbanick is business manager.

The orchestra cast includes Thomas Dotson, Bertchel Kittle, Mary Allen Boggs, Earl Wolfe, Dale Snider, Nathan Callahan, Gara Oles, and Frederick Bell.

The operetta opens with a scene on the rocky shore on the coast of Cornwall. Act II is laid in a picturesque chapel by moonlight. The pirates appear in gay piratical attire while the police wear the conventional English Bobby uniforms. Ruth is striking in a gypsy costume. The girls, arrayed in bustle dresses of 1880, add a final touch to the romantic scene.

"The Pirates of Penzance" is reviewed by Albert O. Bassuck, who says, "The timidity of the policemen, the spontaneity of the pirates and the exceptional beauty of the choral work, 'Hail Poetry' characterizes 'The Pirates' in the words of the Pirate King, as, 'a glorious thing.'"
