Denzel Garrett Speaks on Trends in Government and Pleads for Full Support—
Craddock Administers Oath

Officers of the new Student Council were installed during inaugural ceremonies at a student body meeting Wednesday morning in the College auditorium. The oath of office was administered by Bantz W. Craddock, Jr., retiring president.

Taking the oath were Denzel Garrett, president; John Barnett, vice-president; Garret Reed, secretary; Brooks Sheppard, treasurer; Clifton Huffman, sergeant-at-arms, Hillis Cottle, president of the senior class; Ralph Mendenhall, president of the junior class; and James McMillen, president of the sophomore class.

Several members of the retiring Student Council appeared on the stage but took no part in the ceremonies.

Craddock, retiring president, thanked students for their cooperation this year and urged support for the new council. Denzel Garrett, new president, spoke at length on trends in governments and pleaded for student support. He closed with the statement, "My greatest desire is and will be to exercise my duties with a judicious blending of the advice I shall seek from students and faculty."

The new Student Council will take office when school opens next fall.

LOIS JARVIS IS CROWNED MISS G CLUB I, QUEEN OF THE PIONEERS, IN CORONATION CEREMONIES AT NINTH ANNUAL DANCE

Coach A. F. Rohrbough
Names Lee Summers, Frank
Martino, Hillis Cottle to Captain Athletic Teams

By JOHN ROGERS

Miss Lois Jarvis of Grantsville, a junior in the College, was crowned Miss G Club I, Queen of the Pioneers, during the first coronation here at the ninth annual G Club dance held in the College gymnasium, Friday night, from 9 to 1 o'clock.

Other outstanding features of the dance included the naming of Frank Martino and Hillis Cottle co-captains of next season's basketball team and Lee Summers captain of the 1937 Pioneer football squad to succeed Paul Fulks of Weston. Also, A. F. Rohrbough, coach, awarded letters to the past year's basketball and football athletes and to the cheerleaders. Further details of awards will be found on the sports page.

Wears White Gown

Miss Jarvis, wearing a flowing white gown with a corsage of red and white roses and a white banner across her left shoulder with the blue letters, "G Club Queen," entered the gymnasium on the arm of Dr. E. G. Rohrbough, president of the College. Miss Jarvis and Dr. Rohrbough were preceded by Miss Josephine Riffe and Miss Winifred White, maids of honor, who were also in white and carried a bouquet of tulips. Following the queen and Dr. Rohrbough were Paul Fulks, president of the Club, and Samuel Whitman, vice-president and crown bearer. The group moved toward the throne in front of the orchestra stand to the tune of "Anchor Aweigh," played by Reed Raines and his orchestra of Thomas. The procession marched across the floor between a double file of members of the G Club, who took their places with clock-like precision.

ALUMNI BANQUET

A suggestion has been made by several of the Alumni that the custom of holding an annual banquet be revived. The banquet, of course, would be held the evening of May 31 and immediately preceding the annual alumni reception and dance.

This move merits strong consideration, for it might be said that a school will live and prosper in just the same proportion that its traditions are kept alive; and certainly the traditions of any school are too few to have any of them cast aside. The annual custom of meeting together in an hour or so of good fellowship; enjoying the choice reminiscences of the "old timers"; and spinning a good yarn is a privilege highly desirable and worthwhile.

Many more of the alumni would be interested in coming to Glenville State Teachers College during commencement week if they were spared the necessity of warming their feet to a waltz or foxtrot; so why not offer them the privilege of warming their feet under a banquet table?

This attempt, on the part of the alumni, to revive the annual custom is an expression of progress; and if successful, it will elevate the status of the organization to a point of envy among similar associations.—Thomas L. Dotson.

WHAT'S IN A NAME?

There almost always comes a time when the best loved traditions must painfully be given up to make way for progressive steps in civilization. That fact applies to material as well as the superficial things of life.

There still remains on the Old Clock Tower the name "Glenville Normal School," and it carries with it a feeling that might reflect upon the rating of the school since it has become a four-year College.

The name is rather conspicuous and we cannot help but feel that it should be replaced by the correct title of the College, since the name is apt to remain unchanged for many years to come.—Denzel Garrett.

First Legitimate Theater Convention

BETWEEN COLUMNS

The first National Convention of the Legitimate Theater is to be held at the Astor Hotel, New York City, commencing on Monday, May 24, 1937, under the auspices of The American Theater Council.

This convention should prove of much interest to the students and teachers of modern drama, as well as to thousands of interested playgoers and critics. It is the purpose of this convention, among several others, to extend to the country at large the professional theater now chiefly centered in New York.

To many college students throughout the United States, especially those in West Virginia, this purpose seems to be of special significance. The teachers of modern or contemporary drama are doing a splendid job of presenting the growth and development of the drama in modern times, yet very few of the students are fortunate enough to see a major production of the state interpreted by professional actors. This is an amazing situation, since no other country during the same period has produced a dramatic literature equal to that provided by the American dramatists for the past fifteen years.

Since the problems of the young and aspiring dramatists will receive attention along with the other aims of the convention, it looks as if the American Theater Council were setting forth a program that may heighten the interest in modern drama to a point never before attained.—Thomas L. Dotson.

Icie appears with newspaper man. Babe and Doris return to enjoy themselves. Red Davies claims Marjorie the nicest girl on the campus. Bull soon forgets former flame. The light of his life may have gone out, but he strikes another match. Katy Westfall hot-foots with outsider. June Craddock forgets U. woman. He comes into society after long seclusion. Casey hobnobs with royalty. He keeps a watchful eye on Queen Lois. Vandals swipe decorative G's. Scamper Fuls quiets rowdy. ATTENTION! Ella Summers comes in first with light brown evening gown. Bus dresses to kill in black and white. Fourteen-year-old wails a hot trumpet. Shaking the confetti from my hair, I say goodnight and gwan t' bed. THE INNOCENT ABROAD.

Pioneers Meet Wesleyan Tomorrow

The College's tennis team will conclude the spring campaign with a match tomorrow afternoon on the local courts. Wesleyan College netmen will be the opponents. To date the Pioneer tennis team has scored two successive wins, both at the expense of the Salem Tigers. Coach H. Y. Clark has not indicated that there will be any changes in the Pioneer's starting lineup, but there is a probability of a shift in the singles division. Mainstays in the Pioneer line-up are: Robert and John Shreve, John Barnett, Richard Prim, Laban White, Jr., David Haight and Earle Wolfe.

The annual state conference of teachers of vocational agriculture will be held at Jackson's Mill, July 8-11.

Miss Eleanor C. White Plays Brilliant Concert at Graduation Recital

(By A. H. F.)

In spite of just having recovered from an attack of influenza, Miss Eleanor C. White gave a brilliant performance at her graduation recital the past Tuesday night in Elizabeth Moore Hall at West Virginia University.

A student very rarely plays her own composition at her recital, but Miss White proved the exception when she played "Scherzo," which was enthusiastically received by a large audience, among whom were many personal friends. The second movement of Mendelssohn's "Concerto in E Minor" and Tchaikowsky's "Nocturne C Sharp Minor" were played with infinite delicacy.

When she and her accompanist, Miss Elizabeth Summerfield, were called back to the stage the third time, Miss White said, "Sorry, we can't play, we don't have any more music."

The following are a few of the expressions by members of the audience: Mr. Kenneth Wood: "Miss White is the most dependable member of the orchestra since I've been here." Sam Morris, University physician: "I am just as proud of Eleanor as if she were my own daughter." Dean H. Laban White: "It was the best recital I ever attended."

Miss White was dressed in a black grograin dress and wore silver slippers. A gorgeous bunch of talisman roses were presented to Miss White by Mrs. J. G. Kidwell, while the girls from the Woman's Hall sent a spray of painted daisies and snap dragons.

Among the out-of-town guests were Dean and Mrs. White, President and Mrs. W. H. S. White of Shepherd State Teachers College; Mrs. Arthur Cox, of Clarksburg, and Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Kidwell of Fairmont. All members of the University music faculty were present.

Miss Mildred Anna Dunn Says "Where There Is a Will There Is a Way"

By Agnes Fleming

"Where there's a will there's a way," declared Miss Mildred Anna F. Dunn of Nutley, N. J., in an informal interview recently at Verona Maple Hall.

Miss Dunn, who was a house guest the past week of Miss Willa Brand, preceptress of Verona Maple Hall and English instructor in the College, graciously consented to give her opinion about the college students of today. Since she is quite fond of young people she emphatically expressed her belief that "students of today, while having many splendid advantages and also greater distractions from study, are very similar to those of by-gone days." She said, "It is up to the student to make good. There always have been good students and poor ones and there always will be." She cited an incident where a girl, who is now a famous physician in Mexico, worked her way through college by getting up at 5 o'clock to mop floors and bathtubs, wait tables and fill the lamps before going to her classes. Miss Dunn added, "Where there's a will there's a way."

Recalls Bob-Sledding Days

In comparing the diversions of the present time with those of yesterday Miss Dunn said, "The people of today don't have as much fun as they used to have. A child has missed a great deal if he hasn't experienced the thrill of bob-sledding and skating from the time school 'let out' until dark."

Although extremely interested in the affairs of the day, she showed the most enthusiasm when speaking of her former school life. Of the hundreds of students whom she taught during her fifty-six years in the Clarksburg Public Schools, the class of 1914, of which she was sponsor, seems to be her favorite. Proudly she said, "All of the forty-one members are living and are doing well. Eight of them did service in the World War and returned to take up their life's work. They live in various parts of the country, ranging from Chicago to Charleston, S. C."

Honored by Class of 1914

On May 7 the class of 1914 held a reunion in Clarksburg with twenty-six members attending. A picture of Miss Dunn, dedicated to Washington Irving High School by this class, was unveiled during an impressive ceremony at the chapel exercises. It will be hung between the two doors at the entrance of the auditorium. Telegrams from fifteen absent members were received and read at a banquet at the Waldo Hotel that night.

Miss Dunn has kept in touch with all members of this class for 23 years, and a close relationship exists between them. She fondly speaks of them as "my children." They each send her a Christmas card every year. She said, "The association of a true teacher and pupil never ceases in life."

When asked what she thought of Glenville Teachers College she replied, "The school is splendid, the buildings are beautiful and a restful atmosphere prevails over the campus. I can't think of a more delightful place in which to live. If I had a child I should send him here to school."

Kostelanetz Engaged By Paramount Pictures

Andre Kostelanetz, conductor of the Chesterfield broadcasts over CBS, Wednesdays, at 9 p. m., E. D. S. T., has been engaged by Paramount Pictures to do the concert sequences in ARTISTS AND MODELS, the 1937 version of the all-star lineup featuring Jack Benny, Burns and Allen and other outstanding radio personalities.

Counting upon Kostelanetz' versatile abilities this new picture, to be released early in the fall, will provide the famed Chesterfield conductor with an important role. As usual, Mr. Kostelanetz went to Hollywood by plane, following a Chesterfield broadcast. He will remain there less than a week, crowding all the scenes in which he appears into six "shooting" days, and returning in time to conduct the program on the following week. The spring series of Chesterfield programs is starring Lily Pons, lovely coloratura soprano, accompanied by the Chesterfield chorus.

In the Mercury Eight Years Ago

Edward G. Rohrbough, Jr., was taken to the Mason Hospital at Clarksburg for treatment of a broken bone in his hand, due to injury received during the early part of the football season.

The members of the school quartet, H. Y. Clark, Howard Rhea, Seldon Brannon, and Fred Wilson, sang at the Presbyterian Church Sunday evening.

Mary Hazel Butcher of Cedarville returned to school Wednesday after having spent a few days at her home where she was called because of the illness of her grandmother.

Practice began for boxing with twenty men reporting. Alex Regdon was chosen instructor by Director Rohrbough. Mr. Regdon is classed as one of the best middle weights in Pittsburgh. The following are the twenty who reported: Clifford Clem,

Eugene Deitz and Cray Callahan were given the second degree into the Phi Delta Society at its regular meeting on Tuesday evening.

Students of the teacher training department gave a program at the Glenville Parent Teacher Association meeting on Wednesday evening. A selection was sung by Miss Marjory Rinehart, Miss Mildred Rader, Howard Rhea, and Seldon Brannon.

The glee club under the direction of Wilma West will present a Christmas mystery play in song, "The Nativity." The cast chosen by Miss West is as follows: The Virgin Mary, Margorie Rinehart; St. Joseph, Har-

MARK TWAIN THE IMMORTAL

Mark Twain, whose name should be familiar to every student in journalism, was the result of raw, virile America. He was a "river man" born with that rare spark of genius that distinguished him from the ordinary man. Some called him "the divine amateur"; others proclaimed him as "the American Dostoyevsky," and still others said that he would go down in literature in the same light as Shakespeare and Cervantes.

Not until in the latter part of his life was Mark Twain fully appreciated. At this time he became exalted in the minds of Americans his every move was watched and sympathized with and his every opinion was regarded as law.

Mark Twain was not cramped by his environment, as some few think. Instead he was loosed by it to soar to unsullied heights as he portrayed the simple life of the poor. His treatment of the poor white and the Negro was especially sympathetic because he knew their conditions thoroughly from first hand experience. Although he portrayed the pathetic conditions of the poor, his works were sympathetic and humorous at the same time. As a result of his many works he will go down in literature as a champion of the poor.—Albert Piercy.

Dr. Rebecca Pollock Reviews Progressive Education at Faculty Club Reception

A little out of the ordinary was the Faculty Club reception, arranged by the English department of the College and held the past Tuesday night in the Verona Maple Hall parlor amid the fragrant odors of red-bud and crab-apple blossoms and bouquets of multi-colored tulips.

In addition to enjoying a dinner of English pork pies, banbury tarts, mints, pickles and coffee or tea, members of the faculty and their wives and husbands heard a forty-five minute address by Dr. Rebecca Pollock, of the education department of West Virginia University. Also the guests listened attentively to a few brief remarks by Miss Anna Dunn of Nutley, N. J., who was a house guest of Miss Willa Brand the past week.

Dr. Pollock reviewed some of the more recent trends in progressive education and cited pertinent experiments in education now being conducted at Ohio State University and in Erie, Pa.

Receiving were the two honor guests, Dr. Pollock and Miss Dunn, and the members of the English department, Miss Willa Brand, Mr. Carey Woofter and Mr. Linn E. Hickman and Mrs. Hickman.

Dean and Mrs. H. L. White were unable to be present because they were in Morgantown attending Miss Eleanor White's graduation recital in Elizabeth Moore Hall at the University.

Those who attended were President and Mrs. E. G. Rohrbough, Dr. and Mrs. J. C. Shreve, Mr. and Mrs. John R. Wagner, Mr. and Mrs. A. F. Rohrbough, Mr. and Mrs. Charles P. Harper, Mr. and Mrs. H. Y. Clark, Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Post, Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Freed, Mr. and Mrs. Earl R. Boggs, Miss Margaret Dobson, Miss Alma Arbuckle, Miss Laura Ann Miles, Miss Margaret Christie, Miss Gladys Walker, Miss Ivy Lee Myers, Miss Bessie Boyd Bell, president of the Club, Miss Grace Lorentz, Mr. Hunter Whiting, Mr. E. R. Grose, Mr. R. T. Crawford, Dr. Pollock and Miss Dunn and the hosts and hostesses, Miss Brand, Mr. Woofter and Mr. and Mrs. Hickman.

Alumni Notes

WHAT THESE ACE MERMAIDS SAY—

Dorothy Poynton Hill speaking: "I'm always in training. I prefer Camels for their mildness. They never jangle my nerves. I can enjoy smoking as often as I wish. Another advantage of smoking Camels is the invigorating 'lift' they give me when I'm tired."

Lenore Kight Wingard—one of the greatest woman athletes of our times—adds this: "I really get fun out of swimming. Hard work is part of the game. For four years I've been a Camel fan. Camels help me enjoy my food no matter how tired or strained I may be. I've found Camels do not irritate my throat."

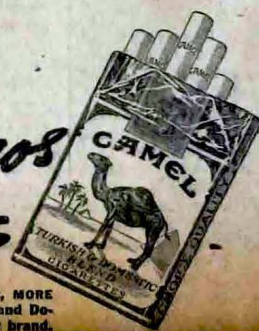

HE WON the Olympic diving crown! Marshall Wayne, high diver, says: "I enjoy a Camel whenever I want. Camels don't get on my nerves—they're mild!"

FINAL EXAMS AHEAD!

Charlie Getchell, '40, says: "When I'm plugging away at studies, I like to enjoy Camels steadily. I'm all for Camels—they never jangle my nerves."

MARTINO'S YANKEES WIN OVER CARDS, 2-1, TO GAIN 2ND PLACE

Edwards Pitches Ace Ball to Hold Opponents to Five Hits
—Spectacular Fielding
Checks Threatened Rallies

Andrew Edwards, ace Murderer row hurler, limited Lilley's Cardinals to five hits the past Wednesday afternoon to achieve his second straight victory of the season as Martino's Yankees trimmed the Cards, 2-1. This victory enabled the rampant Yankees to move into second place in the intramural league. The Yanks backed Edwards' sparkling pitching with some spectacular fielding that choked off potential Cardinal rallies. However, only twice was Edwards in any serious difficulty. In the fourth and seventh frames the Gas House Gang placed runners on first and third, but the Yankee fireballer bore down and managed to retire the side in both instances.

In the fourth canto the Yankees put the game on ice. Marra and Cottle singled in rapid succession, placing runners on first and third. Cottle then stole second. Edwards laid down a perfect bunt, scoring Marra.

Pioneers Swamp Salem Tigers

Local Netmen Win Second
Victory in Tennis—Paced
By White and Shreve

Glenville's fast-traveling tennis team added a second victory of the season the past Tuesday afternoon by trouncing the Salem Tigers, 6-3, on the Salem courts. This was the Pioneers' second straight win over the Tennile team.

Paced by Robert Shreve and H. Laban White, Jr., who won their matches in straight sets, H. Y. Clark's proteges won four out of six single matches, and broke even in a pair of doubles matches.

In singles, Robert Shreve of Glenville beat Robert Bond of Salem, 6-2 and 6-2; John Shreve of Glenville defeated Richard Bond of Salem, 1-6, 6-2 and 6-0; Laban White, Jr., of Glenville trounced Guilfenni of Salem, 6-0 and 6-4; Piercy of Salem defeated Barnett of Glenville, 6-1 and 6-4; Duge of Salem beat Richard Prim of Glenville, 6-1 and 6-2; David Haught of Glenville trimmed Brown of Salem, 9-7, 4-6 and 10-8.

In doubles, Robert and John Shreve lost to Richard and Robert Bond of Salem, 7-5 and 6-3; Richard Prim and David Haught of Glenville defeated Guilfenni and Brown of

A third doubles match scheduled was called on account of darkness. In this match John Barnett and H. Laban White, Jr., of Glenville were paired off against Duge and Piercy of Salem.

PRINCE ALBERT THE NATIONAL JOY SMOKE

MISS G CLUB I, AT DANCE

In front of the throne Miss Jarvis knelt before Dr. Rohrbough, who placed the silver crown on her head with the words, "Lois, I crown you Queen of the Pioneers. It is yours to rule with dignity, with grace and with charm over this G Club ball." Queen Lois then stepped upon the dais to sit on the throne. On each side of the platform were the maids of honor, the crown bearer, President Fuls, and Dr. Rohrbough, while members of the Club stood guard. In the background the orchestra played "Old Wisconsin," while the guard of honor marched off the floor with military dignity.

Elected by Student Body

Miss Jarvis was chosen Miss G Club I in a student body election on the merits of her personality, popularity and scholastic ability. She was allowed to keep the crown and also the banner and the corsage which the G Club presented to her immediately preceding the coronation ceremony.

The maids of honor, Miss White and Miss Kline, were runners up in the contest.

The coronation took place at 10 p. m. under blue and white streamers draped from the lights and rafters overhead. Two footballs and a basketball were suspended from the center of the room, while blue and white G's were fastened to the lights and the walls at either end of the gymnasium. A roster of the club was seen on the banking board above the red-coated members of the orchestra.

Club Gives Corsage

Patrons and patronesses were President and Mrs. E. G. Rohrbough, Dean and Mrs. H. L. White, Mr. and Mrs. A. F. Rohrbough, Mr. and Mrs. John R. Wagner and Mr. and Mrs. Linn B. Hickman. Each patroness received a corsage of white and yellow roses from the Club immediately preceding the dance. Other faculty members present were Mr. and Mrs. H. Y. Clark, Mr. Raymond Freed and Miss Margaret Christie and her guest, Mr. Frank Williams, of Clarksburg.

Andrew Edwards, secretary-treasurer of the Club said 250 invitations were mailed out. Elwin Wilson arranged for the invitations. Edwards also sold tickets, while at the gate were Earle Bickel, Rudolph Urbanick and Paul Collins. John Mowrey, Millard Cunningham and Hillis Cottle were in charge of the coronation arrangements. The decoration committee included Hillis Cottle and Nathan Callahan. Lloyd Singleton manipulated the colored lights.

MISS MARGARET DOBSON TO BE MARRIED JUNE 5

Miss Dobson, speech instructor in the College and assistant preceptor of Verona Mapel Hall, came to Glenville in 1925 and taught in the College through 1928. After graduating from Northwestern University with an M. S. degree in 1931 she returned here and has been here ever since. She is a daughter of Mrs. Margaret Dobson, Decatur, Ill. Mr. Maroney is an alumnus of Cabin Creek District High School and attended South Texas School of Law at Houston. He is the son of the late John J. Maroney of Cedar Grove and is employed at the duPont Co. at Cedar Grove, where the couple will reside.

Jim Club Members to Get Pins

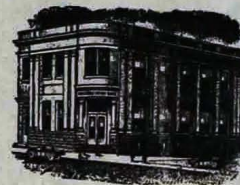

A meeting of the Jim Club was held in the Robert F. Kidd Library, Wednesday night, at which Jim Petry, president, was authorized to arrange for club pins. The order probably will be placed with a Charleston firm, it was announced. The remaining time was given to reports and financial matters of the club.

The leadership training conference held annually under the direction of the West Virginia Association, Future Farmers of America, will meet at Jackson's Mill, August 19-22.

Order is the sanity of the mind, the health of the body, the peace of city, the security of the state.
