JITNEY PLAYERS WILL BE HERE ON WEDNESDAY, FEB. 2

Troupe Will Feature Douglas
Rowland and Miss Ethel
Barrymore Colt

TO GIVE 2 PERFORMANCES

Will Present "Lady Audley's Secret"
in Matinee and "Diplomacy"
at Night

The Jitney Players, featuring Douglas Rowland and Ethel Barrymore Colt, have been booked for a return engagement at Glenville State Teachers College and will appear here on Wednesday, Feb. 2, in both matinee and evening performances, announces Hunter Whiting, chairman of the College's artists' course committee.

The appearance of the Jitney Players, now on their fifteenth anniversary tour, will mark the third of the College's artists' series of the present school year. Both Douglas Rowland as Bob Acres and Miss Ethel Barrymore Colt as Lucy in "The Rivals" were received enthusiastically here last year and both are tops in the Jitney Players' troupe this season.

The Players have cut Boucicault's Victorian comedy of manners, "London Assurance," to forty-five minutes and they will use it for a curtain raiser to the matinee performance of "Lady Audley's Secret," an old-fashioned thriller which is being used as a successor to the melodrama, "Murder in the Old Red Barn." In the evening the Players will present Sardou's drama, "Diplomacy."

MISS BRAND TO SPONSOR PARTY

Canterbury Club Plans For Annual Entertainment at Verona Chapel Hall

Miss Willa Brand will entertain members of the Canterbury Club at a Christmas party Saturday evening, Dec. 18, at 7:30 o'clock.

Stories to be told are: "Christmas Carol," Charles Dickens, by Clifford Garrett; "The Other Wise Man," Henry Van Dyke, by Marjorie Craddock; and "The Bird's Christmas Carol," Kate Douglas Wiggin, by Leone West.

Plans for the party have not been completed, but they will all be in keeping with the Christmas spirit, announces Miss Brand. As has been the custom for many years, the party will include the singing of Christmas carols at midnight.

NEW DORMITORY IS PAINTED

Flagstone Walk to Fifth Section
Relayed the Past Week

The west end and two sections of the front of the new dormitory were painted with a waterproof substance the past week, under the supervision of C. W. Loar, project foreman for Baker & Coombs, of Morgantown.

Also, the flagstone walk to the fifth, or E section of the building, was relaid.

WILL BE THIRD NUMBER
ARTISTS' COURSE SERIES

Ethel Barrymore Colt, upper left, twenty-five-year-old princess of the stage and niece of John and Lionel Barrymore, will come here February 2 on a return engagement with the Jitney Players. Also with the troupe will be Douglas Rowland, upper right, who will be remembered as having played the part of Bob Acres in Sheridan's "The Rivals," presented here two years ago.

Members of College Faculty Named to Serve on Curricula Revision Committees

By ERNESTINE HARRISON
Dr. Charles P. Harper, Dr. C. L. Underwood and Earl R. Boggs attended a meeting of the committees appointed to revise the curricula of the state colleges the past Friday and Saturday in the senate chamber at the Capitol in Charleston.

Dr. Harper, instructor in social studies, was appointed by the Policy Committee on the Study of West Virginia Teachers' Education to serve on the Social Studies Committee and Dr. Underwood, instructor in education and chemistry, and Mr. Boggs, principal of Glenville High School, were named to serve on the Education Committee.

There was a general meeting of the four committees assigned to study changes in teachers training curricula, Friday evening at 7:30 o'clock in the senate chamber at the Capitol. Saturday morning at 9 o'clock the four committees met and discussed actual details of changing requirements in their respective fields; namely, biological science, physical science, education and social studies. The groups set a date in April for their next meeting.

Dr. Harper was named on a sub-committee to study the number of hours to be allotted for social-study majors.

The chairman of the Social Science Committee is Dr. A. E. Harris of Marshall College, a former instructor in the College.

Prof. R. E. Freed Speaks on "Education For Peace" at Glenville P-T-A. Meeting

By JAMES MUSSER
Parents and teachers should show children the need and the advantages of peace, Raymond E. Freed, instructor in social sciences in the College, said Thursday night in an address before the Glenville P-T-A. Association.

Speaking to the group in the high school auditorium, Mr. Freed declared that "the places to start working for peace are the home and in the school." He reviewed the peace situation and declared that "war is inevitable under the present set-up."

"Japan and Italy are overpopulated and lack natural resources, and they will not stop until these are gained," he said. Communism and Fascism were denounced as probable causes of war.

Mr. Freed declared that the United States could stay out of war if it would not trade with warring nations, not take sides, stay out of international conferences, and educate its masses for peace. He also mentioned several things that the home and school could do to further peace. He closed the talk with "Ten Commandments on how to get along with others."

Goldie Reynolds, a senior in the College, sang "The Manger of Bethlehem," following devotionals by Mrs. John R. Wagner. Another student, May Beal, a member of the Mercury editorial staff, interpreted a sketch picturing a small boy showing his report card to his father. Other numbers on the program were: Two French carols, by the high school Choral Club; two readings, "I Am Your Community" by Dorothy Bush, and "A Dillar A Dollar" by Edwin McFerrin. Mrs. Earle Arbuckle interpreted a sketch, "The President," Mrs. Homer Moore, president, presided at the meeting.

COLLEGE STUDENT GETS "HUNTER'S ITCH" BUT BRINGS BACK THE BEAR

Here is a big bear story which may not be so popular among College professors.

Last week a junior in the College obtained sick leave but failed to explain that what he really had was "hunter's itch." He drove to Randolph County and there joined a group of thirty friends who also complained of the same illness.

The result of all this was a good mess of bear meat at Kanawha Hall and some interesting comments as follows: Walter Mullens, "I like deer meat better." Gory McLaughlin, "It was pretty good." John Rogers, "It is better than some beef I have eaten." Vondra Stalnaker, "I didn't like it." Dewey Berry, "I got mostly fat, but it was good."

Club Gives Ten Dollars to Yearbook
The Canterbury Club contributed ten dollars the past week to the fund being raised to pay a yearbook debt. Densel Garrett, president of the student body, expressed his appreciation for the money given and stated that the Canterbury Club was the second organization on the campus to contribute. Mr. Garrett expects to receive donations from other organizations this week.

Mr. John Brown, A. B. '37, of Burnsville, and Mrs. Brown, a student in the college, spent Thanksgiving holidays with Mrs. Brown's parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Rader, of Gassaway.

VORLEY REXROAD IS SPEAKER Student Addresses Current Events Club on Subject of "Peace"

"We don't think enough about peace," declared Vorley Rexroad, a senior in the College, in a speech before the Current Events Club Tuesday night in the College lounge. He emphasized the fact that propaganda is trying to create a war spirit and in order to counteract this tendency, people should look for means of offsetting war propaganda and think of ways to create peaceful relationships among countries.

Following Rexroad's talk, John Rogers gave a brief review of "The Brothers Ashkenazi," by I. J. Singer. After the program, Miss Bessie Boyd Bell, sponsor of the club, and Ruby Lamb, secretary-treasurer, served refreshments.

When Cupid hits his mark, he generally Mrs. it.—Green Gander.

G Club Minstrel

Thursday night will be minstrel night in Glenville with the G Club members on parade in their fourth annual production. The curtain slides at 8 p. m. in the College auditorium and admission prices are 15 and 25 cents. See and hear popular songs in collegiate style, blackface comedians' fun and wit, and enjoy an evening of laughable laughs.

16 HIGH SCHOOLS REPRESENTED AT SCIENCE MEETING

SEVERAL ALUMNI SPEAK

Addresses, Open Forum and Noon
Luncheon Feature Day's Activities

By ELIZABETH LEWIS
Ten West Virginia high schools were represented at the annual science teachers' winter meeting here Saturday. The session was called to order by Mr. John R. Wagner and was presided over by Dean H. Laban White. Talks, open forums, and a noon luncheon featured the day's program.

Benjamin Tatterson, A. B. '36, of Spencer, spoke on "Observations of a Young Science Teacher" and made the following pertinent observations: A change of attitude toward subjects taught, laboratory work must be connected with topics discussed in class, and there is no general knowledge as to what to teach.

George H. Kerr, Sparks, "Observation After Years of Teaching" was the subject used by George H. Kerr of Clendenin, who said he had experienced success in alternating chemistry and physics, had observed that teachers are more ambitious than in years past, had learned to use individual methods and individual work successfully, and had observed that science courses often are made too technical for the high school student.

Kyle Bush, A. B. '35, of Tanner, spoke on "The Future for Science Teachers." He suggested that the science teacher should be more open minded, that he should cultivate enthusiasm, cheerfulness and cooperation. Also he predicted and urged (Continued on page 4)

A. F. ROHRBOUGH HAS BUSY WEEK

Is Speaker at Athletic Banquets in Richwood, Weston
and Clarksburg

Last week was a busy one for A. F. Rohrbough, coach and director of athletics in the College. Highlights of his week's activities were three speeches at three athletic banquets in three cities.

Tuesday evening Mr. Rohrbough was the principal speaker at a banquet in Richwood in honor of Coach Paul ("Babe") Jones, A. B. '36, and his high school football squad. Lloyd Jones, College financial secretary, Nathan Callahan, Russell Porterfield and Paul Collins accompanied Coach Rohrbough to Richwood.

On Wednesday evening Mr. Rohrbough and Carl Keister, student, went to Clarksburg to attend the annual football banquet at Victory High School. The following night Mr. Rohrbough spoke at a similar banquet in Weston in honor of the Minutemen.

Friday, Coach Rohrbough and Dr. E. G. Rohrbough were in Clarksburg for the annual Winter meeting of the West Virginia Intercollegiate Athletic Conference, of which Dr. Rohrbough is president.

WARREN B. HORNER HONORED

Is Made Member of National Association of Authors and Journalists
Warren B. Horner, professor of English at Shepherd State Teachers College, Shepherdstown, was recently elected to honorary membership in the National Association of Authors and Journalists.

Mr. Horner's published work and contributions to folk literature entitled him to membership in the society. A honorary certificate has been awarded him.

Among other honorary members are Mayor Fiorello LaGuardia of New York and Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt.

Mr. Horner, a son of Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Horner, of Weston, was an instructor in English here in the spring and summer of 1929.

Miss Marie Elyson, A. B. '37, Carlin Elyson, A. B. '37, and Miss Mabel Elyson, student in the College, visited relatives in Cowen the past week-end.

JACK WATKINS TO PLAY FOR DANCE

Alumni and Former Students
Invited to Holiday
Dance

Jack Watkins' orchestra of Parkersburg will play for the College's annual holiday dance on Friday night, Dec. 17, from 9 until 1 o'clock in the gymnasium, announces John Barnett, chairman of the social committee.

A committee appointed to arrange for the decorations includes Susan Summers, Lucille Spray and Tulsa Hinkle.

Approximately 100 announcements will be sent to alumni and former students. Admission price will be ninety-five cents per couple.

REV. J. C. MUSSER SPEAKS IN CHAPEL

Says Real Meaning of Christmas
Is Often Overlooked
By Students

The real meaning of Christmas is too often overlooked, the Rev. J. C. Musser, pastor of the Glenville Baptist Church, suggested Wednesday in an assembly address following an introduction by Dr. E. G. Rohrbough, president of the College.

Confining his speech to the life of Jesus and the prophecies of His coming, the Rev. Mr. Musser explained that "we have been celebrating Christmas for more than 200 years and that people looked forward to His coming longer than we have looked back at His life."

He explained the significance of Christ, born of a virgin, the significance of His birth in the manger in the town of Bethlehem and the four major prophecies concerning His coming.

Following his address, the Rev. Mr. Musser, who is the father of James Musser, student in the College, announced to several members of the faculty that he had decided to remain in Glenville and that he would not accept the Spencer pastorate which had been offered to him recently. Mr. Musser has been pastor of the Glenville Baptist Church for the past eleven years.

STUDENTS WILL HEAR MR. KIRBY

Secretary of State Board of Education Is Guest of College Today

Mr. David Kirby, secretary of the State Board of Education, arrived here today for a series of individual conferences with members of the faculty. This afternoon he is attending a faculty meeting in Room 101 at which curriculum revisions are being considered.

Mr. Kirby will remain here tonight and will speak to the faculty and students in assembly tomorrow at 10 o'clock, announces Pres. E. G. Rohrbough.

FACULTY TO ENJOY CHRISTMAS PARTY TONIGHT

The Faculty Club will be entertained with a Christmas party this evening at 8 o'clock in the recreation room of the new dormitory. There will be a Christmas tree, Christmas decorations and Christmas games will be played. Hosts and hostesses will be Mr. and Mrs. A. F. Rohrbough, Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Freed, Miss Goldie C. James, Miss Bertha E. Olsen and Miss Laura Ann Miles.

You can't expect a living wage if you are a dead one.—Dayton News.

COLLEGE STUDENT WILL PRESIDE AT STATE CONVENTION

Denzel Garrett to Take Part in Sixteenth Annual WVIP Conference

DR. HYDE WILL SPEAK

Ten or More Representatives of the Mercury Staff Will Go
Fairmont

Glenville State Teachers College will have ten or more representatives at the sixteenth annual meeting of the West Virginia Intercollegiate Press Association which will open Thursday evening at Fairmont State Teachers College and continue until Saturday afternoon.

Denzel Garrett, a senior in the College, who is president of the association, will leave here Thursday in order to be in Fairmont to assist with preliminary program arrangements. Nine members of the Mercury staff and Linn B. Hickman, instructor in English and journalism, will leave Friday morning. Staff members who plan to go are John Rogers, Noel Bush, John Cooper, Sexton Wright, James Woolfer, Lucy Brown, Mabel Brown, Ernestine Harrison, Mabel Elyson and Richard Dryer.

Two nationally known newspaper men, a Washington newspaper woman, a group of northern West Virginia editors, and student journalists from state colleges will present the highlights of the two-day congress.

Dr. Grant M. Hyde, director of the School of Journalism, University of Wisconsin, will be the principal speaker. Also scheduled to address the conference is Harold K. Phillips, director of public relations with the National Bituminous Coal Commission. (Continued on page 4)

DEAN WHITE IS GUEST SPEAKER

Talks at Gassaway and at Sutton; Miss White, Miss
Olsen Furnish Music

Dean H. Laban White, accompanied by his daughter, Miss Eleanor C. White, violinist, and Miss Bertha E. Olsen, College instructor in music, presented an assembly program at Gassaway High School Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

Dean White explained "The Meaning of Christmas" and referred to the various interpretations which have been attached to the day from time to time. He concluded his address with the story, "An Unexpected Christmas Gift," which will appear in this paper next week.

Miss White, accompanied by Miss Bertha E. Olsen, presented the following violin solos: "La Media Noche" by Aniles; "Pavane" by Fitch; "Waltz in A" by Brahms; "Londonderry Air"; "Rondim," by Beethoven and Kreisler; "Spanish Serenade," by Chaminode and Kreisler; "Liebesleid," by Kreisler.

Wednesday evening Dean White was the guest speaker at a joint meeting of the Sutton Rotary Club and Woman's Club. His subject was "Community Betterment." Miss White and Miss Olsen also furnished special music for the Sutton meeting.

Art Students Design Christmas Cards

The art classes in the College are designing and painting their own Christmas cards this year, announces Miss Margaret Christie, instructor. This unit of work is a study of color harmony. Each card carries out one of the eight major harmonies.

LOVE BEGINS AT HOME

There is nothing better that recommends an individual than his attention to his parents. How can children ever repay parents for their love, loyalty and labors?

At times new thoughts, new associations and new cares fill the mind and heart of individuals and in this manner love for the parents is thrust aside. It probably would be better if children would remember that many times the change is within them and not within their parents. When children go away they never know, until they experience it themselves, just what a vacancy is left behind.

We should make it our business, even when far away, to go to see our parents regardless of time or expense. There is a happy reflection derived from the thought of having contributed something to the comfort and delight of father and mother.

Our constant study should be the promotion of happiness and contentment for those who brought us into this world.—Leah Stalnaker.

COMPENSATION FOR COOPERATION

As the school year progresses and the various campus organizations attempt to carry out their respective programs, an urgent demand for support is created. Support, not only from the students and faculty members, but from the townspeople and others of the community, is entirely necessary for the proper functioning of these units.

Surely, everyone living within the bounds of this community is aware of the fact that the presence of the College here is of a decided advantage to all concerned. Do not students living in the dormitories and those who drive back and forth aid the various businesses with their continuous patronage throughout the school year? So why can't the business units reciprocate by lending their support in every way possible, whether it be by advertising or by patronage in other ways?

True, Glenville State Teachers College is a state-maintained institution, but this is no indication that it can continue to be maintained without local backing. Many persons have the erroneous belief that campus organizations and activities do not need support, other than what the state provides. Regardless of this fallacy, Glenville's campus organizations, like similar ones of other colleges, need additional support if their existence is to be continuous. Time and time again many loyal Glenville citizens have lent support to campus activities. And, likewise, these loyal friends have found that cooperation pays. Proper cooperation can and will be fostered if those that have already helped will continue to do so, and if those who have been skeptical will fall in line and make an adjustment.—Richard Dyer.

"AND PASSED BY ON THE OTHER SIDE"

If we were to be suddenly offered a magic wand by which all disease and the sorrow and economic loss resulting from it could be wiped out, we would be quick to grasp it, or so we think. The way to conquer one disease has been found, but the work goes on with comparative slowness. Medical science has been able to spread the good news that tuberculosis is both preventable and curable. Such news ought to be received with the greatest rejoicing, and it has been. Yet in spite of the fact that great strides have been taken in the prevention and cure of the disease, the work of stamping it out goes on more slowly than it ought.

Doctors and nurses give hopeful interpretations of the situation, but always end by saying that more equipment and funds are needed to handle the situation properly. They are handicapped in their work. There are now about 950 beds in tubercular hospitals in West Virginia, but there are always more than 200 patients on the waiting list.

The method of raising funds for such a great work is a good one—one which places no burden on anyone and gives everyone who is able a chance to share in the work. When a person buys Christmas Seals he has made a worthwhile contribution, but there is something else he can do which in the past has often been neglected. He can use the seals on his letters and packages. If people who bought seals would always use them it would be the means of educating other people to their use. Their purchase of seals would in turn increase the funds available for the work.

Stamps have been sent to each member of the faculty of Glenville State Teachers College and will be distributed to the students. Although the amount asked from students is very small, it will amount to a substantial sum if each one does his part.

The story of the good Samaritan has been told so many times that we know it by heart, yet often by indifference or thoughtlessness we too pass by on the other side in cases of opportunity and need. Will it be so this year?—May Beal.

Did you know that holiday letters and packages decorated with the Christmas Seals you buy signify your partnership in a campaign for health?

Robert F. Kidd Library

By MARMEL BROWN

Bibliographies compiled by students in Library Science, English 221, during the past year are now on the shelves in the reading room of the Robert F. Kidd Library. These bibliographies are THE HISTORY OF ENGLAND, by Lois Mason; THE AMERICAN FRONTIER, 1607-1936, by Thomas E. Simon; ROMANTIC MOVEMENT IN FRENCH LITERATURE, by Lucille Spray; CHILD PSYCHOLOGY, by Thomas L. Dotson; ADOLESCENT EDUCATION, by Ella Summers; ARCHITECTURE SCULPTURE PAINT-GOVERNMENT, by Avon Elder; ING, by Cleve Mick; AMERICAN ECONOMICS, by Ernestine Harrison; EUGENICS, by Sally Young; ARITHMETIC IN THE FIRST EIGHT GRADES, by Geo. D. Berry; MODERN AMERICAN POETRY, by Monta Beal; THE TECHNIQUE OF STUDY, by Elizabeth Marple; MATERIALISM IN PHILOSOPHY, by Paul Carr; HISTORY OF THE BIBLE AND THE BIBLE AS LITERATURE, by Ima Wilson; and ARGENTINA, by Teddy Taylor.

These bibliographies contain what the library has on the subject selected with the compilers' notes describing the book, or his opinion of it and its probable usefulness.

Now Being Compiled

Bibliographies now being compiled by students in Library Science include JOURNALISM, STUDY AND TEACHING, by Mary Leone West; WEST VIRGINIA HISTORY, by Ruth Bush; RADIO EDUCATION, by Marmel B. Brown; PHILOSOPHY OF EDUCATION, by Page Carr; ADULT EDUCATION, by Hazel Hersman; CHILDREN'S LITERATURE TEACHING, by Louise Ross; HISTORY OF UNITED STATES CONSTITUTIONS, by Grace Summers; PUBLIC SCHOOL MUSIC, by Marjorie Barnett; VISUAL EDUCATION, by Edna Cain; HISTORY OF EDUCATION, by Fred Bell; MENTAL HYGIENE, by Barbara Haumann; PUBLIC HEALTH IN THE UNITED STATES, by Jean McGee; and SCULPTURE, by Neva Thorne.

Book Notes

The Robert F. Kidd Library has a number of books selected by the Book Clinic of the American Institute of Graphic Arts for technical perfection. The standards include merit in design, execution, painting, binding, paper, type, and illustrations.

Books honored which are available in the library are THE NILE, Emil Ludwig; honorable mention includes LAWRENCE: THE LAST CRUSADE, and THE SUNPAPERS OF BALTIMORE, Selden Cheney.

Two other books which have received awards have recently been turned, THE SEVEN WHO FLED, Fredric Prokosch, and THE LIFE AND DEATH OF A SPANISH TOWN, Elliott Paul. Both received honorable mention.

Do You Know That

That 1005 persons in West Virginia died from tuberculosis during 1936?

That 544 of them were in the important age period from 20 to 49 years?

Christmas Seals! That there are about nine active cases for every annual death?

That tuberculosis takes its victims mostly

Buy and Use Them from young women between 20 and 30 years, working men between 25 and 30 years, and Negroes of all ages?

That more people die from tuberculosis than from any other disease between 15 and 40 years?

That tuberculin testing and X-ray- ing of positive reactors are finding 20 per cent of infected boys and girls before disease has a chance to develop?

That the finding of infection helps the doctors and nurses to discover the source of infection at home?

That the Glenville County Christmas Seal program is saving many lives for health and usefulness and will help decrease the annual harvest of tuberculosis?

Thoughts This Week

What is man's worst public enemy? In many circles the common cold takes this honor, and as close seconds to the common cold come the grippe and the flu.

This is the time of year when people easily susceptible to colds are infected, and in many instances a cold which starts in the early part of the winter lasts until spring.

The question is how is one to prevent such colds? Those who are infected are at all times exhaling live germs. But one cannot always avoid such people, especially if he is going to school.

The answer to the question is "just common sense." The latest medical theory is that in spite of these "bugs" in the air, one can beat them. And the trick is to avoid getting chilled. In other words, keep properly clothed and warm. If you are in a hot room, do not go into the cold air when perspiring without putting on a coat or jacket. At any time or place that you feel a sudden chill or shivering, cover up with something extra and get warm. A very simple formula, but it is just common sense.—Newton Cooper.

COLLEGE STUDENTS WILL SET WORLD'S TRAVELING RECORD IN NEXT 4 YEARS

By MABEL ELLYSON

Forty-two commuting College students, if their present traveling speed continues, will go the distance of eight times around the world during the next four years, or 693,360 miles in 34,560 hours. That will be another world's record.

The students travel 963 miles per day, or 173,940 miles in one year. They average forty-eight hours of traveling per day, or 8640 hours a year, which will total 1440 days in four years.

To make the long voyage the bus- es which carry the forty-two students will require 1920 gallons of gasoline per year, or 7680 gallons in the four years.

And the oil? Well, it will take 4551 quarts per year and 4551 gallons for the four years. The oil will cost $1137.35 per year or $6249.60 for the 693,360 mile four-year jaunt. Some figuring.

Mrs. A. F. Rohrbough Entertains

Mrs. A. F. Rohrbough entertained members of the Glenville Sewing Circle Thursday afternoon at her apartment in the new dormitory. Fifteen members were present. This week Mrs. E. G. Rollyson and J. Wilson Beall will be hostesses to the Circle at Mrs. Rollyson's home.

Merry Maidens' Movie Moments

ON SCREEN SHOWINGS, CURRENT AND COMING

PIONEERS WILL OPEN SEASON ON JANUARY 4, HERE

May Play Pre-Season Game
With Richmond Merchants
This Week-End

FRANK MARTINO IS BACK

High Point College, N. C., Added to Schedule This Year; Salem
on Card

Twenty candidates, ten of which were members of last year's state champion team, reported to Coach A. F. ("Nate") Rohrbough here last Monday as the Pioneer Varsity basketball squad opened its annual pre-season training grind. Practice, consisting mainly of fundamentals, were held during the first four sessions, and the squad held its first scrimmages on Friday and Saturday.

Co-captain Hillis Cottle heads the returning veterans, followed by Marra, Davies, Lilley, Romano, Wolfe, Musser, Noroski, Bennett and McMillen. From the reserve ranks of last year's Porterfield, Shreve, Furr, Mowrey, Maxwell and Mendenhall are available. K. Rhodes, Scott, F. Shreve and Wheel are a quartet of promising newcomers who have reported.

Frank Martino, Glenville's sterling guard who shares the co-captaincy with Cottle, did not report for the first workouts because of a fractured jaw received in the Waynesburg football game. However, he expects to be ready to go before the season opens. Two members of last year's crack team, Willard Archer, center, and Junior Rhodes, forward, are not in school this semester.

While the regular season does not open until January 4, with Potomac State's Cstamonts on the Pioneer card, Coach Rohrbough is dickering with the Richmond Merchants for a couple of pre-season engagements. If present plans materialize, the Pioneers will play them this week-end, either at Richmond or here.

The rest of the schedule, which includes home and home engagements with Salem, Fairmont, Wesleyan, Morris Harvey, West Liberty, Davis and Elkins, Concord, Alderson-Broadus, St. Vincent, Bethany and West Liberty, and single contests with High Point, Potomac State and Waynesburg, is as follows:

Jan. 4—Potomac State	Here
6—High Point College	Here
10—Salem College	Here
12—Fairmont	Away
15—Wesleyan	Here
19—Morris Harvey	Here
21—West Liberty	Here
24—Davis and Elkins	Away
27—Morris Harvey	Away
28—Concord	Away
31—Salem	Away
Feb. 1—Fairmont	Here
4—St. Vincent	Away
8—West Liberty	Away
8—Davis and Elkins	Away
14—Alderson-Broadus	Away
16—Concord	Here
18—Wesleyan	Away
22—Bethany	Away
23—Waynesburg	Away
26—Alderson-Broadus	Here
Mar. 2—Bethany	Here

All-State Honors

The College football team, undefeated in the West Virginia Conference, was awarded the state collegiate championship at the conference's fourth annual Winter meeting held at the Waldo Hotel, Friday. The conference also decided to again hold the collegiate basketball tournament in Clarksburg on February 28 and March 1.

To add the state honors for the second time in the past five years, the Glenville team won four conference games, including a 26-0 triumph over Fairmont State; a 31-13 conquest of West Liberty; a 19-12 victory over Morris Harvey; and a 21-6 win over Bethany. A fifth conference assignment, canceled with the Concord Mountain Lions, was cancelled because of inclement weather.

Renew Athletic Relations With Salem
Coach Rohrbough at Richwood Banquet
Pioneer Basketball Team on Spot

Included in the Pioneers' basketball schedule for 1938 are a pair of court engagements with Glenville's arch rivals, the Salem Tigers. Athletic relations with Salem were severed last year, but the respective basketball teams of the two institutions met in the final round of the state inter-collegiate basketball tournament last winter, and from all indications the bitter feeling seems to have vanished.

Coach A. F. Rohrbough, Nathan Callaghan, Russell Porterfield and Paul Collins were a quartet of Glenville representatives at the recent Richwood High School football banquet. Coached by Paul Jones, former Pioneer football and basketball star, the Lumberjacks enjoyed a successful season, and should have another strong team in 1938. Only four members of the squad will be lost by graduation.

Another high school team deserving credit is the Weston High School Minutemen, who breezed through a difficult eight-game schedule, winning seven contests and losing one. Howard Hutson is head coach, and Paul Fulk, ex-Pioneer football, basketball and baseball player, is the assisting mentor.

With a state championship to defend, the approaching basketball season places the Pioneers on the "spot" in state collegiate court society. Various sport scribbles throughout the state are placing particular emphasis on Glenville's wealth of veteran material, which gives the average reader an erroneous belief that the locals should take everything in a walk. True, there is an excellent nucleus around which to mold the '38 team, but as Coach Rohrbough repeatedly asserts, "A game is not won until you have proven that you are better than the opposing club."

The elimination of the center jump in basketball will aid the smaller clubs, but will speed up the game considerably. The antiquated slow-breaking offensive type of play seems to be doomed. Fundamentally, the game, invented by Frank Naismith, will remain unchanged, but the team that registers the most double-deckers will have to move the leather sphere with lightning-like precision.

Mill Throw-Outs: The Hinton High School football team, coached by John Worth, former Richwood High School mentor, was awarded the state scholastic football championship. . . . Clare Bee's famous Long Island University Blackbird basketball team will enter the Hinton College at Huntington this winter. . . . Russell Hardman, former Pioneer basketball star, and J. J. Massey were Gilmer County's only successful deer hunters. . . . It is rumored that Andrew Edwards, Pioneer triple-threat halfback, will be given a tryout with the Boston Bees this Spring. . . . The C-Club Misdred, scheduled for Thursday night, promises to be a "wow". . . . Girl athletes will receive volleyball C's soon. . . . Junior Rhodes may be in school next semester. . . . Don't say you weren't informed.

What would women do if they didn't have something to talk about? Talk about nothing?

Varied Interests Shown by Faculty At Annual Thanksgiving Vacation

By HAZEL HERSMAN

Members of the College faculty spent the Thanksgiving vacation in varied and interesting ways as the following comments indicate:

Pres. E. G. Rohrbough: "The most interesting thing I did was attend the Army and Navy football game at Philadelphia. There was a big crowd and plenty of rain."

Miss Bessie Boyd Bell: "I was at home all the time."

Carry Woolfer: "I warned the editors of the Mercury that I consider my vacation my personal business."

Miss Alma Arbuckle: "I was at home and busy every minute."

Miss Bertha E. Olsen: "I stayed in Glenville because home is too far away for a visit."

C. W. Post: "Mrs. Post and I visited in Weston on Saturday."

E. R. Grose: "I was at home at Sago and helped my boys all I could with the farm work."

Miss Goldie James: "I was called to Fairmont because of the illness of my mother. She is much improved at this time."

H. Y. Clark: "Mrs. Clark and I spent our vacation visiting my sister, Mrs. P. C. McCune of Clay County."

Dr. C. L. Underwood: "We spent Thanksgiving day with my wife's parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Berry, of Morgantown."

Dr. Charles P. Harper: "We visited my mother, Mrs. Emma Harper, of Franklin, Pendleton County. On Friday night we saw the show 'Submarine D-1' at Clarksburg. It is one of the best I've ever seen."

Hunter Whiting: "I spent my vacation at home."

Miss Ivy Lee Myers: "I was at home caring for my mother, who is ill."

John R. Wagner: "We were at home. Miss Addie Coker of Buckhannon, a teacher in Wesleyan College, visited us."

Miss Wills Brand: "I was in Clarksburg."

R. E. Freed: "I was in Glenville listening to football broadcasts."

Miss Kathleen Robertson: "I visited my parents at Glendora. Mother entertained two children from the Union Mission at Charleston. One was an eleven-year-old midge."

Dean H. Laban White: "I made a trip to Gassaway after my son who teaches there. Miss Olsen was a dinner guest of Dean and Mrs."

White Thanksgiving Day.

Miss Laura Ann Miles: "I spent a very pleasant vacation at my home in Huntington."

Dr. John C. Shreve: "I stayed at home and did nothing strange or unusual."

Linn B. Hickman: "We spent our vacation at home."

Miss Margaret Christie: "I saw the International Art Exhibit in Pittsburgh, where 2000 canvases from all parts of the world were on display."

A. F. Rohrbough: "I attended the Army-Navy football game in Philadelphia."

Mrs. Leni Boggs: "We visited my father, J. H. Rohrbough at Bellingham and also visited in Elkins."

Miss Grace Lorents, College dietitian, was in Glenville for the holidays and Mrs. Nora V. Roberts, preceptress at Kanawha Hall, spent the week-end in Charleston.
