GROSS RECEIPTS AMOUNT TO $115 SO FAR IN DRIVE

Dance Here Brings First Funds
In Infantile Paralysis
Campaign

NORMANTOWN REPORTS

Other Communities Plan Activities
For Saturday Night Dinner at Whiting House

Dean H. Laban White, chairman of the Glenville County "Fight Infantile Paralysis" campaign, last night announced that gross receipts of $115.10. This sum represents receipts from the dance Saturday night, advance sale of tickets for the Birthday Dinner, and from the combined Normantown-Sand Fork entertainment held at Normantown.

Tanner, Rosedale, Gilmer, Troy and Cedarville communities will hold their entertainments this week.

Glenville's major celebration this week will be the President's Birthday dinner at the Whiting House, Saturday night, Jan. 29. Raymond E. Freed, instructor in the College, is in charge of the program, and Atty. B. W. Craddock will be the principal speaker.

The New National Foundation will attack four fronts with receipts from the nation-wide President's Birthday celebrations this year.

First, part of the funds will go to scientific research in order to spur on, intensify and coordinate the work of investigators who are striving to stem the enemy at its point of invasion by finding a preventive, an immunization, a serum, and inoculation as they did with typhoid, diphtheria and scarlet fever, or to destroy the virus as they did with yellow fever and the mosquito.

Second, money will be available for first aid in case of an epidemic. Local health officers will receive immediate aid of preventives, immunizations, serums or inoculations made available by investigators.

Third, dollars subscribed in the campaign will go toward building up epidemic centers that will be equipped to administer proper care of persons afflicted.

Fourth, the New National Foundation will be authorized to make direct financial grants to orthopedic centers for a specific program within the community which each serves.

C. L. UNDERWOOD TALKS IN CHAPEL

Explains Setup of the U. S. Army; Also Speaks at High School Assembly

The doughboy is the backbone of the United States Army, said Dr. C. L. Underwood, instructor in chemistry and education, in an assembly address Wednesday. He used the subject, "The Organization of an Infantry Division of the Army." Thursday Dr. Underwood used the same subject in an address at the high school assembly and recently he spoke before the Rotary Club.

There are not enough commissioned officers to take charge of enlisted men, he said, after recognizing the fact that the West Point program has been expanded and the number attending Citizens Military Training Camps has been increased.

Starting with the smallest unit, the squad of eight men, he traced the make-up of the various units, concluding with the infantry division which includes 22,070 men. Going back to the importance of the doughboy, Dr. Underwood declared that airplanes can bomb a section of enemy territory but that section can never be taken until doughboys come along and actually occupy the ground.

Dr. Underwood concluded with an invitation to Glenville County boys to enroll for C. M. T. C. the coming summer. Only those between 17 and 23 years of age are eligible, and the country's quota is four.

The crowd, the largest ever assembled at a similar event here, and surpassing the attendance of any previous year by 300, represented twenty-five high schools of the central part of the state and more than sixty cities of the eastern United States.

The year's attendance is expected to exceed that of last year.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl K. McGinnis Visit Ponce de Leon's 'Fountain of Youth'

By ELIZABETH LEWIS

County Superintendent and Mrs. Carl K. McGinnis and Fred Garrett, brother of Mrs. McGinnis and a freshman in the College, returned recently from a two-weeks' motor trip to Florida where they visited friends and enjoyed a sight-seeing tour of the famous winter vacation centers.

In Plant City they visited Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Barker, former residents of Glenville County, and saw the "Singing Tower." Other highlights of their trip included a drive to St. Petersburg, where they went bathing in the Gulf; a trip to a 5000-acre orange and tangerine orchard at Lakeland; a drive to St. Augustine, oldest city in the United States, and a visit to the oldest schoolhouse located there. Also they went bathing at Daytona Beach on January 5, visited the Fountain of Youth, discovered by Ponce de Leon in 1513, and drank of the water "that brings back lost youth."

Returning by way of Greenview, N. C., the group visited Mr. Howard McGinnis, S. N. '06, registrar at East Carolina Teachers College. In Lexington, Va., they visited Mr. W. A. Revley, former principal of Sand Fork High School.

Mrs. McGinnis was enthusiastic about the trip and seemed proud of three bushels of oranges which were picked from two trees. She said she enjoyed most the bathing, basking in the warm southern sun, and eating oysters.

SENIORS APPROVE OF MIXING MARRIAGE AND A COLLEGE EDUCATION

By HAZEL HERSMAN

A casual survey among seniors on the campus reveals that fourteen per cent, or seven out of fifty of the fourth-year students, are married. Furthermore the survey reveals these comments by those who insist on more schooling after marriage:

"I am not planning to teach; I am in college to improve myself."

"I've an obligation to my family and myself; I want a career."

"I'm planning to teach and I thought it best that I get my degree."

"I had finished two years of college work when I married and I considered it a duty to go ahead with my schooling."

"I attend college so that my husband will have dinner ready when I get home."

SECOND SEMESTER ARTISTS' SERIES TO OPEN ON FEB. 2

Jitney Players of New York City Will Return for Two Performances

ROWLAND AGAIN IN CAST

Troupe Will Give "London Assurance," "Lady Audley's Secret," and "Diplomacy"

The Jitney Players of New York City will return to the College on Wednesday night, Feb. 2, at 8:15 o'clock, to present the first feature of the second semester Artists' Course series.

The players will present "London Assurance," a Victorian comedy of manners, as a curtain raiser for "Lady Audley's Secret." It was written by Dion Boucicault, who, though being born in England, came to this country at an early age and is considered the first American playwright. This is a special musical version in one act with music by Phyllis Flanagan and lyrics by Ethel Colt.

Theme of the Play
The theme of the play is the old plot of a young girl being married off to a man old enough to be her father, falling in love with the son of the man she is to marry, and all the complex situations that grow out of such a mixup when youth is being sacrificed to age in order to retrieve the family fortune.

"Lady Audley's Secret" is an old-fashioned melodrama of the type revived and made famous by the Jitney Players. It tells a tale of treachery, blackmail and murder with a vigor that lifted the boredom of the 19th century matinee audience. Based on a novel by Elizabeth Braddon, best selling writer of her day. The dramatic version of the book was written by Colin Hazelwood, famous for many a blood and thunder drama in the old days.

Will Present "Diplomacy"
In the evening the Players will present "Diplomacy," which is one of the most exciting and important dramas of the past two decades. The storm of diplomatic intrigue centering about the Mediterranean and Spain, which is here depicted, is very timely.

In "Diplomacy," the part of Henry Beauchere, the perfect English diplomat, is played by Douglas Rowland. Alice Keating Cheney, as a flighty Spanish refugee, romps through the part of the Marquise de Rio-Zarza. The part of Zicha, the epitome of all beautiful lady spies, who nearly wrecks the marriage of a young British diplomat, is played by Bettina Cerf. In the play are other fascinating characters who are caught in the web of diplomatic intrigue that is daily spun behind the scenes of European politics.

DIGESTED LEARNING

Much of the reading that is assigned in college is done hastily and the student either does not care to ponder what he reads, or does not have the time to do it. In many cases the latter is true. Only a small portion of what is contained on the printed page finds its way into the mind of the reader. He does not weigh what he reads either to reject it or to make it a part of his thinking.

When students read their textbooks they do not take time to think about what they read except to fix it in their minds until the next test. What is the use of so much studying, if so little of it is retained? Would it not be better to read less and learn it well?

Often the fact that a student has to skim over his work is due to his failure to use his time wisely. Teachers should not assign enough work to overburden the student, and on the other hand the student should arrange his time so as to get as much as possible out of his work.

A new semester will begin soon. It may be a time of feverish activity to get assignments done and of wishing that they were done, or it may be a time of profit and of real enjoyment as well. Many lower-classesmen, especially, are inclined to view their work with a certain amount of dread, and to look forward to the time when it will be over. Older students sometimes learn to enjoy their work as they go along and to live while they are in college. Whether the new semester will be a happy one or not depends upon the individual student, how he budgets his time and how well he adjusts his life to the demands made upon him.

Perhaps all of us could get more out of life if we went at things more calmly, planned our work wisely, and allowed time for quiet thinking and rumination.—May Beal.

"PIONEER WEEK" COMING UP

The Student Council outlined plans, in a recent meeting, for the College's first Pioneer Week. During this week seniors will go to the different high schools of this and neighboring counties in order to give high school seniors an insight into college life as it exists today. All activities in this enterprise will be supervised by a committee of three faculty members.

These visits will be made with the hope of inspiring more high school graduates to continue their education. In presenting the pictures of college life, the speakers will emphasize the point that college is not the place to go in order to have a good time, but, instead, is a place to enrich one's mind and enlarge one's experiences.

This venture will be beneficial to the college seniors who participate as well as to the high school students. It will give them first-hand experience which can be attained in no other way. It will also give them contacts which will be helpful in later life.

The project, if carried out as planned, is one of the most useful undertakings the Council has sponsored. Every one concerned will profit in some way.—Newton Cooper.

WORDS! THEIR USE AND MISUSE

Several articles have been written and published lately in our current magazines upon the subject of words—their use, misuse and abuse. College students and faculty members have read the articles, but they may not have pondered how important words are to us and to our civilization.

The great thing that separates man from the lower animals is language and the power of speech. Language has made thought and therefore progress possible. But even if it has brought many benefits, it also has carried with it a train of evils. When man learned to talk much, he proceeded to fall into one delusion after another and to get hold of all sorts of sinister and unreal ideas that had nothing behind them but this new magic of words.

Primitive men, having few words, did not have the terrible array of superstitions and of gloomy beliefs that came to their successors. The language development of these successors was their most important means of progress, but it was also the source of strange invented gods and sinister taboos. As men progressed, language became on the one hand more and more useful and on the other hand was spun out more remotely from the world of reality.

Even today, as several writers have informed us, words stand not only for things, but for all kinds of images and fancies, mysteries and dogmas. Man is always seen bringing an appalling succession of disasters upon himself through his fearful misuse of words, his intoxication with the unrealities of language. Would it be a fallacy to believe that when man learns to use words he will be fully civilized?—Mary Leone West.

The intelligence of the people is the security of the nation.—Daniel Webster.

People seldom improve when they have no other model but themselves to copy after.—Oliver Goldsmith.

Ideas go booming through the world louder than cannon. Thoughts are mightier than armies. Principles have achieved more victories than horsemen or chariots.—W. M. Paxton.

Campus . . . . .
Frantic Antics

The end of the semester brings new developments, and the spotlight falls on a bull session discussing college life. . . . The bulls conclude that college is a farce. . . . They say so-called higher education taught them habits of swearing, gambling and drinking. . . . Investigation, however, shows the above things exist among only a few. . . . Those who follow the "voices of a gentleman" do so continually. . . . FLASH! Wally calls Peggy his girl. . . . It doesn't seem so the way she divides her attention. . . . Cliff and Arlene swing it at the birthday ball. . . . As does Lardy and Gwendolyn. . . . Damon asks Wilma to the dance. . . . She turns him down at the last minute for Newton. . . . Dr. Harper says competition tends to eliminate profits, a lot of which is seen on the campus. . . . Riddle and Dye pair up. . . . Chapman escorts Vineyard. . . . Dean White defines horse sense as stable thinking. . . . OVERHEARD A discussion on the ideal woman . . . her face and form are pleasing to the eye. . . . She is the intellectual equal of her partner and her interests are his interests. . . . She is at his side through life, good, bad or indifferent, and will go anywhere with him. . . . Although close to him, she respects the sanctity of his solitude. . . . She has health and energy. . . . She commands fidelity through respect. . . . above all, she is an inspiration, of which the foregoing are prerequisites. . . . This is the woman back of every man's life. . . . ATTENTION! The chess school goes into nightly session at Kanawha Hall. . . . Dick Dyer presides and is considered a master of the technique. Josephine is his capable assistant. . . . Other members include Fleetfoot and Teeny, Hilis and Beth, Mac and Dye, Bickel and Ginny. . . . We reach the half way mark for this year. . . . Good-bye and good luck to those who leave after the finals. . . . To those who return, next semester, better success, or the same success, as the case may be. . . . Thanks to those who made contributions to this column and best wishes to my stooge.—THE INNOCENT ABROAD.

The Collegiate World . . . . .

A University of Pittsburgh scientist states that the human race is only in its infancy. He believes that a race of "supermen" is to follow the present one. . . . A University of California co-ed, recently voted one of the five best dressed girls on the campus, reveals that she spends only $240 a year for clothes. . . . If you go to Lewis Institute of Technology you can hire someone to be a member for you. One student has started a card index of students who complain they forget such details as their sweethearts' birthday, when they last had a haircut, etc. All that embarrassment is now eliminated. Instead of running around with their fingers tied up in strings they call their remembering service, which thumps a card and presto, you comes the dope.

A new beau every day is advocated for girls in their teens, by Dr. Walter B. Townsend, Butler University professor. . . . Grave-digging is the means a student of the University of Ottawa uses to keep himself in school. He is now rated a "six man" with the Grave-Diggers' Union. . . . The Manhattan Strut and the Shag are the most popular collegiate steps today. . . . For those preferring eccentric styles the Rhumba and the Parisian Tango are tops. . . . The Walts and the Fox Trot are still the favorites of those preferring conservative dancing. . . . Dancing, according to Thomas E. Parsons, widely known instructor, is basically an interpretation of the music being played.

Only three of the seven most famous presidents had a college education. They are: Theodore Roosevelt, Woodrow Wilson and the present executive. . . . The United States' Fifth Circuit Court of Appeals has held that the federal government has no right to collect the ten per cent admission tax on football games or any other athletic event at universities operated by a State.

Dr. Heil D. Bollinger of Chicago recently stated that there is about as much drinking in the student body of America as there is in the public in general. Students are more studious today than they were ten years ago, he also stated. . . . Students at Kansas State College dissatisfied with college life, have organized "grape sessions" at which they pan the faculty and air their grievances.

College Humor

It's greetings like this that make new students glad they came to college.

In the non-fiction group comes AN AMERICAN DOCTOR'S ODYSSEY by Victor Heister, THE RETURN OF RELIGION, and THE ARTS.

THURSDAY, FRIDAY, SATURDAY, JANUARY 27-28-29

Pictureland Theatre

Merry Maidens' Movie Moments
ON SCREEN SHOWINGS, CURRENT AND COMING

By L. Mason and E. Harrison

For those who wish to get a true picture of newspaper reporters, we recommend "Women Men Marry," tonight or tomorrow night at Pictureland Theatre. Director Michael Fessier, a former star reporter on Pacific Coast newspapers, makes the picture as direct and revealing as a news story. George Murphy finds that all "women men marry" are not faithful, but that Josephine Hutchinson, a co-reporter, is as straight as the stories she writes.

In "Texas Rangers," coming Thursday, Friday and Saturday, featuring Joan Parker, Jack Oakie and Fred MacMurray, Clyde Tingley, of New Mexico, is the first governor of any state to take a role in any picture. The picture is of historical interest and depicts early law and order in Texas, an adobe house 125 years old, and the oldest engine permitted to operate under the Interstate Commerce Commission. . . . The title role of "The Perfect Specimen," coming Monday and Tuesday, performed by Errol Flynn, who has been schooled in all the arts and sciences of all-round perfection by a bossy grandmother, but whose life is upset when he meets Joan Blondell and reacts like any perfectly normal, admirably co-ordinated human.

Do you know: That Josephine Hutchinson has amber eyes and red hair, a rare combination that occurs only once in every 10,000 persons. A bit of advice from Josephine—if you want to know whether that diamond you received recently is genuine or not, rub it in your hair. If that makes it sparkle, it is genuine; the artificial ones become lusterless. . . . Warner Oland is suffering from a nervous breakdown and his work has been suspended for awhile. . . . Joan Crawford and Spencer Tracy have been teamed for the first time in "Mannequin." The two stars had never met until they were co-factured in this picture. . . . The best picture of the past week, "The Life of Emile Zola." . . . Favorite couple at the movies last week, Ginnie and Bickel.

Oklahoma College for Women Maps New Plan For Educating Girls With Ability

Chickasha, Okla.—(ACP)—A new plan for education of gifted girls has been adopted by the Oklahoma College for Women. It was proved that students of exceptional ability can profit by a system, according to Dr. Howard Taylor, dean of the college.

The plan, in operation a year, has six points in the program of study. They are:

(a) The honor student will select her own course, subject to approval of the dean.

(b) She must pass comprehensive examinations, one group at the end of the sophomore year and another group at the end of her senior year.

(c) She must do some piece of creative work.

(d) She must pass in all courses selected to make a total of 128 semester hours.

(e) She must make 375 points.

(f) She is not required to attend class, but must give reason for absences and an accounting of the use of the time.

"The plan has proved stimulating to those participating and is continued not only to help those students enrolled, but as a basis for further study of the possibilities of the development of initiative or originality on the part of college students," Dr. Taylor states.

PIONEERS SWEEP CONFERENCE FIELD WITH WINS OVER MORRIS HARVEY, WEST LIBERTY, AND SENATORS OF DAVIS-ELKINS COLLEGE

Eagles Smothered Here, 74-47; Glenville Leads, 36-23, At the Half

LILLEY SCORES 21 POINTS

Hilltoppers Put Up Game Fight But Fall Before Locals By 54-27 Count

The strong Glenville Pioneers went on a pair of scoring sprees here last week to smother Morris Harvey, 74-47, Wednesday, and trounce West Liberty, 54-27, Friday. These victories enabled the Pioneers to increase their string of triumphs to nine straight, six of which are conference wins.

In the Morris Harvey tilt, the close-guarding Eagles proved troublesome in the first half and the Pioneers had difficulty running up a 36-23 advantage at the half. During the first period the count was knotted on three occasions, and midway in the canto, the Eagles took a temporary 19-17 lead. The visitors wilted in the second half, however, scoring twenty-four points, as the White Wave maintained its fast scoring pace.

Albert Lilley, Glenville's high-scoring center, led with 21 points. Robert Davies collected 15, and Frank Martino, although playing less than half of the game, counted 13. Starrett, sharpshooting guard, was outstanding for the losers with 15.

Against West Liberty on Friday the Pioneers submerged the Hilltoppers, 54-27, in a game which saw Glenville's seconds sweep the invaders off their feet with a wild scoring spurge in the final period. Glenville led at the half, 37-13.

Resuming the onslaught in the final chapter, the reserves amassed a 47-24 lead after 13 minutes had been played. Coach Rohrbough then inserted the first five who gave an unimpressive performance until the final whistle, scoring seven points while the visitors counted three.

John Marra, substitute forward, led the scoring with nine points. Whetsell, center recruit, was second with eight, and Scott, another reserve, placed third with six. Shadle, diminutive Hilltop center, led all scorers with ten points, and paired off with Kuznicki, forward, to shine in West Liberty's attack.

Pioneers to Go South
Second Team Plays Well
Lindell's Team Going Strong

Following last night's engagement with Bud Shelton's Senators of Davis and Elkins College, Glenville's basketball team will invade the southern part of the state this weekend to play a return game with Morris Harvey on Thursday at Charleston, and then move into Mercer County Friday night to match strides with the Concord Mountain Lions.

The Pioneers' past performances on foreign courts will bear out the fact that Glenville's court forces are equally as strong on opponents' floors as they are in their own ballcourt, but still there are those who contend that the success of the present team is due to the fact that most of the games this season have been played at home. Both Morris Harvey and Concord will be gunning for the Pioneers, but this department will wager that the southerners will come out on the short end.

Throughout the state, sports writers seem to be divided on the question as to who has the best collegiate basketball team. Some assert that Cam Henderson's Marshall College quintet is the best, and others contend that our own Pioneers deserve that distinction. As Dick Hudson of the Charleston Daily Mail has proven, Glenville is the best on paper, but ball games are not won on paper. We are not saying that Glenville is superior to Marshall, but will say that if the two teams were to meet, the Herd would be in for a busy evening.

THAT "CHANT" SPELLS "EXPERT"

Lee Riggs, auctioneer, knows tobacco... he explains why experts prefer Luckies 2 to 1

"THIS SEASON," says Mr. Riggs, "I've sold tobacco in Georgia, South Carolina, North Carolina, and Tennessee. More than 7,500,000 pounds, I figure, amounting to about $2,000,000 in money.
"Time after time I've seen Lucky Strike get the prettiest tobacco in the auction. That's one reason I've smoked Luckies ever since I've been an auctioneer.
"Another reason I and so many other tobacco auctioneers prefer Luckies is because we have to watch out for our throats. (Luckies are extra-easy on the throat because the "Toasting" process takes out certain irritants found in even the finest tobacco.)

Mr. Riggs goes on to say that Luckies are the top cigarette with people who know tobacco. And he is talking facts.
Sworn records show that, among independent tobacco experts, Luckies have twice as many—yes, twice as many exclusive smokers as have all other cigarettes put together.

Ninety-Seven Persons Attend Birthday Ball

By JOHN ROGERS

Approximately 100 persons attended the President's Birthday Ball from 8:30 to 12 in the College gymnasium Saturday night. This was the first of two celebrations in Glenville, which will head the drive in Gilmer County to raise funds for the "Fight Infantile Paralysis" campaign.

H. Laban White, chairman of Gilmer County for the celebration of the President's birthday, announces the proceeds from the events in the County will go to the National Foundation for the Prevention of Infantile Paralysis.

Frank M. Beall, Jr., and his eight-piece band furnished the music. Other members included Fred and Madison Whiting, Jr., Earl Wolfe, Clark Wolfe, Russell McQuinn, Newsom McFerrin, Dick Beall and Frank Wolfe.

The ball was under the direction of Miss Bessie Boyd Bell, chairman of the committee on arrangements. There were tables for bridge, monopoly and dominoes for those who did not dance. J. Wilbur Beall sold tickets at the box office, while Dr. John C. Shreve was in charge of the gate.

ALICE KEATING CHENEY IS PIONEER IN JITNEY PLAYERS

Glenville will have an opportunity to see one of the founders of the Jitney Players here Wednesday, Feb. 2, when that company of actors and actresses will present a matinee and evening performance in the College auditorium.

That person is Alice Keating Cheney, who, with her husband, Bushnell Cheney, founded the company fifteen years ago. They gathered together a group of young pioneers and set forth to make what has since become theatrical history, as the Jitney Players became the first troupe of strolling players to achieve widespread distinction.

Alice Keating Cheney has played the role of Ophelia, opposite John Barrymore, in Shakespeare's "Hamlet," and has played in support of both Mr. Barrymore and his brother, Lionel in "Richard III" and "Macbeth" respectively.

The Jitney Players can, and do, go everywhere, whether there is a theater or not,—wherever the audience can be found. It is the purpose of the Jitney Players to keep alive the great plays of the past as well as those of the present day and to bring them to audiences who have a penchant for the theater.

A TRAIT MUCH TO BE DESIRED is that exemplified the past week by a student in Glenville State Teachers College. Last week Ethel Brown lost thirty dollars in cash. The same day Montia Beal, another student, found the money, brought it to the College Office and asked that it be returned to the owner—and it was, promptly.
