PIONEERS DEFEAT SENATORS HERE BY 59-45 MARGIN

Large Crowd Sees Glenville Win The Seventeenth Straight Victory

LILLEY HIGH SCORER

D-E Takes Early Lead But Is Unable to Hold It Long; Cottle, Martino Star

Before a packed house of frenzied and howling spectators, the rampaging Pioneer basket-makers of Glenville State College won their seventeenth straight victory of the season here last Tuesday, subduing a quibbling Davis-Elkins College quietest, 59-45. This triumph, the thirteenth conference win for the Pioneers, was the second victory of the season over the Scarlet Hurricane.

Students and townspeople turned out en masse to watch the blue and white court aggregation reduce the mighty Scarlet Hurricane to a mild sepher in a game that was thrilling and spectacular from the opening tip-off to the final whistle. Both squads presented fast-breaking off-cue attacks, and displayed court techniques that have not been seen here for a long time.

Pioneers Lead Throughout At the outset of the game, Allman, D-E forward, caged a foul, and Winnie, Senator guard, followed quickly with a goal to give the visitors a 3-point lead, which held for three minutes. Martino soon tied the count with a double-decker and a charity toss, and moments later, co-captain Hillis Cottle registered from the field to give Glenville a 2-point margin, a lead never relinquished. The Pioneers led at the half, 29-17.

In the second period the refreshed Senators started popping away at the Pioneers' goal, and registered two buckets in rapid succession to cut Glenville's margin to 29-21. This rally was short-lived, however, and it was not long until the locals, aided by Lilley's spectacular shooting, had amassed an eighteen-point advantage, which they held for almost all age, which they held for almost all age, which they held for almost all age.

COLLEGE STUDENTS HAVE UPS AND DOWNS, SURVEY AT McALESTER REVEALS

ST. PAUL, MINN., Feb. 15—(ACP)—Even college students have their ups and downs—psychologically speaking.

Two students of McAlester College, charting from day to day the emotional highs and lows of the average undergraduate, found their charts looked like a contour drawing of the Alps or Himalayas.

Here are the characteristics which stood out when the survey was completed:

Students' emotions run in cycles, with a low generally about middle of each month.

Monday frequently is a "gloomy" day, but from Wednesday through Sunday most students are "on top of the world."

Academic activities are the most upsetting, for vacations and examinations caused the greatest fluctuations.

Factors which send student's spirits soaring are dates, health, the weather, grades and letters from home. Periods of depression are unaccountable and are often attributed to "nothing to do" and a "feeling that I wasn't wanted around."

Most Pleasant

Miss Geneva Spiker, of Oxford, a senior in the College, was recently voted the most pleasing personality in the class of '38. She is one of the group of seniors whose pictures will appear in this year's issue of the American College Yearbook.

DEBATING TEAMS TO OPEN SEASON

Will Meet Waynesburg Here This Afternoon And Again Tonight

Members of the College debating team will open their inter-collegiate season this afternoon at 4 o'clock in the auditorium, where they will oppose Waynesburg College.

The subject for the debate this year is: Resolved, That the National Labor Relations Board should be empowered to enforce arbitration in all industrial disputes.

Named to represent the College negative this afternoon are Volney Rexroad, Willis Tatterton and Frederick Bell. Miss Helen Heister and Denzel Garrett will speak for the affirmative in a second debate at 8 p. m. Both Garrett and Rexroad were members of the debating team last year.

Miss Kathleen Robertson is coach of the College team and Dr. Arthur Mintier is in charge of the Waynesburg group.

STUDENTS VOTE FOR REPEAL

Council Relieved of Authority in Regulating Misconduct

By popular vote, the student body in assembly Wednesday endorsed repeal of the by-laws of student government which gave the Council authority to regulate student misconduct, especially in the matter of the four major phases as prescribed the past year. The vote was 95 for repeal and 65 against.

On the counting board were Denzel Garrett, president of the student body; Raymond E. Freed, faculty adviser; Clifton Huffman, Ralph Cox, Geraldine Cunningham and Thelma Dorsey.

EXHIBITS CONTRIBUTED

Mr. John R. Wagner Announces Six New Displays Have Been Authorized

Six new exhibits which will go on display here Chemistry Day, April 9, have been received by John R. Wagner, director, it was learned yesterday.

The A. M. Byers Company of Pittsburgh has contributed forty-five books on the subject of "Wrought Iron." The Kelcey Alex and Tool Works of Charleston has sent one set of axe forgings. The State of North Carolina has sent a mineral exhibit and the E. I. duPont Company has contributed twenty-one bottles of dye stuffs and five samples of dyed piece-goods. Also the company, which has headquarters in Wilmington, Del., may supply a lecturer. The Hoskins Manufacturing Company of Detroit, Mich., will furnish a resistance wire exhibit.

Chemistry Day Invitation Accepted

Word has been received from Col. Charles C. Tallman, superintendent of West Virginia State Police, that he has accepted an invitation to prepare a display for Chemistry Day, April 9, and also have a member of the Criminal Identification Bureau to speak here on "The Relation of Chemistry to Crime Detection."

Frankie Woods spent the week-end in Cowen.

COLLEGE SCORES TRIUMPH IN WBLK FEATURE, FRIDAY

Pres. Rohrbough Addresses Radio Audience on Character of Institution

DEAN WHITE ANNOUNCES

Eleanor C. White Plays Violin Solos; Choral Class Sings Three Numbers

(By John W. Mowrey, Jr.)
Glenville State Teachers College presented the twelfth in a series of radio broadcasts sponsored by West Virginia state colleges the past Friday afternoon at 3 o'clock over Station WBLK in Clarksburg.

Dean H. Laban White announced the half-hour program, which featured three choral numbers by the College chorus, a short address by Dr. E. C. Rohrbough, president of the College, violin solos by Eleanor C. White and a playlet, "The Return of Buck Gavin."

Miss Bertha Olsen, instructor in music, directed the chorus which sang "Commit Thy Ways" by Bach, "Ave Verum" by Mozart, and "Where'er You Walk" by Handel. "Rondino" by Beethoven and "La Media Noche" by Aviles, were the violin solos played by Miss White, who is a daughter of Dean and Mrs. H. L. White and is a graduate of the school of music at West Virginia University.

President Rohrbough's address dealt with the purpose and character of the College and required approximately five minutes for delivery. The full text of his speech will be found elsewhere in this paper.

The playlet was presented by Frederick Bell in the role of "Buck Gavin," Garnet Reed as "Mary" his sister, and Denver Losh, the "Sheriff." Miss Kathleen Robertson, instructor in speech, directed the play. Members of the chorus were: Marguerite Moss, Barbara Hauman, Gwendolyn Beall, Geraldine McClain and Alda Enlow, sopranos; Marjorie Barnett, Eugenia Adams and Agnes Wright, altos; Brooks Sheppard, Volney Rexroad and Paul Collins, tenors; and Andrew Edwards, Harold Noroski and John W. Mowrey, Jr., basses.

SPEECH FESTIVAL SUBJECTS LISTED

Miss Pickens Says Debate Topic Will Be Unicameral System of Legislation

The nineteenth West Virginia Inter-Scholastic Public Speaking Contest to be held in the College auditorium, March 19, will be divided into four parts—debate, extemporaneous speaking, oration and poetry interpretation—announces Miss Pearl Pickens, chairman.

The subject for debate is, "Resolved: That the several states should adopt a unicameral system of legislation." Extemporaneous speakers will discuss "The Constitution of the United States." Orations are to be chosen by the persons delivering them and may be original or selected, as usual. The poems to be read in the Oral Interpretation of Poetry are: "Barter," by Sara Teasdale; "A Farmer Remembers Lincoln," by Witter Bynner; and Psalm 121.

The last date for entering this contest is March 12, states Miss Pickens.

The respective winners of the eleven districts in which speech festivals are to be held will compete in the annual State contest which will be held at Morgantown, April 9.

Students See Barna's Collegians

Among those who went to Clarksburg Sunday to see the game between the New York Renaissance and Barna's Collegians were Robert Mason, William Whitsell, Frank Martino, Paul Collins, Clifton Huffman, and Ernie Bickel.

Miss Mabel Wolfe a student in the College, and Miss Juanita Bell, teacher in the Glenville graded school, spent the past week-end in Huntington as the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Cam Henderson and Mrs. W. G. Wolfe. While there, they also attended the Ohio Wesleyan-Marshall College basketball game, and visited the Rev. and Mrs. J. F. Baxter, former residents of Glenville.

ITINERARY MADE THURSDAY NIGHT

Pioneer Week Speakers Map Tours for First Good-Will Program

The faculty committee to advise on Pioneer Week met Thursday evening on Room 101 and outlined plans for the College's first good will tour and speaking program.

According to present arrangements, two student speakers, accompanied by a faculty adviser, will visit each section of the state, and will take from two to three days to cover the territory assigned.

Denzel Garrett and Hillis Cottle will visit high schools in southern West Virginia, John W. Mowrey, Jr. and John Barnett will tour the northern section of the state, and Lee Summers and Vorley Rexroad will tour the eastern area.

The program will be the first of its kind for the College. Faculty advisers are Dean H. Laban White, Carey Woofner and R. E. Freed.

STUDENT EATS FIRE TO ENTERTAIN MEMBERS OF CHEMISTRY CLUB

Not content to talk fire, he up and ate it. Willis Tatterton. When? At the Chemistry Club meeting the past Tuesday evening.

But it was just in fun and there was no damage. Just a trick. Other program features included demonstration lectures on "Cold Fire" and "Fire in Water" and a quiz on "The Elements". Speakers were Frederick Bell, Wilma Bransford and Wynema Smith respectively.

FINDS COPY OF OLD NEWSPAPER

Mrs. Fred Lewis Locates Issue of Maryland Journal and Baltimore Advertiser

Mrs. Fred Lewis, mother of Elizabeth Lewis, a junior in the College, recently located a copy of The Maryland Journal and Baltimore Advertiser, a newspaper more than 150 years old.

The paper, a first issue, was published by William Goddard, a leading colonial journalist in Baltimore, in 1773, and it contains both foreign and domestic news. The paper consists of four three-column pages and probably was printed on a hand press. It carries no headlines but does show datelines.

Advertisements cover much of the space and are written in composition style. One advertisement was written by Benjamin Franklin, who tells how George Washington, "having obtained patents for upwards of 20,000 acres of land on the Ohio and Great Kanawha Rivers," was going to release sections of it on moderate terms. The advertisement takes about three-fourths of a column.

Other items of interest include an advertisement for a Negro girl, marriage announcements, foreign news, and concerning East India affairs, and Poetical Chronology of the kings and queens of England dating from James I to George III.

Barbara Ann Kingsbury Born Jan. 31

Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Kingsbury, of Wheeling, are the parents of a daughter, Barbara Ann, born January 31, in a Wheeling hospital. The mother is the former Miss Treasie Bodkin, S. N. 32, of Upshur county. The father is a supervisor in the Wheeling schools.

Miss Brand Entertains Auxiliary

Miss Willa Brand will entertain the Presbyterian Auxiliary Thursday night at Verona Maple Hall. A collection for foreign missions will be taken, and Miss Virginia Hall will be in charge of the program.

Final Rites for Mr. Jake Taylor

Funeral services were held Saturday, Feb. 12, at Otterbein Cemetery for Mr. Jake Taylor, great-uncle of Elizabeth Fryatt, Susan Summers and Jack Keith, students in the College.

The assembly program of the past week was devoted to a rehearsal of the radio program given by the College over station WBLK in Clarksburg. Miss Bertha E. Olsen, of the music department, Miss Kathleen Robertson, of the speech department, and Dean H. Laban White were in charge.

SIXTY-EIGHT STUDENTS ON HONOR ROLL FOR FIRST SEMESTER; ARTHUR BUTCHER MAKES STRAIGHT A AVERAGE

Miss Mary Leone West, above, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. N. West of South Glenville, heads the senior class honor roll for the first semester with an average of 2.82. In addition to this honor, Miss West recently was chosen the second most versatile member of the class of '38.

EIGHTY STUDENTS BEGIN TEACHING

Twenty Sign Up for Work in Secondary Education Department

Eighty students have started their directed teaching for the second semester. The elementary department has sixteen enrolled in Education 218, forty in Education 219 and four in Education 444, advanced directed teaching. Twenty students are enrolled in 442, secondary directed teaching.

Miss Ivy Lee Myers, and Mr. H. Y. Clark, of the education department, are in charge of elementary studies. Classes in reading, writing, spelling, English, art, history, geography, health, science, arithmetic and West Virginia Club are being taught by these students.

Dr. J. C. Shreve, head of the education department, and Dr. C. L. Underwood, professor of chemistry and education, supervise the secondary work in classes of English, algebra, mathematics, science, geography, world history, American history, geometry, biology, chemistry and sociology.

HIGH RANKING STUDENTS TO HAVE MORE CHILDREN THAN LOW RANKING ONES

NEY YORY, N. Y., Feb. 15—(ACP)—Men who stand high in college studies have more children than those of low standing, but even so, college men are a dying race from the point of view of having enough children to reproduce their kind, according to a Brown University report.

In a group studied at Brown, including all grades of scholarship, it was found that less than 40 per cent can be "expected to be fully represented in the next generation."

The report, made by Raymond E. Willoughby, seeks to discover whether there is a "differential" in fertility of high-ranking and low-ranking college men. It is too early to be sure, according to Willoughby, because the data available goes only to the end of the World War.

Frank Beall's Band Attracts 60 to Party

Under red hearts and white streamers approximately sixty persons danced to the music of Frank Beall's swing band during the Valentine Party in the College gymnasium, Friday night from 8 to 11 o'clock.

The social committee sponsored the party, which was chaperoned by Miss Alma Arbuckle and Mr. H. Y. Clark.

Will Elect Officers Tonight

The Current Events Club will meet tonight at 7 o'clock in the College Lounge to elect new officers for the second semester, announced John Rogers, president. The program will consist of a review of "Bread and Wine," Silone, by John Rogers and a talk on the "Present Communist Position in America," by Dale Snider.

Ernestine Harrison was in Fenwick over the week-end.

WEST HIGH FOR SENIORS

Roll Made Up By Classes This Year In Order to Show Respective Ratings

J. Arthur Butcher of Gassaway, a junior in the College, heads the honor roll for the first semester with a straight A average or forty-eight hour points for sixteen hours of work carried. He was the only student in the College to make the straight A, or 3. average.

The roll this class was made up according to times in order to show ratings of students in their respective groups. On the roll are nineteen freshmen, nineteen sophomores, thirteen juniors and seventeen seniors, a total of sixty-eight, which is thirteen less than the number listed for the corresponding semester last year.

Highest rating students in their respective classes were: Freshmen, Olive Myers of Glenville; sophomores, Woodrow Shown of Spencer; juniors, J. Arthur Butcher of Gassaway; seniors, Mary Leone West of Glenville. Shown of the sophomore class has an average of 2.88 for second highest honors among all students and Miss Monta Beal of Glenville, a junior, was third highest with 2.78. Miss Myers headed the freshman group with 2.75 and Miss West topped the seniors with 2.62.

In addition to having the highest honor student, the juniors also attained the best general average according to number of students represented. The class average on the honor roll was 2.54. The freshmen were second with 2.32. The seniors averaged 2.27, and the sophomores 2.22.

Only students who carried fourteen or more hours are listed and only those having an average of B or above are shown.

Of the five highest among all those on the honor roll, the juniors placed four and the sophomores one. High honors, 2.50 and above, go to five freshmen, two sophomores, seven juniors and five seniors.

The honor roll by classes will be found elsewhere in this paper.

John R. Wagner Lectures at Troy

John R. Wagner, instructor in physics and mathematics in the College, gave a demonstration lecture in chemistry, Wednesday, Feb. 9, in Troy High School assembly. Mr. Wagner and Frederick Bell, a student in the College, accompanied Mr. Wagner to Troy.

Miss Bell Visits in Huntington

Miss Bessie Boyd Bell, instructor in social science in the College, spent the week-end in Huntington, where she was the guest of her sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Cam Henderson. While there she also attended the Marshall-Ohio Wesleyan basketball game. Miss Bell was accompanied to Huntington by Earl Wolfe and Ralph Mendenhall, students.

Mrs. W. L. Cain, mother of Edna Cain, student in the College, is convalescing at her home in South Glenville following an attack of pneumonia.

Campus Weather

Dr. Miles expressed surprise at last week's "s v m e r" weather and this week ventures the prediction that skies will be threatening and a cold wave will sweep over Glenville, beginning the latter part of the week. Day-by-day forecasts:

Tomorrow, changeable; Thursday, snow or rain; Friday, snow or rain; Saturday, cold; Sunday, cold; Monday, dull; Tuesday, windy. Tomorrow the sun rises at 6:51 and sets at 5:38.

MEN OR MICE?

College students indifferently voted away their privilege of self-government the past Wednesday when they returned to the administration the regulation of student conduct on the campus. This had formerly been a duty of the Student Council.

It is deplorable that a group of people educating themselves to be the leaders of the nation should permit stealing, drunkenness and cheating to flourish unchecked in their midst. Yet indifference and lack of cooperation have so hopelessly tied the hands of students in authority that present conditions require more drastic suppression of conduct than they can achieve. Public opinion is an ideal weapon for eradicating unfavorable social tendencies, but this fact evidently means little to the students. They do not stop to consider that their lethargy in regard to this matter injures the reputation and influence of the school. They also place themselves in the position of children incapable of directing their own actions.

Conditions that cause a good student to remark, "I'll be glad when I can leave here" should cause us to overcome our lack of interest and to aid in stamping out conditions that necessitate the relinquishing of duties that belong to the students — a people in a democratic institution.

SELLING OUR COLLEGE

Salesmen! Yes, the world is full of them. We meet them every day as they travel over the nation to sell every conceivable product. When the title "salesman" is mentioned we see, however, only the person with a brief case under his arm; we forget that there are other types of salesmen.

For instance, this year the College will sponsor a selling campaign which is new in many respects. During "Pioneer Week" six seniors will visit high schools in West Virginia and acquaint students with the opportunities for higher education offered in Glenville State Teachers College. These young men will become salesmen in a sense.

But before any one can sell he must have something to offer. In the case of "Pioneer Week" that something will be the College.

Seniors, "Pioneers," you have a grand opportunity before you.—Mary Leone West.

TEACHERS—LOOK AT YOURSELVES

The teacher, whom I shall remember longest, does not remain in my memory because he was a scholar or a good teacher, although he was both. He remains there because of what he was within himself.

To know him was to realize that noble and elevating ideals had motivated his life and had their share in moulding him into the man I knew him to be. To see him in company with other people was to know that he was a prince among men. To be in his classes was to do the most consistent work that could be done. To have him for a friend was to live worthy of that friendship.

I was a better student and a better young man for having known him.

We, who are prospective teachers, would do well to turn a mirror upon ourselves and determine, before we apply for any position, just how much we have to offer of value that is of ourselves.—Lila Susan Wright.

SOCIETY SHUNS THE GRIPER

A college education does not, apparently, erase that age-old and very human characteristic a great many people exercise in venting personal opinions and prejudices to their already weary fellowmen—that characteristic popularly known as griping. On the contrary, there appears to be attached to it an art which can be perfected only by constant practice under ideal academic conditions.

In the elementary schools, griping is heard of; in high schools it is sometimes encountered; in college—well, it is obviously an off-the-record course. Few students, if any, seem to escape the twining tentacles of this monster. In its early stages it debases the victim into believing he has personal opinions which he thinks are worthy of consideration. In its final stage it clasps the unfortunate victim to its breast and becomes a veritable dictator of his every expression.

Among college students the subjects which the griper selects are teachers, subjects, lesson assignments, school entertainments, term papers, reference reading, food, semester grades, classmates and weather conditions. Sensing the futility of trying to eliminate griping, dissatisfied students in Kansas State College have organized "gripe sessions" at which time they may "pan the faculty and air their grievances."

The idea, we believe, is not bad. At least it is a starting point in confining the practice to limited quarters. However, we would suggest that all grippers be required to do a particular amount of griping at each session. Otherwise, heavy penalties would be inflicted.

No one could sue the society of a chronic griper. He "winds" his way alone.—Jarrett G. Jones.

Full Text of Radio Address

Over Station WBLK
By Pres. E. G. Rohrbough

To the 2000 graduates and to former students and friends of Glenville State Teachers College who may be listening in, good afternoon.

I bring you greetings and good wishes from the faculty and students of your alma mater.

It had been my intention to put on a Bergen-McCarthy act this afternoon with a member of the faculty in the role of Charlie. But I have been unable to get any member of the faculty to go through with it, because a fascinating beauty from Hollywood cannot be induced to appear on the same program.

I am speaking today, not to graduates for they are already familiar with the College, but to those who have never been enrolled as students at Glenville.

Founded in 1872 As A Normal
Founder in 1872 as a State Normal School, Glenville State Teachers College was elevated to the rank of a degree granting state teachers college in 1930. It is now a member of the American Association of Teachers Colleges and is approved by the West Virginia committee of the North Central Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools. Its graduates are eligible to teach in all elementary and first class high schools in West Virginia. Now, as in the past, all the energies and efforts of the College are devoted to the preparation and training of teachers.

New Dormitory Completed Last Year
The physical plant has kept reasonable pace with the professional growth of the College. It now comprises eight buildings overlooking the town of Glenville, the county seat of Gilmer County. The newest of these buildings is a dormitory completed last year from Federal funds. It provides lodging for 130 students and has three faculty apartments. It also has a large, handsomely furnished social room with an adjoining kitchenette for use of the student body.

In addition there is an athletic field and a dairy and vegetable farm of 122 acres. This farm plays an important part in keeping living expenses of students low at the institution.

Graduates Unusually Successful

Whether Glenville State Teachers College has been fortunate in attracting to it the superior type of student or whether the training given there is responsible, it is a noticeable fact that its graduates are unusually successful in securing employment as teachers. Since it became a four year college in 1930, degrees have been conferred upon about three hundred young people. Practically all who desired teaching positions have been placed. From the class of 1937, numbering 57 members, 54 are employed. One of the three unemployed is married and the other half of the firm is teaching.

All colleges have certain standards and traditions to which they adhere as policies. One of these which Glenville State Teachers College holds is that the opportunity for education should be kept within the reach of all the youth of the State. It has believed that circumstances should not make it financially impossible for any student to secure a college education.

Living Expenses Reasonable Here
With this belief in mind Glenville State Teachers College has always tried to keep expenses as low as possible without sacrificing standards of work. It has been a matter of pride that it was possible to say to a prospective student "you need not forego an education at Glenville because of high expense". Now, as in the past, it is true that living expenses are lower at Glenville than at almost any other college in the State. Tuition is $30.00 a semester and meals and lodging are provided at $4.50 and $5.00 a week. Few capable students find it necessary to leave because of financial reasons.

While making no effort to emphasize athletics unduly, teams representing the College are as successful in intercollegiate competition as a small institution should expect. The College believes that sports are a necessary part of college life but that they should not be a predominating influence.

Lyceum Course Is Outstanding

The College for many years has sponsored lyceum courses and in recent years has had one of the best offered by any West Virginia institution. Among those who have appeared on its programs have been Lowell Thomas, Reginald Werrenrath, Cornelia Otis Skinner, Amelia Earhart, the Don Cossacks, Tony Sarg, and many others of like rank.

In conclusion I wish to extend an invitation to high school graduates, who may be interested in securing a college education, to investigate the advantages offered at the College on the Little Kanawha.

Morris-Harvey Debate Is Postponed

The debate with Morris-Harvey College which was scheduled here for Thursday, Feb. 17, has been postponed indefinitely, announces Miss Kathleen Robertson.

MANNERS OF THE MOMENT

No one ever breaks his arm by tipping his hat to a woman, but he who is in too much of a hurry may stamp his toe and break a leg.

College students, as a rule, do not carry brief cases like the one below, but they often do go chasing over the campus and through the halls with nothing in mind except to bump into other students and cause undue commotion. And it seems that those who hurry most are the ones who don't really have any reason for hurrying. Anyhow, the moral is: Settle down and find out what it is all about, then try to be courteous and amiable. It pays.—E. H.

The Collegiate World . . .

Seventy-five per cent of the males prefer brunettes, according to a poll taken in one of the leading universities . . . A few criticisms of women teachers: They let personal things creep into their work; they get angry over errors; are jealous; are efficiency slaves, find fault and pay too much attention to details.

Man is the merriest of all creation; all above or below him are serious . . . The six ages of women are: Safety pins, hair pins, fraternity pins, diamond pins, clothes pins and rolling pins.

It was intermission at the dance and everybody came in to take a rest.

Marvin Cox, Associated Collegiate Press correspondent, reports that the college graduate is a serious unemployment problem in Washington, D. C. ON SCREEN SHOWINGS, CURRENT AND COMING

By L. Mason and E. Harrison

Coming to the local screen: tonight, and tomorrow night, "The Missing Witness" and "The Fighting Texan" with Ken Maynard. Coming Thursday, Friday, and Saturday: "Double Wedding" with William Powell and Myrna Loy. Sunday and Monday: "Blonde Trouble" and "She Loved A Fireman."

A treat is in store for moviegoers who see "Double Wedding," for Powell and Loy, the perfect "Mr. and Mrs." of the screen make their seventh picture together—this one a great comedy . . . A fool and his money soon part is the theme of "Blonde Trouble," featuring Johnny Downs and Eleanor Whitney. Paulette Goddard, William Powell to be Scarlett in "Gone With the Wind," is in private life the wife of Charlie Chaplin . . . Sonja Heine's next picture will be "They Met in College" . . . Jimmie Durante is the only supporting player to date . . . Walt Disney's new comedy, "Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs," simply steps from pen and ink; there isn't a life thing in the picture . . . Mae West wrote "Every Day's a Holiday" for herself . . . Joan Crawford has a secret longing to make the stage, but she can't find the right script for Broadway . . . Sophie Tucker, last of "the red hot names," predicts Judy Garland will be the next one . . . Nelson Eddy finds he can tie up song titles with his screen favorites . . . For instance, he suggests "Dancing Lady" for Eleanor Powell, "Sophisticated Lady" for Joan Crawford, "With A Song in My Heart" for Jeanette MacDonald, "Sweet and Lovely" for Janet Gaynor, "Beautiful Lady" for Myrna Loy, "Some of These Days" for Sophia Tucker, and "Turn on the Heat" for Lupe Valez . . . Why should Mr. Bing Crosby be proud of the Ph. D. from Gonzaga University when Charlie McCarthy came around for a special degree at Northwestern.

We nominate as our favorite picture of the past week, "Heidi"; for our favorite couple at the theater, Harry and Grace . . . We'll see you at the "Double Wedding."

GIRLS ORGANIZE FOR TOURNAMENT

To Play Games Each Thursday Night; Miss McClung Is Sports Leader

Independent teams in the girls' Round Robin basketball tournament were organized, Thursday night, in the College gymnasium and plans were made for games to be played every Thursday night at 8 o'clock.

Miss Dorothy McClung, sports leader, announces that all teams who will take part in the tournament must submit answers to the following questionnaire:

1. Name of captain; 2. name of players; 3. can your team play Wednesday afternoon at 3 o'clock; 4. when can your team practice? Also, Miss McClung, says that any girl who wishes to join a team may do so by handing her name in before February 15.
- The companion team will be chosen by the Women's Athletic Association and each basketball team may have from eight to twelve players. The basketball council will meet today to schedule games for the tournament.

SUMMERS AND BICKEL LEAD

Intramural League Underway; Mowrey Is High Scorer With 16

Summers defeated Gibson, 24 to 20, and Bohensky won over Mace, 41 to 16, to start the intramural basketball league for the second semester. Two other games were played last week in which Karnes defeated Collins, 35 to 29, and Bickel vanquished Keister, 35 to 13. Karnes' team was forced to play two overtime periods to win the game.

Teams 1 and 3, 2 and 4, 5 and 7, and 6 and 8 will play this week.

to cut down the margin of victory.

Big Albert ("Abe") Lilley, Glenville's top-notch scoring ace, was the big gun in the attack, and led all scorers with 22 points. Marovich, stellar D-E guard, placed next with 16 points. Cottle, Pioneer forward, was third, collecting five buckets and three fouls for thirteen points. Davies, Romano and Martino turned in outstanding floor games for the Pioneers as did Green, Allman, Winne and Shelton for the losers.

Ralph Mendenhall, a junior in the College, is directing the intramural basketball league which is now going in full swing. Summers' and Bickel's teams head the list. Glenn ("Tink") Bennett, Summers' ace forward, sank one from the center of the floor Monday night to nose out Gibson's team, 24 to 20. . . . George Riddle, midget center, was the main sparkplug for Bohensky's five in their recent triumph over Mace's team. . . . Collins and Karnes played an exciting game the past Wednesday night with the latter coming out on top in two overtime periods. . . . John W. Mowrey, Jr., former guard on the Pioneer squad, is now burning up the league along with William Whetsell, erstwhile Pioneer cage star. . . . So far, the attendance has been poor.

Pioneers Continue to Set Fast Pace as Race for State Honors Progresses

Weeks may come ad weeks may go, but Albert Lilley and Robert Davies still continue to lead the Pioneer scoring procession. In the Pioneers' only game played last week, Big Al collected 22-points to bring his total to 235 for the season. Davies was limited to seven tallies, boosting his total to 218. The remainder of the squad's scoring to date follows:

Teachers Attend S. E. A. Meeting

Dean H. Laban White, Earl R. Boggs, principal of Glenville High School, and Hazel Fisher, teacher in Normantown High School, attended a regional meeting of the State Education Association, at Buckhannon, Saturday. The meeting was called by the executive committee to discuss the plan of procedure for the new constitution.

Wesleyan Hopes to Beat Pioneers
Glenville Collegians Going Strong
Lilley Among Top Scorers In District

Included on the schedule for the week is a return court debate with the ancient neighboring rivals, the Wesleyan Bobcats, Friday night at Buckhannon. After being tossed around like a hot peanut all season, the 'Cats are confident that they will duplicate the little stunt they pulled last year. Recall: Wesleyan 60; Glenville 28. While this department admires confidence, it also remembers that one sometimes gets an exaggerated opinion of one's athletic prowess, which is indeed most distressing.

This same band of Wesleyanites further showed their respect for Glenville's basketball technique by publicizing the fact that they were sure that Marshall could take the Pioneers in a walk, basing their fallacious contention on their Frank Martino performance against both quintets. It is true that Marshall did run up a higher score on the 'Cats, but that does not prove that they are better than Glenville. If you can beat a club, why demolish it? A better policy is to keep the count down to a minimum.

This department acknowledges receipt of "puff" given Pioneers by one Robert Moran, publicity director of Fairmont College. We do not hesitate to put the "okay tag" on Mr. Moran, and we are deeply sorry that he was dissatisfied with the writeup the Clarksburg Exponent gave the recent Glenville-Fairmont game. This department has nothing to do with the Exponent writeups. We move by telephone the box scores, and the rest.

It is beyond the comprehension of this department why such an atrocious sheet, entitled, Why The High School Tournament Was Voted Away From Glenville, is being circulated about. Officials of the College are to be commended for their efficient management of the tournament in previous years. Other outside factions who sponsor similar tournaments are not compelled to provide the public with financial statements. So why should Glenville? (Editor's unsolicited testimonial).

An interesting anecdote excerpted from the Fairmont Times of Feb. 9 uncovers an unusual basketball triumph for the Pioneers while Biz Dawson, present member of Fairmont West High School, was coaching Glenville.

Hillis Cottle, village back in the good ole days. Playing Roanoke College, the club that recently smashed Marshall, Glenville was trailing by a single point and the game was nearly over. The captain of the Roanoke team, however, became confused and shot the ball through the Pioneer's basket to win the game for the Dawns.

Dominec Cantera, Salem College ace, seems to be getting innumerable plaudits from the state sport scribes for his high-scoring ability. With due respect to the clever Templier, we are wondering what his trouble was against Glenville! Appearing in two games against the fast Pioneers, Mr. Cantera was only able to garner two double-deckers for a grand total of four points.

Mill Throw-outs: The Glenville Collegians, sporting such basketball talent as Lamp, Barnett, F. Shreve, B. Shreve, Gibson, Mason and Bennett, have been traveling at a fast clip this Winter. Their latest achievement was a decisive win over Company G of Gassaway the past Saturday night. Albert ("Abe") Lilley is one of the leading scorers in the Tri-state district. Samuel Whitman,

That "Thin Man" couple are off again—on the way to their next love-trip!

Elimination of Center Jump Stimulates Heart Action, Says Dr. Marcus Hobart

Vorley Rexroad, of Camdenton-Gauley, is the most versatile member of the Class of '38, according to a recent poll conducted among the seniors and the faculty.

"The periodic nature of migraine headache attacks is one of the most remarkable and interesting things in the whole of internal medicine. Tending to affect especially those in high places, it might even change the destiny of the world, were an attack to occur at a vital moment in the life of a dictator." Dr. Thomas Hunt of London believes such a headache could change the course of history.

former Pioneer tackle, was in town the past weekend. E. G. ("Pappy") Grose, college biology instructor, is a former Pioneer grid mentor. Carey Woolf, college registrar, had the reputation of being an excellent base baller during his undergraduate days at Glenville. Clifford ("Gip") Battles, ball-toting terror of the Washington Redskins, National pro football champs, may coach Columbia's ball-juggers this fall. Until Tuesday, it's "thirty."

CHICAGO, ILL., Feb. 15.—(ACP)—Medical evidence is beginning to pile up against the new stream-lined basketball rules which have given the game its greatest box office boost in history.

While coaches from coast to coast discussed the controversial rule eliminating the center jump after field goals, Dr. Marcus Hobart, of Northwestern, disclosed he had completed experiments purporting to show the new game stimulates heart action of the players to a dangerous degree.

Dr. Hobart, Northwestern's team Physician, said he tested players after two Big Ten games and found "their normal heart beat of 60 to 90 had increased alarmingly, in one case to 144."

Chief defender is Ward Lambert, Purdue's "wild fox" who has been coaching the fast break in high schools and colleges for 25 years.

"It's all a matter of conditioning," Lambert counters. "We bring our boys up in the 'fast break' down in this country and keep them trained."

If we are to be yeast cake for democracy's dough, if we are to make it rise with culture's performance, we must see to it that culture spreads broad sails.—William James.

On College Professors

What a Student Thinks
Between Columns

A composite photograph of the college professor would present a person nearing middle age; neither rich nor poor, yet both; neither handsome nor homely, yet comely; whether married or single, no matter, maybe bold or shy, maybe cringing or complacent—one is not at all sure which. It could bear the distinct features of several different types, each of whom deserves due notice in a paragraph all his own.

First among those who try the very souls of their students is the professor who pouts. Were this man an athlete he would be dubbed a quitter. He has great enthusiasm—and an equally great imagination. This second faculty causes him to see insults where none had been intended; to frame, because of the supposition, strange lines of conduct. From a position as leader, this professor from some fancied slight, withdraws himself, taking pains to accompany his withdrawal by all possible embarrassment to others.

The Competent Professor

The next type is the competent professor—the one who manages things. The trouble that an average student has with such a professor is enough to turn his hair the color of a tombstone. This professor is one of those persons hard to get along with—or without. He is competent, efficient, useful, indispensable, and yet so self-willed and domineering that he cannot be curbed or controlled. He can do anything he undertakes, and he does it well; in fact, no one else can do it half as well; but he must do it all his own way, and that means before long doing it all himself.

Again, among the troubles that affect the student, is the professor who is a fadist. These fads are usually exchanged for new ones about as often as the mood of the professor changes. Their refrains are to be seen in poor spellers, poor students in mathematics, and poor grammarians.

The Complimentary Type

Then there is the professor who tries to influence the student by compliments, who goes out of his way to praise or laud what a student has done. Of course "praise is comely," and it is pleasant to hear one's work well spoken of. But the prime condition for securing the desired effect is that the statement itself shall be true. How often would it be pathetic, were it not so silly, to note the mistakes made by such professors in attempting to estimate their students' best efforts, but in reality revealing their own ignorance of what the student is doing.

And yet this picture would be unduly dark without reference to that professor whose presence makes all these minor troubles seem inconsequential—namely, the Staidy. He is the one person—there is one in every college—without whom the student simply could not do his work. There are things that must be done which he alone can do. When there is such work to be done for any individual, department, or organization he may always be asked to do it, will do it well, and will even count it a favor to be asked to do such work. He always understands, he never takes offense, he never quarrels, he never spares himself for the sake of recognition. He has a heart of true modesty and the warmth of his heart is not only generous, but genial and devotional, tender and self-sacrificing.—J. W.

Students In Sociology Class Will Study Problems of the Family

To prepare themselves to meet problems of the family which may come to them in the future, the Sociology 304 Class, under the direction of Prof. R. E. Freed, the past week listed eleven projects to be investigated and reported on.

Among the problems suggested for study are: Should young women continue their work outside the home after marriage? What factors should young people consider in choosing a mate? To what extent, if any, should marriage be delayed until financial security is achieved? What are the principal causes and effects of divorce?

What are the problems of birth control? What suggestions would bring about better relationships of husband and wife? What are some definite suggestions for better understanding between parents and their children? How many children should a family produce? What value, if any, is there in proposal of trial marriage?

What is the problem of the illegitimate child? In the rearing of children, how, when, and to what extent should sex education of children be attempted?

Committees have been named to investigate these different problems and the conclusions or differences of opinion will be given in class during the course of the semester.

STATE TO PAY $1 BOUNTY
ON GRAY FOX IN COUNTY

A bounty of $1.00 each will be paid on gray foxes from February 15 to May 1, or until the total amount available for this purpose, $150.00 is expended, the Conservation commission announced at its Charleston office today.

Bounty forms on the gray fox must be certified by a Justice of the Peace or the local game protector. When the seal of the gray fox is presented for this purpose, it must be marked plainly in the right ear by a round hole near the center of the ear. The hole must be at least one-eighth of an inch in diameter.

The game protector will make no charge whatever for certification. Many Justices of the Peace likewise perform this service free of charge, because of the small amount of the bounty.

Dean H. Leban White yesterday received a card from Mr. John C. Shaw, former principal of Glenville State Normal School, who is now on vacation in Florida. Mr. Shaw says: "I am having an interesting trip."

John Marra, a member of the Pioneer basketball team, refereed the Glenville-Burnsville game Wednesday at Burnsville.
