PIONEERS TURN THE TIDE FOR A-B. BAPTISTS

Louie Romano Paces Conference Leaders to Victory Over Baptist
Batters; 12-Game
Winning Streak Broken

The Glenville Pioneers went into the lead of the West Virginia intercollegiate basketball conference Saturday night when they trounced Alderson-Broadus 57 to 42 before a Baptist homecoming crowd of approximately 1500, at Philippi. It was the first defeat for the Batters in twelve starts.

The Pioneers trailed the Barbour mountians 4 to 1 in the early minutes of the contest but with Romano, Davies, and Lilley leading the way the Glenville quint began to function and soon held a five-point lead with the score at 10 to 5. Alderson-Broadus went on a scoring spree to tie the count at 17 all late in the first half. A field goal by Davies and two fouls by Lilley put the Pioneers out in front 21 to 20 as the half ended.

Midway in the second half, Coachman Lilley and Davies were ostracized from the game on personal fouls and were replaced by White, plebe center, and Harold Scott, who scored 10 and 6 points, respectively, which assured the Pioneers of victory.

Fiction Books Moved to Main Reading Room

The more popular books of fiction in the Robert F. Kidd Library are being moved to the shelves in the main reading room. This change facilitates handling of the numerous books much in demand by students.

Children's books have been moved to Room 1 on the second floor. Here on week days from 2 to 4:30 p. m., and on Saturday from 8 to 12 a. m., one of five students taking courses in library science is in charge of lending books to children of the grades. According to Miss Willema White, instructor in library science, the key may be obtained at the desk if needed at other times. "Children of the grades are encouraged to come to this reading room," Miss White announced.

The library will close at 4 on Saturday afternoons this semester.

Students Set Up Escort Service On Buckeye Campus

COLUMBUS, O.—(ACP)—Today's co-eds are in need of men to escort them to social and good-time functions. Proof of the fact is a brand-new survey made by two Ohio State University students, J. W. Danner and Don Zeigler—proof that was so conclusive to them that they've announced the establishment of an escort service on the Buckeye campus.

Of the 213 girls questioned, 109 indicated they would "perhaps" patronize such a service, and 32 would definitely make use of it. More than three-fourths of them would use the service to get a date for a visiting friend, while half of them would patronize the services for themselves.

"Oddly enough, some of the most popular girls are among the most interested," Danner pointed out. "Part of the interest is created by the novelty of the idea, and part of it seems to arise from advantages we didn't even see ourselves until they were pointed out by some of the girls."

"At present Danner and Zeigler have 10 escorts engaged in the service. Prices are, in addition to the expenses of the date, 75 cents for afternoon, $1.50 evening, $3 formal. Photographs of "esquires" will be furnished upon request.

Active In Campus Affairs at Glenville State Teachers College Is Leah Stalnaker

Is Former President of
Y. W. C. A. and Has Made
The Honor Roll The Past
Two Years

Active in campus scholastic and social life is Leah Stalnaker, of Glenville, who will this spring receive her secondary degree in biological science and English.

Miss Stalnaker attended Calhoun County High School for three years, and was graduated from Glenville High School in 1935. She entered the College the following fall, and has since attended consistently each regular term.

She has participated widely in organizations on the campus, and has held numerous official positions in various clubs. She was president of the Y. W. C. A. in 1937-'38, and president of the Chemistry Club the same year. Membership in the Social Committee came by virtue of the latter position. She is now president of the Woman's Athletic Association and secretary of the senior class.

Miss Stalnaker has previously been on the Mercury staff, as news assignments editor and society editor last year. This semester she is serving as co-society editor with Marjorie Craddock.

Scholastic attainment is reflected in Miss Stalnaker's ranking on the scholastic honor roll for the past two years.

Off the campus she also takes part in civic and social activities. She has been president of the World Wide Guild, and is a member of the Junior Woman's Club.

Miss Stalnaker is the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Guy Stalnaker.

COLLEGE MAY OFFER SAFETY EDUCATION COURSE

If Plans Materialize, Work
Will Be Given This Summer—Will Carry
Two Hours of Credit

Plans to institute a course in driver education in the Summer School schedule are being completed by College officials.

A letter received here from Burton W. Marsh, director of the safety and traffic engineering department of the American Automobile Association at Washington, D. C., states in part: "With the continuing expansion of driver education and training for high school students we believe that in the summer of 1939 there will be an unprecedented demand by teachers for training in traffic safety education."

In carrying out the plan to offer the course here it will be necessary for the College to send someone to an institute for one week during the month of May or the early part of June, and it will require payment of a laboratory fee by students who may elect to take the two hour course, said Dean H. L. White.

The event we do it, Mr. A. F. Rohrbough will be sent to the institute," Mr. White pointed out.

The institute, under the direction of the Association, will be held "on the East Coast, probably in Virginia or North Carolina," Mr. Marsh stated in his letter. Other institutes for different sections of the country will be held at the University of California, University of Michigan and Oklahoma A & M College.

Colleges Plan Scholarships For Foreign Refugees

NEW YORK CITY.—(ACP)—At least 47 colleges have made plans for scholarships and living expenses for the coming academic term to European refugee students, it has been announced by the newly-formed Intercollegiate Committee to Aid Student Refugees.

In most instances college administrations have waived tuition fees while student-faculty committees have raised funds for room and board and living expenses.

The Intercollegiate Committee seeks to bring to this country only students of great ability whose achievements and personality put them on a level with Rhodes scholars. Selections are therefore based on exceptional academic records, well rounded interest in non-academic subjects, together with testimonials of excellent character.

The committee has called a conference to be held in Cleveland, February 17 and 18.

Enrollment For Second Semester Is Now 397

Three new students have enrolled in the College since the total semester enrollment was announced the past week. These students, announced Dean H. L. White, are Homer Moore, Eddie Orr and Mrs. E. G. Rohrbough. Mrs. Rohrbough is enrolled for two courses, French 308 and Mythology 306.

Total enrollment for the semester is now 397.

W.A.A. WILL SPONSOR SOCIAL HOUR THURSDAY

The Women's Athletic Association will sponsor a social hour in the College Lounge Thursday at 3 o'clock for girls who desire to join the club.

Activities planned by the Club for this semester include badminton, basketball, hiking, horseshoe, ping pong, shuffleboard and tennis.

MUSICIANS MARCH 160 MILES

University of Kentucky mathematicians have figured out that the average band member parades 160 miles in formation during the football season.

OHIO STATE STUDENTS FINED

Ohio State University's students have been fined $4,700 for traffic violations in four years by the student council.

Course Changes Announced By Dean H. L. White

Dean H. L. White announces a number of changes in courses and instructors since the beginning of the semester. These changes were in part made necessary by overcrowded classes.

Courses dropped are: Education 311, at 9, taught by Mr. Clark; English 104, at 11, Miss Brand; and Biology 301, at 9, Miss James.

Classes divided are: English 102, at 1, taught by Mr. Hickman. One-half of the class is now being taught by Mr. Whiting. One-half of the class Education 105, at 9, taught by Dr. Shreve, has been transferred to Mr. Clark at the same period.

A course in English 104, formerly taught at 1 by Mr. Whiting has been transferred to Miss Brand. An additional transfer is that of Miss Kenney's Art 102 class, at 10, to like classes at 8 and at 2 o'clock.

College Orchestra Has 25 Members This Semester

Two of the twenty-five members of the College orchestra this semester are not enrolled in the College. They are the Rev. C. Lloyd Arehart, who plays a violin, and Master Don Shreve, who plays the fute. There has been no flute player in the orchestra for several years.

Only fourteen of the remaining twenty-three members are enrolled for credit. Three of the nine clarinet players play oboe parts, in order to increase the number of parts. The instrumentation is more nearly complete than that of any previous orchestra in the College. There are also more members in the orchestra.

Instruments and those who play them are: Drums, Oris Stutler; trombone, Jesse Bell; baritone horn, Paul Beal; tenor saxophone, Clark Wolfe; alto horn, Edna Crummett; and Elma Bush; violins, Alyce Marie Bonnett, Frances Groves and Damon Starcher; trumpets, Billy Adams, Laddie Bell, Beulah Rasmussen, James Parks, Jr.; clarinets, Teresa Buehler, Leola Canto, Margaret Clark, Threda Crummett, John Corothers, Joseph Hought, Frances Myers, Wynema Smith, Robert Stalnaker. The piano accompanists are Roanna Gainer and Wilma Roberts.

Books Available On Life of George Washington

It is the month of birthdays, and one of the most famous of them is that of George Washington, February 22.

Among the newer biographies on the Father of his Country at the Library are these, recommended by Miss Bessie B. Bell, instructor in the social sciences: "George Washington," by Louis Martin; "George Washington," three volumes, by Rupert Hughes; Bernard Fay's "George Washington, Republican Aristocrat," and "George Washington and the West," by Charles Henry Ambler, head of the history department, West Virginia University.

There is also in the Library a book of Washington's writings collected from original manuscript sources and edited by John C. Fitzpatrick.

A three-act play, Maxwell Anderson's "Valley Forge," is also available.

WALL PLUGS ADDED IN ROOMS 111 AND 112

Mr. Day Fitzpatrick, College electrician, completed work Friday on two new wall plugs in Rooms 111 and 112. The new wiring will make possible the use of the electric vitrola in Mr. Whiting's room as well as the music room. The class in Spoken French has formerly found it necessary to move into the music room when records were to be used in the class-room work.

N.Y.A. REPORTS DUE

N.Y.A. reports for the month of January 16 to February 15 will be due not later than 2 p. m. tomorrow (Wednesday). Reports are to be submitted by members of the faculty supervising the work, or they may be given to Wayne Williams, assistant N.Y.A. director.

SEVENTY-NINE STUDENTS LISTED ON HONOR ROLL

Craddock, Shown, Amick,
Keith, Myers, Williams
And Haden Make
Straight-A Average

Seventy-nine students made grade averages of B or above the past semester, according to the honor roll completed the past week by Mr. Carey Wooster, College registrar.

Of this group, seven made a straight-A average. They are by classes: Marjorie Craddock, senior; Woodrow Shown, junior; Anne Amick, Jack Keith, Olive Myers and Frons Williams, sophomores; and Marjorie Harden, freshman.

Distribution by classes is as follows: Freshmen, 27; Sophomores, 24; juniors and seniors, 14 each.

The total number of students listed compares closely with the number in previous semesters.

The complete honor roll with each student's name, address, high school from which graduated, hours, honor points, and point average is listed elsewhere in this issue of the Mercury. Only those students carrying fourteen semester hours or more are listed.

Rev. Mr. Arehart Addresses College Assembly Audience

"Life for us is like a piece of tapestry," maintained the Reverend Lloyd C. Arehart, of the Glenville Presbyterian Church, in an address before the student body the past Wednesday.

The speaker referred to his forty-minute address as "The Tapestry of Life," and insisted that "you can make yourself good for something or good for nothing."

"We have come to a period of uncertainty and we must secure a way of life and a standard of living, for it is possible to make life so it will destroy itself. We are responsible for making life suitable for us," he stated.

"Unless the laws of God are observed, life will be almost nil," the speaker reminded. "The soul might be called growth—that which makes us different—gives us personality," he observed.

Referring again to the tapestries of life, Mr. Arehart spoke of cases of incompetence: "They may be remade, more beautiful, more useful by someone who picks them up and moves on. . . Many lives are examples of incomplete tapestries."

Mr. Arehart was chief speaker on a program given jointly by the Y. W. C. A. and the Y. M. C. A. Brief talks on their respective organizations were given by Miss Blanche Strickland, president of the Y. W. C. A., and by Clyde Dobson, secretary of the Y. M. C. A. Max Ward was master of ceremonies.

Changes In Play Cast Are Announced

Max Ward, a junior in the College, has been added to the cast of "Personal Appearance," the Ohmighow play, Miss Kathleen Robertson, adviser, has announced. Mr. Ward replaces Robert Butcher as Johnson. Ralph Mendenhall will be business manager. Alyce Marie Bonnett and Kenneth Hutchinson are the new additions to the production staff. The position of stage manager has not been filled.

MISS WAGGONER VISITS HERE

Eleanor Waggoner, a former student in the College, was a visitor here Wednesday. She was graduated from West Virginia University in 1938 and is teaching now in Parkersburg. She is a sister of Jack Waggoner, a freshman.

What Honor Hath a Roll?

There arises at the moment a pertinent, even poignant, question: What honor is evidenced in a scholastic honor roll?

An objective view of all implications of the matter is difficult, and opinions in the case are distinctly varied. Obviously the custom itself arose from the sentiment, "Well done!" and its fundamental intention may have been that of inducing further good work rather than an attempt to compensate for that already achieved.

Even now there are those who question the value and even propriety of honor rolls—flaunting in the faces of those less able the achievement of those more capable. Others, regardless of their position, believe honor roll practice is sterling in quality. But most conservative in opinion are those who consistently appear as honor students. They aren't so sure—they think it possible they may be wrong. But high rank cannot be attained without earning it. Behind the point average is more than registering for a course and appearing for each recitation. Honor standing does indicate results of definite purpose, conscientious application, and a degree of mastery of the task set before the student. Mediocrity in these is not of the honor roll.

If these things then be honors, such honors hath an honor roll.—Max Ward.

Audience Pleased With Recent Assembly Address

The address by the principal speaker on the assembly program Wednesday certainly rates highly among the vital speeches given at the College this year. The subject was undoubtedly a lofty one and well suited to the type of program. However, the most outstanding feature of the talk was the deductive method of presentation which the speaker used.

No one enjoys being given dictatorial commands as to exactly what to do and what not to do. This applies especially to college students who are supposed to be able to mold conduct and mode of living by the process of deduction from sound facts and principles. The fact that the speaker did set forth sound facts and principles which made for reflective thinking on the part of the audience made the speech most effective.—Leroy Davis.

Must the Y. M. C. A. Go Unsung?

In our colleges and universities students are faced with doorways to hundreds of organizations. The Young Men's Christian Association is one of the finest clubs in which we can find a permanent residing place on any college or university campus; but why has this organization gone unsung?

There must be an answer. Why do we find such a low percentage of students belonging to the Y.M.C.A.? Why must a worthy organization of this type go unsung?

No matter where you go you will find people with skeptical ideas about the work of the Y.M.C.A. In some instances, they might be right. Some have suggested that the trouble (if we may call it that) might lie in the character of the member, and some think, perhaps, it lies in the limited activities of the organization. Of course, we must all agree that interest is the life of any organization. The world is clamoring for equality of its people, and for young men such as we find in a Y.M.C.A. chapter. But the trouble then is there are not enough young men in the organization—there are too many chapters with closed doors.—Roscoe J. Bailey.

Book Reviews

BOUND OF HEAVEN, by Sarah Addington.

By Barbara Hauman

Calling all lovers of dogs! Sarah Addington has a book called "Bound of Heaven" that makes a delightful hour with a Scottie in Heaven.

The hero, and he is a hero, is a courageous little terrier called Padric MacKenzie who has been struck by a careless truck down on earth; and when the story opens, is being whisked along on a cloud toward Heaven. He finds that celestial realm very satisfying with, among others of the delights of dogdom, an alley filled with overflowing garbage cans with no one to chase him away, no muzzles, no bothersome cops or dog-catchers. Everything is as he would want it to be except that at sundown he has no

Barbara Hauman master to saunter along the broad paths of the meadow with him. He finds excellent companions, who call themselves "The Celestial Association of Literary Dogs and Cats." Some of the members are found to be: Sir Walter Scott's Maid; Samuel Johnson's Hodge; Charles Dickens' Turk; and Lord Byron's Boatswain; though of course their masters, to Padric at least, are much less important than his own beloved "Bose."

This is a quick-moving story of a vivacious little dog who will capture the hearts of all those who have

Here's a suggestion, especially for all those students who are struggling through a composition class. No less a personage than William Lyon Phelps offers this idea: "To all persons who wish to write good books (that might apply to any creative writing) in the English language, I recommend Mary Ellen Chase's procedure. Go and live in England two years; the environment is extremely favorable for creative literary work."

So—"Bon voyage!"

Yes, It Pays to Make High Grades

We are informed that seventy-nine students in the College "made" the honor roll. That is approximately 20 per cent, or one in every five. Is that an enviable record, or should the per cent of honor students be higher?

We are aware that the making of high grades is not the only objective in college life, but certainly it is one of the most important. Our college is primarily a teachers college, which means that most of the student body are of those who expect to teach. How can we teach that which we do not know?

There is, perhaps nothing, which so commands the respect of those we teach, as scholarship. Scholarship is so important that the State Board of Education of West Virginia has decreed that a grade of "C" is the average minimum on which a Standard Normal certificate or an A.B. degree may be issued.

The time was when some thought that a grade above passing was but time lost. Not so now, as the standard for teachers has been raised. In our opinion, the average grade of "C" will not, in the very near future, meet the standard of certification of teachers, and in our judgment, that is as it should be. To our mind, the teaching of boys and girls, is a very serious matter, challenging the best minds and the most industrious individuals. If "Uncle Sam" conducts Civil Service (competitive) examinations that he may select the most efficient for his work, then is it not proper that the same principle should carry over into the teaching field? Many of those who employ teachers are now asking for teachers of high scholastic attainment.

To make high grades requires, even with the best endowed intellectually, continuous effort and application, thus forming habits of industry which we take with us to our classrooms as teachers.

While the making of high grades should give satisfaction as a task well done, it certainly should not make one "chesty" or "swell-headed," but only better able to serve.

Yes, we think it pays to make high grades.—C. E. Whysell.

CURRENT OPINIONS

"There is every sign that the capital of Western civilization may cross the Atlantic and find itself in another generation or two on the shores of this new land, so to speak, because that land has in its power the intelligence and moral courage to make itself the outstanding exemplar of those policies of liberty, of progress and of human service which alone can save and develop our civilization." Columbia University's Pres. Nicholas Murray Butler points to the continued decline of cultural Europe.

"There is no such thing as a cut and dried curriculum which cannot be modified to the individual student." Requirements-bound students rise up and cheer the progressiveness of Ohio State University's Dean L. L. Love.

"Democracy and its hazardous position form no basis for a 'new' educational program. Better educational foundations are certainly needed, but they can be built steadily; no complete break with old procedures is required." Pres. Henry M. Wriston, Brown University, votes against a sweeping revision of educational policies and procedures.

Why Not Budget The Extra Hours?

When Ben Franklin spoke the words "Lost time is never found again" he uttered a truth that has stood and will continue to stand through the ages. The course of study for the average college student is such, that with the extra-curricular activities, one is on the go continually to make one's minutes meet. To compete with this problem and not lose time that can never be found again, why not budget the extra hours from morn till night and devote them to thought and study.—Joseph Haught.

THEATER NEWS

By Marjorie Craddock

Walt Disney is going to recall his "Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs," April 29, in order that such a fine production, which was released more than a year ago, will not get down to dime prices. Incidentally, the picture is still playing tonight and tomorrow night at the Lyric.

Thursday and Friday at the Lyric comes "The Storm" starring Charles Bickford. Saturday is "Outlaws of Sonora" with the Three Musketeers and Chap. Six of "Phantom Empire." "Boys Town," featuring Spencer Tracy and Mickey Rooney is billed for Sunday and Monday.

Concerning "Boys Town," I shall quote "Pare Lorentz": "A dramatization, in which many shots were taken at the real school of Father Flanagan's house for delinquent or homeless boys, Boys' Town, Nebraska. Mickey Rooney — the young thief, is finally reformed and Spencer Tracy does good characterization of the kindly priest."

At Pictoreland comes "Change of Heart," featuring Gloria Stuart and Michael Whalen, for tonight and tomorrow night. This is a story of a golf-crazy wife and a non-golf-crazy husband. Perhaps they wouldn't have had marital difficulties were it not for the playboy friend, Lyle Talbot.

"Fire of a Kind" starring the Dionne Quintuplets will be at the Pictoreland Thursday, Friday, and Saturday. In the supporting cast are Jean Hersholt, as Dr. Luke, Claire Trevor, as Caesar Romero, and Slim Somerville. This is a newspaper story with the Quins putting on a television show and they sing, dance, and make music. For once, Caesar Romero gets the heroine.

etna Young and Spencer Tracy in etna Young and Spencer Tracy find Sunday and Monday finds "Man's Castle." Miss Young, most men's idea of a beautiful lady, and Mr. Tracy, to me the most natural actor, should put over any show.

The Maust Family, a musical group, will make a personal appearance at Pictoreland tomorrow after the showing of "Change of Heart."

ENGLISH 327 CLASS WILL MAKE READING SURVEY

The class in English 327 will conduct a survey of the readers' interest of the students enrolled in the College, Wednesday and Thursday. The instructors in English are co-operating and will give out the questionnaires.

Among those students who spent the past week-end at their homes were: Ernestine Kennedy, of Glenclen; Betha Shaffer, of Glenclen; Lenora Hedlin, of Roanoke; Eloise Peninger, of Weston; and Genevieve Johnson, of Webster Springs.

Miss Edna Stalnaker, a sophomore in the College, visited in Parkersburg the past week-end.

GRIST FROM the Sports Mill

Entering the homestretch in its drive for West Virginia conference court supremacy, Glenville State's basketball team will engage four of the circuit's first-flight foes during the week. After last night's engagement with the West Liberty Hilltoppers, the Pioneers were scheduled to move into Bethany for a skirmish with John J. Knight's powerful Bisons, who have been moving down all comers in recent games.

Playing the Bisons for the first time this season, the Pioneers are expecting a troublesome session. Bethany, a perennial tough court foe for Glenville, got off to a bad start in the current season, but since their star center, Burger, has returned to the starting lineup, the up-staters have been traveling at a rapid pace, and will be unusually dangerous on their small floor.

Robert Armstrong, freshman flash, apparently, has replaced McMillen in Glenville's starting lineup, and the results seem to be gratifying. Big and rangy and possessing unusual play-making ability, Armstrong fits adequately into Coach Rohrbough's fast-moving combine. He got his first starting assignment in the New River game, a contest in which he led all scorers with eighteen points.

Following the invasion of the northern panhandle, the Pioneers will return to the home court Thursday evening to face the music once again with chief rivals for conference laurels, the fast-moving Battlers of Alderson-Broadbent College. Since both teams have been dominating the play in the circuit thus far, this battle looms as a stirring encounter, as might be expected of a contest that sports a pupil-versus-teacher situation.

Glenville's smashing 57-42 rout of the hitherto invincible Alderson-Broadbent Battlers enabled the Pioneers to take an undisputed lead in the West Virginia conference race. To date Glenville is unbeaten in the conference, but its record has been blemished by setbacks handed by Toledo and Akron. Glenville evened the count with Akron, trimming the Zipper, 35-27, but does not play Toledo a second time.

The Alderson-Broadbent skirmish can adequately be labeled a "knock 'em down and drag 'em out affair. Referees, Art Ward and Stanley Jenanko, called 41 fouls. Twenty of these were against Glenville and twenty-one against the Battlers.

With Lilley and Armstrong already lost, the departure of Davies midway in the last half seemed to have alarmed most of Glenville's sideline contingent. Perhaps there was justification for this concern, but we believe the real reason was a lack of confidence in the reserves. True, the Battlers were putting at this moment and had reduced a 12-point margin to a scant 5-tally advantage. But the scene was then set for the ingenious Louie Romano to take command of the situation. His first move was to call time out for a "pow-wow," and after this brief interlude, the inspired second-stringers came to life and literally shattered the bewildered Baptists' defensive attack.

Another Blast At Intercollegiate Football Games

ITHACA, N. Y.—(ACP)—Another blast at intercollegiate football which branded it as a disquieting factor in the realm of higher education has been made by Cornell University's Dean Robert M. Ogden, president of the New York State Association of Colleges, who says:

"We know too well that our football games bring to college certain young men who may never have taken the trouble to attend were it not for the fact that they can and like to play football.

"We also know that football brings other students who, though they do not play the game, can be induced to attend college by a once-

State Tournament Will Be Held In Morgantown

The Associated Press on Saturday carried a story under a Wheeling headline announcing the state high school basketball tournament would be held in Morgantown this year.

Decision to move the tournament from the Wesleyan College gymnasium to the University Field House was made by the State Board of Appeals following a poll in which 194 of the State's 209 principals participated. The vote in favor of the change was 134 to 60.

Chief reasons for changing the site of the twenty-five-year-old classic, founded by Harry Adams Slusher, former director of athletics at the University, were Morgantown's better seating, hotel and transportation facilities. The Field House will seat 7000 spectators as compared to the 3000 for the Wesleyan gymnasium.

The tournament, won the past year by Wheeling, will be held next month.

Ohio's five state universities have formed an inter-university council to coordinate the educational policies and programs of the schools.

a-week opportunity to escape from the drudgery of learning and 'let off steam' in the football stadium. But we shall certainly not succeed in giving an adequate preparation for modern life to students who are required only to mark time during the weekdays, with the promise of royal entertainment on Saturday."

PIONEERS TURN BACK LIONS OF CONCORD, 64-50

Lilley and Davies Set
Scoring Pace With 17
And 14 Points Respectively;
Armstrong Gets 10

By Earl McDonald

Co-captains Robert ("Red") Davies and Al Lilley scored 14 and 17 points, respectively, to pace the Glenville Pioneer basketball team to another victory over the Concord Mountain Lions, West Virginia Conference foes, here Wednesday night by a score of 64 to 50. It was the second win for the Pioneers over the Concord five within a week.

Early in the first half the Pioneers flashed a fast offensive attack and stacked up leads of 10 to 2 and 19 to 9. But at this point the Lions took time out and came back to check the Pioneer attack.

In rapid succession, Smith, Tredenic and Bowers, Lion offensive weapons, scored seven field goals to lead the Pioneers by 23 to 19. Davies and Romano scored for Glenville to tie the count, but the Lions scoring spree could not be halted at the moment and Concord forged ahead to lead again 27 to 23. Coach Rohrbough injected two capable reserves into the contest and the Pioneers rallied to lead at the half, 31 to 29.

Concord failed to threaten during the second half and the Pioneers gradually increased their margin. With two minutes remaining to be played, Glenville led by a comfortable margin, 63 to 47. Pioneer reserves played the rest of the contest.

Lilley captured scoring honors for the evening with 17 points. Davies tallied 14 and Smith led the Concord scoring with 13.

CAMPUS CAPERS

Now that most of the preliminary details are out of the way, the second semester set-up is rapidly taking shape. . . . With minor exceptions, most of the duns that paraded in our midst during the past eighteen weeks are continuing their blissful excursions on Danny Cupid's bumpy road. . . . Encouraging is the fact also that several of the so-called "naturals" are once again on the up-and-up, after agonizing weeks in the depths of oblivion. . . . With Cecil Lee as their pacemaker, the newcomers seem to be doing right well in a comparatively short time. . . . Back from an extended visit in the Middle West, the former local brummal has already made connections at Kanawha Hall. . . . Eva Cunningham has taken a back seat with Greenleaf, who now, apparently, has his heart set on Madeline, her devoted roommate—Leon "Flat-foot Floogie" Smith swings a mighty hoof with one of Wicky's old flames. . . . Yoho, undaunted by the public gaze, nonchalantly continues her duplicity with surprising success. . . . Taking an unannounced leave of Shaffer and McIntyre, Lardy Mendenhall spent a pleasant afternoon with one of his former throbs, who happened in from Parkersburg. . . . We are informed that Audrey Winters is sporting a brand new rock. . . . Compliments of Bill Hamilton. . . . The "Gold Dust" twins, Connie and Red, are back in circulation after weeks of solitary confinement. . . . We extend greetings and best wishes Smith and McGee, a truly charming couple. . . . Beware! Josie, a would-be villain lurks in the background. . . . Bailey, enchanted by the charm of the gorgeous Davis, is now trekking to Verona. . . . Amos and Moore, undisturbed by long distant scrutiny, enjoy pleasant moments in the parlor of Kanawha Hall. . . . Detamore abbreviates romance with local playboy after learning of his initial dive into the sea of matrimony. . . . Must this continue? . . . Space and deadline say no. . . . So we conclude with lotions of love and good will—The Mercury Stoooge.
