

NAVAL RESERVE AVIATION OFFICER TO INTERVIEW PROSPECTIVE CADETS IN COLLEGE AUDITORIUM SATURDAY

Lieut. Johnson of Anacostia Base Will Explain Government's Aviation Program

College students, particularly members of the senior class who are interested in the United States' Naval Reserve Aviation program, will have an opportunity to get first-hand information here, Saturday, March 2, it was announced the past week by Pres. E. G. Rohrbough.

In cooperation with the U. S. Naval Reserve Base at Anacostia, D. C., Pres. Rohrbough has arranged for an opening meeting here, March 2, at which time Lieut. M. B. Johnson, U. S. Naval aviator, will show the official Navy sound motion picture, "Wings of Gold," depicting the life of aviation cadets, and will explain to students the possibilities of aviation training at government expense.

Lieut. Johnson, whose tentative itinerary calls for visits at nine other West Virginia colleges and the University, will bring his motion picture equipment with him, will open his program in the auditorium at 10 a. m., and after the show will answer questions concerning the current Naval Aviation training work. Purpose of the meeting is the government's desire to procure candidates for training and commission as Naval Reserve aviators.

To be eligible for the service, one must be a male citizen of the United States, between 20 and 27 years of age, unmarried and remain so for two years, and be mentally, morally, physically and psychologically qualified for commission in flight training. He must also be a graduate of a recognized college or university, or have completed one-half or more of the credits normally leading to a degree, provided he has completed plane and solid geometry.

Applications are considered and passed upon by a selection board that meets periodically, and classes in elimination flight training are started at the Anacostia Base the fifteenth of each month. Successful completion of the preliminary course leads to advanced flight training at Pensacola, Fla.

'THE STUDIO'
CAST NAMED

Play Written by Clair Morrison Will Be Presented Here On March 21

March 21 is the tentative date for the presentation of "The Studio," a three-act comedy, under the direction of Clair Morrison, senior. In the cast are ten college students. The story centers around life in a studio and the troubles that arise over a girl who is set on a career as a model.

In the cast will be: Horatio Rogers, an Englishman, Joe Herold, Kent Richards, an artist, James Furr, Guy Martin, Kent's friend, Carl Chapman; Belinda, colored janitress, Mildred Runyan; Barbara Lane, villaness, Agnes Wright; Patsey Williams, a model, Gwendolyn Beall; Heartburn, the Englishman's friend, Athena Null; Milla, Hopkins, Barbara's escort, Frank Lee; Sarah and Jella, friends of Martin. Edna Crummett and Mildred Runyan.

Proceeds from the play will go to the Omicron Players to affiliate with the Alpha Psi Omega, national honorary dramatic society.

That it pays to be in the Mercury—or at least have your business mentioned there, if only in a feature story—is the belief of Robert Johnson, freshman in the College.

The past week the Mercury carried a story of Johnson's hobby—raising chickens and producing eggs. The story was written by Albert Woofert, who interviewed Johnson, and was run in the paper with a picture of his flock.

Now Johnson reports that by Friday, three days after the Mercury carried the story, he had added two new customers to his list.

All this came about because they read about him and his business in the Mercury, Johnson believes.

If your name is on the semester honor roll and you would like to send a copy of the Mercury home to Mother and Father, you are at liberty to bring three cents to the Mercury office and get your copy. Only a limited number of extra copies are available.

AVOIDING WAR IS POINTED PROBLEM

Student Survey Lists This As Nation's No. 1 Worry; Unemployment Second

How to keep out of the European war is the most pointed problem facing the United States today, forty-five per cent of college men and women believe. This contention parallels that of the American voter, the Student Opinion Survey points out.

Solving the unemployment problem at home was listed second, with seventeen per cent of the students ranking the question first in importance.

Balancing the budget, solving labor problems, recovery of business and threats to democracy were included by the students in the list of the country's most important problems.

Given first rating in magnitude by one per cent of the students contacted in the poll were inequality of incomes, solving youth problems, the 1940 elections and relief.

A more pronounced concern over business recovery is seen in the sentiment of the average voter than is expressed by college men and women.

Student sympathy for Finland is reflected in their approval of American loans to that country, the Surveys recently found.

Teachers Offer Special Help to Retarded Pupils

Students enrolled in directed teaching in secondary work will alternate teaching and observing, giving about ten days to each, says Dr. John C. Shreve, head of the College education department.

A number of students have begun their practice teaching. They are: Olen Berry, Shirley Brown, Catherine Engle, Jean McGee, Harold Noroski, William Romine, Max Ward and Lee White. Among those who will probably begin this week are Ruth Core, Mary Fahy, Woodrow Maxwell, Woodrow Showen and Harold Winters.

Retarded children in the elementary grades are being given special attention by the student teachers, explains Miss Ivy Lee Myers, director of elementary teacher training.

Third grade pupils are now working on a story project under the direction of student teachers Holbert Mick and Joe Greasy. "Wide Wings," a new set of supplementary readers, is being used by fourth grade pupils.

CANTERBURY CLUB TO BE REPRESENTED IN ASSEMBLY

Susan Summers, a senior, and Helen Heaster, a junior, have been selected to represent the Canterbury Club in an assembly program March 6.

Olive Myers, Max Ward, and Barbara Hauman will read modern short stories at the next Club meeting March 27.

MISS FISHER COACHING NORMANTOWN SPEECH TEAM

Hazel Fisher, A. B. '37, instructor in Normantown High School, is coaching a team to enter the district interscholastic speech contest to be held at the College March 26. Members of Miss Fisher's class of eight, the largest to take part in the speech activities in the school, will enter the poetry interpretation, debating and oration contests.

Mrs. Max Nachman went to Chicago the past week to visit her son, a former member of the Mercury staff and at present a member of the Chicago City News Bureau staff.

Here For Y. M. C. A. Forum

Pictured, above, are Mr. and Mrs. Frank M. Liddle, both of whom spoke before a joint meeting of the Y.M.C.A. and Y.W.C.A. in the College lounge last night. Mr. Liddle is state secretary of the Y.M.C.A.

Bet 'Mom' and 'Pop' and Aunt Susie Would Like These Tiny Tots in Action

By Maxine Bollinger
There's a lot of fun in a toy band, that 'new-fangled' group of rhythm makers that Pop and Mom and Aunt Susie never heard of when they were in the first or second grade.

And if you don't want my word for it, then take a peep into the Music Room between 3 and 4 o'clock some afternoon and watch Johnny and Mary and all the others in action.

In charge, of course, is Miss Bertha E. Olsen, instructor in music. Assisting are Miss Maxine Bollinger, senior, of Weston, Miss Margaret Marguerite Moss, also a senior, of Glenville, and Katie Vineyard, freshman.

"When we get a piece well learned, we can play at the P. T. A. or in assembly," says one little fellow. Another adds, "I like the pretty music we play." And one little chap, with an "aesthetic sense of something, ventured, "If we play them nicely and sweetly they sound like the birds."

Several of the pupils believe their organization "sounds like a big band."

One said, "Some children don't have musical instruments at home, but they can come to school and play music."

And here are a few random comments that one gathers any afternoon rehearsals are in progress.

One boy likes to play triangles because the tone is so pretty. I like drums 'cause they sound like drums the big people play. I like bells; they sound like Santa Claus at Christmas. You can hit a tamborine and shake it, too, then it sounds like a drum and a bell.

And these little people believe in cooperation; they agree that if you don't "follow directions you won't keep together."

Favorite among all the instruments are the drums, triangles and sticks.

WILLARD SHREVE IS TOURNEY DIRECTOR

Independent Meet to Be Held At Normantown; More Than Ten Teams Expected

More than ten basketball teams are expected to enter an independent tournament at Normantown, March 8 and 9, says Bennett Stump, freshman in the College, who is assisting Mr. John Willard Shreve, A. B. '37, principal of Normantown High School and tournament director.

The meet, although scheduled for Friday and Saturday, may be started Thursday night, March 7, if the expected number of teams enter. All games will be played in the high school gymnasium.

Stump says the first round will begin at 7 o'clock Thursday evening, if ten or more teams enter, or at 7 o'clock Friday evening if fewer than ten register. There will be four games the first night. The semi-finals will be played Saturday afternoon, beginning at 4 p. m. and the final Saturday night.

There will be more than a score of prizes given and medals will go to the winners, and the runners-up. Final date for filing entrance credentials is tomorrow at 4 p. m. The registration fee is $1.50.

WILL ADDRESS ASSEMBLY

The Rev. J. C. Musser, pastor of the Glenville Baptist Church, will address the student body in assembly tomorrow.

Introducing Billy Karantonis Gentleman Freshman Who Pounded His Way Up In State Boxing Tournaments

By L.B.H.

In this corner is Billy Karantonis, the College freshman from Colorado, who used his "left to the jaw and right to the chest" to pound his way to the top a few years ago in the State amateur boxing rings.

And in this short, chunky, 175-pound, curly-headed ex-pugilist is a heart that's big and generous, one that pumped through his veins enough West Virginia red blood to make him at one time the sports scribes' pick for the "State's most popular fighter."

Karantonis, who left the coal fields of Southern West Virginia and came to Glenville to get an education and play football, isn't this writer's conception of the best-known freshman on the campus. But, please observe, the birkie has three and half more years to use that big, broad smile, that correct class-room attitude and that desire to make the most of what his College has to offer.

Guest Speaker at Rotary
To the Rotary Club's luncheon the past week went Karantonis, the guest of A. F. Rohrbough, coach in the College; and before the group of eighteen business and professional men the son of Mr. and Mrs. Zachary Karantonis related a good many highlights of a nineteen-year-old career.

Karantonis, Billy to fellow students, is one of a family of nine—six boys, one girl and the parents. The father, one-time native of Greece and shepherd in Crete, came to the United States in 1912 and brought with him the wife whom he had loved since a boy. And from the grape arbors and olive orchards of the Hellas of old Mr. and Mrs. Zachary Karantonis have traveled a long way together.

Down at Colorado, a little mining town in Raleigh County, they settled, and there Mr. Karantonis worked and saved until he was able to go in to business for himself. Now, the father of Billy and six other children owns a chain of three stores at Colorado, Dorothy and Lawson.

Coached by Frank Vass
To high school at Colorado went Son Billy, and there he met Frank Vass, College alumnus, and former athlete who, in Billy's language, is "one swell fellow." Vass coached the rugged protegee into a fine football player and used him as a fullback. (Continued on Page 4)

CHEMISTRY DAY WILL BE APRIL 6

J. R. Wagner, Adviser, Says High Schools and Colleges Will Be Invited

The ninth annual Chemistry Day, sponsored by the College Chemistry Club, is scheduled for Saturday, April 6, says Mr. John R. Wagner, adviser.

Featured in this year's exhibitions will be West Virginia industrial products. One hundred and fifty letters are being sent out to as many manufacturers in the state, asking them to consider sending special displays of their products and processes, and representatives from a number of the companies are being invited to attend.

Already asked to deliver an address as a part of the day's activities is a representative of the E. I. du Pont de Nemours Company, at Belle. An exhibit of Nylon, a coal-derived material used in the manufacture of artificial hose, is expected from the du Pont Company.

Speakers from the General Electric Company, of Schenectady, N. Y., and from the Central Scientific Company, of Chicago, have been solicited by the Club.

Replies to letters asking foreign governments to send exhibits are being received. Industrial exhibits are expected from El Salvador, Colombia, Ecuador, Argentina, Paraguay, Canada and other countries.

A special demonstration of pipe organs is being built in the physics laboratory. Each pipe is made from four strips of wood glued together, and is played by compressed air. Invitations to high schools and possibly some colleges throughout central West Virginia will be sent this month.

Y. M.-Y. W. Groups Hear Mr. and Mrs. Frank M. Liddle

"Young people are becoming more and more thoughtful about marriage," Frank M. Liddle, state secretary of the Young Men's Christian Associations, told a joint meeting of the College Y.W.C.A. and Y.M.C.A. in the lounge last night.

Here with Mr. Liddle was his wife, Mrs. Margaret N. Liddle, who for twenty-five minutes addressed the 50 students and faculty members attending the meeting and took part in the open forum which followed.

Maintaining that "entering into marriage is entering a relationship that can be the happiest or the most disillusioning experience in life," Mrs. Liddle advised students to "spend more time trying to be the right mate rather than trying to find the right mate."

A number of questions asked by students were discussed in an hour's open forum following the introductory talks.

Mr. and Mrs. Liddle have for years been active in Y.M.C.A. work and in the guidance of youth. Mr. Liddle has been for two years secretary of the state young men's group. Previously he spent eight years in similar work in Baltimore. He is a native of Minnesota; Mrs. Liddle was born in Chicago.

Mr. and Mrs. Liddle left last night for Clarksburg, enroute to Salem College where they spoke in chapel this morning.

ART CLUB MEMBERS CHANGE MEETING DATE

A change in the meeting time of the Art Club went into effect yesterday. The club now meets on Monday at 4 p. m. instead of Tuesday at 8 p. m. as formerly. The next meeting will be Monday, March 4, in the art laboratory.

Morrison Leads Seniors, Frances Myers Sophomores, Miss Conrad, Freshmen

Olive Myers, a junior, of Glenville, was the only student in the College to make a straight A-grade average for the first semester, according to the honor roll listings compiled the past week by the Mercury in cooperation with Mr. Carey Woofert, registrar.

On the roll are ninety-four students, fifteen more than were listed for the corresponding semester the past year. There are more B average ratings than have appeared on any honor roll here in recent years.

Representation by classes includes 32 freshmen, 25 sophomores, 16 juniors and 21 seniors. Distribution for the first semester the past year was: 27 freshmen, 24 sophomores, 14 juniors and 14 seniors.

As in previous years, freshmen represent by far the largest group in the 1939-40 roll, which includes only those students who make a 2-point average or above.

In first place for the freshmen is Madelyn Conrad of Glenville. Frances Myers, also of Glenville, and a sister of Olive Myers, ranks first in the sophomore group with a point average of 2.94. Clair Morrison of Weston stands first among the seniors with a 2.89 average.

The honor roll with listing of classes and individual ratings will be found on page 4 in this issue. Names of students carrying more than fourteen hours of work are included.

STUDENT ELECTION WILL BE HELD 2ND TUESDAY IN APRIL

Noroski Names Committee to File Nominations; Will Elect Supreme Court Members

First step toward setting up the machinery pertinent to the forthcoming student body election was taken here the past week when Harold Noroski, Council president, named a committee of three to file nominations on or before March 1.

On the committee, which will name one or more candidates for each position on the Council and on the Supreme Court, are Woodrow Maxwell, Virginia Frymier and Madelyn Moore. Following the report of the committee, there will be a student body meeting in March, at which time additional nominations may be made from the floor. A primary race will precede the general election to be held the second Tuesday in April.

To be elected are the following: President of the student body, vice-president, secretary, treasurer, and sergeant-at-arms, and two members of the Supreme Court, one male and one female.

Each nominee will be notified personally and the committee will ascertain each candidate's qualifications. To be eligible for a position on the Council one must be a resident student, carry fourteen or more hours of work and attain a C grade average or above.

The three class elections will be held sometime this spring and the respective presidents will automatically become members of the Student Council. Freshmen enrolling next fall will elect their president soon after the opening of the first semester.

Pioneers Down Morris Harvey at Charleston, 57-47

At Charleston last night the Glenville Pioneers added their twentieth victory by defeating for the second time this season the Morris Harvey Eagles, 57-47.

This time it was Rhoades and McMillen who set the scoring pace, each getting 15 points. Armstrong got 9, Romano 8, Noroski 6, Spencer 3 and Wolfe 1.

Twice the score was tied, once at 33-33 and again at 38-38. Tonight the Pioneers will meet Concord at Athens.

HARD DRIVING GLENVILLE PIONEERS GIVE WESLEYAN BOBCATS A 50-40 LACING BEFORE 1500 CHEERING SPECTATORS

Again Junior Rhoades Sets the Pace With 19 Points; Romano Gets 10, Armstrong 7, and McMillen 6

By Earl McDonald, Mercury Sports Editor
BUCKHANNON, Feb. 23.—Though the Pioneers went into the second half with only a narrow 25-19 lead, Junior Rhoades, flashy co-captain, took control of the White Wave's offensive maneuvers and scored seven of his team's ten field goals to put Glenville on the heavy end of a 50-40 score over the Bobcats of West Virginia Wesleyan College here tonight before a packed house of 1500 cheering spectators.

SPORTS CHATTER by A Cub Columnist

Earl McDonald

WHERE WERE YOU, JIM?

WE COULDN'T find Jim Cox anywhere after the Wesleyan-Glenville game the other night in Buckhannon to rib him about making great predictions for the Bobcats after they handed WVU a beating at Morgantown. Cox, in his column, SPORTSMAN, in the Wesleyan Phoenix, says, "Bouyed up by their victory, this columnist is going to crawl out on a limb and call for the Bobcats to win all the contests remaining on the schedule except the Marshall game at Huntington."

You are a loyal supporter for the Methodists, Jim, but never underestimate the Pioneers. And as for the Herd of Marshall, the White Wave is still waiting for a crack at the Henderson crew.

MARSHALL LOOKS WEST

SPEAKING OF MARSHALL, there is a possibility that the Herd will go to the big event at Kansas City. And should the Pioneers pull through the last lap of the West Virginia conference race, that long-awaited-for battle might ensue.

Dick Hudson, commenting in the Charleston Daily Mail, says, "It would be a big boost for West Virginia to get Glenville and Marshall both in the tourney... then, may be the Pioneers and the Herd would meet somewhere along the line."

Incidentally, Hudson is on the West Virginia basketball committee and may do much to encourage Marshall's going to the Kansas City classic.

SCHOOLBOYS' TOURNEYS

THIS WEEK-END sectional high school tournaments all over the state will attract the attention of every schoolboy basketball player whether he be a star of the team or the last substitute.

Coach C. D. Wilfong and his local Terrors will vie for honors at Spencer in what promises to be a toss-up affair. Wilfong's team has split in games with most of its tournament foes and rates only a fifty-fifty chance of taking the final contest. However, should Jack Conrad and Harry Pritt get "hot" as they frequently have during the season the Terrors should bring home the crown and await the Regional at Clarksburg.

W.I. RATED HIGH

DOWN IN HARRISON County they are hailing Washington-Irving as the new state champs and even here in Glenville some former Hilltoppers are willing to bet their last clean shirt that their alma mater is tops when the smoke clears at Morgantown. The schoolboy classic at the University is proving to be one of the state's outstanding sports events of the year. As for picking the 1940 winner, we'll leave that to you.

PIONEERS UPSET BROADDUS FIVE AND WIN 72 TO 62 DECISION IN THE LAST HOME GAME OF THE SEASON

Griffith and Rhoades Stage Wild Scoring Race and Then Come Out With 34 Points Each

Featuring one of the most spectacular scoring battles of the year, the Glenville Pioneers smeared another blot on the Alderson-Broadbush Battlers' season record Wednesday night when the local collegians concluded their last home game with a 72-62 victory before one of the largest crowds of the season.

Fighting tooth and nail for high honors in the wild scoring affair was Junior Rhoades of Glenville and Kenneth Griffith, the flashy sharpshooter from Harbors County. Both lads, rated as the leading point getters in the state, were busy throughout the contest pouring basketballs through the hoops for 34 points each.

The contest marked the final home appearance of four seniors on the Pioneer squad, namely Co-captains Junior Rhoades, and Louis Romano; Harold Noroski and James McMillen.

Trailing all the way, the Battlers never quit fighting during the game and kept pace with the fast Glenville attack until the last few minutes. At half time the Pioneers led 36-31.

In an effort to keep Griffith out of shooting range of the basket, Spencer and McMillen of Glenville fouled the Battler ace to the limit and left the game; M. Dunham and Manning had the same experience in attempting to hold Rhoades. Griffith made good 12 out of 15 tries, at the foul line. Rhoades had a perfect night at the free throw line with eight fouls.

Lineups:
Glenville T A-B T
Rhoades 34 M. Dunham 34
White 4 Griffith 36
Armstrong 12 H. Dunham 2
Romano 6 Manning 6
McMillen 6 Tasker 1
Noroski 4 Hurst 3

Billy Karantonis . . .

During his freshman year Karantonis went in for boxing and in a meet at Mt. Hope he finished an opponent in six seconds to set some sort of State speed record. Later, in Charleston, he dusted off a tough opponent in twenty seconds, and this too was a State record.

There was no more boxing in high school, but Karantonis kept on playing football and fighting, too. Signed as a middleweight and weighing between 150 and 160 pounds, he stepped into amateur competition and met some of the best fighters that three states had to offer.

In Charleston in 1938 he beat Marshall Morris, Pennsylvania state champion, and in Huntington he won over the champion of Northern Virginia and Southern West Virginia.

His One Big Moment

And though all the fights were interesting to him, Karantonis picks the victory over the Pennsylvania champion as the high spot of his ring experience. Hardest city "to get a square deal in," he says, is Huntington. Other towns in which he has fought are Bluefield, Whitesville, Seth, Monticello and Stocco.

Yes, in this corner is the curly-headed, unpretentious, gentleman freshman who is here as a student and prospective Pioneer fullback—the boy who is 5 feet 9½ inches tall, and who is modest in admitting that he lost only six decisions in fifty fights, including tournament battles.

His father told him that "anyone should be glad to live in the United States"; and his high school coach, Frank Vass, convinced him that Glenville State Teachers College is a good place for higher education.

Because of the war no Rhodes scholarships will be granted in 1940. Since 1923, 16 colleges and universities have made R.O.T.C. optional or abolished it altogether.

Radio Man Neal Corathers Says 'I Blow Old C. Q. and They Let Me In, Presto'

By Dewey Berry

Most College students listen now and then to the radio's "buzz, buzz, this is Bill; the weather down here is fine." But Neal Corathers, junior and new student from West Virginia University, not only listens; he helps do it.

It's his hobby. He says he's been tinkering around with it since he started to high school, and he likes it. "It's always interesting and helpful," he avers. "I learn more geography and always find out about the weather. The first time I tried I just shook and shook, and when someone said, 'You're on the air,' I backed out. The second time, I called Alaska but no answer came."

Corathers is a member of the American Radio Relay League, membership in which permits one to broadcast over any amateur set. He said, "When I see one of these outfits, I blow the old C. Q. and they let me in. I've talked to people in eight states. It's the only hobby for those who want to meet new and interesting people."

Naturally Corathers thinks his hobby isn't expensive. "All you need," he points out, "is a tube or two, some wire, a soldering iron, a pair of pliers, and the knowledge to put them together."

"The most fun," he concludes, "is to visit an amateur broadcasting station, then go home and listen while they talk about you."

SPONSORS DANCE

The Social Committee provided a round dance Friday night in the gymnasium for students and members of the faculty who didn't attend the Glenville-Westleyan basketball game in Buckhannon.

SPEECH CLASS TO ENTERTAIN GLENVILLE CIVIC CLUB

Cuttings from one act plays will be read by the Advanced Interpretation Speech class before the Glenville Civic Club, March 4, at 8 o'clock in the social room of the Methodist Church.

Olive Myers will read "Cinderella Married," by Rachel Field; Helen Heater, "The Twelve Pound Look," by James M. Barrie; and Marguerite Moss, O'Neill's "Before Breakfast." Eva Amos will give a musical reading.

Personals

Mrs. Charles E. Barnett of Wheeling, visited her daughter, Marjorie, a senior in the College, the past week.

Sheldon Rhodes spent the weekend at his home in Ripley.

Miss Elsie Roberts, an alumna of the College and a supervisor of nurses in the Cook County Hospital, Chicago, spent the week-end in Glenville visiting her mother, Mrs. Nora V. Roberts, Verona Maple Hall, and her sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Linn B. Hickman, Court Street.

COLLEGE TOURNEY DRAWINGS

Drawings for the sixth annual West Virginia college tournament at Buckhannon March 11-12 are as follows: Salem vs. Shepherd; Fairmont vs. Morris Harvey; Wesleyan vs. Concord; D.E. vs. Potomac State. Alderson-Broadus and West Liberty drew byes. Glenville will not enter the tournament.

Oberlin College has a Pullman car named after it.

COLLEGE DEBATING TEAM ON TRIP THIS WEEK

The College debating team, coached by Miss Kathleen Robertson, will go to Morris Harvey and Concord Colleges this week.

The past Saturday the College team was in Wheeling and there met West Liberty in a debate broadcast from Station WVVA.

All that can be learned in a university is the general principles, the fundamental propositions, the theory of any discipline.—Robert Maynard Hutchins.

Seventy-eight Indiana University graduates have become college presidents.

The University of Oklahoma has rules which prohibit the playing of swing music on the campus. Exactly 91 per cent of the Concordia College (Minn.) student body are Lutherans.

The University of Kentucky archaeological museum contains 2,100 Indian skeletons.

Cedarville College's new president is William Smith Kilpatrick, who is only 26 years old.

Chesterfield's Twin Pleasures are

Real Mildness and Better Taste

You can't mistake the extra pleasure you get from Chesterfields.
Because of their right combination of the world's best cigarette tobaccos,
Chesterfields give you a cooler, better-tasting and definitely milder smoke.

You can't buy a better cigarette

When the HEASLEY TWINS, stage and screen shooting stars, perform for your pleasure, it's almost impossible to tell which is which... but you can't mistake the twin pleasures you get in Chesterfield's REAL MILDNESS and BETTER TASTE.
