ISN'T IT A RELIEF to have mid tests over? Now, we're all sitting around discussing the outcome... Will our grades be above or below "C" level... Or will we be living a life of ease (E-E-E's)! JOKE PERIOD!!

CHARLES McINTOSH added a bit of humor to the Science Hall dedication program—or rather, should say, the chair he was sitting on. The chair was broken in the first place, but it snapped and started to fold up (with Charlie on it)—while Senator Joseph Rosier was speaking. The only thing that saved him and the chair from total collapse was the aid of Mary Jo Moran and Frances Gerwig who kindly held the chair in place with their feet!! Girl Scouts! Here are two prospects for good members of your troop!

THE COMPLIMENT OF THE WEEK goes to Macel Jean O'Dell for pretty eyes and the sweetest, most sincere smile.

THE SPECIAL "YW" THANKSGIVING program, Wednesday evening, under the leadership of Gladys Foster was inspirational and worthwhile. It was made that way by your talk and beautiful story, Reverend Mr. Lloyd Arehart; by your song, Elma Emrick and Peggy Williams; by your quiet, forceful meditation, Ella Vesta Fitzwater; your poems, Ruth Groves and Charles McIntosh; and by your accompaniment at the piano, Mary Jo Moran and Nina Craigie. Dr. D. L. Haught and the "YM" members were welcome guests.

MISS ALMA ARBUCKLE, college librarian, has been chosen as our "YW" adviser and attended the Wednesday night service in that capacity. She was extended a cordial welcome by the members of the Chapter. Miss Arbuckle, we realize that you are busy with your other work, the library, the Commuters and social committee and we appreciate your acceptance of the advisership.

THE JUNIOR CLASS of Glenville High School is presenting "Going on Seventeen," a three-act play in the College auditorium tonight. It's a Samuel French production and is expected to be tops. In a couple of years many members of the cast and the class they represent will be GS students. Why don't we go and support their play and have an entertaining time while doing so. Their advertising managers, Carolyn Hull and Verna Dean Ellis, did a splendid job—especially on the poster displayed in the window at Thompson's store. Best of luck for a great performance, Juniors!!!

WE STUDENTS SAY "Thanks" Dr. D. L. Haught and Dean Robert T. Crawford for the half-holiday Thursday. It was a pleasant surprise! Some of us had a chance to see the Glenville High vs. Burnsville High game—and others of us caught up on back work, back sleep, or just had a good time in general. It was swell.

FIRST AID CLASS

The American Red Cross is offering an instructors' course in First Aid in the College gymnasium this week. Classes started last night at 7 o'clock. Students who have completed the standard and advanced courses in Red Cross first aid are eligible to enroll.

The College Y. M. C. A. Chapter will meet in the Louis Bennett Lounge Thursday at 7 p. m.

Peggy Williams, staff member, spent the week-end in Parkersburg.

Rev. Mr. Arehart Heads Program at YW Meeting Here

The Reverend C. Lloyd Arehart, minister of the Presbyterian Church in Glenville, had as his theme "In everything give thanks," taken from the book of Thessalonians, when he gave an inspirational talk at the special Thanksgiving program of the College Y. W. C. A. Wednesday evening in the lounge of Louis Bennett Hall. Reverend Mr. Arehart said: "The Thanksgiving of our forefathers should make us realize what Thanksgiving really is. There is much to be thankful for at all times."

Scripture reading and meditation were under the direction of Ella Vesta Fitzwater, "YW" devotional chairman. Poems were read by Ruth Groves and Charles McIntosh, a Y. M. C. A. member; and Peggy Williams and Elma Emrick sang "Sunset Piece."

Helen Taylor, Y. W. C. A. president, introduced the new "Y. W." sponsor, Miss Alma Arbuckle, College librarian. Miss Arbuckle who stated her gratitude for being chosen adviser has been chairman of the College social committee for a number of years and is also faculty adviser of the Commuters' club.

Miss Taylor also announced that the next meeting on December 1 would be a candlelight service for the installation of new members.

NEXT MEETING OF CURRENT EVENTS CLUB, NOVEMBER 22

Members of the Current Events Club who met the past Tuesday at 5 p. m. in Miss Bessie B. Bell's classroom heard reports on "England and Russia" by Andreas Dorpalen given by Mae Anderson; a report on Coal Strikes by David Towell and one on the Moscow Conference by Betty Faulkner.

The next club meeting will be on November 22 at 5 p. m.

Last Rites Held For Mrs. Heasley

Last rites for Mrs. Estelle Grace Heasley, 49 years old, who died November 7 at the Gordon Memorial Hospital, Spencer, after a year's illness, were conducted at the Vandale Funeral Home, November 10 at 2 p. m. Mrs. Heasley was the mother of Charles Heasley, a former student, who is now serving in the United States Army.

In addition to her son, Mrs. Heasley is survived by her parents, William and Margaret Hess Wright; a brother, Walter Wright of Spencer; and three sisters, Mrs. Lucy Black of Marietta, O., Mrs. Neel Radcliff and Miss Ann Wright both of Spencer. She was the widow of Charles Heasley.

The Rev. W. R. Houck was in charge of the services and burial was in the Spencer cemetery.

Students, Visitors Offer Many Comments After Attending Science Hall Dedication

Dedication of the new Science Hall brought many favorable comments from students, visitors and from former students, who write that they hope sometime to have the opportunity to take classes in the modern four story brick structure.

DR. W. W. TRENT said, "We think it's a fine serviceable building and we particularly envy the young people here."

MISS LUCY WOLFE, grade school teacher: "It is one of the most complete buildings I have ever seen."

MRS. C. M. BENNETT: "My, this is grand!"

MRS. ERNEST ARBUCKLE: "The nicest building we have... Something to look forward to after the war. The home economics department will have a great influence."

SENATOR ROSIER: "It is a magnificent new building dedicated to the modern science of learning."

H. D. ROHR, assistant county superintendent of Lewis County schools: "I think it is simply wonderful... The lighting effect is quite wonderful. The students of this section certainly have a wonderful opportunity to learn."

MRS. ARLAN BERRY, former College instructor in physical education: "I'd take all my classes over here if I were a student and that would make it difficult for the Dean to arrange my schedule."

THE REV. W. H. BEAL, Methodist minister, described the building with one adjective, "Magnificent!"

MRS. C. L. UNDERWOOD: "Very nice, well built... I especially like the coloring."

LYNN B. HICKMAN, College journalism instructor and associate editor and business manager of the Glenville Democrat, exclaimed, "Exquisite! What lights!"

JUANITA GRIFFITH, high school student: "It is all right. I think it would make a good high school building."

TRAINING SCHOOL TEACHER IS GUEST SPEAKER AT COLLEGE ASSEMBLY HOUR

By Janette Cunningham

Dr. J. C. Shreve acted as master of ceremonies in assembly Wednesday when Stanley Hall, critic teacher, and three faculty members spoke on various subjects relating to education in observance of National Education Week, November 7 to 13.

Mr. Hall, speaking on the subject, "Education for World Understanding," observed that "it is much easier to look back and see how failures have occurred than to suggest a suitable solution for the world's ills." He believes that peace can come only through world understanding and that can come only through education.

He said the Germans must learn that "there is no master race" and we in America must learn that we are not isolated but, of necessity, a functioning part of the world "which we live." "It must be remembered," said Mr. Hall, "that all people are bound together in an inseparable world economic union."

H. Y. Clark, speaking on "Education for Work," said that "we must teach that there is a close relationship between development of use of the hands and development of the mind, and that manual labor is just as fine as any other."

"Education to Win and Secure Peace" was discussed by Dean Robert T. Crawford, who stated that the goal of the present world conflict is to establish a just peace which "requires the intelligent effort of the entire nation—science has made it necessary for men to live in peace if they want to live at all."

Miss Ivy Lee Myers, discussing "Education for Wartime Citizenship," stated her belief that all the attributes of a good citizen are applicable to wartime citizenship and that education must help to make the necessary adjustments to war time living.

Ella Fitzwater led devotionals. This practice will be kept up hereafter by the College Y. W. C. A. Chapter with Mae Anderson, "YW" chapel chairman, in charge.

OPEN HOUSE!!
Don't forget the date! November 23.
Faculty and students are cordially invited to attend Open House in the College Lounge on the above date from 3:30 to 5:00 p. m.
Yes, it's the Commuters' Club!

College Red Cross To Choose Officers

Nina Craigie, acting chairman of the College's Red Cross Unit, has announced that the charter necessary for organization has arrived and that officers for the year will be elected at a meeting here next week in the Louis Bennett Lounge. Officers to be filled are: Chairman, two vice-chairmen and a secretary. Geneva Proctor is acting secretary of the unit. All girls who wish to join are asked to attend this meeting.

Final Rites Held For Mrs. Pickens

Mrs. Virginia Pickens, 32-year-old wife of J. Edward Pickens, A. B. '42, of Ripley, died at a hospital in Ripley on November 6 within a few hours after she had given birth to a son. Mr. and Mrs. Pickens, both blind since birth, met at the school for the blind in Romney, and were married two years ago. They had made their home in Ripley for some time and were active in the affairs of the Baptist Church.

Funeral services were held at the Baptist Temple on November 8 and burial was in Pine Hill Cemetery.

She leaves her husband and the infant son, Joseph Edward, Jr.; her mother, Mrs. Myrtle Snyder, of Leesage; four sisters and two brothers.

Prof. Rogers Recalls Limited Facilities At Glenville State of 30 Odd Years Ago

Many major changes, all of them for the better, have taken place in the way of improvements to the physical plant of Glenville State College since the days when this instructor held forth in what is now Room 110, classroom for journalism.

Here for the dedication of this new science hall the past week, Mr. Harold Rogers, now of Fairmont State College, was quick to sense the many improvements and the phenomenal growth of the Glenville institution.

He taught here some thirty years ago in Room 110, which was just across the hall from the president's room, now the journalism laboratory. Mr. Rogers taught physics, chemistry, astronomy, French, German and rhetoric. His laboratory consisted of a desk and raised seats for the students. To quote him, "We got along the best we could with very little to work with."

Since that time in 1905 when the College was called Glenville State Normal School many changes have been made. Two different names have been given to the College, namely, Glenville State Teachers College and the present one, Glenville State College. Also, new buildings have been constructed, the latest being the Science Hall about which Mr. Rogers said, "It is magnificent. The building with a separate floor for home economics, biology, physics, geography and chemistry is a good beginning for the future. All that is lacking is more equipment for each department, and if I had my way there would be a special appropriation for this equipment and quite a lot of it would go into the physics department, especially."

Mr. Rogers' final statement was, "The building is an inspiration. I'd love to teach here again under these conditions."

MR. CUNNINGHAM ILL

Mr. J. W. Cunningham, of Tanner, is recovering from a major operation at the Camden-Clark Hospital, Parkersburg. He is the father of Mildard Cunningham, A. B. '37, Geraldine Cunningham, A. B. '38, and Janette Cunningham, College junior.

Juanita McWilliams spent the week-end at her home in Lockney.

The Rev. and Mrs. Lloyd Arehart left Thursday to go to Marysville, Va., to consider accepting a pastorate there in the Presbyterian church.

College Life Is Still What We Make It

Our college life is what we make it. That statement is true unless there are a few exceptions wherein we find some student who has a great hindering handicap! Usually such a handicap can be overlooked and other good traits developed highly so that even under such circumstances we find the statement relatively true in all aspects.

Our attitude is the essential thing behind it all. If we have come to college with the attitude that it's going to be too hard, no one will be our friends, the instructors will be too far above us to be able to have an understanding with and that it is all work and no play, or visa versa . . . (And still keep that attitude after being here a few weeks) . . . College is bound to be a bore to us and useless.

But if our attitude is one of eagerness to learn all we can, get a broader outlook on life, and if we feel free to talk to instructors at any time about our work or any topic that might come up . . . and if we're willing always to meet a friend or schoolmate more than halfway . . . College has a meaning for us that can only be found when sought with an attitude of patience, of willingness to learn and of sacrifice.

College is a great life taken in these respects. It brings to us life-long friends . . . the ability to speak before a group our own thoughts and ideas . . . It teaches us that books do not bring to us all our education but that EDUCATION is the ability to talk and to deal with the farmer, the butcher and the baker as well as the president, the senator and the doctor!—Helen Taylor.

Science Faces a Future That May Have No Bounds

Pres. D. L. Haught's observation at the dedication the past week to the effect that science can be used in building a constructive age—as well as a destructive one—carries with it a hopeful outlook.

Not to be expected today or tomorrow, but in the years after the war is an interesting age, one which will bring new developments so rapidly and so complete that one may not realize what is taking place. But, of course, the war must first be won, and after that years of intensive and concentrated study must be spent in building a peace that will last.

Then when peace is assured for the world, will not the great minds who have developed the great instruments of warfare turn their attention toward developing the thousands of items that shall go toward making the home, school and the great out-of-doors more pleasant, more conducive to real living and complete happiness.

Certainly it is not too much to say that many of today's conveniences of living will be as nothing compared to what is to come—if, as has been said before—we can win the war and develop the peace that is possible.

Science faces a great future, and we, the old and the young, should realize that how interesting that future will be depends upon how hard we fight to win the war and how hard we work to help plan what is to come in the future.

When an armistice does come, factories will not overnight switch to making the comforts of a new life, but sooner or later they will, and how far they will go in creating a constructive age after the war still gives rise to speculations and arouses a curiosity that becomes keener and keener as the days roll by.

Truly, science may someday turn to a constructive age and face a future that has no bounds.—L. B. H.

Notes From . . . The Robert F. Kidd Library

By Janette Cunningham

Above the magazine racks on the wall is posted a list of ten outstanding magazine articles selected from the October issues of leading magazines by a council of librarians. One article listed is "The American Radio Traitors" by William L. Shirer, who explains why several well-known radio and newspaper men have turned traitor.

Book Week will be a quarter of a century old when its twenty-fifth annual celebration, November 14 to 20, features the theme "Build the Future with Books."

In 1919, Book Week was started as a campaign for better books for young people. Since that time, the public attitude toward children's literature has changed immensely for the better—greater care is used in selecting books for children and young people.

Books have an important place in the education of children growing up amid scenes and stories of war and destruction. They can inspire appreciation of democracy, encourage respect and understanding of people of other nations, and help to counterbalance the horrors of war. This year's theme suggests these aims.

New books are Johnsen's WORLD PEACE PLANS, Alden and Westcott's THE UNITED STATES NAVY, Geister's THE NEW ICE-BREAKERS, Moreno's WHO SHALL SURVIVE, McGehee's PEOPLE AND MUSIC, Rose's TEACHING NUTRITION TO BOYS AND GIRLS, and Agar's A TIME FOR GREATNESS. A bulletin has been received entitled ELEMENTARY SCHOOLS; THE FRONTLINE OF DEMOCRACY.

PLEDGES INITIATED AT CHEMISTRY CLUB MEETING

The Chemistry Club met Wednesday night to initiate the following pledges: Mary Alice Wagner, Rita Mae Fling, Janette Cunningham, Frances Gerwig, John Wagner and Homer Paul Heckert.

A demonstration showing the glow of phosphorus in the dark was given by the adviser, John R. Wagner, and club members agreed to meet again November 23.

BRITISH SCHOOLS MOVE ON IN NORMAL ATMOSPHERE

Britain is seeing to it that education does not become a war casualty. More, not less, money is being spent on education. Women teachers are required to remain in the profession. Teachers are rationed to insure an equitable distribution. With the scars of bombs all around and the rattle of gas masks in the classroom, an almost normal atmosphere prevails. Britain is determined to protect and educate her children.—By Hilda Beal, of the British Information Service, via the West Virginia School Journal.

ERNESTINE LAWSON ENTERS WORK IN HUNTINGTON

Miss Ernestine Lawson of Lewis County, a former student in the college here, recently located at Scarritt College, Nashville, Tenn., has been named new director of Christian education at Johnson Memorial Church in Huntington, W. Va. Miss Lawson since leaving Glenville has been active in a program of young people's work. Notice of her appointment appears in the November 4 issue of The Christian Advocate.

Miss Mary Susan Simon, former student, now attending Fairmont State College was a donor for the Blood Bank recently conducted at Fairmont.

Plans are in the offing for the second year number of the year to be held in the early part of December. Further information will appear in the Mercury as soon as it is released.

Mary Jo Moran, freshman, spent the week-end at her home in Weston.

Evelyn Finster, spent the week-end at her home in Weston.

Beatrice Stewart, freshman spent the week-end at her home in Northtown.

On THE CAMPUS

By Catherine Withers

Possible postscripts from the diary of a campus "snoop":

FRIDAY: Something new has been added to A. M. Etta Jane Judge's fair tresses. Bangs appeared on her forehead, following a wielding of scissors by Ella Vesta Fitzwater.

FRIDAY: Estella Bonner and Elizabeth nervously knit two more rows on their sweaters while waiting for a thriller-chiller to appear on the local theater's screen.

SATURDAY: The pane of glass, long since missing in the front door of Verona Mapel Hall, is replaced.

MONDAY: Bouquets of 'mums' and roses are placed on highly polished 'lab' tables to enhance our already beautiful Science Hall in preparation for the dedication in the afternoon.

MONDAY: All the girl guides and ushers don their prettiest outfits and that "last pair of precious nylons" in spite of inclement weather . . . One group of students remarked that the Science Hall looked exactly like a skyscraper with all its lights blazing . . . Wonder how the night picture Miss Erma Edwards, College financial secretary, took of the building turned out?

TUESDAY: 99% of the residents of Louis Bennett Hall trek up to V. M. H. Lounge to listen to the sensational trumpet playing and solid jive of Harry James and orchestra.

WEDNESDAY: First snow of the season hits College campus . . . Anne Withers and Miss Alma-Ar buckle, College librarian, wear novel crocheted caps to school.

WEDNESDAY: Students in Zoology lab. have a tasty treat when Miss Goldie James passes around delicious apples.

THURSDAY: Half holiday thoroughly enjoyed by all . . . Most everyone bundles up in slacks and ear muffs and heads for the G. H. S.-BURNSVILLE game . . . Score: G. H. S. 7—B. H. S. 6.

This COLLEGIATE WORLD

WASHINGTON, D. C.—More than 100,000 soldiers participating in the Army's Specialized training program at 209 colleges and universities in the United States will wear identifying shoulder patch insignia, the War Department has announced.

The insignia will depict the sword of valor against a lamp of knowledge. The sword and lamp are in dark blue on a yellow, octagon-shaped patch.

Artists of the Quartermaster Corps and special Service Division, Army Service forces collaborated in designing a series of insignia which would serve as the official emblem of the A. S. T. P. To learn the preference of soldiers in the program, a large number of soldier-trainees were invited to view several samples of proposed insignia. The pattern selected ran far ahead in popularity.

The insignia will be distributed to various units this month.

Look and You'll Learn to Live, Not Just Exist

Have you ever noticed how beautiful everything is around us? Have you ever noticed the trees skylined against the sky as though they had been pasted on a picture, or the brilliance and beauty of the lights reflected by the sun as it sinks behind a hill in the west? We hurry about our daily tasks as though we haven't the time to stop to just look at the sky—the snow on the branches of trees—or even the ground with its blanket of leaves. These are the real beauties of life—not the mechanical routine we go through every day. To take a few minutes a day to LOOK will make a person feel as though he is LIVING instead of merely existing.—Thelma Ryan.

"In the first four weeks of fighting in Italy there were 8,307 casualties. Of these, 511 husbands, brothers, or sweethearts rest beneath little white crosses. Have you bought war bonds or stamps this week?"—From the Daily Tension.

FROM THE MERCURY'S FILES

By Thelma Ryan

1930 THIRTEEN YEARS AGO
Miss Bertha E. Olsen, of Dorchester, Mass., has been appointed to the position formerly held by Miss Wilma West, an instructor in the music department of the Normal. Miss Olsen was graduated from the New England Conservatory of Music in June 1930, and before her appointment here she was employed in the public schools in Berwick, Maine.

1931 TWELVE YEARS AGO
Frank Bailey was chosen head cheer leader of Glenville State Teachers College in an election held in the College auditorium. Misses Demetrius Keffer and Harriet Keith were elected as assistant cheer leaders.

Approximately 1500 people attended the first collegiate homecoming at Glenville. One hundred and eighty alumni registered.

1932 ELEVEN YEARS AGO
Six students became members of the Ohnimgohow Players at a recent meeting. They were: Marjorie Lindell, Madeleine Linville, Nellie Cottrill, Reginald Lawson, James Hatfield and Paul Bramlett.

1933 TEN YEARS AGO
The Glenville Pioneers, in preparation for one of the hardest schedules undertaken by a local basketball team, will begin practice next week. Six lettermen from whom may be formed the nucleus of the 1934 combination are: Bob Combs and Rex Pyles, forwards; Neill Sappington, center; Harold Porterfield, Tom Pierce and Allan Morford, guards.

1934 NINE YEARS AGO
Mr. E. R. Grose of the College faculty attended a meeting of the Biological Survey Committee of West Virginia in Clarksburg. The purpose of the meeting was to devise ways and means of conducting the survey of plants and animals in this state.

1935 EIGHT YEARS AGO
Frank Martino, Lee Summers, Paul Mason and Jack Springer, Pioneer athletes, and Mr. John L. Wagner, chemistry instructor, recently visited and inspected the State Penitentiary at Moundsville as guests of Warden C. F. McClinic.

Coch A. F. Rohrbough's Pioneers buried the Rams of Shepherd State under an avalanche of six touchdowns and an extra point to win 37-0.

1936 SEVEN YEARS AGO
Bantz W. Craddock, '06, assistant federal district attorney for the Northern District of West Virginia, spoke to the students and faculty in an Armistice Day program in the College auditorium.

1937 SIX YEARS AGO
Glenville State's football stalwarts smashed out a 21-6 triumph over John Knight's Bethany Bisons. This victory enabled the Pioneers to complete their season with a clean slate record, and also maintain the leadership of the West Virginia intercollegiate conference.

James Osbourn, of Burnt House, was named Glenville correspondent for the National Christian Association at a meeting of the West Virginia-Western Pennsylvania Area Conference held at Morgantown.

1938 FIVE YEARS AGO
The College chapter of the Young Men's Christian Association observed its thirtieth anniversary this year. The club was organized here in 1908 by Homer C. Wille.

1939 FOUR YEARS AGO
The history of the College—past, present and future—was reviewed in assembly by students under the direction of the education department. H. Y. Clark, of the education department of the College, acted as spokesman for the group, which included Marjorie Barnett, Barbara Hauman, Rhoda Ann Bell, Anita Floyd, Dexter Dotson, Ruth Bush, Gilbert Rhoades, Jr., Lawrence Nuce, Louie Romano, Lovie Belle Stewart, Carl Keister, James McMillen, Herbert Brooks, Harold Noroski and Mary Elizabeth Brown.

1940 THREE YEARS AGO
Members of the "Campus Cats," the College's newly organized, seven-piece swing band, will appear together for the first time at the Thanksgiving dance. Members are Hoyt Umstead, Robert Armstrong, Charles Heasley, Robert Stalnaker, David Bingham, Ray Musser and James ("Doc") Law.

The College of Wooster, Ohio, recently conferred an honorary doctor of music degree on Alfred Wallenstein, Director of the Los Angeles Philharmonic Orchestra and for many years musical director of New York's radio station WOR.

Boys of Louis Bennett Hall held open house the afternoon of the Science Hall dedication.

Ruth Groves, freshman, was a business visitor in Spencer on Saturday.

Father of 19 Children Believes Education Is Fundamental For Youth of This Age

S. A. McCartney, owner of an 892-acre farm near Index never attended high school or college but he is thoroughly convinced that one way to rear good children is to—as he puts it—"educate them."

Twice married, Mr. McCartney, who is 71 years old, is the father of nineteen children, eighteen of whom are living. Seven children are by a first marriage; 12 by a second. Nine of the eighteen are married and an equal number are single.

And on the subject of education, Mr. McCartney expresses a proud smile when he observes that he has 29 high school graduates among his children and grandchildren and at least three who either finished or have attended college. Also he is proud that he has two sons in the service, Lieut. Loren, a graduate of Glenville State College, and Pfc. Sull, one in Australia, the other aboard ship in the South Pacific.

At present he has two children and three grandchildren in high school. One daughter, though only 42 years old, Mrs. Ella Lambert of Morgantown, finished high school, became a grandmother about a year ago and at the present time is a student in West Virginia University.

Other members of the McCartney family include Mrs. Suel Smith and Myrtle McCartney of Baltimore, Mrs. Melva Robinson of Charleston, Mirth McCartney, Mrs. Fanny Stump and Kester McCartney of Morgantown, Mrs. Gladys McHaney of Waldeck, Announcement has been made of the marriage of Miss Sue Brown, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Austin Brown of Dunbar, on the past Tuesday evening to Corp. Reynolds Brooks, son of the Rev. and Mrs. T. E. Brooks of Sissonville Rd. The bridegroom's father performed the ceremony at the Methodist parsonage.

The couple attended Glenville State College. Mr. Brooks has been stationed at Fort Knox, Ky., for 16 months and will enter the school of dentistry, University of Louisville, in January for work with the Army specialized training program.

Hyer's Team Wins By a 20-12 Score

Charlotte Hyers' team took a hard-fought basketball game from Charlotte Ryans' team Thursday night in the gymnasium by a score of 20-12. Beulah Given and Frances Gerwig were the mainstays of the Hyer team, while Glennis Hudkins and Gladys Foster played well for the opponents.

Games will not be played this week or next because of First Aid classes and Thanksgiving vacation, but any team may practice from five until six o'clock if permission is gotten from the president or Miss Rose Funk.

Hurl McCartney of Dillonville, O., Donald, Mary Lou, Margaret Lee and Pell, all at home, Madeline in school at Tanner, Mrs. Dessel Stump of Maidsville and Mrs. Mabel McHaney of Tanner.

STATE'S POPULATION SHOWS HEAVY DECREASE

West Virginia's population on March 1, 1943, was 1,748,851, a decrease of 152,972 from the 1,901,723 total of April 1, 1940, with most of the decline developing since May of the past year, the U. S. Census Bureau reports.

In revised estimates based on registration for war ration book No. 2, the Bureau said the decrease in the State from 1,855,574 on May 1, 1942, was 106,723 persons.

The United States sends about 4,000 short-wave programs of news, propaganda and entertainment a week to various parts of the world.

What You Buy With WAR BONDS

Services

On Sunday morning as you sit in church and see the vacant places in the choir and wonder where the war has taken the young people from your community you may feel certain that they are attending divine services if circumstance permits.

Chaplains and choral leaders are found on the larger ships and even abroad in the Army centers. Millions of hymnals have been distributed to the men and women of all services and you may rest assured that a portion of the savings you are placing into War Bonds is used for their spiritual welfare.

On The Land, In the Air, And on The Sea With Our Friends In The Service

By Elma Emrick

For having shown exemplary behavior, efficiency and fidelity for a period of one year or more Pvt. Damon W. West of Troy has been awarded the Good Conduct Medal of the United States Army by Major Donovan Kirk, Commanding Officer of the Camp Stoneman Station Complement. Prior to entering the Army, April 9, 1942, Pvt. West was an elementary instructor at Glenville. He was graduated from Glenville State College. His mother, Mrs. Essie West, lives at Troy.

The following changes in addresses have been made: 1st Lt. George G. Thompson, 315th Fighter Sq., 324 Ftr. Grp., APO 525, c-o postmaster, New York, N. Y.; S-Sgt. Gabriel A. (jg) Gaylord Hotel, Jones Street at Geary, San Francisco, Calif.; and Pfc. Harold Wilson, Co. B, 773rd M. P. Bn., San Diego, Calif.

Pfc. Samuel T. Wilson, 999th Med. Co. (S. P.), Fitzsimons General Hospital, Denver, 8, Colo. writes that he has been in Denver for the past four months, and it is a swell town for a soldier. He was picked to take a three-months advanced course in order to become a medical technician. He will finish on December 7, and hopes to get a furlough at that time. He said: "I saw in the paper that Billy Karantonis was located at Lowry Field here, that is about two miles from where I am stationed so I am going to look him up."

Sergt. James Woofter, First Sea Search Attack Grp., Langley Field, Va., and a friend, Staff-Sergt. William Burford, were in Glenville over the week-end for a visit with Sergt. Woofter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Carey Woofter.

Sergt. Earl Wolfe, Medical Section 1, Station Complement, Fort Belvoir, Va., spent the week-end in Glenville visiting his mother and sisters.

Sergt. Denver Thompson, Camp Seymour Johnson, Goldsboro, N. C., spent one day in Glenville the past week with his wife and parents.

Gordon Dale Rinehart, AS, is stationed at Area B-8, Platoon 1475, Camp Peary, Williamsburg, Va. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Erley Rinehart, is a graduate of Normantown High School and was a student in GSC at the time he entered service.

1st Lt. Harold L. Scott has been transferred to the U. S. Army basic flying field at Greenville, Miss., where he will serve as an instructor in physical education.

Jesse Ray Lilly, S 2-c, 29th Reg. Office, Brks. 3002, Great Lakes, Ill., had as a visitor the past week Leonard Cox, of Letter Gap. Mr. Cox is now working in a Navy dock at East Chicago. Jesse says that he sure would like to see more of the "ole Glenville stock."

Mrs. Nora V. Roberts, Verona Mappel Hall house director, went to Spencer Friday evening on a business trip.

student: "Beautiful!"
ESTELLA BONNER, senior: "I'm glad that I'm still here to take classes in it."

EDNA RUTH ELLYSON, freshman: "I think it is beautiful."

SCOT WITHERS, high school student: "I'd like to be around here" . . . referring to the physics lab.

THE REV. LLOYD AREHART: "It's a fine building. If there were an air raid I'd want to be on the second floor."

Now some of the former students who left before the building was completed . . . RUDDLE REED, JR. said, "I'm coming back to have classes in the new Science Hall."

WILLIAM WHETSELL, now serving in the Army Air Corps, wishes "that the Science Hall had been finished before I left."

EARLE SPENCER said, "I wish we could have had zoology in the new Science Hall."

MRS. SARAH WHITING IS IMPROVING SLOWLY

Mrs. Sarah Whiting, who suffered a fractured hip recently, is reported to be recovering at the Union Protestant Hospital, in Clarksburg. Mrs. Whiting is the mother of Hunter Whiting, College instructor, who visited his mother during the week-end.

STUDENTS WILL GET A SPECIAL DINNER NOV. 22

Peggy Sweeney spent the week-end at her home in Pullman.

SAYING IT WITH SONGS

DEARLY BELOVED.*

LAST NIGHT I decided to SAY A PRAYER FOR THE BOYS OVER THERE before I HIT THE ROAD TO DREAMLAND. I HAD THE CRAZIEST DREAM. I just WONDER WHEN MY BABY'S COMIN' HOME. I went to the home of the FUDDY DUDDY WATCHMAKER where I met JOSEPHINE and JIM, LOUISE, and DOLORES was there with MY BILL AS WE WALKED INTO THE SUNSET WHO should we meet but MY BUDDY, JOHNNY ZERO, who had just bought a STRING OF PEARLS on HARVARD SQUARE for ICE COLD KATIE. I awoke with a start when BRO-THER BILL came in, a trifle late, MAYBE, from the dive of JITTER-BUG JOE. The STARDUST was sprinkled over your picture and suddenly I noticed that MOONLIGHT BECOMES YOU.

I'm WISHING CONSTANTLY that I could hear you WHISPERING to ME ALONE, "I'M COMING HOME FOR CHRISTMAS." Let me hear from you SOON, if you don't I'm GONNA SIT RIGHT DOWN AND WRITE MYSELF A LETTER in order that I may REMEMBER ALL THE THINGS YOU ARE. THERE ARE SUCH THINGS AS ? HAPPY HOLIDAY.

YOURS,
ELOISE.

A TINGE OF HUMOR

A man, who had been spending a convivial evening with some friends, was returning home in a merry mood when he chanced to see something written on a board fixed to a lamp-post, so he climbed up to read it. When he climbed down again he remarked to himself, "Wet paint! What a lucky thing I saw that!" (a moron, eh?)

Rookie (studying famous 1917 war poster of Uncle Sam pointing his finger, with the caption "Where do you fit?"): "I dunno where I fit, but me father fit in the Civil War."

The reason why more cigarettes are smoked in America than in all other countries combined is that in other countries a man has time to ream out his pipe and fill it occasionally.

An elderly English gentlewoman strolled into a barn where a young man was milking a cow. With a snort she asked, "How is it you are not at the front, young man?" "Because, madam," he answered, "there ain't no milk at that end."

C. O.: "Not tell me, what's your idea of strategy?"

Boot: "It's when you're out of ammunition but keep right on firing."

"Would you like to see a model home?"

"Glad to. What time does she quit work?"

Bill Hardman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ross Hardman, Glenville, and a former student, was a visitor in Glenville the past week. He is employed in a defense plant in Baltimore.

Etta Jane Judge visited Leona Williams at her home in Norman town this past week-end.

IN THE NATION'S CAPITAL
They Satisfy
NOT A SLOGAN BUT A FACT

You Can't Beat Their Milder Better Taste

There's no busier place than Washington, D. C. It's the control room of America's mighty war machine. And Chesterfield is the busiest cigarette in town. It's on the job every minute giving smokers what they want. Its Milder, Cooler, Better Taste makes it the capital smoke. You can't beat Chesterfield's Right Combination of the world's best cigarette tobaccos for real smoking pleasure. Make your next pack Chesterfield . . . You can't buy a better cigarette.
