

By Dick Workman

Because of the controversial nature of Mercury Musings in last week's paper, two female members of the staff, Jean Nottingham and Betty Lydick, have been asked to write today's column. The ladies speak for themselves.

In reply to Mr. Workman's column of the past week, we should like to put him straight on the supposition that "Women are good for only thing," for in our opinion he has some mistaken ideas.

We agree with "Workie" that money is not the root of all evil, but strongly protest the idea that women are any more the cause of evil-doings than are the men. Also, more of the nation's crimes are committed by men than by women.

And incidentally, while we're on the subject of changing our minds, men seem to enjoy this as thoroughly as do the women. Naturally this is everyone's equal privilege, and we can't notice that any women have tried to get a patent, copyright, or in any other manner, restrain men in this practice.

Speaking of appearances, we think that he is quite misinformed in saying that women are vain about their appearances. Of course, they desire to appear as attractive as possible, but this is only natural and is done chiefly for the benefit of the other sex. Surely, no one would approve of women displaying themselves in public in a pair of jeans and a plaid shirt on every occasion.

As for being unmannerly, we feel confident that we sincerely and truthfully can say that women are as mannerly, if not more so, than men. Why is it that on a bike a man will sit indifferently on the seat while a lady stands up with a baby in one arm and groceries in the other. We're not exaggerating either—it's happened more than once.

You say that women have selfish attitudes. We don't see how the men could notice it. They almost invariably want their own

Yum, Yum—Ham 'N Eggs Seen For Kanawha

By Blondena Fitzpatrick

"Meat shortage currently existing in Kanawha hall dining room should be relieved soon," Doy Fitzpatrick, superintendent of buildings and grounds, told a MERCURY reporter last night as he lovingly eyed his 40 fattening swine at the college farm with a knowing gleam in his eye.

Chowhounds who go for the less romantic but more filling spuds and beans in a big way also may take re-assurance in the fact that ample portions of these Gaelic tubers and ecstatic legumes are nurtured to the extent of 400 bushels per annum, Fitzpatrick proclaimed as he slyly stroked his mid-section.

Breakfast milk (for the hardy early riser) is produced in quantity by the dozen purebred milk hine, fed on succulent silage made from homegrown corn, produced at the 130-acre farm. This verdant tract is comprised of alluvial soil where 30 to 40 acres are under cultivation.

Glenville college's state farm is located one mile from Glenville in Northview addition. It was purchased in 1914 by the State Board of Control for the benefit of the college.

Vets To Receive Subsistence Pay By November 15

167 Vets Eligible R. T. Virgin States

Veterans subsistence checks should be received between Nov. 1 and 15, Robert T. Virgin, Veteran's Administration Training officer, told THE MERCURY last night.

Of 190 veterans enrolled at Glenville State college, subsistence sheets, paramount to being placed on the payroll, for 167 have been received, certifying that number for payment from the Richmond, Va., office of the Veteran's Administration, Mr. Virgin affirms.

Unforeseen peak enrollment of veterans in West Virginia colleges was seen by the VA representative as the reason why local veterans have not as yet received subsistence checks for September.

Discussing provisions of Public Law 346, Mr. Virgin declared that "A veteran student must maintain a 'C' average in order to qualify for and continue to receive subsistence."

He continued, "Any student who fails to maintain the required average will not be accepted in another college or university without first securing a recommendation from the training officer."

Outlines Provisions Of Bill
"To receive full benefits, each veteran must carry not less than 12 semester hours or its equivalent. Less than 12 but not less than nine semester hours, or its equivalent, will be counted as three-fourths time.

"Less than nine, but not less than six semester hour, or its equivalent, will be counted one-half time. Less than six semester hours will be counted one-fourth time."

Ghouls, Goblins Form Erie Revelry To Plague Oldsters On Hallowe'en

By Leo Mason

When the ghouls and goblins of Hallowe'en come from their places of hiding to play a one-night stand Thursday, current shortages, including corn, may affect the fun enjoyed by celebrants who will be compelled this year to find some new form of ammunition.

However, local sages do not fear that the usual resourcefulness of Glenville youth will be any the less effective this year and they predict some new and

"The Day"

Sunday evening brought to an end the excitement of Home-coming week-end to the majority of the students; but for Warren Cox, veteran student from Richwood, Sunday was "THE" day.

As students have added such words to their name as queen and pioneer, Mr. Cox tops it all by receiving the title, "Papa."

The stork delivered the Cox family their first child, an 8 lb. daughter, at 11:07 p. m., Sunday at Weston City hospital. She has been named Sharon Lynn.

The mother is the former Ella Vesta Fitzwater, who attended college in 1943-44.

Mr. and Mrs. Cox are not confronted by the housing shortage, as they live on the campus in a trailer equipped with conveniences of the modern home.

Hallowe'en Party Will Be Thursday

Spooks, witches, and goblins will walk through the eerie night Thursday from 8 to 11 p. m., when G. S. C. students go to the gymnasium for an annual costume Hallowe'en party.

Sponsored by the social committee, with Nina Craigie in charge, the following committees have been appointed:

Decorations: Thelma Ryan, chairman; Jim Frame, H. P. Reese, Elta Jane Judge, and Ross Morgan.

Refreshment committee: Eloise Boggs, chairman; Jean Boggs, Marlie Fleming, and Hastings Bailey.

Entertainment committee: Gladys Foster, chairman; George Adams, John Henderson, Peggy June Adams, and Eunice Cox.

An admission of five cents for students, and ten cents for outsiders will be charged. No one will be admitted unless they are in costume.

Former Student Now Teaches In Georgia

Charles Warren Lamb, college alumnus, now holds a position as coach with the Folkston Consolidated Schools, Folkston, Georgia, according to a letter received by the MERCURY editors.

Election Holiday Is Planned For Monday

In order to permit students to return to their homes to vote in the Mid-term election, classes will not be in session on Monday, November 4. Tuesday is a national holiday and classes will be dismissed for this day too.

Classes that would be in session on Monday will convene on Saturday, November 2.

Dean Crawford expressed belief that more students would be present on Saturday than on Monday.

Class recitations will resume at 8 a. m., Wednesday morning.

Another holiday to which to look forward is Monday, Nov. 11, Armistice Day.

Baptists To Show Technicolor Film

Vivid full-color scenes from astronomy and natural science are featured in "The God of Creation," sound motion picture to be shown tonight at 7:30 p. m., at First Baptist church of Glenville, according to the Rev. Mr. Cornelius DeBlock, pastor.

Produced in the West Coast laboratory of Moody Bible Institute by Irwin A. Moon, S.D., "The God of Creation," is the second in a series of evangelistic films. The first film produced by Doctor Moon titled "They Live Forever," has experienced wide dissemination throughout the country.

In the opening scenes of "The God of Creation," the audience takes a trip to the stars by means of solar photography, taken through the giant 100-inch telescope of Mt. Wilson Observatory in Southern California, and views complex gyrations of the solar system.

Lapse-time photography is utilized to demonstrate the beauties of natural science. The illusion of flower buds developing into full-blown blossoms in a few seconds is created through this time-compressing photo technique.

Reverend DeBlock says, "The faculty and students at Glenville State college are invited to see this picture."

Crawford Speaks At Registrars Meet

"The Characteristics of a Good College Catalogue" was the subject of a talk given by Dean Robert T. Crawford at the annual conference of the West Virginia association of collegiate registrars at Clarksburg last week.

Dean Crawford spoke on the problems facing the group and then led a round-table discussion in which the value and improvements were considered.

At the meeting J. Everett Long, registrar, West Virginia university, was named president for the coming year and S. L. McGraw, registrar, Concord college, was elected secretary.

Josephine Hammond spent the week-end at her home in Richwood. She was accompanied home by Frances Lawrence.

Luzader Scores 12, Frame 6, Fazio Gets Extra Point

Garcia Carries Ball 51 Yards In Rushes

The Pioneers overcame the losing habit to win from Shepherd State Rams, 19-0, Saturday, at Shepherdstown. Touchdowns by Luzader in the second and third periods and Frame in the last, with Fazio kicking the extra point, accounted for Pioneer scores. Never, throughout the game, were the Rams within scoring distance.

Garcia was leading ground-gainer with a total of 51 yards. Also outstanding in the backfield was Luzader, who intercepted two passes in midfield and crossed the goal with both, although one was moved back to the 15 stripe on a penalty.

First Quarter

Luzader's kick was taken in the end zone by Hamilton, returned to the 25. Rams ran three plays and punted to Wilson on his own 20. Wilson returned to the 35. Another exchange of punts placed the ball on Glenville's 37 yard mark. Luzader quick-kicked and the ball was downed on Shepherd's 12. Two more kicks by each team forced the play to Ram's 20, where the period ended.

Second Quarter

Pioneers recovered Ram's fumble on Shepherd 43. On third down Garcia gained ten for a first down. Two plays later Garcia smashed through for a 20-yard gain. Runs by Williams and Garcia netted only three yards. On last down a double fumble lost four yards and Shepherd immediately kicked out from the 13. When the Rams regained possession, they took to the air. Butler's second pass was intercepted by Luzader, who pedaled 50 yards to score, behind quickly-forming interference.

Third Quarter

Midway in this period Kellel covered a fumble on the Ram's nine, setting up the second score. Short dashes by Wilson, Luzader, and Williams brought the ball to the four. Luzader, on fourth down scored on a lateral play around right end. Fazio's attempted kick went wide. Following the kick-off and punts by each team, Lilly recovered Myers' fumble on the Rams' 32. Home-coming Event A Success

Home-coming, as evidenced at the Thirteenth Annual celebration, is just as important as ever to the students and alumni of Glenville State college. Even though four years have elapsed since the last one was held, the enthusiasm that was shown here last week is proof that Home-coming is still an event of major importance.

Practically anyone who has ever been associated with the college looks forward from year to year to the coming of this event with much anticipation. We feel that those who came back for Home-coming this year were not disillusioned.

Throughout the one day of events, coronation, parade, football game, and the concluding feature, the alumni dance, enthusiasm ran high. No one can justifiably claim the Home-coming was anything short of colossal this year.

To achieve this success there must have been capable leadership, cooperation between student body and alumni, and an effervescent college spirit on the part of all.

It is heartening in these days of changing values, in a postwar world of confusion and conflict, that students and alumni of Glenville State college can ally their collective efforts in carrying forward the strong traditions which have made and will continue to give us a college of which all well may be proud.—by Helen Cox.

Children Need Clean Toilet

It was called to our attention last week by the father of a five-year-old child, that the toilet used by the first and second graders in the administration building of the college, is unsanitary. (He used stronger words.)

Upon investigation we found the following: No lights, apparently the place never even had been wired. The one window was high and dirty, admitting very little light. (2) It was dirty. Both the floor and the equipment were dirty and wet, not just damp, but wet! Cobwebs hung profusely about the walls and ceiling. Either the commodes and urinals would not flush, or had not been flushed. Used paper lay about the seats and floor. The odor was not pleasant. (3) The equipment was inefficient and ill-adapted to use by small children. There was no lavatory and no soap. The urinal was too high for the use of children.

The person who called our attention to this told us that he saw one of the smaller children tip-toeing in an unsuccessful attempt to reach the urinal. "I wouldn't let my kid go to school here," he said.

Two girls who investigated the condition of the girls toilet reported only slightly better conditions.

Although the grade school janitor, who apparently, heretofore, did not know that it was his responsibility, has cleaned up the worst of the condition, it still will not be an ideal place for use by children until suitable equipment is installed. If necessary a urinal could be dismantled of sheet metal with the aid of a few Seabees. We have seen it done. A light and a lavatory must be procured at the earliest possible opportunity. These children must not be exposed to these dangerously unsanitary conditions for any length of time greater than is absolutely inescapable!

led, so young gentlemen graciously consent to escort young ladies "down town," shielding their fair frauleins from the illusory evils of darkness.

In some instances the girls discover to their dismay that they have evaded the occult forces, but are most assuredly in the clutches of the "wolf man."

Theoretically Halloween prevails only one night a year. Many upright Glenville home-owners could convince one, (while noticeably suppressing their desire to employ profanity), that Halloween, at least in the minds of the younger generation, has its beginning the first week in October and continues for at least one month.

During this period the perfidious little playmates assemble nightly to perform their artful acts of fighting the less imaginative grown-ups. Their methods are unusually ingenious for their ages. They deprive, by their various and secret means, many an adult of a restful night's sleep.

In the north of England, Halloween is known as "Nuttercrack Night." If the youngsters' pranks long continue, and older individuals bring into action their verbal threats, there are going to be a number of little cracked "nuts."

Homer Paul Heckett, '46, and a teacher in Clarksburg, spent Saturday on the campus.

Former Student Wed To Charles W. Atkins

Announcement is made of the marriage of Miss Helen Clark, former Glenville college student, to Charles W. Atkins.

The ceremony was performed by Rev. Mr. Howard Wilfong, of Buckhannon, at the parsonage on Sept. 19.

For her marriage, the bride chose a street-length dress of poudre-blue with navy and white accessories. A shoulder corsage of pink rosebuds completed her costume.

The bride was attended by her sister, Miss Elizabeth Clark, who graduated from Glenville State college in 1944; and Miss Betty J. Atkins, sister of the bridegroom.

Mrs. Atkins is a graduate of Weston high school with the class of 1940, and has been employed, for the past three years, at the Goodyear Aircraft in Akron, Ohio.

Mr. Atkins is a graduate of Weston high school class of 1940. He served sixty-three months with the U. S. Army Ordnance, of which two years were spent overseas. At the present time he is employed as a printer for a Buckhannon newspaper.

The couple is residing in Buckhannon.

Dick Glass and George Shumaker, students at West Virginia university, spent the week-end as guests of Bill Judge and Richard Workman.

On The Campus

By Janet Boggs

Tuesday til Tuesday goes fast, and another week is past — and plenty of people have had plenty of time to do plenty of things since last week—as usual. So if you all will please just forgive us for being nibby, here's what new and different.

We think a certain campus femme fatale owes an apology to some people for what she's been telling. After all, there were a few people at the Home-coming dance who were still sober besides her O. A. O. and her. So, please, Miss Rumor Spreader, can that stuff.

Alma Grace Douglas says she likes the idea of Kentucky's being the only state with no three day wait for a marriage license. Why? You tell us, "Doug," huh?

People we admire a lot are those who manage to make it to church every Sunday morning — and so many students really do, too! But isn't it a temptation to sleep late when Sunday morning comes? You know it!

Hi there "Aunt" Sue Carroll and "Papa" Warren Cox! Babies make the difference—in the titles, we mean.

Betty Jo Simon has changed again. This time it's Winston Collins who seems to be in the lead where she's concerned. But who will it be next week?

Frank Kellel seems to be kinda interested in a certain little blonde freshman. What's the matter, Kellel, can't you use your great big football shoulders to shove out that other fellow who takes up all her time?

Jewell Caine has a new interest in life—or at least it kinda looks that way this week. The answer: Bob Creasy.

Why has Eugene Lee all at once become so much interested in elementary teaching? First (Continued on Page Four)

On The Local Screen

By Jean Nottingham

Tonight all you gals can thrill to the love-making of Alan (What a guy!) Ladd. Co-starring is Veronica Lake, who incidentally, is the "doll" that appeared opposite Alan in "This Gun For Hire." This cinematic offering, "The Blue Dahlia," is supposed to be one of his best and is guaranteed to be a hair-raising mystery. So for devotees of suspense, action, and murder mysteries, this all adds up to your favorite dish. In the supporting cast is William Bendix.

Thursday and Friday, MGM's "Two Sisters From Boston," provides the entertainment angle at the Pictreland. In the leading roles are Kathryn Grayson, June Allyson, Lauritz Melchior, and Jimmy (the schnozzle) Durante. With Allyson, who is so-o-o easy on the eyes, the singing of Grayson and Melchior, the wise-cracking of Durante plus romance and music—what more could you ask for? With a cast such as it has, it's sure to go over, but definitely!

"Girl On The Spot"

On Saturday, Universal's "Girl On The Spot" occupies the number one position at the PT. The more prominent characters are portrayed by Lois Collier and Jess Barker. This is another drama with plenty of music. It's about a girl singer who becomes a number one witness in a gangster slaying and how she eventually (don't they always?) finds fame and ROMANCE. Another horse opera completes the program.

November 3-4, the much talked about "The Postman Always Rings Twice," which was written by James M. Cain, appears at the Pictreland. This is a slow-paced and sordid drama. This offering proves to be more depressing than entertaining, but is sure to make theater cash registers play a merry tune. With Lana Turner and John Garfield heading the cast, this is sufficient to bring in Mr. and Mrs. Public Lana (Hubba, Hubba!) Turner is enough to make some people think they got their money's worth even though the picture isn't up to expectations.

This week's film-fare at the Lyric is again made up of re-released films. On October 31, and November 1, "Rebecca" is to be shown again.

November 2-3, "The Plainsman," will be featured. Starring is Gary Cooper. This picture should be well worth your time.

Barr's punt was downed on Glenville's 20. From here Ball, Fazio and Luzader moved it to their own 40. On the next play Kimbler's long pass was gathered in by Fitzpatrick, who was downed on the three-yard mark. Luzader went through for one, and Frame scored on a Quarterback sneak from the two. The first meeting will be of an exploratory nature. Mr. Clark states, and a panel of educators will discuss with the committee ways and means of improving teacher education.

The committee believes that out of the discussion they will be able to direct its future study and action.

Sports DOWNWIND

By Dick Whiting

Looks as if the Glenville State boys rolled up that initial victory Saturday at the expense of Shepherd State. The Pioneers started off like a house afire and pushed over three touchdowns before the panhandle boys had a chance to find out the numbers of the blue and white jerseys.

If you will recall, our last week's prediction of the Shepherd game was 19-6 in favor of the Hilltop youngsters. We almost had that score worked to a perfection, but guess we overrated the apple-pickers by one touchdown.

Just watch the call on coming games, as we now have a pretty good average.

What a game there will be at Keyser this Saturday! Our Pioneers are primed for a real upset. Finally the offense is beginning to roll and if the cogs continue to pour on the oil, and the hubman keep up their sparkling defensive play, maybe at the end of the contest a new team will be leading the football conference.

You know upsets happen everyday, and why can't our boys pull one for a change? All is needed, is our defensive men to take off as Whirlaway in the stretch, and pick up about 300 yards of that sacred real estate. Just a splash from the dope bucket, our number is Glenville by 13 to 7. Better fasten your belts for a fast ride.

Although, Potomac State is now leading the conference, we still like the looks of Joe Bartlett's men from West Liberty. With a line-up similar to the one Fordham had some six years ago, the Hilltoppers have been knocking some fast teams. From the score of these ball games, there appears to be one of the state's top elevens.

The local high school, boasting a record for the last two seasons, of 14 wins against 2 losses, will step into the big time this week when they take on Roosevelt Wilson at Clarksburg. The Glenville gridders will be put to a real test in this game, as the Presidents have been knocking a few of the Big Ten teams out of action.

Coach Harold Scott, former college star, promised that the Red Terrors will have quite an attractive basketball schedule this year. In the making is games with Fairmont West and numerous other big ten teams. With a number of lettermen featuring, Coach Scott's outlook for winning team is very bright.

This scribe thinks one great thing our current football team lacks, is the whole support of the college students. Throughout the season the student body has shown little support and is lacking the good ole college spirit.

We do have an outstanding football team, but so far they have been just a victim of bad breaks. Coach Ratliff, tutoring his first season here, has done a capable job. This columnist, plus Skebo Lorentz, local Rexall man,

Undeclared Cats Oppose Pioneers Abroad Saturday

Potomac State Tops College Conference

Seeking victory number two of the current season, the Pioneers will journey to Keyser, Friday, where they will tangle with the Potomac State Catamounts.

At this point the northern lads are boasting an undefeated team, successful in seven starts, and are now well out in front in the West Virginia Collegiate conference.

This game should prove to be one of the highlights on the Glenville schedule, as the Gilmer lads now have just rounded into a game winning combination.

Boys In Blue Have Defense

The boys in blue and white will be out to stop Horace Lough's teamsters, with their outstanding defense against both ground and aerial warfare. In previous games a hard fought battle from beginning to end has resulted.

The Pioneers will be forced to leave early Friday morning on a long trip, in order to reach Keyser in time for a Friday practice session. A squad of 34 players, two managers, will accompany Coach Ratliff.

have been ardent backers of the Pioneers. All we need now is the support of the college lads and lassies, and the alumni and the situation will be well in hand. Just remember, be a "BOOSTER not a knocker."

Lets all get set for that D&E game here on November 9. Give those boys, who have spent many long hours of endless toil shaping for this game, our full support. A moral; a well-organized cheering section is a good cheering section.

way in everything. It would seem the women are either too ignorant or too backward to know what to do. However we have a different conception of this. It seems to us as if the women are doing very well for themselves—socially as well as materialistically.

We were practically overjoyed to find that "Workie" DID give women credit for being useful in making a home. We'll have to agree with him on this point. But what of all the many other services rendered by women such as teaching and nursing? Are these unworthy occupations and aids to humanity? We think not.

If the men acted as normally as they should at all times, the women wouldn't have to change their ideals or ideas so often. But of course the women always get blamed for everything anyway.

"Workie" seemed to think the women were exceptionally jealous and gossiped all the time. Down through the ages, the idea has grown up that women are "gossipy," but if the men acted as they should, maybe the women wouldn't have so much to talk about.

After all these defenses of the fairer sex, perhaps Mr. Workman will now see why we contend that women are good and realize that we do have a few ideas.

For many, many years, men denied women the right to own or hold property. Yet it was these same women who sacrificed and saved in order to help their mates acquire this property. Is this evidence that men desired equality and democracy?

Also, for a long period of time, women were denied the privilege of voting and holding public office, and were it not for the efforts these women put forth, they would still be in a rut.

Men seem to forget that it was the women who cared for them in their infancy and childhood. It seems that this alone would entitle them to an equal status with men.

Women have done much to overcome the main handicap with which they are faced—that of being the so-called weaker sex.

grade, that is. Could it be that he just naturally likes babies... yeah, if its name is Eloise Wolfe. Could be...

Just in case there's anyone who hasn't noticed, Ellen McHenry and Junior Stemple have been seen around together a lot lately. That's right, isn't it, you two?

Now, "Rusty" Stalnaker, you'll never make all A's if you don't drop some of your outside activities. Better make it either football managing or orchestra, 'cause naturally, we know you don't want to drop Leona... well, but naturally.

Last week-end one former student may not have been able to make it back for Homecoming, but he was certainly well-represented here. The cute little Spencer drum major proudly told us, "My daddy went to school here." His father? Look on the plaque in the Ad building. "Pfc. Harold P. Cottle, France—October, 1944."

Dick Workman, thank you so much for being at least so kind as to consider us of the weaker sex (physically, that is) a "necessary evil." We really appreciate such a compliment from you! But, if your column shows your true feeling for women, tell us now, why the gardenias and telephone calls? We just don't quite understand.

Ray Watson has a new way of occupying his time—besides football, that is. This time it's Beatrice Stewart who's the main topic of interest as far as Watson is concerned.

Anna Mae Heater, we hear you're waiting around for somebody else this week. Norman Sheets. We also hear that you think he's just simply too cute!

Foster Will Attend

Miss Myers Has Guests

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Post, of Bridgeport, were the guests of Miss Ivy Lee Myers Homecoming week-end.

Mr. Post, a former instructor, has been interested in college activities since his retirement.

Tests Replace Chapel

There will be no assembly program Thursday. The hour set aside for that purpose will be used to conclude freshmen tests, from 10 to 12 a. m.

This test was given to veterans at a previous date and because of a shortage of tests at that time it was not given to all students.
