Veterans To Meet Here

From the looks of things Glenville State veterans certainly started something when the Veterans organization was formed. At a meeting to be held in the near future here in Glenville, state wide veterans will meet to discuss state affairs and veterans problems.

It is hard to predict what will happen in the future but if all the state veterans were organized they would certainly present a faction that could not be over-looked by anyone. As stated when the club was first organized it will not be a pressure group but just a meeting to determine just what problems the veterans have in common.

In addition to bring out problems of the veterans it will help bring the college students of the state closer together and will in time give the future educators of the state an idea of the type of citizen they will have helping them advance education in West Virginia.

Library Books Are Donated

The library recently received several books by donation, one of the most interesting and probably one of the most valuable is the complete works of James Whitcomb Riley, ten volumes.

Senior class rings that have been ordered since November have finally arrived. With apologies to the campus, we wonder how long it will be until the rings start changing hands. Not long, from the looks of things going on around the campus. Well, the basketball game between the Holy Roller court and the high school seniors is really going to be played this year Judge Jake recently announced.

The college needs some more of the same kind of publicity among the high school from whence the freshmen will be coming next year. If the high school seniors learn that "they are pretty good fellows over there after all" it would keep the enrollment up and the increased veteran enrollment isn't going to last forever.

Dance Is Being Planned

A spring dance is also being planned by the Holy Roller court and a few more social functions on the campus wouldn't hurt anything. According to the bulletin board, if any organization wants to sponsor a social function the social committee has to be notified.

It might be that some organizations aren't sure whether they can afford to sponsor an outing.

Wouldn't it be better if the special committee just set a shorter specified time to be notified before a desired dance or party is to be held instead of an entire semester. I'm just wondering and probably wrong at that.

After compiling all the facts on accidents and discovering that the college students was affected more than any other one group, Fonda Wellings proceeded to leave the library and fall down the steps. Better luck next time, Fonda, a word to the wise is sufficient.

Washington Is Revered, Even If Over-played

Whether or not George Washington ever told a lie, chopped down the cherry tree, or hurled the silver dollar across the Rappahannock river, is relatively unimportant, as Father of Our Country, is beloved by country. It is seen on postage all who believe in the American way.

One is not allowed to forget easily the name of "the father of his country." It is seen on postage stamps, streets, squares and highways. Is it amazing that Feb. 22, his birthday, is now a legal holiday in the United States?

Washington was born in 1732; the first recorded observance of his birthday outside his immediate family was at Valley Forge in 1778. On the old calendar his birthday was Feb. 11, and not until 1796 did the observance of Feb. 22, become general.

Pioneers Stop Wesleyan, 64-63

Reed's Free Throw Gives GSC Victory

Jesse Lilly Leads Wave With 24 Points; Reed 12

By Jack Rader

Beecher Reed, Pioneer forward, stepped to the foul line with two seconds remaining and sank the winning point to give the Pioneers a thrilling 64-63 win over the Wesleyan Bobcats last Friday in the local gym.

Fighting an uphill battle all the way, the hard-hitting White Wave tied the score 63-63 on Pritt's basket to set the stage for Reed's winning toss in the dying seconds.

The Pioneers broke into an early lead but Wesleyan soon tied it up and went ahead to a 20-15 first-quarter lead, and with Phillips and Oldaker setting the pace, spurred to a 35-27 halftime advantage.

Continuing their winning ways, the Bobcats sped to a 45-40 lead at the third quarter mark, only to have the fighting Pioneers come roaring back to tie the score and finally win.

Lilly Sets GSC Pace

Both teams lost players via the personal foul route in the hectic first-half. Marra, and Luzader were the Pioneers, and Oldaker, H. Brown, B. Lyon, and Phillips for the Bobcats.

Jesse Lilly set the pace with 24 points, followed by Beecher Reed with 12-10 of them free throws including the all-important game-winning conversion. Bill Phillips dropped in 19 for Wesleyan, while (Continued on Page 3)

In his address Prof. Clark outlined what was done last year in Gilmer county concerning the testing program.

Representatives from nine counties attended the conference. Counties represented were: Gilmer, Wetzel, Tyler, Wirt, Ritchie, Roane, Calhoun, Jackson and Pleasants.

Holy Rollers Will Play County Team

Plans for the second annual basketball game between Holy Roller court members and seniors from Gilmer county high schools, to be held in the college gymnasium sometime in March, were discussed by court members at a meeting held in Louis Bennett hall lounges Wednesday night.

• Pioneer Ace

Beecher Reed, Pioneer forward, accounted for 26 points against a top-favorite Salem Tiger five last week at Carmichael auditorium where the White Wave won 72-58. Reed is a graduate of Glenville high school where he was prominent in athletics.

Fairchild Is To Speak Here

An eminent sociologist will examine contemporary problems facing mankind in an address at Glenville State college auditorium when Dr. Henry Pratt Fairchild delivers a Lyceum address, at 8:15 p. m., Monday, Feb. 24.

"Population and Peace," will be the subject discussed by Dr. Fairchild, former professor of sociology at Yale and New York universities.

In the past this world traveler-lecturer has placed emphasis on American-Soviet relations and has urged world cooperation. As an analyst of world affairs he will attempt to search the panorama of world trends, the rise of communism, the problem of the peace in Europe for a possible solution in building One World.

As America goes into a second postwar year, declares Dr. Fairchild, world population is suffering from "growing pains" and vast sections of the world are depriving of the very essentials of survival.

Students will be admitted with student activity books while others will be charged the usual price for Lyceum programs.

Prof. Hunter Whiting, chairman of the Lyceum program committee has completed arrangements for the appearance of Dr. Fairchild in Glenville.

Bible Class Hears Rev. DeBlock's Views

By Rev. DeBlock's Views

Rev. Cornelius DeBlock, pastor of First Baptist Church, visited Prof. H. L. White's 8 a. m., New Testament class recently. Reverend DeBlock urged the Bible students in his brief talk to get all out of college now because the opportunity may not come again.

He told of his having quit school at an early age and having seen his mistake, returned to finish his education and prepare himself for his life's work. His general theme was to live with all your might while you do live and to make someone happy for your having lived.

State G I's Will Meet Here To Discuss Veteran Affairs

First Robin Appears

Arrival of the first robin, time-worn harbinger of springs, came a bit early this year as observers saw a lone robin searching for food last week on Glenville State college campus.

School Song Adopted Here

The Student body in charge of Hastings Bailey, acting president, voted to accept as the official one for the college the song written recently by Prof. H. L. White. The music was written by Miss Helen Wright, an alumnae, who is now teaching at Tanner.

According to Professor White, this is the first song adopted for the college since the one written by Fred Barnett some twenty years ago.

Two students, Frank Bowles, '47, of Fallonsbee, and Isabelle Whiting, '47, of Glenville, were nominated as candidates for the office of President of the student body. An election will be held this week.

During the Lincoln program given before the student business meeting, Joan Foreman gave The Gettysburg Address and Fred Norman read Lincoln's second inaugural speech, "With malice toward none, with charity for all—Let us bind up the nation's wounds."

The students also decided that they would not join Marshall college in asking for more appropriations from the state at this time.

Speech Meet Is Announced

A Speech Festival to be held at Fairmont State college March 13, 14, 15, is being planned by the West Virginia Intercollegiate Speech Association. Glenville State college will be represented.

According to the tentative program students from West Virginia colleges will take part in interpretation of poetry, extempore speeches, radio broadcasting, debates, and one-act plays.

Social activities will include a festival swim, party, dinner and dance. Alpha Psi Omega, national honorary dramatic fraternity, will have a convention and luncheon.

Glenville State college students will participate in oral interpretation, extempore speaking and one-act plays.

Members of the college speech department, whose director is Miss Opal Vincent, are currently rehearsing student participants in preparation for the statewide meeting.

Class Rings Arrive, Seniors Order Cards

Senior class rings have arrived. They are at Thompson's Rexall Store.

Clarence Hinkle president of the senior class called a meeting of the seniors at 12:30 p. m. Monday in the college auditorium. The class decided on the kinds of announcements and what style of writing they preferred.

Seniors ordered their announcements and calling cards.

Meeting To Be Held At GSC February 21-22

A statewide meeting of veterans will be held at Glenville State College Friday and Saturday, Feb. 21 and 22, to discuss state and veteran's affairs.

Glenville State Veteran's Organization plans to start the meeting Friday afternoon at 2:30, with a speaker from the West Virginia Department of Veteran's Affairs.

Letters have been written to all state, church, and business schools in West Virginia, informing them of a plan proposed by the veterans of this college to band together all college organizations in order to promote better relations between veterans of the late war and other citizens of the state.

All answers received are favorable and at least one representative from each of the 17 state colleges are expected to attend on Feb. 8, a second letter was sent to the college representatives informing them of the details of the meeting.

Subjects to be discussed are: Veterans—checks in advance, raise in subsistence allowance, state bonus, hospitalization, insurance plan. State affairs—appropriations to college, increased pay for teachers.

Correspondence completing arrangements for the two day convocation has been directed by John White, vice-president of the local vet group.

A tentative program, currently being mapped, includes a banquet, a speech by Delegate Rush D. Holt (D-Lewis) and attendance at the Glenville State versus West Liberty basketball game to be held here Friday, Feb. 21.

Students Give $7.32 To Polio Campaign

Contributions of $7.32 collected at a student dance on Feb. 7, in Glenville State college gymnasium were contributed to the March of Dimes polio drive.

H-Laban White, Gilmer county chairman, announces $522.13 already collected. The drive has no definite closing date and will terminate whenever all collections have been completed.

Army Attempts To Eliminate 'Mess' of Mess

The "mess" made of Army mess is on the down-grade.

The day of vivid green beans, fresh from the can, cold, and covered with vinegar will travel the same road with the "plop-plunk-splash" of spinach landing on a heap of mashed potatoes.

B. and C. grade will now:

1. Be secure against transfer to other jobs.
2. Enjoy higher grades with more pay.

(A chief warrant officer directing the feeding of a regiment will draw as much as a major—$443 per, including allowances.) All of this by order of General Dwight D. Eisenhower, who decreed that cooking is to become a career job.

For months, ten Army personnel have made the rounds of big restaurants and hotels learning how to keep their diners happy. A year ago they could have asked the same question of a few million victims of the system and had a variety of answers—most of them colorful.

Safety-First Pays Good Dividends

Accidents killed 100,000, injured 10,400,000 and cost the country $5,600,000,000 during 1946 according to a National Safety Council report. This toll was four per cent greater than that of 1945.

One person in every thirteen in the country suffered a disabling injury. The only age group to show a decrease in accident deaths was that of children 5 to 14 years of age. This is apparent evidence of the effectiveness of safety education among the school-age group.

Traffic accidents causing 33,500 deaths are in the lead with an increase of 19 per cent above that for 1945. In addition to auto fatalities, there were about 1,500,000 non-fatal traffic injuries.

Deaths in the home amounting to 34,000 increased one per cent over last year. Civilian public fatalities increased six per cent.

Are the American people just becoming more careless or are there definite reasons for the increases? One reason suggested is that it is partly the result of a war aftermath psychology and partly to an extremely large proportion of obsolete vehicles. However, accident increases show a careless attitude on the part of many.

The age group in which a large number of college students belong, 15 to 24, leads all other groups with a 12 per cent increase in accident deaths over last year. This is seven per cent more than any other age group.

Too many college students like all other groups seem to have the attitude that it couldn't happen to them. Statistics show that only too often it does.—Fonda Wellings.

The World Is Still Hungry

Many grave problems may be forthcoming in the wake of the passing of UNRRA, which thus far has been the chief force in feeding and clothing the war-ravaged, hungry people of the world.

The United Nations organization is concerned with far-reaching plans to offset the UNRRA expiration. Though the U. S. contributed 70% of the cost of UNRRA, we had little weight in determining where the supplies would be sent, and observers feel much of it is being wasted.

President Truman is expected to ask Congress for funds to meet these needs abroad, to augment the report of a United Nations meeting at Lake Success.

But above and beyond all this international word-baiting is the cold hard fact that people of the world are hungry and desolate and need supplies badly.

If our hopes for democratic countries is to come true, then economic, social, and political ills must be cured so the people will not want.—Jack Rader.

Teacher Pay, Education's Dilemma

Since this is mainly a teacher college, and inasmuch as a majority of students are potential teachers, the question of teacher pay should be appropos.

For many years teaching was one of the most respected of the professions in any community but in recent years when the cost of living has risen to new heights, the teacher's salary has not measurably increased.

Moreover, the profession is and has been losing some of its most promising and capable teachers to higher paying professions.

If West Virginia is to advance in education the pay for teachers will have to be commensurate with other professions so that the best quality teachers may be obtained. In buying any commodity quality is governed by price, and why should education bought for students be any different.

Every day the statement, "Well, I'm going to teach until I can find a job," can be heard without even asking.

Citizens must realize that if future generations are to be well educated it will require the best intelligence available in the teaching profession and to achieve this will require more than the present inducement to attract and hold them.

After spending the years acquiring an education, what does the teacher have to which to look forward? Even after a position is obtained whether or not he will remain in a community is still too much in the hands of politicians. Regardless of contracts each teacher is wondering each year where the board of education will see fit to place him for the following year.

This condition will have to be removed if the teacher is to give his entire attention to teaching youth.

Citizens of the state will have to guarantee the teacher a secure economic position if they expect a satisfactory and efficient corps of teachers.—Robert Reed

On The Campus

By Janet Boggs

Glenville students have been getting at least a taste of winter weather recently as the weather man does his best to keep the place all snowed under.

College students, along with the town small fry, have been right in there with shovels and sleds taking advantage of the ice and snow while it lasts.

We doubt whether there was a kid in town who spent any more time sleigh-riding and skating than Harry Britt did. . . did that boy miss any of it?

It isn't official or anything but will Etta Jane Judge be the next lucky wearer of a certain piece of jewelry for her third finger-left hand?

Mary Helen Reed should have heard it. . . Jack Rader's diary written for and read in English 412 class. Speaking of those two, it looks as if they have company at the score keepers bench. . . Frank Bowles and Jo Ann Foreman, that is.

Not many GSC students think that a certain campus couple is making itself anymore popular around here by yelling for the visiting teams at basketball games, or don't they care?

Here's one for the records. . . Mrs. Roberts and Miss Berry, VMH house mothers, referring to the young Robbies who come a-calling as the "fine young Gobblers." Now where did they ever pick that up.

What gives here? Are these two becoming more and more interested in each other or are they just merely discussing their war experiences and stuff? Nina Craiggo and Jack Miles, we mean.

We like Frank Bowles description of a man he knew who "progressed backwards a little every day."

Look what's new and different now. . . Jim Keeney and Joan Gardner going around together and keeping each other interested. . . at least, for the time that is.

Anyone interested in knowing any campus gossip not found in this column, see "Deacon" Whiting. He's way ahead along that line!

Women GI's at Glenville

Marie Fleming

A drill and a chisel whether used in a machine shop or in a dental clinic are much the same, says Marie Fleming, sophomore and ex-Wave.

Miss Fleming, who is taking pre-dental work here, enlisted in USNR (WR) Nov. 23, 1943 and after completing boot training at Hunter college in New York city, entered AMM school at Norman, Okla.

From there she went on the job at Alameda Naval Air station, Alameda, Cal., where she helped repair radar machines. As there was no further need for repair of gear after V-J Day, Miss Fleming was transferred to the dental clinic where she worked as a dental assistant.

One of the most interesting jobs she had was the engraving of Plexiglass radar dials for the aircraft carrier, Franklin, says Miss Fleming.

She attended GSC before entering the service and upon completion of her work here, plans to enter the school of Dentistry at the University of Maryland.

Her home is at Camden-on-Gauley, and she is a graduate of Cowen high school.

UNRRA to Continue To Distribute Food

UNRRA, though it officially ended on December 31, 1946, will continue to carry on until it has disposed of supplies allotted to destitute countries. This work should be completed in Europe by summer and in China by fall.

Relief needs for 1947 has been placed at 583 million dollars for Austria, Italy, Poland, Yugoslavia, Greece, and Hungary. China's needs have not yet been determined.

Kidd Library Is Recipient of Books

Robert F. Kidd library has recently received the following books as gifts:

The complete works of James Whitcomb Riley, ten volumes; "Let the People Know," Angell; "Cases on Business Law," Pomeroy; "Functions of Business," Jones, Tonne and Price; "Health Facts for College Students," Etheredge; "Health Education of the Public," Bauer and Hall; "Now I Lay Me Down to Sleep," Bemelman; "A History of Our Country," Allen; and "The Americana" Annual (1946).

Robert E. Allen gave the copy of his book, "A History of Our Country." Mr. Allen is father of Miss Mary Allen, college instructor.

The "Americana" annual was presented by A. H. McDonald, its editor-in-chief. He is a cousin of Miss Alma Arbuckle, librarian.

From the Mailbox

A few days ago in an English class the subject for a speech was "What is the place of Athletics in college?" It was almost unanimously agreed that sports should play a major role in college life; however, although it was mentioned no one made an issue of good sportmanship.

This letter is intended mainly for the guilty students and town people.

The brand of sportmanship shown by spectators during the home games of basketball this season has been a disgrace to the name of our school.

Although it was evident in all the games it was most obvious in the AB-Glenville game in that, a perfectly clean and honest game with excellent play on part of both teams, the AB team was booed as they came out to start the second half. In the same game when two of the Palaez brothers went out of the game because of fouls neither was applauded or cheered in any way after playing an excellent game.

Most fouls committed in the games are not intentional and even our own boys are given an encouraging cheer as they leave the game.

During the Concord-GSC game last week although many minor rules of sportmanship were broken the most obvious was the deafening roar set up by the fans as a Concord man got to shoot a foul in the final seconds of the game with the score tied.

It is true that excitement and tension may have been the cause but whatever the cause the Concord team could not help but leave Glenville with this display of poor sportmanship on their minds.

As teams come and go taking away incidents such as these in their misconception may be spread by minds it is very possible that this word of mouth and that Glenville may not continue to be respected in local sports as they have been in the past.

Don't you think this should be corrected before getting so bad that as students of Glenville, we'll be looked down upon?

Anna Mae Heater received slight head injuries Saturday afternoon after losing control of her sled while coasting down college hill.

South America? Take it away! But, no, we're bringing it back as "The Thrill of Brazil" comes on the screen at the Pictureland February 18-19 starring Evelyn Keyes, a blond bombshell, Keenan Wynn, and those delightful dancers, Velaz and Yolanda. "The Strange Mr. Gregory" will share the stage with "The Desert Horseman" as they visit the Pictureland screen on the eve of Washington's birthday. Beware of Mr. Gregory's hypnotic eye, for you may be sure it isn't Smiley Burnette, who plays in the second picture that he has a yen to entrance.

GSC Reverses Salem Tigers Quint, 72-58

Pioneers Hit Comeback Trail in Surprise Win Over Vaunted Salemites

An inspired Pioneer quintet which apparently didn't read that they were underdogs, rose to their greatest effort of the season to smack down a surprise Salem Tiger five 72-58 last Tuesday before a good crowd at Carmichael auditorium. It was their seventh triumph of the season against nine setbacks.

Paced by eagle-eyed Jesse Lilly and the sharp-shooting Beecher Reed, the Pioneers grabbed an early lead and held it throughout, though Salem threatened near the end of the first half and again in the final quarter. However, the hard-fighting White Wave beat down both threats.

Lilly Gets Hot

With Lilly ticking the cords with southpaw salvoes, the Pioneers jumped into a 13-9 first-quarter margin and hung on to a 28-26 halftime lead in spite of a Salem rally.

In the third quarter, it was Reed's turn and the former Glenville high school took up the scoring burden and preceded to put on a one-man scoring show as the Pioneers rammed 26 points through the hoop to Salem's 13 to lead 54-39 at the three-quarter mark.

In the final quarter, Salem outscored the Pioneers by a lone point as Wimer, who kept Salem in the game throughout, led a 19-point rally.

Reed Nets Top Score

Beecher Reed hit the hoops for 26 points, as did Fred Wimer. Salem forward, Lilly added 17, while Whiting, Harris, and Luzader were outstanding on defense.

The Pioneers sank 29 of 27 charity tosses while Salem scored 12 of 19 foul shots.

From The SIDELINES

By Jack Rader

To quote the great bard, "Me-thinks I am a prophet new inspired." Such was also the case of the Pioneer team in the Salem game last Tuesday at Carmichael auditorium. In spots, flashes of pre-war Pioneers glory appeared as they dubbed a surprise Salem Tiger quintet.

Beecher Reed and Jesse Lilly were never better on their "shooting eye" while Bob Whiting, though held to nine points, did yeoman service under both hoops. Joe Marra and Puky Luzader also scored timely markers while setting up many other scoring plays, in addition to doing some rebound work.

Pioneers Are Inspired

In general, it was an inspired Pioneer team that twisted the Tiger tail and it looks like they are on the road back. We shall see, my friends, we shall see!

We just heard the sad story of West Virginia University's loss to an equally-inspired Navy team. That leaves, at this writing, only one unbeaten team — Duquesne. Those words, of wisdom from sage Adolph Rupp keep ringing louder in our ears each upset.

Rupp Is Gloomy

At the beginning of the season Rupp basketball coach of the Kentucky Wildcats, said that it was awfully difficult for any team to go through a season of 20 games or more unbeaten. Well, the list is practically nil.

The lead in the West Virginia Collegiate conference keeps juggling around between Fairmont and Alderson-Broadus, as has been the case all season. Neither has been able to get any clear-cut margin over the other, and the rest of the ity tosses while Salem scored 12 of 19 foul shots.

Cats, Toppers To Face GSC

Potomac State Looms As Tough Nut Tonight

An improved Potomac State Catamount quintet will take the floor tonight against the Pioneers on the local hardwood in the first of two games scheduled for the White Wave this week.

The Cats recently put the skids on the Alderson-Broadus cage machine and will also be out tonight to avenge a one-point loss to the Pioneers in the latter's opening game on December 18.

It was only after a hectic struggle that the locals led by Whiting, emerged victorious. Kenny Sims, former Jane Lew high school star, is the Potomac sparkplug, assisted ably by Mike Yewic.

Another foe who hopes to turn the tables on the Pioneers—West Liberty—will invade on Friday. Earlier in the season, the locals handed the up-staters a 71-45 drubbing, but since then the Hilltoppers have improved rapidly.

Robinson and Clover are two asketers the Pioneers must watch. Coached by the veteran Joe Bartell, W-L has always proved tough competition for the locals.

conference teams seem unable to do much about it.

Red Terrors Look Good

Glenville's Red Terrors continue to cut a swath through Central West Virginia conference ranks as well as non-conference competition. Paced by high-scoring Bob Hardman, who incidentally looks like a good college prospect, Coach Nick Murin's lads appear headed for great things this season.

Among other strong quintets are Troy, Spencer, Weston and Cassaway, and any tournament time all should be able to provide hot competition in their sectionals.

Intramural Forms Court Round-Robin

Intramural sports gained new life recently when ten new teams were selected for the intramural league. A round-robin schedule has been arranged with a tournament following to determine the intramural championship.

Captains choosing the ten teams were: Hinkle, Higgins, Heater, Zuta, Hayes, Adams, Ball, Watson, Riley and Reuger.

First round of the schedule got under way with Watson's cager's defeating Ball's five, 19-18, in a closely fought contest. Riley's boys ran roughshod over Hinkle's team 32-15 and Heater defeated Adams in the nightcap 29-26.

Concord Wins On Free Toss

Brock, Concord center, stepped to the free-throw line with two seconds remaining and the score tied at 62-62 and coolly sank the winning point to give the Lions a 63-62 win over the luckless Pioneers in the local gym on February 8th, to climax an uphill struggle in the second half. It was the Pioneers' second consecutive one-point loss.

The Lions started out as though they would make it a runaway, as "Cotton" Walthall and Brock paced the visitors to a 23-8 first-quarter lead. In the second quarter, however, the Pioneers came back strong as Marra and Whiting hit consistently but a goal by Caldwell in the dying moments of the first half gave them a 35-33 margin at halftime.

Continuing their rally in the third quarter, the Pioneers sped to a 55-50 lead at the end of the quarter, but soon after began the succession of Luzader, Lilly, and Whiting to the showers to join Cristo via the personal foul route, and the Lions came roaring back finally tied it at 60-60 and then finally won on Brock's charity toss.

Brock's game-winning free toss also gave him high scoring honors for the evening with 20 points, followed closely by Bob Whiting's 19 for the locals.

Foster Takes Most Points

Betty Hardman's team was again the under-dog as Gladys Foster's team soared to victory to win 27-13 in Monday night's basketball game. Petite "Pete" Mills of Foster's team deserves honorable mention for a thorough job of guarding, aided by the able maneuvering of Rose Giron da, Foster chalked up 17 points for her team entitling her to the position of highest scorer of the evening.

Maxine Lowe's team won in an extra two minute period over Peg Adams' team 19-17 in the second game. The score at the half was tied 9-9, and again at the end, 17-17.

Jeannette Hamilton broke away from her guard in the last quarter to add six more points to her former field goal, clinching the game for Lowe's team.

Thelma Ryan was high for Adams' team with nine points, and Lowe added ten points to the score for her team.

Only when the last game threatened to end in a free-for-all did Referee Allen call a technical foul on both Wanda Burkhammer and Joan Foreman's team, settling the players down to a less vigorous pace. Burkhammer's team won the game 27-21 when Grace Palmer began laying shots into the basket. Foreman played a noteworthy game, going first as guard then changing to forward to add 13 points to the total 21. Palmer made 12 points for Burkhammer's team.

Ruth Brady visited with Iris Hefner at her home in Burnsville last week end.
