Training Teachers Will Take Charge of Troy School

Rengers Will Be Principal
During Two-Day Vacation
Of Regular Faculty Staff

By Perry Smith

Thirteen student teachers from Glenville State college will take over the administrative and teaching duties of Troy high school April 13 and 14. The regular faculty staff of the school will participate in a two-day regional county workshop.

Dan Rengers, senior from Portsmouth, Ohio, and editor of the Mercury, will serve as principal of the school, while the other twelve members of this group will take the remaining teaching positions to be offered. Final approval will be given this week.

The students and the classes they will conduct are as follows. In the secondary group: Dan Rengers, principal, and instructor in English, Noreen Cobb, home economics; physical education for women, Mary Frances Henry; Ralph Quinn, phys. ed. for men; English, John Romano; science and mathematics, Gordon Rinehart; science, Vandall Bingham; social studies and mathematics, Donald Cobb, and a 70-ag teacher who is to be named later.

In the elementary group are: first grade, Ava Nell Loudin; second and third, Grace Holcomb; fourth, Margaret Kiggins; and teaching the fifth and sixth grade will be Robert J. Blake.

According to Dean Edwin P. Adkins, "This is being done in connection with the Glenville State college policy to co-operate with public schools in central West Virginia."

It is thought by college officials that this two-day participation by local training-teachers will give them a considerable amount of experience that they would not have gained otherwise.

After the conclusion of the two-day reign their work will be evaluated by college supervisors who will have watched closely their actions during the period.

Prof. H. Y. Clark of the local education department assisted in making plans for the two-day program.

Mercury Musings

By Dan Rengers

When the "grade" line formed outside of Dean Kingsley's office last week, it reminded many students of the old fashioned GI pay line. Some came out smiling, some came out with fallen faces and many came out, period.

From a number of students who have voiced their opinion concerning the appearance of the Charleston symphony orchestra which will present a program here May 7, the administration needs to be congratulated for securing such a "above the average" lyceum program.

I have heard from many who attended the annual Easter dances say that it was one of the best given by the Kappa Sigma Kappa fraternity since that organization began sponsoring dances. Some say the music was terrific!

Cecil Johnson, a versatile pitcher on Coach Ratliff's baseball team is trying out with the Brooklyn Dodgers at one of their Maryland camps. We hope the "Big Train" signs the dotted line when the try-out is over.

Congratulations of the week are in store for Prof. Marvin Newman who has made it possible for Glenville college students to participate in bridge playing. Under the direction of Mr. Newman, a bridge tournament will be held in the college lounge, April 17. Select a partner and you are qualified to enter.

Every spring a dog, that is extremely friendly makes the campus its home. I think that the student body should see that "mans best friend" does not starve. There

GSC STUDENT COUNCIL MAPS ELECTION PLANS

Election Committee Will Nominate Students: Four
Offices Will Be Vacant

By Bill Harper

Preliminary plans are being formulated for the election of Student Council officers on Wednesday and Thursday, April 19 and 20. President Louis Kania announced yesterday.

Kania said an election committee has been appointed, which will nominate two members of the student body for each office. Van Bingham, Mary Ann Heal and Charles Adams are the members of this committee.

In the past, an assembly has been held in the auditorium at which any student was allowed to nominate someone of his own choice. However, this year, because of the inavailability of the auditorium, the president announced that any person wishing to nominate candidates other than those selected by the committee will be allowed to appear before the student council at their April 4 and 11 meetings in room 105 of the Science hall.

Posts to be filled are those of president, vice-president, secretary, and treasurer. The polls will open at 1 p. m. April 19, and will close at 12 noon April 20.

Qualifications for the officers are listed in the constitution. Kania said, and he observed that anyone interested in making nominations should first consult the rules regarding elections in order to save time and effort.

Kania also reported that class officers will be elected on April 22.

PROF. H. Y. CLARK GETS NEW POST

Prof. H. Y. Clark was appointed director of field service and extension for Glenville State college at the last meeting of the State Board of Education.

This office was established to promote the carrying of the services of the college beyond the campus. Some of Professor Clark's duties will be to have charge of organizing extension classes, to attend educational meetings, to conduct off-campus testing programs, to supervise off-campus training teachers, to be available for county services that the college perform, and to participate in county workshops as consultant.

In announcing Professor Clark's appointment, Dr. Harry B. Heflin, president, said: "Although the college has performed many of these services in the past, this is the first time an attempt has been made to correlate the services under one person. Professor Clark will be available to all schools within the

GSC Host For Band Festival

High School Bands To Perform Under C. Brown

Glenville State college will serve as host for the Regional Band Festival April 22.

Six high school bands who have already expressed their wishes to appear are: Elizabeth high school, Ripley high school, Clay county high school, Spencer high school, Grantsville high school, and Webster Springs high school.

Other bands who may participate are: Gassaway high school, Burnsville high school, Weston high school, and Harrisville high school.

Clifford W. Brown, West Virginia University, will serve as Adjudicator and Harold S. Orendorff will act as chairman.

This festival is a region of the West Virginia Bandmaster's association and has been established this year. Schools may select the region which they wish to enter on the basis of ease of transportation and local conditions such as overcrowding.

Bands are classed according to enrollment of sponsoring school. Those placed in I or II are eligible to enter the State Band Festival in Huntington on May 4, 5, and 6.

Buffet Supper Is Served By Wesley Movement Group

Wesley Foundation movement entertained Saturday evening at the Methodist church, with a buffet supper. Games were played and group singing was held. Lois Martin, president of the organization on the campus, was in charge.

Work To Begin Soon On School Site Here

Work will begin in about 30 days on the excavating and preparing of a site for the new Glenville State college training school building.

This was announced after the awarding of a contract to the Byron Construction Company of Clarksburg at a meeting of the Gilmer county board of education. The Clarksburg company submitted the low bid during bidding by 12 contractors from various sections of the state. The low bid was $19,575.07, it was reported.

The project includes preparation of the tract of more than five acres adjoining the Pine Manor Addition and facing mostly on Walnut street. The school will serve as high, grade and training school. Plans for the bidding were made at a recent meeting of the board of education.

By Ronnie Rollins
Glenville State college had its second national Greek letter society last week when the college Executive Committee, gave its stamp of approval and the green light to Sigma Tau Gamma, a new campus fraternity organization that lists 20 charter members.

The new fraternity, which has as its aims the fostering of more color and activity on the campus, was organized March 14, at a special meeting in the science building attended by 20 college men.

Xi Nu Is Chapter

Xi Nu is the name of the local chapter which has already petitioned for national recognition, named its faculty sponsors, set up dues, outlined rules of attendance, and elected officers.

William Harper, a sophomore, from Parkersburg, was unanimously chosen to be the first and founding president of Xi Nu, while Steven Ball, a senior from Summersville who doubles as student council treasurer, was ushered in to the vice-president's chair.

Sidney Adelsberg, sophomore from Pittsburg, was named fraternity treasurer while Robert Hofman, freshman from Elkview, was elected to the office of secretary.

Other officers included in the charter were: Robert Motchie, freshman and a graduate of Waynesburg high school, Ohio, who was tagged as the Sergeant of Arms; Jack Sizemore, Chaplain; and Ronald Rollins, Xi Nu publicity director.

Caruso, Fleck Chosen
Dr. John W. Caruso and Prof. Byron Y. Fleck were named co-faculty advisors for the organization which has chapters on the Fairmont and Concord campuses in the state.

Sigma Tau Gamma also has chapters on the campus at Stout Institute, Wisconsin; Western State college, Illinois; University of California; Western Michigan college, Michigan; Arkansas A&M college, Arkansas; Kent State university, Ohio; and Northwestern State college, Oklahoma, among others.

Representatives from the "G" club, Ohningohow Players, college publication, SCA, student council, and the Glenville cheerleading corp are included in the list of charter members in the new fraternity that was sanctioned by the six-member executive committee.

G-Club Minstrel To Be Presented At Richwood High

The GSC G-Club will present its minstrel, which was given here February 23, at Richwood high school April 15, Saturday night, at 8:00 p. m.

The show will appear as it did here in the traditional blackface style, with a host of comedians and singers along with several guest performers.

One of the highlights of the show will be two selections by Prof. Harold Orendorff. Other guest performers will be Joanne Nash and Caroline Boyd as vocalists, accompanied by Claudette Heffer at the piano. Music will also be presented by the GSC Men's Ensemble.

Specialty numbers will include a black crow routine by Robert Hardman and Charles Curry, trumpet solo by Brent Cool, and a tap dance routine by William Hanlin.

The comedian roles will be portrayed by: Edmond Janiszewski, Sunflower; James Marsh, Strawberry; Dan Rengers, Watermelon; William Luzader, 1949 graduate, Sunshine; and Ray Waldo, Jr., as the interlocutor.

Payne Tharpe is overall director of the show, and Ralph Pazio is assisting him.

All of the other attractions which were presented in their premier on the GSC stage will also be given.

This group may also make appearances at Spencer and Widen.

We Toot Our Horns About The Tooters

It has been a common custom for individuals, the nation over, to consider those who engage in the finer arts somewhat different from the rest of us. For example, the boy who plays the violin, particularly in the movies, is usually characterized by his horn-rimmed glasses and his "not-so-muscular" body, which makes him look like an escapee from some undertaking parlor.

This bad publicity, more than any other factor, is what keeps students, even though they have music abilities, from entering the field of their choice.

Music, although criticized by some, is a field which requires intellectual as well as musical ability. We should not discourage or razz these persons but we should develop the policy of encouragement to those who enter this field.

It is time for us, as college men and women, to realize that all musically inclined persons are not "walking zombies", but are human beings the same as we.

We think Glenville State college, especially the music department, deserves congratulations on their attempts to do away with this sort of "publicity". Surely Professor Orendorff of the local music department could not be classed as the "underfed-skinny" type.

We, as college students who should know a little about music, should lead in the breaking up of this policy. Since music has become a required campus course for incoming freshmen there should be less of this nonsense. Surely, with a proper amount of knowledge these unfair tactics would cease and the American music field would be taken more seriously.

Don't Miss Concert Here On April 23!

Students will have one of the greatest opportunities of their college career when the Charleston Symphony Orchestra performs here Sunday afternoon, April 23, through the auspices of the Lyceum committee.

The 85-piece orchestra has achieved national fame, having been heard on a nation-wide radio hook-up, and every student here should take advantage of the opportunity of seeing and hearing the concert. The aggregation of accomplished musicals will present music of a light classical nature, most of which will be familiar to students.

Conductor-Composer Antonio Modarelli has been widely acclaimed for his ability, and it was only last fall that Time magazine published a story concerning his composition titled "River Saga," which is about the Kanawha river. This fact alone should be adequate compensation for students to attend the concert, even those who are not particularly music minded.

Also, students should keep in mind that if it is properly received, it is hoped to make it an ANNUAL AFFAIR! A great deal of diplomacy and fortitude was required to make arrangements for the event, and it is up to the students to make it a success.

Bear in mind that the concert will be held on Sunday afternoon, and no student should have an excuse—no one should even wish to have an excuse—for not attending.

Let's show the esteemed Charleston Symphonic orchestra, as well as townspeople and visitors, that we do appreciate the cultural things in life.

BIOLOGY GROUP HOLDS SEMINAR

Second seminar of the biology department was held Monday evening, March 27, in room 201 Science hall. The topic was Biological Techniques.

Demonstrations and discussions which were given included: Special uses of the microscope, by Robert McMillian; Nuclear stains, Mitosis and chromosomes, by Laco Geissler; Microtechniques uses of the microtome, permanent slides and how they are used, by Susie Mullenix, Jack Simon and Cy Anderson; Planaria study, by Robert Curry and Dale Levering; Germination of pollen, by Stanley Ash and Juanita Allman; Methods of study of insects, by Harold Sullivan and Brack Davis.

Those attending included biology students and science teachers. Guests were: Dr. Harry Heflin, Mrs. Dale Levering, Mrs. Stanley Ash, and Mrs. Max Ward.

ON the CAMPUS

Justice and Cunningham

They say, "In the spring a young man's fancy lightly turns towards thoughts that women have been thinking of all winter long. Well, spring is here!

Charles Curry and Alice Griffith, GSC girl, have been dating lately. A nice looking car helps make an impression, doesn't it Curry?

It didn't take Virginia Knox long to find out who that handsome man from Spencer is. She says his name is Jack Arnold, transfer from WVU, and is working on a degree in law. Not bad for the first date, Virginia!

The Kappa Sig dance is the biggest cause for excitement this week. Ella Ruth Brown is still raving about her charming escort, Edward "Kiki" Thomas.

Expected question of the Bible test: What did the horse in the book of Job say? Answer: Aha! That's the only thing Merlin Byrd knew.

It looks like our prediction about Charles "Chuck" Adams and June Rogee came true. The question has been asked, "Wonder if Curry will let "Chuck" borrow his car?"

Last week's issue of the Mercury caused many a pleasant (and unpleasant) smile. Could it be that it said what a lot of people had been secretly dreaming about? Justin Allman looked exceptionally pleasant.

Something new on the campus. There's been quite a few triangles, but for a quadrangle—that is different. This seems to be the case of Gene White, Holt Grey, Jean Reed and Robert Walker.

The saying goes, "The closest way to a man's heart is through his stomach." It must be something when Billie Limer brings Stanley Costy a pie.

An old flame came back to life for Lois Wilson when John Kidd returned from the Navy.

Ronald "Cooler" Butcher has taken a fancy to the high school girls, along with some more of the GSC boys.

Ruth Fore and Jack Simon are another new couple on the campus!

Frank Outlip has decided that maybe there is one girl on the campus who is privileged enough to have his company—namely Janis Maxwell.

Taylor Phillips is trying to get Corn Crits and Ralston for breakfast. He is using Prof. Mabel Todd's sympathy for Southern food lovers to get this menu.

What's the secret about Gerry Henthorn secretly (?) admiring Joe Bill Rader?

The answer to the question of why some people called Andy Mingyar "Mr. Concett of 1950" is some remarks he is supposed to have made: "I don't think I'm handsome but what's my opinion against thousands of others?" and "Who's the best looking man on the campus and why am I?"

Jim Marsh and Julia Stalnaker have just started dating, if our sources are correct, but they have that "we've known each other forever" look. If it can't be spring, it must be love.

We want to express our regrets to James Laughlin and Lloyd Jordan for missing them in the April Fool edition. They would have made a wonderful item.

Dr. John Caruse has informed Ruby Cromwell and Sam Ferrainola that they will have to go through a minor legal procedure before they may sit together in his class. He seats the students alphabetically.

ALUMNI HI-NOTES

Esther Harrison, who received her bachelor of arts degree from Glenville State college, is now at West Virginia university where she is working on her masters degree.

Marianne Rhoades, former Glenville State student has received the part of Mary in Clarence Day's "Life With Father." This play will be presented at West Virginia university. While at Glenville, Marianne was active in dramatic work. She played several leading roles in Ohningobow productions.

John McCubcheon, former Glenville State student, is now practicing law at Summersville.

Harold Scott, former Glenville graduate and Pioneer football captain is the A-M Club agent for Doddridge county. After graduating from Glenville, Scott joined the Air Corps. Upon his return, he accepted the position as coach at Wirt county high school in Elizabeth. He coached there for one year, and then he went to West Virginia university where he obtained his masters degree. He is married to Buleah Farnsworth, former graduate of Glenville, who is now teaching in Troy high school.

Robert Combs, who received his bachelor of arts from Glenville State college, was visiting in Glenville recently.

Lydia Farnsworth, Glenville State graduate of 1946, is now teaching mathematics at Wirt county high school in Elizabeth.

Karl West, former Glenville student, who holds a bachelor of science degree in electrical engineering from West Virginia university, has been appointed a graduate assistant in the College of Engineering at the University of Tennessee at Knoxville and will go there to begin his new work in June.

Randall Luzader, former Glenville State student, is spending a leave in Glenville. When he returns to his base at the U. S. Naval Training Station at Great Lakes, MI, he will receive assignment to further training at Washington, D. C.

Dining Hall Will Close During Easter Vacation

Dining Hall will close after lunch Thursday, April 6 and will reopen for the evening meal Monday, April 10.

Plans For Senior Tea Are Being Made

Underclassmen of Verona Mapel hall will be hostesses at a tea to be held in honor of the seniors during the second week of May. This tea will be held in the lounge of Verona Mapel hall, and all seniors and faculty members will be invited.

This was voted on at a recent house meeting. Eileen White, head of the social committee, is in charge of the final plans.

Prof. G. G. Kingsley Attends Personnel Meet

Prof. G. Gordon Kingsley attended a four-day conference of the council of guidance and personnel association March 27 through 30 at Atlantic City, New Jersey.

"The Personnel Profession:

Achievements and Objectives" was the theme of the meeting, and the roster of speakers included representatives from leading colleges and governmental departments of the United States.

Meadows Overrides Burkhammer in WAA

Meadows scored an upset with their first victory of the season last Wednesday night when they defeated Burkhammer in the Women's Athletic association basketball contest.

This victory was made more striking by the fact that Burkhammer had only been defeated once before.

Other victors in last Wednesday's contest were: Walters over White, Reedy over Henry, and Reed over Cunningham.

Bridge Tourney Scheduled In Louis Bennett Lounge

A duplicate bridge tournament will be held from 7 p. m. to 10:30 p. m. April 17 in the college lounge. Anyone interested may select a partner with whom he will play the entire evening. It is not necessary to be a skilled player to enter this tournament.

Pioneers Open Diamond Card At Home Next Week

Nine Monogram-Winners In White Wave Stronghold As Glenville Glovers Gird For 17-Game Card

By Ronnie Rollins

This may be April fool month but there has certainly been no "foolin' around" done in the Glenville State Pioneers' spring baseball camp these past weeks as the G-men gird themselves for the 17-game grind ahead.

Eagles Scheduled

Two tiffs with Morris Harvey's Golden Eagles, who finished in a deadlock with Salem's Tigers for the state title last season, have been added to the Pioneer's diamond card which the Ratliffmen open next week against West Liberty.

While Wavemen will motor to Charleston to oppose the Golden Eagles under the arcs at Watt Powell Park April 28, while Coach Eddie King's diamondmen will show here May 15.

Freshman-bolstered White Wave nine men got their first feel of the turf under their cleats last week as they held intermittent drills at Rohrbough field.

It is still a little early in the season to tab any Glenville glover as a possible starter, although the squad is beginning to take a definite shape.

Jim Laughlin looks like a fixture at the initial bag while rookies Bill Rosenlieb and Ronald Butcher appear to have the rail position in the battle for the keystone bag.

Waddell, Pugh Perform

Promising hitter Bob Pugh may see service at shortstop although Moody Waddell could be plugging the gap between second and third come April 12.

Glen McKinney will probably regain his old position at third base while any one of four boys may be behind the dish when the Hilltoppers invade.

Charles Curry, regular last season, Jim Cunningham, Shirley Wilson or Lawrence "Bud" Cooper, junior class prexy, may don the mash next Wednesday afternoon.

Outfield Is Headache

The Pioneer Outfield may be Skipper Ratliff's chief headache. Riddled by graduation, the GSC outfield has only one returning letterman but Coach Ratliff may send some of his pitchers to the wide open spaces on days that they aren't on the knob.

Only monogram-winning "Toad" Jarvis is back from last season's fly-chasing corp. Transplanted first-sacker Glennard Vannoy may help patrol the Wave pastures as will Bob Conley, Glenn Thomas, Herb Shimer, Joe Bolovitz, Eddie Thorn and Dick Elliot.

GS Thinclads Jog To Farm

Anytime you see a scantily-clad figure jogging along beside the road that leads to the college farm, don't mistake it for a chip from a flying saucer—it's probably only a winded aspirant for Glenville State's 1950 track team rounding into shape.

This cross country trek, from the college gymnasium to the college farm and BACK, is part of the rigorous training grind that track Coach Michael Josephs has set up for his White Wave thinclads.

Several newcomers reported for drills last week but the single file of traffic to and from the college farm moves along unhampered by congestion.

Frank Pultineer, Frank Stanevich, Stanley Costy, Emmett Wilson, Robert Hoffman, and Roy "Fuddle" Hayes are the late-comers to the cinder-squad roster.

Glenville is not alone in its resurgence back into the track and field picture. Seven other state colleges have indicated that they will field track teams this season.

Schools sponsoring the sport are: Fairmont, Glenville, Tech, Davis-Elkins, Wesleyan, Bethany, and West Liberty.

At a recent coaches' meeting at Fairmont, May 12 was set as the date for the initial track and field meet to be held in Elkins. Golf and tennis championships were also scheduled for Wheeling's Ogley Park at this meeting. May 15-16 are the dates named for the playoffs.

Brown Is Chairman
State mentors also named Robert "Red" Brown chairman of the track committee at this confab. Other members on this committee were Pi Davis of Fairmont and John Knight of Bethany college.

Glenville State's complete track squad roster follows: Allan Keeney, Jack Sizemore, Robert Hoffman, Sam Ferrainola, Emmett Wilson, Glendale White, Herbert "Moe" Holstein, Ralph Fazio, Arthur Williams, Stanley Costy, Roy Hayes, James Frame, Frank Stanevich, Robert Arnold, and Frank Pultineer.

A total of 99,000 Naval Reserve enlistments expire in 1950.

DIAMOND DUST

By Ronnie Rollins

Diamond basepaths all around the state were kept busy last week as rival college nines begin grinding themselves for the spring sports scheduled while here in Rohrbough park the Pioneers continue to cut down on their weight and sharpen their batting eyes.

Salem college was anticipated the largest springs sports schedule in history as 57 candidates answered a call for baseball, golf, track and tennis.

Salem is always a top-flight in the diamond sport and this year will be no exception as Tiger Mentor Doug Stone has returning varsity pitchers Walt Paratcha and Russ Cordua back to whiff opposing batters.

Meanwhile down at the smoky city of Montgomery at Tech, Coach Charley Hockenberry had this to say about this year's edition of Golden Boys.

"We'll just have to depend on speedy base-running and a tight defense." Tech's power hitters of last season, Jim Vargo and Legs have graduated.

Leaving the national pastime scene for a few lines we discover that the heavyweight boxing picture is about a muddle as a modern piece of artistic art.

Louis Encier King
King of the ring Joe Louis, after teasing the public for several months, has finally entered the ring but his opponent in the other corner is Leo the Lion not Ezzard Charles.

Speaking of Ezzard Charles, the stylish Cincinnati negro, further muddles the fight picture. Charles has had to cancel two bouts because of a bum rib and a bruised heart muscle.

New York's medical advisory board get credited with discovering the Negro's condition which might have proved serious if the dusky lad had been allowed to enter the square circle.

Something new has been added. Yes, something spanking new has been added in the hardwood sport at the Huntington State hospital, a modern "sick bay" that treats the state's mentally ill.

Inmates of the hospital played a basketball game with a team from the Trinity Episcopal church also in Huntington, last week in what was perhaps the first basketball game of its kind in the his-

Merchant Quint Looms As Power In MAA Tourney

Playing-coach Fred Gainer's all-conquering hardwood quint, playing under the colors of the Glenville Merchants, seems to possess to many big guns and poise for the rapidly-disappearing clubs in the MAA eliminations as the Merchants continue to flatten all opposition.

Composed mainly of home town Glenville boys, the Merchants list Ronnie Gainer, high-scoring Bob Conley, "Chuck" Adams, Fred Gainer, Bob Arnold, and Bob Burke, ex-Sand Forker.

Groves Is Unbeaten
The only other remaining unbeaten combo that looms as a challenge for the Merchants is Groves gang. Groves' squad has Tom Bragg, Boz Nuzum, all-tourney last season, "Doc" Frame, reliable Kent Bolyard, Holt Grey and Captain Groves.

Other prime contenders for the title who have been beaten once but who are still in the running are Boone Waldo's Wildcats, Allen's Elk Herd, Cool's aces, Keeney's aces and Kiddy's flashes.

In tourney shuffling, last week, the Merchants handed Allen's Elk-view gang its first defeat, shading them 47-41. Conley was the big noise for the victors.

Wilson Upset
Coming under the upset label last week was Allen Keeney's 47-

Hardman Is All-Stater

King, Payne, Pelaez Also Listed On Mythical Five

By Ronnie Rollins

Denied a berth on the all-state inter-collegiate basketball aggregation for two nerve-shredding seasons, Glenville's Robert "Hooks" Hardman was finally honored last week with an all-conference forward position that was voted to Bob by the 14 state college mentors who marked a ballot in the naming of the 1949-50 all-state squad.

Released by George Springer, conference statistician of the Beckey Post-Herald, the mythical eight man team boasts height, balance, firepower, and dazzling speed.

Hardman Is Junior
Hardman, who is only a junior and who will be back to haunt the opposition next season, was the ball-hawking flash on this year's Wave five that finished the season with a 11-9, season mark.

Dead-panned "Hooks" saw action in 21 outings this past season, and amassed 431 points to finish among the top ten scorers in the college conference. Hardman's average for the season was 20.5 per game.

In winning a berth on the college combination, Hardman became the only Glenville player to achieve

Group Attends Speech Meet

At the state-wide intercollegiate speech festival held March 24 and 25 at Concord college, Glenville State was one of seven participants who took part. Other colleges which were represented were: Marshall college, West Virginia Institute of Technology, Fairmont State college, West Virginia university, West Liberty college, and Concord college.

Glenville entered the one-act play division with a presentation of "The Darkest Night" by Sylvia Sherman Pitkin. Of the cast of Barbara Jean Fulks, Lloyd Jordan, Eileen White, and Payne Sharp, Payne was chosen as the best character of the play. The guest critic judge for this festival was Prof. Foster Fitzsimmons of the University of North Carolina drama department.

Barbara Fulks entered the poetry interpretation phase of this meet. She read the "The Death of Stonewall Jackson" by Stephen Vincent Benet. Professor Fitzsimmons said, "Miss Fulks had an excellent reading and she did an excellent job on it."

state-wide recognition since three-sports star Jess Lilly, now coach at Elkview, was honored with an all-tourney berth back in 1947.

"Hooks" Holds Record
Using a one-handed push shot as his pet weapon, "Hooks" is the holder of the individual tournament scoring record. Bob dunked in 40 points against the Morris Harvey Golden Eagles in a tri-final chiller back in 1948 and this mark still stands despite George King's efforts to erase it.

Hardman is residing in select company. Along side "The Hooker" at the other forward posts are scoring wizard George King, the nation's individual scoring leader, and cool Carl Payne from D-E's thundering all-state combination.

Hap Huey, a 6'5" pivot man, and Ray "Trotter" Dowers of Alderson-Broadus were the coaches' selections at center.

Pelez Is Great

Bounding Bob Pelez, the last of the Spanish Armada at Alderson Broadus and one of the greatest guards in the state, was one selection at guard.

Husky Eldon Malling of Wesleyan's sophomore-studded forces cinched another guard slot while Kenney Simms, an unknown from Potomac State's oft-abused Catamount squad, rounds out the elite troupe.

BOOK REVIEW

By Leo Mason
MR. MIDSHIPMAN HORNBLLOWER. By C. S. Forester. Little, Brown and Co. $3.00. March.

For the person who loves the tale of high adventure, the life of C. S. Forester's Horatio Hornblower has provided many a delightful hour. The pages of the Saturday Evening Post and an apparently ceaseless flow of books from author Forester's pen have provided Hornblower fans with ever vivid accounts of their idol's achievements.

Forester's Hornblower is no modern type hero, suffering from sex obsession and an itchy trigger finger. He is literally a voice from the past, the prototype of the courageous, honorable chap who always does the right thing. He walks the plank with resolute countenance.

He faces the enemy's muzzle-loader without fear. He rescues the fair damsel in distress and ne'er harbors an impure thought.

(Captain, Commodore, Admiral) Hornblower has been sailing the Spanish Main in the service of His Majesty's navy for many years now. His wooden ships have sent scores of Spanish galleons to the bottom.

But all these remarkable accomplishments have been the work of a mature Hornblower, who popped suddenly into the literary scene without fanfare—and without a recorded youth. The loyal followers of Forester's fictitious hero have begun to wonder about the life of the young sailor. Was the young Horatio as romantic as the Hornblower his fans have known.

Forester answers this question in his latest work, Mr. Midshipman Hornblower. At last the pride of the Royal Navy is presented as a young man.

For those who have not acquired the Hornblower habit, the book should be an excellent introduction to one of the most striking of modern fictional characters. To the Hornblower fan, the book presents the usual diet of battle, intrigue, and sudden death on the high seas. Horatio's adventures are as absorbing as ever.

enemy Japan.

Considine recently completed work on a far different type of book. His Innocents at Home is a record of the home life of the Considine family, and of the growing pains inflicted by his three youngsters, on their elders. The book "rates a warm welcome from the far flung hordes of Considine readers." It is illustrated by Harry Devlin.
