Skeptical Reporter Finds Strange Wizardry Is True

By Bill Boram

I went to the Science Club meeting a disbeliever—and came away without proof a belief that defies all scientific argument.

For several weeks preceding the Science Club meeting, rumors spread over the campus to the effect that four girls could lift an average-sized man as much as four feet off the ground, using only their fingers. Though many students did not believe the reports (including your reporter), all who witnessed the weird performance stoutly maintained that it could be done.

Finally, after dormitory arguments became more heated and such well-known campus skeptics as Eugene Hall and Bill Harper had been converted, Science Club officials decided to end the controversy by holding a demonstration and discussion concerning the mysterious feat.

Therefore, a large crowd of students and faculty members gathered in the Science hall last week to witness the four most active leaders in the campus demonstrations, Sally Waggoner, Ernestine Kee, Karen Raines and Josephine McCauley, as they attempted to prove their unusual claims. Also gathered at the meeting were campus scientists Dr. Max Ward, Prof. Byron Turner, Prof. John R. Wagner and Prof. A. H. Anderson who were to attempt to discover the reasons for the strange phenomena.

I watched in absolute amazement as first a 110-pound girl was hoisted into the air—then a 150-pound boy—then 180-pound Lee Woodburn—and finally 210-pound football tackle Jim Cook was lifted by the four girls until his head nearly touched the ceiling.

But the clincher was yet to come! The last victim was to be your poor Mercury reporter who was described by the girls as "the biggest doubter of them all."

Mural Is Displayed by College Art Students

Glenville State college is now the proud possessors of a mural. The mural, a piece of true art replete with brilliant yellows, greens, and reds, is now on display in the pantry of the college kitchen. Martin Riggs, college chef, will show anyone the piece.

The mural was planned and painted by Margaret Westfall and Shirley Osbourne.

The first thing that catches the eye is two large ears of corn which form a pattern in the center. Other vegetables ranging from onions to cabbage are arranged in an attractive display.

Glenville Is Named Draft Testing Post

Glenville State college has been added to the list of West Virginia centers to give the Selective Service College Qualification Test on May 26, June 16 and June 30, G. Gordon Kingsley, dean of men, has announced.

A Test Center was established at Glenville State after the publication of the list of the state's centers, Kingsley said. Boards in the Glenville area will be notified of the addition.

The code number of the Glenville center is 1169, and must be so indicated on the candidate's application. Establishment of a center at the College was requested in order to eliminate the traveling necessary to reach other listed examination centers.

Applications for examinations should be made immediately to the local Selective Service board. Only students who have been enrolled in college and are planning to continue their education are eligible for examination, Dean Kingsley said. Those in doubt about their qualifications should check with their local board.

Invitations Sent To High Schools For Senior Day

Invitations have been mailed to 32 high schools of the 16-county Central West Virginia area for the annual Senior Day set for Glenville State college on Thursday, May 3, Registrar Michael E. Posey, overall chairman of the event, has announced.

Posey said initial plans are being made for the observance—which annually attracts several hundred area students to the campus—and committees are being set up.

The event will be conducted much in the same manner as in past years, with the GSC student body to act as host.

Various campus organizations will be given phases of the day's program to carry out. The student council will be responsible for regulating these duties.

Lewis County Committee Makes Tour of College

A three-man committee from Lewis county toured the Glenville State campus last week as a part of the college's regular visitation program.

The committee, Kenneth Shaffer, superintendent of schools of Lewis county, L. D. Nutter and Attorney John Holey, toured the campus and observed the school's daily program during their visit.

Cool Wins Councilmanic Leadership by Big Vote

40 Per Cent Increase in Voting Puts Two Kappa Sigs, 2 Sig Taus in Office

By William A. Harper

Brent Cool of Kappa Sigma Kappa fraternity was elected president of the 1951-52 student council by an overwhelming majority last week, despite campus prognostications of a victory for the Holy Roller Court pledge, William Ice.

A 40 per cent increase in voting placed two Kappa Sigma Kappa men in office, two Sigma Tau Gamma members in office, and two female campusites in councilmanic posts.

William Hanlin, Kappa Sigma Kappa, nosed out Dorothy Terrill by a margin of 79 votes for vice-president, while Shirley Porter won over Ann Martin for treasurer to the tune of 135 to 42.

Closest contest of the election was between Carl Galgani, known as "The Syndicate" and a Holy Roller Court pledge, and William Eoram of Sigma Tau Gamma, for secretary. "The Syndicate" lost by a narrow margin of 13 votes.

Boram and Galgani ran neck and neck all the way, according to reports from the polls.

New treasurer is Bob Mottice of Sigma Tau Gamma, who managed to slide into the sergeant-at-arms post by a bare 20 votes.

Voting was quiet and peaceful throughout the election, with no violence reported, nor were there any reports of bribing or vote buying.

The new president, Brent Cool, is leader of the popular "Collegeians" band, and is active in Kappa Sig fraternity affairs, as well as other campus activities. He is also a member of the football varsity.

Dr. Pickett Will Present Annual Sermon

Dr. Hugh D. Pickett, of Parkersburg, executive secretary and director of promotion for the West Virginia Baptist convention, will give the annual baccalaureate sermon to the 1951 graduating class of Glenville State college on Sunday, May 27, at 10:45 a. m. in the college auditorium.

A graduate of Denison university and of the Southern Baptist Theological seminary, Dr. Pickett served for three years as acting president of Alderson-Broadus college at Philippi. Prior to that he served as dean of men and professor of Bible at Broadus college.

Dr. Pickett, who served as pastor of the First Baptist church of Fairmont for 11 years, became executive secretary and director of promotion for the West Virginia Baptist convention in 1940.

He is chairman of the Commission on Finance in the West Virginia Council of Churches, and

College Debaters Sweep 3-College Verbal Contest

Glenville State debate team emerged the winners in a triangular meet April 9 here with Alderson-Broadus college and Fairmont State college.

There was never any doubt about the outcome as Glenville debaters won every debate entered—both affirmative and negative teams.

Representing Glenville State in the debate were Alexander Jokay, Marianne Rhoades, Elizabeth Marks, Eugene Hall, June Bogges, and Robert Mottice.

A change in officers marked the first birthday of Alpha Xi chapter of Sigma Tau Gamma on the Glenville State college campus, with William A. Boram, Weston '53, named to take over the executive reins as president.

Boram was elected to replace founding president, William A. Harper, '50 Parkersburg, at the regular meeting of the national fraternity. Harper retained a seat on the executive committee when he was named corresponding secretary.

Other new officers include, Robert Mottice, '53 Waynesboro, O., vice-president; Alexander Jokay, '53 Glenville, secretary; Carlyle Kee, '53 Elkview, treasurer; Ronald Miller, '53 Charleston, sergeant-at-arms.

The new president, Boram, is a charter member of the fraternity and has served on various committees of the organization during its existence. A reporter for The Mercury, he is also a member of Omicronhoop Players, active in Presbyterian youth activities on the campus, and a member of the GSC activities committee.

A Noteworthy Report

Dean Edwin P. Adkins has adequately summed up the advantages of the new teacher-training plan in an article in the West Virginia School Journal.

Dean Adkins tells how the defects in the old training plan were corrected by the revised curriculum now being used here. He thoroughly explains the make-up of the new plan and its effect at Glenville State.

In the article, Dean Adkins says, "The semester was divided into two terms of nine weeks each. Approximately two-thirds of the course offerings were concentrated into nine-week periods. This had the dual purpose of decreasing the course load of the student (and the instructor) and at the same time making it possible to release the directed teacher for nine weeks."

Proving that Glenville State has shown the way in this development, Dean Adkins states, "that Glenville College was not alone in realizing the defects in the old system is indicated by the fact that numerous colleges throughout the land have adopted some variation of the block method and that a majority of the state colleges in West Virginia have followed Glenville's example in reorganizing their programs."

In concluding, Dean Adkins adds a note for the future as he writes, "Ultimate success will depend upon further experimentation, a continuing close relationship between the college and the public schools, and constant and constructive student-faculty evaluation."

Future Teachers Assemble to Form Tentative Policy

Various committees were formed and future policy formulated at a meeting of the newly organized Glenville State college Future Teachers of America club last week.

The organization also played host to a regional conference of representatives of FTA clubs Friday.

Committees formed at the meeting were John Hall, Louis Rollins, Daphne Whytless, and Mahala Reynolds, constitution; and program committee, Robert Sharp and Elizabeth Kidd.

Acting as guides during the FTA conference Friday were Mabel Moore, June Harris, Louise Rollins, Mahala Reynolds, and Maxine Martin.

Plans for All-Electric Cooking School Complete

By Joan Person

Plans have been completed for a big cooking school which will be held in the college auditorium Tuesday, April 24, 2 to 4 p. m. The school, which will be all electric, is sponsored by the home economics department and will be conducted by Miss Rachel Zickfoose. The cooking school is being presented by the Monongahela Power Company of Clarksburg. Miss Zickfoose will be assisted by Ruth Talbot and Helen Fisher, members of the Glenville college home economics department. Gerald Beckner will act as Master-of-ceremonies.

A number of door prizes will be given, including a floor lamp, an electric coffee pot, an electric kitchen clock, a non-skid mixing bowl, a 36 piece cutlery set and all the food that will be prepared on the stage.

The Home economic departments from the five county high schools are invited as are all students of Glenville and homemakers in the surrounding district.

Others assisting will be Lucy Andrick, Nancy Simms, Helen Brammer, Nancy Harris, Elizabeth Boyce, June James, Betty Lang, Marilyn Black, and Jane Myers.

school, according to a news item, at a public auction.

Unauthoritative sources have ventured the information that perhaps he is planning to start his own college, or perhaps he is planning to add it to Glenville State as a new men's dormitory.

Of course it would be rather crowded as a dormitory, for it has only one room. However, it would save shoe leather for monitors.

The article did mention something about Heflin's buying the school, located on Gnats (pronounced Nats) run, for sentimental reasons. It seems he used to throw paper wads at a teacher there.

Pioneer Netmen Invade Bobcat Court Today

Today over in Buckhannon, Coach Carlos Ratliff's Glenville State tennis team engages in its third tennis match of the spring season when the Pioneer netmen invade the court of West Virginia Wesleyan's Bobcats.

The Glenville courtmen, who showed some latent skill in their 8-1, reversal to veteran Davis-Elkins, will face stiff opposition today as Wesleyan has three of its first line netmen back from last year.

In initial early-season outings with Davis-Elkins and Wesleyan, the Glenville netmen were ragged and sporadic from lack of practice but the six-man team has added finesse since these matches.

Members of the Glenville tennis troupe include: Bob Mottice, Kent King, Alexander Jokay, Jim Potts,

GSC GOLFERS SET WITH W-L

The Glenville State college linksmen, handicapped by lack of practice, will inaugurate their attractive eight game golf card this Saturday at the Glenville country club course as golfers from West Liberty invade.

The Hilltoppers, always a power in golf, departed the G-men fairly-way-tridders last year by a one-sided 10 to 2 1-2 score. And with several men missing from last year's GSC club, the upstarters may repeat again this Saturday.

Golf continues to rival baseball as an attention-getter here at GSC and what follows is a list of the names of the club swingers who may carry the G-men through a winning season: Foster Minney, Allan Rader, Arne Wilson, Paul Hunt, Carlyle Kee, Dyke Janeszewski, Allan Keeney, and Don DeVaughn.

Last season, the second in the college's history, the Glenville golfers posted a 1-3 spring mark. The G-men clipped Fairmont 8 1-2 to 3 1-2 while losing to Tech 10 1-2 to 7 1-2, Salem 11 1-2 to 3 1-2, and West Liberty 10 to 2 1-2.

Busy Weatherman Halts
Spring Sports Action;
Action Heavy This Week

By Ronnie Rollins

Chilling spring rains, lashed and hurried about by icy, rain-penetrating gusts of wind, really put the damper on athletic maneuvers here at Glenville State college last weekend as the steady downpours washed a two-game home diamond stand and a tennis match off the GSC schedules and down the drain.

The still untested Pioneer baseballers were pitted against Salem's power-laden Tigers and Wesleyan's hapless nine last Friday and Saturday but Rohrbaugh field was in a quagmire condition, fit only for shell racing or canoeing, so the WVU duels were canceled.

Coach Josephs, in announcing the two-game cancellation, stated that he would try to reschedule the games with Salem and Wesleyan later on in the season.

Mentor Carlos Ratliff's hustling tennis team also felt the sting of the spray in their faces as they tried to get in some needed practice strokes on the soggy tennis court. The Pioneer netters, defeated 8-1 by Davis Elkins, were booked for a tennis outing with Wesleyan in Buckhannon last Friday but the monsoons arrived.

Meanwhile, as the vociferous weatherman continues to unleash his fury, the four Pioneer athletic teams—baseball, track, tennis, and golf—have retreated to the cozy confines of the old GSC gym where they are busy prepping for this week's heavy action.

The White Wave diamond crew, bulwarked by ten returning lettermen, face two rival foes this week, Wesleyan in Buckhannon today and Alderson Broadbuss in Philippi Saturday. Both are loop games.

Wesleyan's Bobcats, who are really "down" this season, have already opened their card, tasting defeat at the hands of A-B by a one-sided 20-1, count. Coach Rex Pyles of A-B is moulding a circuit powerhouse this season as his Batters have strong pitching and a lethal stick attack.

Pioneer Skipper Josephs continues to shuffle his baseball aspirants in an effort to find a smooth-clicking combination. Six hurlers—White, Johnson, Slate, Cramblett, Riley, and Stout—comprise the GSC mound staff which may pitch some air-tight innings this season.

The Wave infield is shaping up somewhat, also. Jim Laughlin, two-sport all-stater, is set at first with backing from lanky Frank Buckland of Talcott. At the keystone corner, three lands—Riddell, Barrett, and Butcher—are in the battle for the starting post with Riddell holding slight edge. Sure-fielding Don Merriman, the

GSC TRACKMEN FACE FAIRMONT

Cook, Wilson, Turner Lend
Depth To Squad Roster

The most glaring weakness on the Glenville State cinder path squad is a shortage of men in the sprints and dashes reports Coach Mike Josephs as he grooms his Glenville trackmen for this Friday's meet with Fairmont State's barriers in Fairmont.

Three promising newcomers reported to the squad last week but the Pioneer track team still is deficient in depth and experience. Veterans like Sam Ferrainola, Stan Costy, Arthur Williams, Jack Sizemore are hard to replace and these lads were the bulwark of power on last spring's outfit which copped the Elkins Triangular Meet.

Johnnie-come-latelys to the Glenville track team include: Jim Cook, junior from Beckley, who participates in the hurdles while also tossing the discus; Arner Wilson, pole vaulter and high jumper; and long Bob Turner who will throw the discus.

The Friday's meet with the Falcons of Fairmont State will be the opening hurdle for the 1951 Pioneer speedsters as they wade into a five-meet season schedule. The GAZETTE Relays in Charleston, set for April 28, is next in the offing for the GSC sprinters.

Veteran trackmen counted upon to give the G-men points in this Friday's meet are Bob Hoffman, Frank Stanevich, Doc Frame, Roland Wise, Bob Arnold, Don Weaver, Allan Keeney, and Bill Richards.

Others on the Wave harrier roster include: Harold Butcher, William Smith, Bob Allen, Bernard Jolly, Frank Fultiner, Don DeVaughn, Jim Ball, Charles Dorrill, and others.

Off the Cuff

By Ronnie Rollins

The announcement that the 1951-52 Glenville State Pioneer cage combine would play West Virginia university, Marshall, New Mexico A & M, and other top-drawer cage teams caused quite a furor in MERCURY reading circles. . . and well it might!

But a last-minute check with GSC Schedule-maker Michael Josephs revealed that this report was not authentic. In the first place, the Mounties of WVU will not lower themselves to swap shots with the G-men in 1951-52. What a scald that is. . . maybe the Mounties are fearful of jeopardizing their national standing. Then the question arises: Do the Mounties have a national rating?

They should have though—yes, indeed—WVU clipped Salem, Wesleyan and other reputed cage powers. My, my, but WVU really travels in fast company. Of course, the G-men paddled Wesleyan and Salem soundly this past season and it is this scribe's candid opinion that the Pioneers could have tied Mark Workman and cohorts in knots on a hot night this past season.

As for tangling with Marshall and New Mexico's Aggies next year, there is a chance that these games may materialize. Marshall is reported to be favorable while New Mexico will show here if the Aggies decide to do a mite of barnstorming through the east.

Two more tennis games have been added to the Pioneer netmen's seven-game card, reports Coach Carlos Ratliff. The two additional games are with Salem college and the dates will be released later.

While on the subject of tennis it is noteworthy to pass along this item. Bill Richards, senior from Gassaway and No. 3 man on the Wave court squad, will not be with the Pioneers for the remainder of the season.

Richards has already completed the necessary requirements for graduation and is therefore ineligible for further participation. This is a telling blow to the Wave tennis fortunes because Richards was a veteran and experienced tennis performer are hard to uncover here on the hilltop.

Coach Michael Josephs has a six-man pitching crew this season and Pioneer diamond fans are anxious to view these hurlers in (Continued on Page 4)

25-Game Schedule, Rules Clinic, Tourney in Offing

Josephs Outlines Plans
For 1951-52 Cage Season

By Ronnie Rollins

A pre-season hardwood tourney, a basketball rules clinic, possible cage entanglements with Marshall and New Mexico A & M colleges, and a formidable 25-game season basketball slate for the 1951-52 Glenville State Pioneers are just a few of the features in the offing for next year's Pioneer cage fans as GSC athletic officials strive to keep the Pioneers in the upper echelon of cage competition.

These interesting facts were made known last week in an informal interview with Coach Michael Josephs who averred: "The current world crisis has cast a threatening shadow over collegiate sports. Many of the athletic events we have scheduled for 1951-52 are tentative and some are still in the formation stage."

In unfolding the ambitious Pioneer hardwood menu for 1951-52, it was learned that the G-men have added two new cage foes—Potomac State and Shepherd State—but the bulwark of opposition will be furnished by traditional collegiate rivals.

In an effort to enhance the athletic program here at GSC and to increase knowledge and interest in basketball, a Rules Clinic has tentatively been set for Dec. 10 or 11, 1951. The clinic will be held mainly for the high school coaches of central West Virginia and a nationally-known coach or sporting figure will be the paramount attraction.

In revealing the proposed plans for the clinic, Josephs stated that a top-flight coaching authority such as "Red" Brown of W. V. U. might be obtained as key speaker.

Discussion of rule innovations, a scrimmage game between Pioneer floormen and a foreign foe, and other activities would be on the agenda which is aimed at abetting the college area high school coaches. All this is still in the development stages though, added Josephs.

Josephs is also formulating plans for a Pre-Season tourney, such as the one held at Tech this past year, to be held in the new college half-million dollar health-physical education plant. The Glenville coach has sent out "feelers" to Tech and Marshall and other schools are in line for invitations.

As for the crowd-luring clash between New Mexico A & M and the Wavemen, it may never take place. New Mexico plans to send its Aggies on a swing through the eastern states and if this happens, there is every indication that the Aggies and G-men will tangle. The Aggies were the opponents for the locals in this year's NAIB.

In connection with the pre-season Glenville basketball tourney set tentatively for the second week in December of next year, Josephs hopes to book Chuck Taylor, well-known speaker who is affiliated with the Converse athletic supplies company. Taylor, an agent for Converse, would speak and possibly conduct a demonstration.

The 1951-52 cage schedule released for promulgation will last from Dec. 7 to Feb. 28 and will be capped by the WVVC tournament set for Buckhannon on March 5, 6, 7, 8 or 3, 4, 5, 6. The date may shift because state coaches are of the opinion that it works a hardship on the W. Va. team sent to Kansas City and the NAIB.

The 1951-52 Pioneers will be minus Hardman, Gainer, Vannoy, White, and possibly others but Adelsberg, Turner, Barrett, Gande, Edwards, Johnson, and Smith could return from the state championship quintet.

Annual G-Club Minstrel To Be Given Thursday

By Bill Boran

Jokes, music, both old and new, and typical Southland entertainment will be the order of the day when the G-club presents its annual minstrel Thursday, April 26, at 8:15 in the college auditorium.

A large cast of singers and comedians have been holding nightly rehearsals in preparation for the annual blackface presentation.

Performing the comedy roles as end men will be Lawrence Cooper, Edmund Janiszewski, Robert Hardman and Harry Smith.

Traditional Dixieland music will be presented by a special jazz orchestra consisting of Myron Mason, Brent Cool, Carl Gagliani, Lonnie Miller, and Prof. Max Liptrap.

Special acts that will be presented include: a dance by Bill Hanlin; vocal solos by Joan Person, Caroline Boyd, Prof. Harold Orendorf, Donald Arbogast and Brent Cool; vocal solos by a quartet consisting of Myron Mason, Donald Arbogast, Joseph Arbogast and Charles Dorrill; and a trumpet solo by Brent Cool.

The show is being directed by Edmund Janiszewski with James Cook as interlocutor and Jean Chedester as pianist.

The chorus will include: Donald Arbogast, Joseph Arbogast, Charles Dorrill, Eugene Gherke, Tony Shuman, Robert Milligan, Brack Davis, James Ball, Harold Butcher, Frany Buckland, Clarence Maze, Robert Arnold, Frank Fultineer, and William Waldeck.

Two of the chuckers—White and Johnson—have already toed the rubber and White seems to be consistent while tall, righthander Cecil Johnson seems to have difficulty locating the platter at times. Maybe this is the big year for Cecil who should be a whiz once he gets his natural ability under control.

Walter Slate, former Big Creek standout, also has a wicked fast ball although the Big Creek product may be hampered by a chronic sore arm condition. The remaining three throwers—Cramlett, Stout, and Riley of Weston—are still fresh from high school ball and may need a year to develop.

The Rules Clinic that Coach Michael Joseph is mapping out for the 1951-52 hardwood season is an ambitious and worthwhile undertaking. The Clinic, which will be held for the benefit of the college and high school coaches, will foster friendly relations between the college and the surrounding high schools as well as edifying the fans on any new court rules.

An esteemed sporting figure would be one of the features of the clinic which should be a good crowd-puller.

represented the International Council of Religious Education at the Constitution Convention of the National Council of Churches. He attended the Baptist World Alliance in Copenhagen, Denmark, and those that have been held in this country.

EXCHANGE NOTES

"Obviously a strong support of the Student Council by the student body." With these words Dr. Carl Leiden, chairman of the election board, counted the last ballot and informed members of the counting committee that the new constitution had been ratified by the necessary votes. A margin of nearly 4-1. The Parthenon, Marshall College.

Chairmen and publicity officers of the Independent and Student Parties have been invited by the Daily Athenaeum editor-in-chief and faculty supervisor to attend a meeting at 4 P.M. today in Woodburn Hall to discuss news policy. Daily Athenaeum, Morgantown.

and Norman Ball, who saw action on the 1948 Pioneer nine, and ballswatting Joe Bokovitz of Oak Hill will probably make up the starting quint with Charles Marks tabbed for fill-in duty.

Pioneer thinclads, yet to toss of their wraps, trek to Fairmont this Friday for their first meet. Strengthened by the addition of Jim Cook, Arne Wilson, and others, the local harriers may prove troublesome.

Other activities on the athletic menu for this week include a Glenville-West Liberty golf match here Saturday and a GSC-Wesleyan tennis match in the Bobcatberg today.

So Weatherman, take heed and get lost.
