Xi Beta Tau Is Sister Sorority Of Sigma Tau's

Officers Are Elected; Nutter Chosen Advisor; Charter Members Named

By CY ANDERSON

Announcement was made last week of the organization of Xi Beta Tau, a sister sorority to Sigma Tau Gamma, men's fraternity. In an election two weeks ago the 16 charter members selected 8 officers and chose Prof. Julia Nutter, art department, as faculty advisor.

The acceptance of pledges will be delayed until the second semester pending completion of plans which will give the organization full status as a national sorority.

Martin Is President

During the organization meeting, Anne Martin was chosen president; Ella Ruth Brown, vice president; Ruth James, recording secretary; Faith Bingham, corresponding secretary; Doris Perkins, treasurer; Barbara Shimer, parliamentarian; Phyllis Spaulding, historian; and Jane Myers, chaplain.

Others members include: Elsie Elswick, Carol Mick, Jean Reed, Sally Waggoner, Marlene Brown, Masie Hughes, Juanita Green, and Mally Ann Mackey. Weekly meetings of Xi Beta Tau will be held Tuesdays at 6 p. m. in the art department.

During the recent Homecoming festivities several members of Xi Beta Tau assisted their brother fraternity in the construction of the traditional float, and seven of the members participated in the parade. Those appearing with the Sigma Tau Gamma float were: Phyllis Spaulding, Elsie Elswick, Ruth James, Anne Martin, Barbara Shimer, Juanita Green, and Carol Mick.

UNION REVEALS IMPROVEMENTS

Information released last week by Robert Mottice, manager of the student union, reveals a practically new establishment including a new name, The Club Pioneer, chosen by the union officials to replace the old name, Pine Ear.

The union has been able to overcome the financial handicap incurred during the previous year to show a slight profit during the month of September.

Cleaner Union

Mottice also stated that the students this year are making an effort to keep the place cleaner than they had previously, and that the incidence of pop-bottle return has

Campus Succumbs To Flu Epidemic; 48 Are Afflicted

Those little viruses were running wild last week in the dormitories when several students succumbed to the ravages and antics of Virusatium discombenatusensu, one of the most virulent of the family Retchusculata. The seriousness of the afflictions appeared to be rather pronounced, at least the reports seemed to indicate as much.

Several formerly robust souls were seen to come slowly dragging into the union wearing the ghastly pallor of an over-ripe cadaver. Other reports rumored that some of the afflicted (may their souls rest in peace) swooned upon entering the dining hall. Some of the more acute minds on the campus surmised that this was caused by the sight of the dormitory fare on top of the weakened resistance acquired during Homecoming week-end.

18 ARE NAMED FOR WHO'S WHO

Committee To Select Six From Nominated Group

In a nominating election held Thursday, October 25, 12 seniors and 6 juniors were chosen by their classes to compete for the honor of being selected to appear in Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities.

From among those selected, four seniors and two juniors will be chosen to appear in the annual publication by a special committee appointed by President Heflin; consisting of two seniors, one junior and two faculty members.

Students who were nominated will be interviewed by their respective class presidents to determine their grade rating and campus activities, which will be used along with character evaluation to help determine the final selections.

In order to be eligible for nomination the student must have a C average and be a member of the junior or senior class.

Students who will be considered by the final committee are: juniors; Billy Hanlin, William Boram, Shirley Porter, Lonnie Miller, Carlton Gandee, and Dorothy Terrill; seniors; Jack Lilly, Charles Marks, Brent Cool, Larry Gainer, Cecil Johnson, Doris Perkins, William Lee, Martha Mick, Cyril Anderson, Frank Stanovich, Robert Mottice and Sidney Adlesberg.

Education Class To Conduct Survey

The five high schools of Gilmer county—Glenville, Tanner, Troy, Normantown and Sand Fork—and three county graded schools have agreed to cooperate with members of the Education 306 class, "Problems in Rural Education," by assisting in a community survey.

Data will be collected from approximately 1500 Gilmer county families and it is anticipated that some decision may be reached in their attempt to find why people are leaving Gilmer county and why high school graduates are not continuing their education.

Mercury Musings

By BILL BORAM

It was gratifying to see the changed attitude of the freshmen class during the Homecoming week-end. Their rebellious inclinations directed into more useful channels, the first-year students earned the right to throw away their caps.

It won't be long now! President Heflin reports that plans for the dedication of the new health-physical education building are now underway.

A date to remember: Nov. 13 is the day set for the arrival of Dean Marion Rex Trabue on our campus for a four-day evaluation. Keep this in mind. He is coming at our request and for our benefit. Let's not waste his time!

Student mixes are enjoying more and more popularity on campus this year. They seem to be one of the best ways of keeping the student body on campus over the week-ends—we hope their popularity continues to increase.

Glenville State's peppy, good-looking cheerleader team continues to draw rave notices from football crowds throughout the state. Pairing three lovely ladies such as Dotie Lanham, Sally Waggoner and Betty Sims with a head cheerleader as talented as "Chick" Zakarian is a big enough attraction for any school.

We have been hearing rumors that campus cuties are once again getting in shape for the traditional Sadie Hawkins Day race which will be held Nov. 17. On your mark, men . . .

Guess our editorial concerning the enforcement of the letter-wearing rule stirred up a little discussion around the campus. We've received all kinds of threats but as yet we haven't been given any good argument against our line of reasoning.

The U. S. now is the land of plenty—of things you can't afford.

AG CLUB FORMS; NAMES LEADERS

Hardman, Woodburn, Head First Farm Group

Officers of the newly-formed Agriculture club were chosen during a meeting held last week at the home of Prof. Warden Lane.

Selected to serve for the coming year were: Jim Hardman, president; Lee Woodburn, vice president; Christ Heater, secretary; Devin McChung, treasurer, and Fred Yeater, reporter.

The Agriculture club is the first of its type to be organized on the campus, and petition has been submitted to the student council for acceptance as a campus organization.

Other members of the club include: Edward Nixon, Chris Heater, William Smith, John Johnson, Garrel Divers, Robert Ord, James Shore, John Loyd, and Darrel Bragg.

Juniors To Present Annual Talent Show

Plans are underway for the annual talent show sponsored by the junior class which will be held in the college auditorium Nov. 23.

The purpose of the show is to find the leading amateurs on the campus. The show will include all types of entertainment.

President of the junior class Carlyle Kee has appointed various committees to make final plans for the event and states, "We expect to make this show the biggest and best in an evening's entertainment."

EXPRESSES THANKS

The Student Council wishes to thank the members of the student body who assisted in any of the Homecoming day's activities. It was only with this cooperation of the students that homecoming was the big success it was.

18 ARE INITIATED BY FTA CLUB

Eighteen students were initiated into the Glenville college Future Teachers club in an impressive ceremony on Thursday evening, Oct. 18. As the club officers and sponsors gave a brief summary of FTA club work, the new members received a lighted candle and pledged their loyalty and service to the organization.

New members participating in the initiation were: Ann Allen, Faith Bingham, Wayne Cunningham, Betty Dobbins, Eleanor Dofson, Martha Gainer, Bernadine Gregory, Winona Hall, Nancy Hamrick, Eunice Hatfield, Nora Ann Kennedy, Julia Murphy, Margaret Jean Reeder, Patty Reynolds, Doris Rogers, Emma Lou Stewart, Mary Joeline Sturm, and Joan Wilson.

IRC To Conduct ARK Clothing Drive;

The International Relations club this week is conducting a clothing drive in cooperation with the American Relief for Korea organization according to an announcement by Verl Garster, president.

Clothing will be collected on the campus and in town this week and will be sent to the ARK national headquarters to be forwarded to Korea.

Garster has appointed Gerald Kress chairman of the collection committee.

Stepped-Up Program

Foremost among the concerns of the average campus student is the need of a stepped-up social program, which, because of complete lack of initiative on the part of the same students, is rather skimpy at times.

In an effort to alleviate conditions such as this the administration provided for a lyceum program some years ago. The duty of the lyceum committee is to provide skilled entertainment and to give the student an introduction to aesthetics. In preceding years, lyceum numbers have included such things as: chamber music by German artists, symphony orchestras, professional lecturers, and Shakespearian plays.

The lyceum committee this year has arranged to bring to the campus the famed Barter theatre group to present Moss Hart's comedy, "Light Up the Sky". This production is to be staged Nov. 9 at 8:15 in the college auditorium.

Announcement has been made that other lyceum numbers will be given this year, but that the committee is operating under restrictions of a limited budget. In the past, the income from activity fees has helped support this program; but a marked decrease in enrollment this term has affected a considerable reduction in this source of income.

Continuation of these popular events will be possible only through the support of the students and their families, because of the expense of securing top entertainment.

The week-end of Nov. 9 should leave everyone well-satisfied socially, for in addition to a top-rate play of the New York theatrical world, the Pioneers will play their last home game Saturday afternoon, Nov. 10 climaxing the day will be a memorable all-college mix in the evening.

The lyceum committee is hopeful that many more occasions like this will occur throughout the year this will be possible only if this first one is unofficially declared --visitors week-end.

Suitcase College

Student Council officers who attended the state student government convention last week reported that Glenville State's most obvious shortcoming in comparison to other state college was in the number of social activities held.

The Council members found that the lack of social events was a direct cause for the "suitcase college" situation that prevails here.

Students will stay on campus on week-ends if there is something to hold them. Lyceum and activities committees have been striving to provide such an attraction, but they will have to get some help from other organizations if they are to succeed.

The increased number of students mixes and the appearance of the Barter theatre group here next week is a beginning in the building of a better social program. What is needed now is some initiative on the part of other campus groups in providing additional social events.

Council officers who attended the convention found that such events as campus sings, lawn and street dances, and dormitory parties provide a well-rounded social program for other schools. Similar events could do as much for us--and they could help us get rid of our "suitcase college label.

Small But Mighty

Last week's Homecoming festivities brought to light a fact that some of us have known for a year now--that Prof. Harold Orendorff's Glenville State band is just about the best little group of music makers around.

Even though they are small in number, this mighty little outfit can play with the largest of them. Having only 25 members to work with, Professor Orendorff is showing how good talent and lots of hard work can pay off.

Now in their second year, the band is getting better all the time. Once their number is increased as Professor Orendorff is striving to do, we're sure they won't be topped by any band anywhere.

The entertainment we are giving by the band is another of the privileges that we seem to take for granted but in appreciation for all their hard work we hope they will take some consolation in The Mercury's heartfelt thanks for a job well done.

Losing Is Gaining

"There must be the game before the pursuit can be made." No doubt some great hunter of today or some backwoodsman of yesterday has made that statement at one time or another. It's true. A man can't say he has been hunting just because he ambled out into the woods one sunny day and shot pine cones out of a tree.

That's the same way with other sports. There has to be an objective. Single out, for instance, a sport like football, or basketball, or track, or tennis. People don't play these sports for the sheer joy of keeping in fine physical trim. They play them to win. That's the objective.

But, on the other hand, there are different ways of winning, too. Some people play to win anyway they can. Others don't. The people who play to win in a fair and square way are the people that really come out on top in the end. They learn to lose.

Learning to lose doesn't necessarily mean that you have to lose. A champion can be a good loser.

People who become frustrated and angry with themselves and others are the losers. They make it impossible to win. They lose confidence; they lose the game; they lose interest; and, they lose their heads. So, there they are--poor losers!

It's only a game. And only effort--not anger--will be the deciding factor as to the outcome.

ACROSS the TABLE

By Hardway and Green

Being very, very new at this sort of thing, we should like to beg apologies in advance. Please do not hold us responsible for what my eyes have seen and for what my slick fingers will tell as they ramble over the keys of "Old Faithful".

Cupid was really on the job over the Homecoming weekend. Many old couples were observed celebrating the festivities, as well as many new ones who couldn't resist the little bow and arrow.

Marilyn Hartenstine was observed shaking a wicked leg with Marvin Stewart at the street dance in town Friday night.

Billy Hanlin was seen escorting a beautiful hunk of feminine flesh to the dance. We also hear that this young eligible is no longer an eligible.

Christine Hyer seems to get involved in more triangles than Mr. Newman's math class.

The old campus romeo, Boone Waldo, seems to have another ardent admirer, the famous "Jitterbug" Herron. Seems to me, these naive freshmen should be warned. Watch out, Frank Vincent, you'll lose her yet.

Have you noticed how all the lassies' hearts melt when Paul Latham flashes them one of those shy glances. Don't we all have a weakness for brown eyes? There should be a law!

How could one cloud hold up two people? It's easy when they are the size of Bobby Wright and Bill Lilly.

We hear that K. O. Parmer has been giving Virginia Phillips the rush. Take it easy, K. O. You'll land one yet.

Cy Anderson still receives letters from Tesla, W. Va. Could these possibly be from the one and only, Virginia Eakle?

It has been suggested that Clara Bowles keep her butter in the refrigerator instead of depositing it on the door knobs in Verona Maple hall.

These Latin American casanovas seem to have a style that the other fellas find hard to compete with. Huh, Mary Burg?

Boony Sommerville was seen escorting a home town girl to the festivities over the weekend. These Webster Springs boys believe in keeping the home fires burning. Take Brent Cool, George Davis, and Hayward Lowe for instance.

Carl "Syndicate" Gagliani was seen with a dream from Dunbar. This local woman hater seems to have reformed.

Cy Anderson announced that he was going to escort four "women" on the sophomore hayride. The joke is on Cy. The hayride was called off. Better luck next time, Cy.

Jack McCartney doesn't seem to go for the local lassies too much. Be careful, Jack; too frequent trips to Charleston are not recommended for a good constitution.

One-hundred and eleven men are being pledged by the seven fraternities on the campus.

A new soft drink machine is soon to be installed in Hodges hall. It will be a paper cup machine in order to eliminate the problem of bottles. Also to be installed are two new phone booths. The Parthenon--Marshall College.

Casting for the student production of Victor Herbert's "The Red Mill" will begin this week, student council officials announced. The Herbert operetta is the first in a series of student operettas. The Daily Athenaeum--West Virginia University.

Students enrolled in Retailing Store Management and Operation have taken over the college Snack Bar as part of their class work. Each member of the class will spend 40 hours a month working in the Snack Bar plus two hours a week in lecture class. Concordian--Concord College.

Potomac State School recently observed a triple anniversary. The dedication of their new science building, observance of the school's 50th anniversary, and Homecoming day. All this was celebrated, October 20.

Following instructions in the bulletin, the student should fill out his application and mail it immediately in the envelope provided. Applications for the December 13 test must be postmarked no later than midnight, November 5, 1951.

According to Educational Testing Service, which prepares and administers the College Qualification Test for the Selective Service System, it will be greatly to the student's advantage to file his application at once regardless to the testing date he selects. The results will be reported to the student's Selective Service local board of jurisdiction for use in considering his deferment as a student.

Pioneers Down Concord In Southern Trip, 31 to 0

Offense Is Good
Hanlin Excells

By DARRELL MORRIS

Mike Josephs' proteges, the Glenville State College Pioneers, continued in their winning way as they crushed the high flying Mountain Lions of Concord College, 31-0, in a hard fought contest played Saturday at Athens, W. Va.

With the running of Smilin' Bill Hanlin and Ron Godfrey combined with the pitching arm of Jumpin' Jack Tennant the Pioneers proved to be much for the Southland forces of Joe Friedl as they surged to their second straight win of the season.

GSC LEADS IN 1ST DOWNS

Rolling up 15 first downs to Concord's 6, the GSC Model-T scored in every quarter but the first, proving to the state's sport scene that they are definitely the team to keep an eye on.

The first tally of the game came early in the second quarter when "Wee Willie" Hanlin, as Billy Lilly, GSC statistician so aptly stated it, took the ball on his 37, where Hodge Hissam and a 15-yard penalty had placed it, and galloped some 63 yards to Home Sweet Home. Gainer's conversion was off and to the side.

TENNANT CONNECTS

For the second TD Tennant uncorked the first of three TD passes to Hanlin in a play that covered 68 yards, from the Glenville 32. At the half the Pioneers led 12-0.

Opening the third quarter Tennant threw a pass into the flat to Don Merriman who carried it over. Joe Riddle's kick for the EP was partially blocked.

In the final period of the game the Wave rolled from their own 34 to the Concord 16, where they were stopped by the forward wall of the Lion line. On a fourth down and 16 yards to go for a touchdown Tennant faded back to the 20-yard line and heaved a pass, intended for Ron Godfrey, which was intercepted on the Concord 2 by Raymond Boyd who ran it back to his own ten and fumbled it. GSC recovered the bobbie. Tennant again passed to Godfrey who went over standing up. Johnson's try for the extra point was high and wide and the score read Glenville 24-Concord 0.

Hodge Hissam intercepted Tommy Atwell's pass on the Glenville 21 and ran it back to the 40. Minutes later Godfrey ran around his left end and streaked over for the final touchdown. Gainer's kick was good and the final score was Glenville State 31, Concord College 0.

The GSC line was sparked by Jolley, Stanewich, Janiszewski and Adlesberg and Hanlin, Tennant.

Across the Sights

By BILL LILLY

At the start of the football season, Coach Michael Josephs' backfield worries centered around the fullback position. He could find no one who was capable of stacking up to the qualifications of handling the job. So, he decided to experiment with Fred Gainer, a veteran lineman and one of his star performers at the right guard position last year.

In the initial opener of the Pioneer football season against Potomac, Gainer started at fullback. He carried the ball three times and gained six yards—a feat that is rarely duplicated by the man who is supposedly the best ball carrier on the team.

From the Potomac game until the Shepherd game, Gainer played no offensive ball, but did play defensive right end. Also, he booted the ball on kickoffs. Three of these kicks were so perfectly placed by his magic toe that they rolled little more than ten yards. Glenville recovered two of the boots. They scored against Salem on one of them.

In the Homecoming game, Coach Josephs switched Gainer back to his old position at right guard on offense. The move was a good one. Gainer responded by producing one of the best showings any Pioneer lineman has turned in all year. He also shined at defensive right end.

Special mention should go to the Richwood high school band. They were real performers with reference to putting on an exhibition football game during the halftime festivities of Homecoming.

Recognition should also go to the horn-tooter who did the exceptionally fine brand of place-kicking on kick-offs and extra points. No doubt Coach Josephs has his name and the size of his right foot by now.

Homecoming Habit

In the last three games in which the Pioneers have participated, all of them have been either this school's or the opposition's homecoming.

The first of the string was Davis & Elkins' homecoming. The Pioneers dropped the game to the Senators, 33-7. Glenville won their homecoming game with Shepherd, 19-13. Concord's homecoming contest with Glenville was played October 27.

Pioneers Are Idle Saturday; Next Encounter With Tech

Two Win, Three Losses
Sid, Jazz, Frank, Cecil,
Fred, And Bill To Retire

The second and the last of the open dates for the Glenville State football machine will be Saturday, October 3. This open date will be followed by the Glenville-West Virginia Tech game which will be played at Rohrbough Stadium Nov. 10.

Looking back over the games played thus far, the Pioneers have won two and lost three. This does not include the Concord contest since that game was not played when this was written.

The two Glenville wins were chalked up against the Salem Tigers, 41-7, and the Shepherd Rams, who fell under the Pioneer attack 19-13 before 2000 Homecoming fans.

The losses came at the hands of Potomac, 13-0; Fairmont, 20-0; and D & E, 33-7.

On Nov. 10 the Pioneers will take the field against a strong West Virginia Tech team in their last gridiron tussle of the 1951 season. This game will climax the careers of four and possibly six Pioneer lettermen.

Sid Adelsberg, 195-pound left tackle and captain of the 1951 grid team, who hails from Pittsburgh, Pa., will be included among the four who will graduate this school term. This will be Sid's third year as a regular on the varsity.

Frank Stanewich and Edmund "Dike" Janiszewski, both graduates of Oak Hill high school, will also be playing in their last Pioneer football game.

The other sure graduate is Cecil Johnson, the Pioneer's 188-pound fullback and leading scorer from Grantsville. Johnson has scored two touchdowns and kicked seven extra points for nineteen points in Glenville's first five games played this year.

Fred Gainer and Bill Hanlin are the two who may or may not be back for the Blue and White next year.

Sponaugle Gains; Crowds For First

Sponaugle wins again to bring her close behind Cromwell in the WAA volleyball standing. Waggoner holds her own in third place while Foore changed her position to fourth. Judy is now fifth and Dobbins, Lanham, and Green are tied in sixth place.

The next item on the WAA agenda will be badminton. It will begin Nov. 5.

The standings are:

Team	W	L
Cromwell	6	0
Sponaugle	6	1
Waggoner	5	2
Foore	4	2
Judy	4	3

Strother, college nurse, revealed that the disorder had reached epidemic proportions during the week with 28 waylaid in Louis Bennett, 14, in Verona Mapel, and 6 in Kanawha hall; with a total of 48 cases for the week. Reports Thursday indicated that most of the afflicted were better since the disorder was of short duration.

A type of virus intestinal flu seemed to be the cause of all the turmoil, and according to Mrs. Strother was not confined to the campus but was rampant throughout the county and surrounding communities. Local health officials were not able to determine the cause of the epidemic.

Students Differ On Letter-Wearing

A question that has been a controversial subject on campus is, "Should students be allowed to wear letters earned in high school on campus?" Some opinions of both G-Club members and other students are:

Bernard Jolly, "I disapprove of it because he isn't in high school now and the letter should be left with high school ways."

Bill Waldeck, "I don't think so. It would make you want to earn a college letter if you couldn't wear your high school letter."

Marge Hardman, "Yes, most of them worked for them and should be allowed to wear them."

Julia Stalnaker, "Yes, I do. It is economically sound to leave them on as it ruins the sweater to take the letter off."

Frank Fultiner, "I am definitely against it. The high school letter detracts from the honor of winning a college letter."

Larry Gainer, "No, they're in college now, not high school."

Dick Barrett, "Definitely not."

Sally Waggoner, "Absolutely, they pay for them in high school and they don't do any good at home."

Ronald Butcher, "No, this isn't high school."

Harold Butcher, "No, they should wear the letter of the school that they represent."

Shirley Porter, "No, with so many letters on campus, a visitor couldn't tell if he were in a college or high school."

Jack Lilly, "No, to show your loyalty to your school you shouldn't wear another school's letter."

Ella Ruth Brown, "Yes, if you earn a letter, why shouldn't you be allowed to wear it."

Sid Adlesberg, "No, anyone good enough to earn a letter in high school should be able to earn one in college."

Genelda Hardway, "Yes, college students should be broad-minded enough to accept the fact that the students are proud of their high school letter and are still loyal to the college."
