'Hams' Will Vie For First Place Tonight at 8:15

Program To Feature Solos, Quartets, Dancing, Minics And The Famous 'Act'

Music will never be so sweet, dancing so snappy, or reciting so awfully entertaining as it will be tonight when the Wise Fool Talent show under the direction of the junior class gets underway at 8:15 p. m. in the college auditorium.

There will be vocal solo's by Betty Dobbins, Francis Sommerville, Bob Hoffman, and Don Arbogast.

Competition will be keen between the women's and men's quartets. Singing in the women's quartet will be Barbara Brannon, Ann Brannon, Jolene Cole and Winona Spurgeon. Charles Doddrell, Don Arbogast, Joe Arbogast, and Myron Mason make up the men's quartet.

Veteran dancer Billy D. Hamlin will be dancing his way to the top via taps. Doris Perkins and Julia Stalaker in their debut promise to be one of the dance acts of our times.

Mary Faith Holbert will tickle the ivories and Red Mason will make the saxophone talk.

The big event of the evening will be the "act" by Charles Zakarian and Billy Lilly. This act is top secret. The only comment available from Mr. Lilly was "You just tell them we'll be there."

Mabel Moore, Carol Mick, and Janet Heron will give their interpretations of selected interpretations.

Trophies will be awarded to the first, second, and third place winners.

Judging this talent will be Professors Marjorie Skelton, Harold S. Orendorff, and Epsy Miller.

Don Deal, "That nice guy with the nice voice", will serve as Master of Ceremonies, a position he so capably filled at the recent freshman assembly.

Play Rehearsals Are Postponed

Prof. Marjorie Skelton, head of the speech department, has announced that the rehearsals for "Dear Ruth" have been postponed. She stated that the play has been postponed because of the difficulty of using the auditorium since the heating system broke down.

The postponement is for an indefinite period.

Newman Is Guest Speaker At Woman's Club Meeting

Prof. Marvin Newman was guest speaker for the Glenville Woman's club at the Nov. 12 meeting. He spoke on the subject of "Civilian Defense In Atomic Warfare."

Professor Newman emphasized the changes in civilian defense programs since the last war, and the need for immediate action on the part of both small and large communities. Professor Newman attended civilian defense monitoring classes at West Virginia university this summer, and is qualified to train monitors for this service.

Swimming To Be Delayed; Fundamentals To Be Studied

Because of slow progress on the new health and physical education building, the first swimming class will be unable to use the pool for about two weeks.

Coach Michael Josephs has announced that rather than discontinue the swimming course, the class will meet and study fundamentals as applied to the teaching of swimming. The pool itself has been completed for some time and filled with water, but attendant facilities are not yet ready for use.

Last Years Memories Linger

Students View Fall Holiday With Respect

By Genelda Hardway
On Wednesday, Nov. 21, students at GSC will deposit their books on the nearest desk, grab their glad rags, shotgun shells, and bank book, and start on their journey home with the cheerful thought of a Thanksgiving dinner awaiting them on Thursday. All have looked forward to this holiday.

There will be no studies to worry about and the four days with nothing to do but to sleep and eat home cooking.

We left Glenville for the holidays with that same thought last year. On Wednesday we all scampered home—but did not return the following Monday. Thanksgiving morning a light, puffy snow was falling. Shouts of laughter were probably heard in several students' homes as many planned to go rabbit chasing, sleighing, or whatever their favorite snow sport might have been.

By Friday, there was no more

Mercury Musings

By BILL BORAM

Bill Harper, former Mercury editor now finishing his senior year at Marshall college, is also working full-time on Huntington's largest newspaper—in addition to carrying a full scholastic schedule. From reports we have received, Harper is making out fine in both his school and paper work. Maybe this editor job has some future to it after all.

Number 1 on the grape parade as usual this year is campus "chow". If only some of those who gripe longest and loudest could visit dining halls of other state colleges! There would be "belly-achers" by the score tramped in the rush to get back to Kanawha hall and some good food at an economical price.

Theater-goers who attended the Barter Theater performance last week must certainly feel gratitude for a Lyceum program that can secure talent such as was displayed on our stage.

Again we beg—don't gripe to "ye old editor" about your paper. Write and sign a letter to the editor. We guarantee its publication.

Sigma Tau's To Sponsor First White Rose Formal

GLENVILLE PTA NAMES PROJECT

Plans for Construction Of New School Underway

The Parent-Teacher association of Glenville has selected as a project for the coming year the construction of a new high and elementary school building for the students of Glenville. This is to eliminate the overcrowded condition in Glenville and to raise the educational level in Gilmer county.

At a previous meeting the Glenville chapter met with representatives from other communities to discuss the raising of money for this plan. In addition to the construction of the new building, improvements are to be added to the other high schools in this county. Plans were also discussed for the building needs and plans were drawn up for the new school building.

The PTA will hold meetings the first Thursday of each month.

Officers for the coming year are Edwin P. Adkins, president; Miss Eloise Wolfe, secretary; and William Irwin, treasurer.

Cool's Band Plays At Council Mix; Quartet Entertains

A student mix was held in the gym Saturday night, Nov. 10, sponsored by the Student Council.

Music was furnished by Brent Cool's dance band, the first appearance of the dance band this year.

The Chord-Busters sang several selections. This quartet is composed of Joe Arbogast, Myron Mason, Don Arbogast, and Charles Doddrell. Mary Faith Holbert also played selections on the piano.

Two cake walks were also sponsored by the Council. The cakes were won by Joe Arbogast and Emma Lou Stewart and Robert Cutlip and Joan McNemar.

Soft drinks were served by the Council at intermission.

Dr. Kennedy To Attend Meeting In Cincinnati

Dr. Eddie Kennedy, education, will attend a meeting of the Council of Teachers of English in Cincinnati Nov. 29-30. Dr. Kennedy will appear on the program as a resource person on the discussion "Community Resources in the Teaching of Language."

Student Body To Elect Queen To Reign At Dance; B. Cool's Band To Play

By CLAUDETTE HEFNER
Sigma Tau Gamma fraternity will be the sponsors of Glenville state college's first White Rose formal.

Dec. 14 is the date which has been selected for the dance which will be held in the old gym from 9 p. m. until 1 a. m.

A White Rose Queen will be crowned at the dance. She will be elected by the student body in an all school election prior to the dance.

Candidates for the title will be girls selected by the freshman, sophomore, junior and senior classes as their representatives. One of these girls will be elected by the entire student body to reign as "White Rose Queen I."

Brent Cool's Collegians will provide the music for the affair.

A white rose dance is a Sigma Tau Gamma national fraternity custom. Other Sig Tau chapters in colleges throughout the country sponsor this dance annually in observance of their fraternity flower, the white rose.

Replacing the Christmas dance, it is the hope of the Sigma Tau's to make the White Rose formal an annual affair.

Choir To Give Messiah Dec. 18

Under the direction of Prof. Harold S. Orendorff, the fifty-five Glenville State choir has been rehearsing George F. Handel's immortal "Messiah" for the past three weeks.

This is to be the choir's third annual presentation, with the Glenville performance to be given Dec. 18 in the college auditorium. They have also been invited to present it at Grantsville again this year.

Soloists have not as yet been selected. Prof. Bertha Olsen will serve as organ accompanist again this year, with the possibility that a pianist will also be secured.

Football Players Are Feted With Dinner

A special dinner was given for the Glenville State football team following the completion of the season Nov. 10.

Spotlighting the graduating members of the squad, a special table was prepared for them with distinctive placecards. Underclass members of the team received miniature football players while the seniors were robed in caps and gowns.

Guests at the dinner were Coach Carlos Ratliff and Michael Josephs.

Cheers For Cheerleaders

They're at it again! It's Zakarian, Lanham, Sigs, and Waggoner practicing their cheers for the coming basketball season. Many persons know the cheerleaders have to practice, but very few are aware that a great amount of time, effort, and energy is expended in order for them to become skilled at their trade.

Glenville State college cheerleaders are good. There are no "ifs, and's or but's" about it. They've got what it takes. They have had that quality called finesse. But what's most important of all, they have more school spirit than Carter has liver pills. Exaggeration! Maybe!

When first elected, the cheerleaders weren't the team they are now. They had to practice the same as the pioneer football team. Through practice, they improved—as did the football team. At the end of the season, GSC had one of the best cheerleading teams in the state, just as GSC could field one of the best football teams in the state.

At the end of the season, the boys who earn letters in football are given sweaters. At the end of the year, the cheerleaders, who actually work throughout the entire year to earn their letters, are given a letter only.

The student council is composed of a group of highly intelligent and fair-minded people. They are devoted to the school and its activities, to the will of the students. They are of a caliber of super intelligence; therefore, they are undoubtedly a group of super businessmen and women. We know they haven't the money to buy the cheerleaders sweaters; but, we also know they can acquire it somehow.

The motion has been brought to the front for the purchasing of school sweaters for that grand foursome of GSC cheerleaders. How about it? Who is going to second the motion? Hanlin? Porter? Who?

Honest, folks, they deserve 'em.

Two-Cents Worth

Many times, the Mercury presents discussions of controversial issues in the editorials. We try to look at these issues with an unprejudiced mind and to discuss them from the standpoint of the good of the school as a whole.

However, occasionally some students and faculty members differ with the views we have presented. Usually the only inkling we get of their opinions are garbled, second-hand reports.

To offset this situation and give our readers a voice in their paper, we invite letters to the editor on any subject, from any reader. We will publish any letter received that is signed.

To those who make a practice of criticizing their school paper, here is a chance to "put in your two-cents worth". We are eagerly anticipating the results.

A Place To 'Hang-Out'

The Glenville State student union is currently meeting with more all-round success than ever before in the history of its operation.

The union this year has definitely had something to offer to the students. Changes in the arrangement of tables, pinball machines and the juke box have made the union a better place for campusites to "hang out". The addition of various types of merchandise has solved shopping problems for many of us and the general tightening up by union officials has offered new conveniences.

The better the union is, the more students will go there instead of down town. A large friendly crowd makes for better campus social life. As a result, the improvement of the union leads to the improvement of the campus as a whole.

Credit for our student union's new success goes chiefly to Bob Mottice, student manager. Bob was appointed union manager by student body president Cool and has achieved what the student council desired when it took direct control at the beginning of this year. The union's popularity should continue to grow, and with it should develop a growth of better campus social life.

Vienna's Golden Years of Music (1850-1900), by Eduard Hanslick, 1936.

These forty reviews by Eduard Hanslick, the great music critic, gives first-hand information on the golden era of music in Vienna. His reputation was soon formed as one of the most loved and hated men of his time. During his years in Vienna from 1850-1900 he was envied all over Europe for his dynamic personality.

Hanslick enjoyed controversy, as is soon revealed by his journal, Wagner, a personal enemy, proved to be one of his greatest sources of criticism. He also opposed many of the works of Liszt, Berlioz, Strauss and others but he had personal warmth and admiration for musicians as Brahms, Patti, and Tchaikovsky.

Other than the evaluation of musicians of his day, Hanslick reveals his impression of the first performance of masterpieces like Handel's "The Messiah," Schubert's "Unfinished," and Liszt's "Les Preludes." In his reviews you see the earnestness and fearlessness of his work. Hanslick was not a person to rush his emotional feelings. He would not have agreed with Americans who must get their stories to the press immediately. Often he took as long as a week to write his criticisms of great musical productions.

Modern critics consider Hanslick as outstanding, but like all humans he erred. When reading this book of the golden years of music keep in mind that it is one man's impression of the music of his time. Perhaps the title is a bit misleading because it reveals more of the personality of Hanslick than the music of Vienna.

This collection of Hanslick's reviews and essays has been translated by Henry Pleasants III, an American public servant in Vienna. Caricatures and cartoons by the editor add spice to the reading.

Students Are Assigned Directed Teaching Posts

Nine Glenville State college students have been assigned directed teaching posts in Glenville public schools and began teaching Nov. 15.

Ella Ruth Brown, Julia Rexroad, Joyce James Lilly, Doris Margaret Burk and June Adams are teaching in the elementary field. Secondary teachers are Jack Lilly, commerce and social studies; Frank Stanovich, English and social studies; Sydney Adelsberg, physical education and social science; Lynn Warner, mathematics and science.

STUDENTS VIEW

In spite of the very deep snow on Thursday, students dug out their earmuffs, rubbers, and whatever other articles of clothing that might be used to keep them warm, and trudged back to classes. The classes were skimpy that day as most of the students were still home. After a long and lonesome weekend for the few who were here, the rest of the students arrived and once again classes resumed with normality.

Science Museum Lies Idle

By CY ANDERSON

On the third and fourth floors of the Science hall, where some of the phenomena of nature are being explored, there is displayed a large number of articles, objects, and specimens which have been arranged and classified in the manner of a small museum.

It is generally accepted that a large majority of the students know nothing of the existence of the science museum and those who are aware of its presence seldom if ever make use of it. Prof. Byron Turner who is in charge of the cases reports that only one group has made use of the exhibits this year. He stated that any student, faculty member, or group is permitted to use the collections at any time.

Prof. John R. Wagoner was the original backer of the science museum, and with the aid of the members of the old Chemistry club, carried the idea through to reality in 1930-31. Collections were begun by the Chemistry club by correspondence with industrial companies throughout the country and continued until the beginning of the second World War.

Outstanding among the museum exhibits is a large collection of minerals including a group of West Virginia minerals given by state geological societies, some from the Uni-

ACROSS the TABLE

By GENELDA HARDWAY

Oh, woe! woe! No more freedom for the poor males on the campus after the drag last weekend. It looks like they are roped in to stay.

After the process of elimination by the gals and the mad dash to secure one of the few of the roving ones during the race, the women came through victorious and all reported a swell time at the drag.

Ruth James and Ray Conrad seemed to be enjoying themselves very much. These two also caused turned heads at the student council mix.

Claire Bowles and Hadse Hissam are still keeping the light burning. And Bowles didn't have any trouble "dragging".

Tables seemed to have turned a little bit. Bobby Wright dragged Carlton Gondee and Christine took Paul Lanham. More triangles.

Marilyn Hartenstein and Martin Stewart are at it again we see. These two make pretty good dancing partners.

Bond Poling seems to have enraptured Cecil Johnson with her engaging smile. She was seen dragging this young eligible to the dance Saturday night.

Our editor has succumbed to the fatal disease known as Dotty Lanham and let himself be roped in but good by this little chick.

Doris Spicer and Jack Tennant seemed to be having a good time "while the band played on".

Faith Bingham and her steady now have a mutual feeling and the sharp little number is giving Charlie Hoffman the big rush.

Chick Zakarian is drooling over that Richmond cutie, Wanda Lorraine Taylor. The Rhode Island rover is getting himself caught.

Don Weaver is again back in circulation. He can be seen keeping company with Mary Helen Somerville in front of Kanawha hall.

Another new twosome on the campus is appearing in the form of Marlene Dolson and Bob Hoffman.

These two have much in common. Forgetting the dance we would like to recognize the visitors that appeared on the campus last week. Several of the old students who returned to visit were Eueria Rohr, Josephine McCauley, Earnest Kee, Virginia Eakle, and Tony Shumann.

FOOTBALL TEAM ENDS SEASON WITH 3-4 SLATE

Pioneer Gridders Show Improvement Despite Loss To Tech In Season Finale

By DARRELL MORRIS

Losing 32-9, the 1951 grid campaign of Coach Michael Josephs and his Glenville State Pioneers went into the books as history when GSC played its season's finale with the Golden Bears from West Virginia Tech of Montgomery here on November 10.

Tech Has Strong Defense

Being unable to cope with the Bear's massive line and the running of Bob Pulce, Walter Rapko, and Company, the Josephsmen lost their fourth contest of the year, making their overall season's record stand at 3-4.

Despite this mediocre showing, one could hardly call the current season a bad one for the Pioneers. Their only losses came at the hands of strong West Virginia Tech (5-1), Potomac State (3-1), Davis and Elkins (3-2) and Fairmont State (4-2), all finishing as first division teams in the WVCC ratings.

Conference Standings

Team	W	L	T
Morris Harvey	4	0	0
West Va. Tech	5	1	0
Potomac State	3	1	0
Davis and Elkins	3	2	0
Fairmont State	4	2	0
West Liberty	2	2	0
GLENVILLE STATE	3	4	0
Shepherd State	1	3	0
Concord	1	4	0
Bethany	0	1	0
Salem	0	6	0

Dropping their first two games to Potomac State (13-0) and Fairmont State (20-0) at Fairmont the Pioneers packed their bags and traveled to Grantsville where they walloped winless Salem College 41-7 on the Calhoun County high school athletic field. GSC goal crossers were Bill Hanlin (3), Ronald Godfrey (2) and Dean Hupp. Cecil Johnson added five points in placements.

Traveling to Elkins on Oct. 13, the Wave came out on the short end of a 33-7 score as the Senators of D&E took their annual homecoming game before a sparse crowd of 1500 people. Glenville's lone TD was scored by end Don Merriman with Johnson adding the EP.

Returning to Glenville the Pioneers played the Shepherd State Rams on Oct. 20, climaxing gala (Continued on page 4)

Women's Badminton Tourney Begins; Frosh and Upperclassmen Divided

In the first games Sims and Hardman won over Westfall and McNemar. Burke and Hartenstine over Clarkson and Whit, McNemar and Westfall over Clarkson and White, Cromwell and Adams over Melrose and Green.

On the other court Lanham and Wilson beat Moneypenney and Simons, Genevieve Hinder and Metz beat Berry and Robinson, and Lanham and Wilson beat Hinder and Metz.

HOOP TEAM WILL LACK EXPERIENCE

Gloomy Season Forecast As Only Three Letterman Report For First Drills

By BILL LILLY

"Gloomy with rain following" would be the pre-season forecast of the defending state basketball champions, the Glenville State Pioneers, if the forecaster were basing his predictions according to the number of experienced stars lost through graduation and withdrawals.

Only one man will be back from last year's championship five. Sid Adlesberg, leading foul shot in the Conference last year, will be back to roam the West Virginia Inter-collegiate Conference's hardwoods again this year. Adlesberg is the lone eagle of that "mythical five."

Three Lettermen Return

Dick Barrett and Carlton Gandee are the remaining lettermen from the first ten. Around these three, Adlesberg, Barrett, and Gandee, Coach Michael Josephs will build his 1951-52 basketball machine.

Back from last year's squad are Cecil Johnson, Joe Riddle, Fred Gainer, Charles "Chick" Zakarian, Don Merriman, and Walter Slate. Great things are expected of these boys by Coach Josephs.

A good prospect being considered by Coach Josephs is big Bob Poole, 6' 1" 190-lb. freshman from Lost Creek high school. Poole is big and quick, a good rebounder, and an excellent shot.

Across the Sights

By BILL LILLY

Reviewing the performances of the 1951 season, it would be hard to name a particularly outstanding player.

At the start of the season the Pioneers lacked experience, having only five seniors on the squad. But as the season progressed, the team began to improve and become tougher. At midseason, the Pioneers were a team to consider.

Glenville won only three of their seven game schedule. But the Pioneers easily could have won two more had they got the breaks. Twice they were inside Potomac State's ten yard line only to lose (Continued on page 4) the ball on downs. Potomac beat Glenville 13-0. Two touchdowns plus two extra points and the score could have been Glenville over Potomac by score of 14-13.

Against Davis and Elkins, Glenville fumbled three times the first quarter. Davis and Elkins scored three quick touchdowns—wham—wham—wham—and led the Pioneers 21-0 at the end of the first quarter as a direct result of these fumbles. The game ended 33-7. The Pioneers never recovered.

If the sophomores and freshmen stay with the squad during the next two years, Glenville could become a powerhouse. With sophomores like Walt Slate, Bernard Jolley, Paul Lanham, Harold "Hedge" Hissam, Don Merriman, and Ronald Butcher left to don the Blue and White during the 1952 and 1953 seasons, they can't miss.

The fine crop of freshmen which consist of Ron Godfrey, Oliver Hunt, Dean Hupp, Harry Knotts, Devin McClung, Bob Reed, Marvin Stewart, Jack Tennant, Frank Vincent, Ed Watkins, and Lowell Weekly will be juniors in 1953. If Uncle Sam and withdrawals don't strip the Pioneers of this potential power by 1953, and the boys keep improving as they did this year, Glenville State college should rank among the contenders for state championship laurels two years from now.

High morale on the bench builds good football teams. High morale on the bench has a lot to do with the play of the participants in the game. If a player on the field realizes that the man on the bench is behind him—even though he beat him out of a first string berth—he'll be a better player. Good team morale was what made Glenville State's football team a strong one during the latter part of the season.

Another boy to be considered is Ronnie Mills. A Parkersburg high school graduate, Mills at 6' 2" and 175 pounds can rebound with the best of them. Mills, a junior will be ripe for conference competition.

Another freshman who has looked good in practice thus far is Kent Reed. A three year letterman from Clay high school, Reed can run, dribble, and shoot. His best shot is a long one with which he hits consistently.

Another promising freshman on the hardwood this year for Cosch Josephs is Jack Tennant. Tennant was captain of the Class "B" Fairview high school team which won the 1951 state championship. Ten-

Homecoming activities. The Shepherd attack fell short and the Pioneers bested the Rams 19-12. Johnson had a pair of TD's and Merriman one for GSC. Johnson scored the extra point for one-for-three. On the following Friday the Pioneers traveled Southward to Athens where they tackled the Mountain Lions of Concord State on Oct. 27. Crushing the Mountain Lion defense, Glenville played havoc as they kept the touchdown trail hot lambasting the Lions 31-0. Smilin'

Bill Hanlin, playing his best game of the year, crossed the goal for two. Rambling Ronnie Godfrey toted the skin across for two, and Merriman tallied one. Fred Gainer placed kicked for the conversion. Taking advantage of an open date, the Pioneers took a well-deserved rest the week prior to last Saturday's game with West Virginia Tech, which saw the Golden Bears winning their seventh game of the year as they trampled GSC 32-0.

With the football season a thing of the past and the football togs tucked away for another year, Coach Josephs hopes to concentrate his efforts upon basketball as the Blue and White prepare to defend their WVVC crown.
