Bell Declares As Candidate

First Candidate to File For Position From District

Prof. Bessie B. Bell, member of the faculty of the history and social science department, has announced that she has filed as a candidate for delegate to the National Democratic convention from the third West Virginia district.

Professor Bell is the first candidate to file for this position from the third district, which is made up of Gilmer, Lewis, Harrison, Doddridge, Upshur, Braxton, Nicholas, Calhoun, Clay, Ritchie, Wirt, and Fayette counties.

Through her present position Miss Bell has kept herself well informed with regard to state, national, and international affairs, and has for several years been adviser of the International Relations club on the campus.

Ed. Dept. to Get New Lab, Seminar Rooms, Professional Library

The new teacher training laboratory being remodeled in the room adjoining the education offices is expected to be ready for use sometime during the second semester. The laboratory will be used as a work room for student teachers and also as a room for seminars in education.

When completed it will have book service containing copies of all high school and elementary textbooks, professional books, materials, devices, and other equipment for instructional purposes.

At the present time there are approximately one thousand books to be placed in the laboratory.

Galgani to Conduct Best Cheer Contest

Campus Chesterfield Agent Carl P. Galgani has announced that he will conduct a cheer contest by giving today and ending Feb. 12.

To enter the contest, simply make up a cheer and hand it in to either Galgani, Mercury Editor William Boim, or to any Glenville State cheerleader, along with one Chesterfield wrapper.

Galgani will award one free carton of Chesterfields to the person who is selected by the judges as winning the best cheer.

Judges for the contest are head cheerleader Charles Zakarian, Galgani, Boram, and Mercury Faculty Advisor E. B. Elder.

Mercury Musings

By BILL BORAM

The Concord game which was played last week was officiated by two former Glenville State students, Sanley Jeranko and Bennett Stump.

In the next issue of the Mercury, we will run a poll of the men who eat at Kanawha dining hall concerning the proposed regulation that ties and coats be worn at Thursday evening meals. The student council has been asked by dining hall officials to present their ideas about the regulation and the men's refusal to comply with it. To help the council get the overall opinion of the ones who are affected by this rule, we have been asked to conduct a survey. Some time within the next week, most of the men in Louis Bennett Hall will be interviewed and the results will appear in the Mercury next Wednesday.

Wanda Burkhammer, a 1951 graduate, was on campus last week with one of her Weston high school students, making plans for additional schooling.

President Harry B. Heflin has been invited to appear on the program for the American Association for Colleges of Teacher Education meeting which will be held in Chicago, Feb. 22.

The swimming pool will be open every Friday night that there is no school event scheduled for the benefit of off-campus swimmers. A fee of fifteen cents will be charged for swimming at this time. College students may swim at this time also but they, too, must pay.

2 Profs Serve On State Group

The meeting of the State Committee on Teacher Education held in Charleston Monday, January 14, was attended by two Glenville college representatives, H. Y. Clark, and Dr. Michael Josephs. Dr. Josephs is the chairman of a sub-committee on Health and Physical Education and gave a report of the work of this committee since the last meeting. Mr. Clark has been a Glenville representative since the committee was organized several years ago and served as secretary of the committee for two years.

The state committee, through the work of the sub-committees, is studying the different fields of teacher education and attempting to reach a decision regarding the courses that should be required in preparation for a teaching field.

The committee is working toward setting up the best curriculum they can devise for the training of teachers. The main discussion at the recent meeting was on whether there should be set up in the state the single curriculum for the training of all teachers rather than three curriculums.

Members of the committee represent all levels of education in the state.

State Principals to Meet Here for Second Time

Central West Virginia group of the State Principals organization will meet here for the second time this year Thursday, January 24. High school principals of this area will attend this meeting to discuss problems of an average high school. Edgell Dean of Richwood is the present chairman of the group.

Campus Views Political Situation

Truman, Eisenhower Popular With Students

By GENELDA HARDWAY

One of the most discussed questions on the campus lately is "Whose name will appear on the ballot for Republican and Democratic candidates for President in the presidential election of 1952?"

Those being considered for Democratic nominations are Pres. Harry S. Truman, Fred Vinson Kefauver of Tennessee, and Richard B. Russell.

Truman is still being considered as a prospective candidate regardless of the statement by his wife and daughter that he definitely will retire. According to GSC political analysis, it would be wise for him not to run because of the extreme opposition in the Senate and the fact that he could leave office a partial success while if he stays in office he may leave a complete failure. Vinson, who is Chief Justice of the Supreme Court, is strongly being considered as the most likely nominee of the Democratic party. Kefauver has stated that he would accept the nomination. He has won much popularity for his activities as head of the Kefauver Committees of Investigations. Richard B. Russell, senator from Georgia also sands a good chance of being selected as nominee. Russell was third choice

Music Majors Plan to Attend 3-Day Festival

Hook to Be Guest Speaker; Kingsbury to Conduct; GSC to Be Represented

Vigorous rehearsal is now under way by the five music majors who plan to attend the third annual all-state orchestra which will be held at Marshall college this year. This annual event is attended by representatives from all institutions of higher learning within the state, thus making an interesting group with which to work.

Prof. Marguerite Hook, University of Michigan, and president of the Music Educators National Conference, will be the guest speaker for the annual luncheon which will be held Monday.

Formal dress will be required for all musicians who play in the annual concert to be held at 8:30 p. m. Monday. Dr. C. Lawrence Kingsbury, chairman of the music department at Marshall college, will be conductor.

Students from GSC who will leave for the three-day festival starting January 27, are Myron Lee Mason, Doris Perkins, William Waldeck, Eugene Gherke, and Caroline Boyd. Prof. Harold S. Orendorff and Prof. Bertha E. Olsen will accompany them.

New Classes Taught Second Semester

Several new classes are being offered the second semester, according to Dean Edwin P. Adkins.

Both elementary and advanced swimming will be taught. Mechanical Drawing 101 will be offered as a new course.

Other courses are: Political Science 331—American Constitutional History; English 340—Western World Literature; Psychology 351—Psychology of Adolescents; Psychology 461—Applied Psychology.

Two night classes are being taught Wednesday night from 7 until 10. They are Business Education 305—Office Practice, and Art 306—Ceramics.

Educators Make Film Of Teacher Training

The education department has completed a motion picture which will be ready for preview sometime during the second semester. The picture depicts the training school in grades one through eight and shows the student teacher at work. The photographing was done by Dr. Byron Turner assisted by Miss Julie Matthews and Dr. Eddie Kennedy.

Northern Trip Proves Fatal, GSC Loses to D-E, 79-70; Potomac, 67-55; Sid's Gone

By DARRELL MORRIS

The Glenville State College basketballmakers climaxed their current, dismal road trip by cuffing Bill Moore's Shepherd State WVIC cellar dwellers, 87-78, at Shepherds-town on Saturday night. Saturday night's win broke a two-game losing streak for the local lads. Jumping into a quick 27 to 12 lead the Pioneers were never halted.

THE LAST FOR BIG SID

This being the last game for Big Sid Adelsberg, stellar GSC forward from Pittsburgh, Pa., would have been a "hard-one" to lose for the Glenville quintet. Adelsberg tossed in 20 points via seven field goals and six for 10 at the charity toss circle. Glenville's freshman sensation, in the form of Mr. Jackson Tennant, literally set the nets afire as he racked up 28 points for the evening's outing. Tennant's points came on 11 goals and six for 10 foul cash-in's Johnson took third place scoring honors with 17 points. The Grantsville whiz kid pumped in six goals and five for 10 at the free throw stripe.

With the playing of the Shepherd game the White Wave completed the first half of their 26 game card. At the half-way mark the Pioneers show a 9-4 overall season's record. While the local (Continued On Page 4)

Comprehensives Are Given to Prospective Teacher Candidates

During the past week and continuing to the second semester comprehensive examinations will be given prospective candidates for directed teaching in four fields.

Persons who pass the examination in their respective fields are permitted to enroll for directed teacher training. The examinations, in most cases, are designed to test the students' preparedness in the fundamentals of the course material in the fields for which he wishes to become certified.

Examinations now being given include: English, Tuesday and Wednesday, January 15, 16; elementary art, Wednesday, January 16, art room; physical education, January 18, 19 at 7 p. m. and 9 a. m. respectively; business education, to be arranged. Comprehensives in most of the other fields were given earlier during the first semester.

A Shot in the Arm

The speech department, which for several years has been woefully lacking in practically all essentials, is at last showing signs of revival.

Under the direction of Prof. Marjorie Skelton, the department which includes all campus dramatic activities, has received a much-needed shot in the arm.

Evidences of this reactivation could be seen last week when the Ohningohow Players presented "Dear Ruth". For the first time in several years, a school play was presented with a complete set. A set similar to the one the Ohningohows used for their play costs several hundred dollars, if bought already constructed. However, by buying the material and doing the labor, Prof. Skelton and several volunteer workers constructed the set at a cost considerably smaller.

Working tirelessly, Prof. Skelton is building the speech department, in the same manner which she built her stage set, slowly but surely into an equal representative with the other college departments. B.B.

How Fortunate

Sometimes a person gets down in the dumps living around here, it gets with him. Then he starts griping, and this is what he says:

"Now to be truly honest with you people, I must admit that this institution (not pardoning the expression because there are others which more adequately fit the situation) stinks!

"If it ain't the instructors, it's the meals! And if it ain't the meals, it's the lessons! If it ain't the lessons, it's the students themselves! And, if not any of these in particular, it's the whole blooming works!"

The weather in particular doesn't seem to agree with him. When it snows tomorrow, he has made plans the day before to go on a hike. The day it rains he is all set to enjoy a big day on a sled or a pair of skis. When the sun shines, he's always hoping for it to rain so he can stay indoors and study. Tsk! Tsk! Ain't nothing happens the way he wants it to happen.

Then one shiny day in the near future, and after he has griped himself out of gripes, he swoops down to chow five seconds before the seven fifteen breakfast bell rings, yanks open the door, leaps inside, unpeels and slings his coat on the sofa, and dances a jig into the dining room feeling like a million dollars.

All the cares and worry in the world avoid him like Mr. Coffee Nerves does that new, miraculous, breakfast drink, Postum.

"My," he thinks to himself, "but I feel good today! Even going to enjoy Dr. Ward's class today. Maybe that's because I have my lessons." But, thinking it over seriously, reprimands himself severely by almost mumbling out loud, "silly boy, silly boy... you know good and well that you never could hope to absorb all the botany Dr. Ward would like you to. You're stupid even to think of such a thing. Why, it would take at least a million years! But, then again," he speaks within himself, "I sure enjoy feeling stupid!"

Still inwardly thinking with himself, he says, "you know... even after Dr. Ward has legally cursed me out for not doing something the way I should have, and making me feel like a mouse in the process of doing it, I still can't help liking the cougar. Hmmm... Come to think of it, that goes with the rest of my instructors, too. Yes sir! Just can't seem to keep from liking them."

Right then, he is aroused from his daydreaming by the fellow sitting next to him. "Shouldn't feed this stuff to the pigs," this guy says.

"Crimmey, wonder what's wrong with him," he mused to himself. "This breakfast is good enough for me. Can't see why he is dissatisfied."

After chow, he is walking back up the hill to the dorm, and he is still pondering over the situation. "You know something, Sebastian" (fictitious name for the student of many musings), he says once again to himself, "this 'ol institution is a right nice place in which to live, and from which to acquire an education."

"Don't think you could go to many colleges and find a more interested and more highly qualified faculty to do the job of teaching you to teach. The food ain't bad, either. Come to think of it, the weather is made to order for a West Virginia bred mountaineer. Sure, there are some faults, but in comparison to the good points, they are few."

"Sebastian, my boy," he says to himself, "would you so desire to speak outright and tell the rest of the folks around here how fortunate we are. That's it man! You've said it! We're lucky... B.L.

On Its Way

The long-used and over-worked moniker, "Suit Case college" may well be on its way out, if recent trends are any indication of things to come at Glenville State. Although three "lone wolves" were seen heading in the direction of Grantsville last Saturday, a larger percentage than usual of the student body seemed to be present in some form or other, especially during the Saturday afternoon swimming period.

The new health-education facilities may soon put the shaft to that perpetual, "nothing-to-do complex" to a greater degree than any other influence on the GSC campus; which seems to be highly over-populated with that species of animal completely lacking in the art of self-entertainment.

With continued expansion in recreation and other fields of student interest, there should come a time when no student can truthfully say he has nothing to do.

ACROSS the TABLE

There may not be any special entertainment around the campus or in town in the weeks preceding Christmas but an occasional glimpse of campus life is always worth a good show and, what's more, its free, too.

The eminent popular student, Robert Mottice, has been accused of being an "informer".

Francis Sommerville has made the fatal statement that a monotonous tone of voice will hypnotize.

J. Taylor Phillips has been conditionally accepted to the law school at Mercer University at Macon, Ga.

A familiar sight is the Pioneer Eds gathered around a pin-ball machine in the union. Some of these Eds, John Brooks, or Elwood Sites, get so excited they could canter into first place quicker than the horses.

Three of our fellow students have gone home on "sick leaves". We miss seeing Carol Jean Hughes, Ray Conrad, and Carlye Kee on the campus these days.

Billy Lilly and Nancy Simms have been seen occupying adjoining seats at our down-town palisade, The Pictureland.

Nancy Hamrick and Frank Buckland have decided not to be anymore and Nancy still receives letters from a certain Ron.

Dorothy Brannon has been sporting a flashy diamond purchased by Gall Hayhurst, a former student here.

One of the most frequent twosomes, Frank Vincent and Betty Lankas, are not so frequent anymore.

Betty Dobbins and Bob Pool have been seen strolling around over the campus together.

"Lover Boy" Mason is now directing his attention toward Faith Bingham. This fellow has more prospects than Boram has headaches.

Bill Waldeck was seen escorting Catty Ransick to the Sig Tau thing last Friday night. Bill's right hand man and keeper, Clarence Maze, was having a swell time with Phyllis Sponaule, same time, same event.

For those students who may be leaving us at the end of the semester, we would like to give a bit of advice to help them in their activities during their following years: "Wash face in morning, neck at night."

Because of the absence of Judge Jack Lilly, last week's Court meeting was conducted by Clerk Larry Gainer.

Members held a discussion as to who should receive pins this year, and it was decided to order them immediately. Forthcoming activities were also discussed for the second semester.

All Court members are urged to be present at the special meeting which will be held tonight.

Local Kappa Sig's will play host to the Fairmont chapter in a basketball game to be played here at a later date.

Prof. and Students Tour for Two Days During Yule Recess

During the Christmas holidays Prof. John R. Wagner spent two days touring industrial plants in the Parkersburg-Ohio Valley area, accompanied by Donald DeVaughn and Cyril Anderson.

One day was spent observing the fabrication of scientific glassware and glass pipe at the Corning company plant in Parkersburg, and touring the Dupont plastics plant south of Parkersburg. At Dupont, the trio observed the production of various types of plastic resins, and "nylon" filaments used for brushes, etc. One section of the plant was restricted to visitors.

The second day was spent touring the 12 million dollar Willow Island power plant supplying Parkersburg and surrounding areas, and the B. F. Goodrich Co. plant where they observed the fabrication of "Koroseal" shoe plastics, embossed plastic cloth, garden hose, and other products.

The second day of the tour was conducted by Mr. Harmon DeVaughn, father of Donald.

Williams Honors Sid At Farewell Feed

Prof. Clarissa Williams prepared and served a dinner Jan. 13 in honor of Sidney Adelsberg, physical education major, who will be graduated at the end of this semester.

Those attending the farewell dinner were Charles Zakarian, Edmund Janiszewski, and the honored guest, Sidney Adelsberg.

Adelsberg Plays Last Game, Ends Successful Career

By DARRELL MORRIS

With the playing of the Shepherd-Glenville College basketball game at Shepherdstown last Saturday night Big Sid Adelsberg ended his brilliant athletic career at Glenville State College. The six foot one inch senior from Pittsburgh, Pa., has gained state-wide recognition in West Virginia intercollegiate sports since coming to Glenville county in the fall of 1948, transferring from Duquesne University where he played freshman basketball under Charles R. "Chick" Davis. When Davis left Duquesne to take up coaching at Homestead high school, Adelsberg packed bag and baggage and transferred to the Pioneer school. During his first year at GSC he received the starting position at the tackle's post on Carlos Ratliff's gridiron eleven. Adelsberg also made his mark on the hardwood that year as he nailed down the guard's slot for a regular starting assignment. Since then he has played a major role in both sports and concluded his senior year being named captain of both departments.

While playing with the WVVC championship five last year, Sid compiled an amazing 80.9 record at the charity loss line. In overall season's play he poured in 106 of 131 attempts. In WVVC play he had 80 for 89.

In addition to athletics Sid is a member of the "G" club, Sigma Tau Gamma fraternity, and the dining hall committee.

Prior to Adelsberg's college career he was in the United States Navy for two years where he held the rank of Seaman First Class. Going into the navy in July 1944, Adelsberg received his basic training at Bainbridge, Maryland, and had eleven months of sea duty. "ALL GOOD THINGS MUST END"

While interviewing Sid, the question was asked as to which was the most exciting game that he had participated in during his stay at Glenville. Adelsberg replied, "My greatest thrill came when we played West Virginia Tech last year in the WVVC tourney at Buckhannon. The win made us (Glenville State College) one step closer to the NAIB and Kansas City, Mo." Continuing, we asked Sid how he felt about leaving the local alma mater. Pausing slightly, he answered, "I am sorry to have to leave Glenville,—but all good things must come to an end."

He has very deep respect for his team mates and his coach, Dr. Michael Josephs, and said that he would try to uphold their ideals and practices and would exert himself in an effort to gain the success that Dr. Josephs had attained in the coaching ranks. In concluding, Sid asked the Pioneer's followers to forget him and concentrate their full support on the team, because as he so aptly put it, "It takes more than one man to make a team." One of his most ardent desires is to "see the current Wave in Kansas City again this year."

A graduate of Peabody high school, the dual sports hero, upon graduation, will accept a position with the YMHA (Young Men's Hebrew Association) in Pittsburgh, Pa. He will take over the post of assistant physical education and athletic director for the organiza-

And as I hastily write -30- to this news story I am sure that I speak in behalf of everyone on the Pioneer campus in wishing the Best of Luck to a great athlete, a great guy, and a great sportsman. We'll miss ya' Sid.

Stormtroopers Are Handed First Defeat In MAA League

Frank Fultineers' quintet delivered the famous "Bohemian Stormtroopers" their first set-back of the MAA Basketball season 37-13, in the opening clash of a scheduled three-game hardwood affair. Following the disastrous defeat for the Troopers, Charlie Marks came on with his win-spirited five to hand Frank Vincents' club a stunning 57-32 loss. Maurice Bucks' squad pinned a decisive 43-38 over-time score to Eugene Kniselys' forces to wind up the action of January 10. Eugene Gherke was high scorer in the Fultineer-Ice affair with 13 markers. "Dike" Janiszewski was the leading scorer for the Bohemians with 4 points. Fultineer led at half-time by a 20-0 count.

Brent Cool captured high scoring honors of the night by netting 24 points in Marks' victory over Vincent. Before going out of the game via the foul route, Bernard Jolly swished the nets for 9 counts in a losing cause.

Trailing at the start of the fourth quarter 31-25, Oliver Hunt placed Bucks' aggressors back on their winning way by his sure-fire hitting and teamwork and then lead them on to victory. Hunt racked up 30 points for the winners while "Hedge" Hissam notched 10 before fouling out.

The indoor swimming pool in the New Health and Physical Education building is a great asset for the students of this college. Now being used by the students for recreational purposes, it gives many students who are not active in the rest of the sports offered here on the campus an outlet of physical recreation.

Other than being simply a hole full of water in which to have fun, it also gives many students, who at the present are unable to swim, a chance to learn. The rules and regulations that prohibit swimming without the supervision of a qualified life guard, running along the sides of the pool, and participating in general "horseplay" should be acknowledged and adhered to under all circumstances. These rules are for the welfare of the swimmer; and they should be respected.

The inter-mural basketball season is now under way. Some good, hard-fought, close games have already been played. But the greatest disappointment to materialize from the early season games was the defeat of the highly publicized Bohemian Storm Troopers. Led by the Bohemian's little Polish emigrant, "Dike" Janiszewski, who turned in his usual peak performance by sinking two baskets for four points, the Bohemians jumped off to an early twenty point deficit and maintained that deficit throughout the entire game to come out on the short end of the score by 37-13.

Alex "The Hungarian" Jokey had but one comment to make after the game. Jokey, as you know, is the Bohemian publicity man and this is his statement. "The humiliation brought upon us through the loss of the game is beside the point. As a whole the Bohemians refrain from making excuses after dropping a close game such as this one was; but, tonight we make an exception to this rule. You see, since our primary objective is to further international relations, we are required to attend many banquets given in our honor. Due to eating such rich food at the banquets, we have become drastically out of shape. Also, one of our members, Mr. Bill Ice, was recalled to his home on Eskimo Island, Iceland, to compete in the annual kayak races held among the Eskimo tribes there. Naturally, we were grief stricken over his absence and the caliber of our play showed 'it tonight'."

Badminton Match Won by Hyer And Sims in WAA Finals

Betty Sims and Christine Hyer defeated Wanema Davidson and Louise Smith in the finals of WAA badminton play Wednesday, Jan. 9, winning two straight games in a two-out-of-three playoff.

The first game of the playoff was close throughout, being tied at 13-13, but Sims and Hyer finally came through with an 18-14 victory. In the second game, the winners set a faster pace and won the match and the championship by a 15-5 count.

Two of our cheerleaders, Salley Waggoner and Charles Zakarian, visited Sand Fork high school last Tuesday, January 15, to coach the high school cheerleaders of that school.

They were invited by Principal Nelson Welles. They are invited back to see these cheerleaders in action at one of the home games. After the game, another practice session will be held.

The high school cheerleaders were also invited to one of our home games to see our cheering section in action and to be given a few pointers on getting the most from the crowd.

Fairmont Game Will Be First Without Adelsberg; Mills Will Start at Guard

Saturday, January 26, will mark the first home game after three on the road for the Glenville State Pioneers when they meet the bottom-ranking Fairmont State Falcons in a conference tussle on their own court.

This game will mark the first in which Sid Adelsberg—now one of the alumni—has not participated this season. It will also place Adelsberg's replacement in a shaky position. All eyes will be trained on the play of this particular individual to judge his performance and to compare the outcome of the contest with what might have been so had Adelsberg still been playing. It is a tough position to fill because Adelsberg is the high scorer and leading foul shot on the Pioneer squad thus far this season.

It is very probable that Ronnie Mills, 6'2", 175 pound guard and a graduate of Parkersburg high school will be that man. Mills, an excellent rebounder and a good shot, is well qualified to fill Adelsberg's big shoes.

Pioneers at Tech Tuesday, January 29, the Pioneers again leave home to play West Virginia Tech at Montgomery. This encounter will be the second between the two teams. Tech won the first game, which was played at Spencer, by 15 points—70-55.

WAGNER LOANED ORIENTAL ITEMS

Former Glenville Student Adds to Science Museum

Major Loren McCartney, former Glenville student and at present instructor in the army ROTC school at the University of Pittsburgh, recently made Prof. John R. Wagner custodian of a valuable collection of oriental items as an addition to the science museum.

Professor Wagner said that the presentation was made in the form of a loan for an indefinite period. Major McCartney contributed to the science museum previously by presenting to the school a large collection of flint, Indian arrowheads collected in West Virginia. The collection was mounted in a display case by Mr. Wagner.

The oriental collection, includes: hand-carved wooden masks from Java, used in religious ceremonial rites; a wooden ceremonial gong used by Buddhist priests to call tribes together; four metal Japanese spear heads, approximately 100 years old, used against mounted troops; a hand carved statuette of the Abraham Lincoln of Japan over 200 years old; two silk hangings, one Japanese and the other of Chinese origin; and a genuine Samurai sword used formerly by Japanese officers. Accompanying the sword is a certificate of appraisal by one of the leading sword experts of Japan. Certification was made by art connoisseur Eichi Mochimaru of the Onoe Fine Arts Shop, Yokohama, Japan. The certificate establishes that it was made during the Tennen Era, (about 420 years ago.)

Campus Views

Because of his heavy responsibility as commander of the North Atlantic Treaty organization, it is unlikely that he will become a candidate.

It is likely that Norman Thomas will once again run for president on the socialist ticket.

The opinion of several of the leading statesmen in the south is that Taft will win the nomination and election.

The question being asked here is "Who do you think will be nominated from both parties and who is most likely to win the election next November?"

Following are some comments of GSC students:

Billy Lilly: I'm betting on Eisenhower and Truman.

Harold Wise: As fouled up as it is, you need someone else's opinion rather than mine.

Charlie Marks: Kefauver and Truman both stand a good chance of being nominated. A military leader should not be nominated. I think that would exclude Eisenhower from the nomination and that Taft would be the best bet for the Republican nomination.

Bill Hanlin: Truman and Eisenhower will probably be the leading men.

Jack McCarty: I think we should have Eisenhower for president. He knows how to handle the people and is respected by most of the nations in the world.

Lucy Jarvis: Eisenhower will probably be nominated. I should like to see Kefauver be run on the Democratic ticket but there is a slim chance of that because he is not too well known.

Julia Murphy: Truman and Eisenhower will probably be run. I think Truman will be elected once more.

Alex Jokay: If Eisenhower is nominated on the Republican ticket, I think he will be elected.

Jerry Kress: Stalin practically has it.

Claire Bowles: Eisenhower and

Truman will probably be nominated. I think Eisenhower will be elected. He stands for what the people want.

Bill Smith: Truman and Eisenhower will probably be nominated. Eisenhower will be elected because his policies are split between the two parties and that will split the Democratic votes.

Mary Francis Sommerville: Truman will probably be nominated but Vinson would be a better bet. I would like to see Eisenhower nominated on the Republican ticket and win the election. Taft, too, stands a good chance of being nominated. His popularity has increased considerably during the past two years.

Business Meet Time Changed by Home Ec.

The home economics club held their monthly business meeting January 15 in the Science hall.

At this meeting, the meeting date was changed from first and third Tuesdays at 6:30 p. m. to 3:00 to 4:00 in the afternoons.

Possibilities of the club having a silverware demonstration sometime in March were discussed.

The club is ordering an American Home Economics association handbook for the general use of the club.

A movie will be shown to the club and to other home economics majors on February 19. The movie "This Is Nylon," will give the consumer's viewpoint on the purchase of nylon.

Plans for the club's annual Mardi Gras are now in progress. The date has been set for March 1. A movie "From Night" has been ordered to be shown at this time.

Pioneers Prepare

Conference crown last year, is destined to become a repeater. Losing only one man, George Booth, who was injured in a car wreck last summer, the Golden Bears are a team of established regulars and strong reserves.

Three of the Tech regulars, Ed Solomon, Al Nida, and George Swyers gained berths on the 1951 West Virginia All-conference Basketball Team.

Up to date, the Pioneers have been winning more games than the experts picked them to win this year. The high standing the Pioneers find themselves in at this time of the season can be attributed to the great hustle of the team, and also to the fine job of coaching being done by Pioneer mentor, Coach Michael Josephs.

conference competition.

Two games in particular in which Barrett looked exceptionally good are now on the Pioneer record as games won. Although it took four other Pioneers' efforts to make these wins possible, it is exceedingly doubtful whether it could have been done minus Barrett's superb play-making and red-hot point grabbing at the time.

In Glenville's 66-64 victory over Morris Harvey in the first encounter between the two teams this season and against Salem, who fell before a last-half Pioneer onslaught 69-66, Barrett was the outstanding Pioneer on the floor.

In the Morris Harvey contest, Barrett, who was then a substitute, scored 15 points which led the game to a thrilling climax and drove the Golden Eagles from their high roof.

Against Salem the Pioneers were trailing by a 7 point deficit at the half, but rallied early in the third quarter to overtake the Tigers, who were leading 44-37, and go ahead by three points in two minutes. During those two minutes Barrett scored eight quick points. From that point on the Pioneers built up a seven to nine point lead and coasted to victory in the final quarter.

team was at Shepherdstown downing the Shepherd Rams, Eddie King's Morris Harvey Golden Eagles were at Salem being trounced to the tune of 82-69 by Doug Stone's Tigers. By virtue of the Pioneer's win and M-H's loss Glenville moved into fourth place in the West Virginia Intercollegiate Conference ratings, according to our latest unofficial tabulations.

WAVE SPILLED AT KEYSER

At Keyser, on Friday night, the Wave fell victims, after leading until the second quarter, to the Potomac State Catamounts 67-55. The Cat's all-freshman team trailed in the game until midway in the second period, when they went ahead to stay on a field goal by George Klein that gave the Catamounts a 24-23 edge.

The Pioneers roared off to a good start as they lead at the quarter 21 to 17. But the mediocre total of six points made by GSC, as compared to the 21 made by Potomac, in the second quarter gave the Keyser crew the game. The Catamounts had an exceptionally good night at the free throw line as they potted 21 for 26. The best that the Blue and White were able to do was 13 for 26.

Potomac, spearheaded by Tom Blackwood with 19 points, ran their margin to 38-27 at halftime and coasted home during the last two periods.

George Bear followed Blackwood

the part of Dick Barrett and Jack Tennant has meant the difference between the winning and losing of approximately three-fourths of the Pioneer games. The big Glenville home court is made to order for their style of basketball, and, adopting it as their own, they have improved greatly since the Beckley game, the first to be played on the new court.

The probable starting lineup for these two games are: Dick Barrett and Jack Tennant, forwards; Cecil Johnson, center; and Don "Dense" Merriman and Ronnie Mills at the guard positions.

D-E SNAPS GSC WIN STREAK

Earlier in the week at Elkins, the Davis and Elkins Senators snapped a five game winning streak for the Josephsmen with a 79-70 decision over the locals. The streak started on December 27 when the Wave romped over Concord at Hinton in a non-conference tilt. Other wins came at the expense of the Alumni, Morris Harvey, Salem, and Concord.

The dangling Scarlet-Tide had the height and were never in too much danger until the closing minutes of the contest as Glenville staged a last minute rally hitting the bucket for 22 points in the final quarter. Jack Tennant led the GSC scoring with 23 points. Tennant had a wonderful night on the hardwoods as he pitched in 10 goals and had five for six at the foul line. Bob Reed and Sid Adelsberg had 12 and 11.

Enthusiastic Crowd Proclaims Dear Ruth Outstanding Hit

The audience quieted as the house lights dimmed and the curtain opened on the Ohninghollow production of Norman Krasna's two-act comedy "Dear Ruth" last Thursday night in the college auditorium.

The cast of "Dear Ruth" gave a performance that another group would work hard to equal. The spirited performance of the GSC thespians created a smooth, natural, almost professional production.

When the curtain rang down on the final scene of this rousing play, a proud audience of parents, faculty members, and friends brought the house down with applause. The play was a big success, and can well be termed a feather in the hats of Prof. Marjorie Skeleton and the cast.

One outstanding feature of the play was a set which was built and set up by the Ohninghollow players. The scenery is a necessity that Glenville State has lacked for several years.

To Prof. Skeleton and her Ohninghollows we say "More please!"

Subject for Debates Announced for Year

Resolved: That the federal government should adopt a permanent program of wage and price control, is the subject for the intercollegiate debates this year.

Members of the Glenville State college team are Taylor Phillips, Jack McCarty, Gerry Kress, Alex Jokay, Charles Dorrill, and Raphael Munoz.

Advising the debate team is Prof. Marjorie Skelton, speech instructor.

Glenville's first intercollegiate debate of the season was held yesterday when Glenville met Morris Harvey and Marshall away. Results of the debate were not available at press time.

Debates are being scheduled with Fairmont and West Virginia University in February.

Other plans of the team are tentative.

BASKETBALL ACTIVITY LIGHT

Basketball will take a lull on the local campus until after semester final exams. The "Fighting" Falcons from Fairmont will be in town for a game with the Pioneers on Saturday night. The Falcons are dangerous and are capable of upsetting any team in the league. On Tuesday the Glenville team travels southward in a league contest with the West Virginia Tech Golden Bears. The Bears beat Glenville earlier in the season at Spencer.
