Kappa Chi's Nip Xi Beta's In Cheerleaders Benefit Game

Zakarian Urges Backing Of Students to Purchase Cheerleaders' Sweaters

In a see-saw battle played for the benefit of the Glenville State sororities, Kappa Chi Kappa sorority nipped the Xi Beta Tau girls 38-36 January 21 in the old gymnasium.

Leading the entire game, the Kappa Chis were overtaken in the last minute of play and narrowly avoided defeat by using freezing tactics. Behind seven points at half-time, Xi Beta Tau fought back and made a thrilling finish of it.

Led by Christine Hyer with 15 points and Nancy Harris with 12, the Kappa Chi girls showed more balance but were completely overshadowed by Xi Beta's Phyllis Sponaugle who swished the nets for a total of 30 points.

Head cheerleader Charles Zakarian, who arranged the game stated, "We appreciate the efforts of the sororities for helping us to present this benefit. We collected $14 and must raise another $46 to be able to purchase sweaters for the entire cheerleader team. We appealed to every agency we knew of trying to get the money for the sweaters appropriated, but nobody was willing to help us so we decided to raise the money ourselves. To get the remainder, we intend to sponsor another event or maybe even two more. We would like to emphasize just why we are sponsoring these events, though. For that reason, we will publicize the exact amount we take in each time and will quit when we have obtained enough for the sweaters. We will appreciate any cooperation given us by the student body while we are presenting these benefit affairs."

Evangelistic Team To Give Assembly Program Tomorrow

Rev. and Mrs. Bill Stevens, a visiting evangelistic team, will furnish the program for assembly tomorrow morning at 10:10 in the auditorium.

Rev. Stevens preaches and is an accomplished artist playing the trumpet and singing. The team will also present vocal solos and duets. Mrs. Stevens accompanies her husband in his solo numbers.

Rev. Stevens has preached in Europe for the Youth For Christ International and now is southeastern region director for that group.

The evangelistic team will be in Glenville for two weeks, presenting a revival program at the local Baptist church beginning Jan. 27.

Student's Brother Killed in Ball Game

A donkey baseball game played in the Walkersville high school gymnasium ended in tragedy on Saturday night, January 19, as youthful Raymond Hale Hoover, 17 years old senior at Walkersville high school, was thrown from the donkey he was riding and was fatally injured in the accident.

Hoover was thrown from the donkey onto the floor where he received a fractured skull, brain concussion, and a punctured lung, in the course of the game. He was later rushed to the City hospital in Weston, where he died at 1:45 a. m., on the following morning.

Services were held at the Straight Fork Methodist Church under the direction of the Rev. C. D. Harris, church pastor, on Tuesday afternoon.

He was a brother of Richard Hoover, a sophomore elementary major at Glenville State College, and a son of Mr. and Mrs. G. E. Hoover of Crawford.

PIONEERS WILL MEET BOBCATS TOMORROW

Bobcats Hold Upper Hand With Ten Lettermen Back; Places 5th in Conference

Coach Michael Josephs' Glenville State Pioneers play their sixteenth game and the last contest of the January schedule when they entertain Coach Hank Ellis' West Virginia Wesleyan Bobcats here on the home floor tomorrow night. It will be the first contest between the two teams this year.

The potential strength of the Bobcats is exemplified in last year's scores between the two teams. The Pioneers, last year's state champions, took both games from Wesleyan by scores of 60-55 and 63-60. The total difference between the two conference foes in these games was eight points.

But as the 1951-52 season opened last December 7 against Beckley, the Pioneers were minus seven members from their championship squad, four of which were on the string. On the other hand Wesleyan, who finished fifth in the conference last year with a 15 won and 13 lost record, has back on their squad this year ten lettermen. Tom Carroll, Herb Leffard, Loren Brake, and Ted Come are returning lettermen who made Wesleyan's five last year. Charles Elkins, big 6 feet, 2 inches substitute center who fit in well with the Bobcats' attack last year, is also back.

Also with the Bobcats this year are two freshmen, Bob Chatfield, who stands in his stocking feet at 6 feet, 9 inches; and Harvey White, a Parkersburg high school graduate at 6 feet 7 inches. These two will supply Wesleyan with a great height advantage.

In one of their encounters with West Virginia Tech, supposedly the strongest team in the conference, Wesleyan was beaten by a bare four points—68-64.

The Pioneers will have to extend themselves to beat such a combination of height and speed which (Continued on page 3)

English Course Offered At Spencer by Elder

Glenville College will offer an extension course in English 370 at Spencer the second semester. E. B. Elder will be the instructor.

There is a possibility that other extension courses will be organized later.

Mercury Musings

By BILL BORAM

Hottest campus rumor has it that Phyllis "Deadeye" Sponaugle has been added to the Pioneer varsity basketball squad replacing Sid Adelsberg. We hear that Coach Michael Josephs feels he has another "Hook" Hardman in the deadly shooting Xi Beta Tau ace.

We've heard everything now department: A letter to the editor from an irate reader in Texas who evidently mixed us with the weekly magazine of the same name brands the Mercury as "Red Literature". How he got the Glenville address on the American Mercury title we never will know, but it's for sure that all of the things we have been and will be called, the "Commie" label is a new one!

An interesting letter to the editor is enclosed on our editorial page this week. On this subject, we will give forth with no personal comments. We would be glad to receive reader comments on it though.

How about this? A lecture has been defined as that process whereby ideas pass from the instructor's notebook to the student's without affecting the mind of either.

RB Store Gives Scholarships

Scholarships for the 1952-53 school year have been announced for Tanner and Normantown high school graduates by the RB Store, according to President Harry B. Heflin.

Adding one scholarship to their customary award, the RB Store this year will award one tuition scholarship to a graduate of Tanner high school and one to a graduate of Normantown high school.

According to President Heflin, this is the first notification of scholarship renewal received for the 1952-53 year.

'Dressing Up' Rule Is Aired

Issue Provokes Much Student Discussion

By GENELDA HARDWAY

Much discussion is being aroused among the men on the campus about the custom of "dressing up" for the Thursday evening meal. This custom was not started until last year and it has been the topic for many sessions ever since that time.

The women, being much luckier than men, need only wash their face, put on a clean blouse, adorn themselves with a hair ribbon, and are considered "dressed up." But the men must wear neckties, suits, or sport jackets, or else appear conspicuous to the other students by coming to the meal in their usual blue jeans and tea-shirts. Many of the students do not have time for this extra brushing up, so they either "appear conspicuous" or eat down town.

Many students have objected vigorously to this custom, and some have openly revolted. To find out how the fellows on the campus feel about this particular extra, a survey has been conducted which reveals the following:

Clarence Maze; It's all right but several times we don't have time. I don't think it should be a requirement.

Cy Anderson; I don't eat in the dorm, but I think it is a lot of bunk. Formality is strictly for the birds and even they wouldn't be caught doing that.

Bill Hanlin; I'm against it. Just so you have a clean pair of blue jeans.

Carlton Gandee; I just don't have time. It is a good idea, though, if you have time.

Frank Vincent; I think it is a very good idea. Basketball players should be excluded, though. They don't have time.

Charlie Marks; When the custom was first started the food was good on that evening. As the food grew worse, my clothing grew worse. If the food doesn't improve, I'm going to be wearing rags.

Myron Mason; Aw. I just failed a music test.

Frank Buckland; I think it's a good idea but I have basketball practice from 3 until 5 and it doesn't give me much time to dress.

New Health Building Will Be Formally Dedicated Feb. 28

GOVERNOR PATESON

Guests To View L Bennett Hall In Open House

Chordbusters, Collegians To Provide Entertainment; Reception To Be Held

General plans for open hours for residents of Louis Bennett hall have been announced by President Jack Lilly and Don Barker, hall directors. The tentative date has been set for the third week in February. A Valentine's Day decoration will be carried out.

Entertainment will be provided by Brent Cool's Collegians and the Chordbusters.

Following the tour of the hall a reception will be held in the lounge of the hall.

"Plans thus far are incomplete," Lilly said, "but a general committee will be appointed later in the week."

Each member of the hall is helping assessed one quarter to help defray expenses of this event.

Ceremonies Start 10 A. M.; Dignitaries Will Include Gov. Pateson, Dr. J. Nash

The newly-completed Glenville State Health and Physical Education building will be formally dedicated at 10 a. m. February 28 with ceremonies which will be attended by a host of state officials and other dignitaries.

Speaker for the ceremony will be Dr. Jay B. Nash, chairman of the department of physical education, health, and recreation of the New York University School of Education.

Although a complete list of dignitaries who will be present for the event was not available yet, President B. Heflin stated that Gov. Okey Pateson will probably attend.

The building is now completely constructed and includes practically all the equipment that will be necessary for its complete operation.

The basketball court has been used for more than a month; the complete health unit, including nurse's quarters, has been in operation, for several weeks; and the swimming pool has been open for class instruction and limited recreational use since before Christmas.

With the beginning of the second semester, additional parts of the building will be opened for use, the first of which will be physical education classrooms and offices.

Pioneer Debate Team To Compete With Fairmont State

Glenville State college debate team will meet Fairmont State college debate team when the Pioneer team journeys to Fairmont February 15.

Question for debate is: Resolved that the United States Government should establish a permanent wage and price control board.

Mrs. Arnold Hired As Kanawha Hall Dormitory Director

Carolyn Arnold, who last year served as college nurse, has been hired as house mother for Kanawha hall for the second semester. Mrs. Arnold will replace Mrs. Charles Lilly who has resigned so that she might be with her husband who is stationed at a naval base in Norfolk.

Mrs. Arnold has resigned her position at a hospital near where her husband is attending school.

A graduate nurse, Mrs. Arnold last year was Glenville State school nurse while her husband, Robert, was attending classes and serving as president of the student body.

Anderson Leaves To Work on Doctorate

Leave of absence has been granted by the State Board of Education to Prof. A. H. Anderson who plans to do work toward the doctorate degree the second semester at West Virginia University.

Professor Anderson has announced that he will work on a genetics problem under the supervision of Dr. J. L. Cartledge, professor of genetics at the university. The problem will involve the determination of the heredity of sugar content in varieties of hybrid corn adapted to West Virginia.

A Letter To The Editor

Dear Sir:

It has been said that Glenville State college has lost more good students and athletes than most other colleges have been privileged to have. It is true that since President Harry B. Hefflin came along to inject new ideas and practices into a tired old body of an institution, Glenville's academic program has been enlarged and improved. Unfortunately, the advance in curriculum has not been accompanied by a corresponding advance in our enrollment. In fact, we have been and are continuing to lose students. Obviously something is wrong.

Many attempts have been made to explain the phenomenon of Glenville's "vanishing race" of students, who, like old soldiers and Indians, just seem to fade away. It cannot be that prices here are too high. Glenville's enrollment, tuition, room and board, and activities fees are the lowest to be found anywhere in the state.

Some people say that it is the lack of social activities which drives them away to other colleges. This can at best be only a half valid argument. Our fraternities, sororities, and other campus organizations, coupled with the varsity athletic teams, provide enough entertainment to keep us busy one or two nights each week. True, the town itself offers little chance for recreation, but this should serve only to stimulate interest in campus affairs.

I think that the real reason for the decline in our enrollment is the lack of cooperation on the part of the administration, the faculty, and the student organizations. The policy seems to be not to allow the left hand see what the right hand is doing. Students are shifted about from one supposed authority to another without ever being sure that the information gained in the program is accurate, since answers from the faculty are often contradictory to those supplied by the administration. Each faction, student organizations included, seems not to be content with doing its share, but must be the whole show, often at the expense of other groups.

Many proposed activities never materialize because there is a fear that students may do something wrong or disturb someone who would probably be better off had they been "disturbed" years ago. We are only mere humans and generally act in the way we are expected to act. Treat us like children and we will do our best to act like children. Enough college men and women (not boys and girls) are mature and responsible to keep check on that small minority who are still in adolescence.

I appeal to all parties on behalf of the student body and for their own sake to sit down together and thrash out their difficulties and to adopt a common policy on academic, social, and all other matters. Then we can follow this common policy until such time as it needs to be changed or amended. If this is done, inter-departmental, inter-organizational, and inter-branch wrangling will stop driving away good students whom we need more than they need us.

Constructively yours,
Frank Fultineer

So Well Attended

Another aspect concerning the problem of campus social activity is the amount of present activities which are being taken advantage of by the student body. Putting it in different terms we might ask: Are the existing social events so well attended as to warrant additional ones?

The question of increased social activity on campus has been discussed several times before with most of us deciding that something is lacking. However, stopping to survey the activity offered, one must admit that a variety of interests are presented. Even so, how many students are present at art exhibits, teas, mixes, formal dances, and assemblies. Of course, there is a packed house for a varsity athletic event or a dramatic production such as "Dear Ruth". But, if only the most popular events were held, they would soon lack interest because of the loss of the ever-important variety.

To get the well-rounded results from a social program a variety of selections must be considered. It seems that if more of the popular events are to be scheduled, the equally important but poorly attended parts of the social program should first be taken advantages of.—B.B.

A Free Snack

Credit must go to Louis Bennett hall supervisor, Don Barker, for the time and effort he has put into making a success of the coming "open house" to be held sometime during the month of February.

Such an affair is undoubtedly one of the more important activities to be held by the students and faculty during the course of the school year. It is an excellent way through which students and faculty alike may become better acquainted with each other.

Such a social activity should be acknowledged by every student on the campus. Advantages to "open house" are: People who are hungry and broke can acquire a tasty snack for free, acquaintances are made, and "open house" provides a chance to see for yourself how other people live, especially if they know someone is coming to visit them.

All the Louis Bennett residents have contributed a quarter in order to make the "open house" a success. Though, possibly, it has broken many hearts to part with such a tremendous amount, the L.B. inhabitants feel their contribution has been donated to a worthy cause.

Now that they have parted with approximately seventy-five percent of their allowance, their only hope is that you will be conscientiously considerate enough to make the "shebang" a success.

ACROSS THE TABLE

This being the last edition of the semester, we would like to extend to all readers of this column our sincere sympathy. We will be back again next semester.

We would like to say "Farewell" to those students who are leaving school at this time. May your ship sail smooth seas; if not, drift back to GSC where you will always be met by your old friends.

It may be of interest to students to know that Ray Conrad has been transferred from the infirmary to a Spencer hospital. It has been reported that his condition is improving somewhat.

This is the time of reckoning. Several of our eligible males have received the urgent call from Uncle Sam.

Attention, feds! Bill Waldeck is turning into a campus romeo and is leading a string of hearts down Heartbreak Alley.

The students turned out full force to see the sorority basketball game last week. Hodge Hissam and Don McCarty stole the whole show by borrowing the Kappa Chi's cheerleading uniforms and leading the cheers for the sorority. Bill Waldeck and Charlie Dodrill followed their example by leading cheers for their sister sorority.

Juanita Green has been seen in the company of Woody Woodburn. How about it, kids?

Leaping Lenas Are Loose Again

Women Abuse Privilege

By CY ANDERSON

The year in which the woman is given the privilege of leaping first has arrived. But for all its worth, the formality had just as well be discontinued, for the female has taken the idea of women's rights to heart by leaping around rather inconsistently whether the occasion be "leap year" or not.

Originally the marriage proposal was strictly a male privilege, but someone came along and threw everything out of balance.

Now, every four years, the marriage rate goes up causing an increase in the number of men with: financial worries, security complexes; addiction to drugs, narcotics, and alcoholic beverages; tendencies toward suicide; escape complexes; withdrawal tendencies; religious fanaticism; and—(what a mess).

Accompanying the increase in marriage rate are corresponding increases in: population, divorce rates, juvenile delinquents, unfaithful wives, jealous husbands, food shortages, housing problems, "spoiled brats", slum problems, social maladjustment, unemployment, automobile accidents, heart trouble, crime, destitute persons, mentally infirm, murders, cancer, tax burdens, nervous prostrations, and—(what a cruddy mess), and all because of "leap year".

The trouble all began 664 years ago in 1288 when some "crazy fool" in Scotland decreed that all unmarried women would have the right to propose marriage in "leap year".

The eligible man to whom the proposal was made must accept or pay a maximum fine of one English pound. Similar laws were passed in France, Genoa, and Florence.

The very core of the difficulty began 1997 years ago when some "eager Edgar" by the name of Julius Caesar started jampering with that immaterial, abstract, unimportant, intangible, relative value which we refer to as time. Previous to this date the calendar was based on the moon. The month was taken as the period from full moon to full moon about 29 1/2 days or a little more than four weeks. The month was introduced and 12 months were taken to make a year. But since there are 12.4 months in a year, the year was gradually displaced with respect to seasons.

This confusion caused Caesar to decree that henceforth, herewith, and wherefore, there should be 3 years of 365 days each and one year 366 days in perpetual cycle. Since there are approximately 365 1/4 days in one year this arrangement was satisfactory for many years but there are not exactly 365 1/4 days in a year and in the course of centuries, the error became appreciable. The error was corrected by Pope Gregory XIII in 1582 by omitting 11 days from the year. The Pope also formulated a "leap year" rule: Those years whose numbers are exactly divisible by four are leap years unless they are also divisible by 100, in which case they are not leap years, unless divisible by 400. Thus the year 1900 was not a leap year but the year 2000 will be.

The name leap year comes from the notion that the calendar leaps over an extra day every four years to make up for the ordinary year being 1/4 day too short.

Moses ($65pp.)—Sholem Asch-Putnam ($3.75)

Sholem Asch as a boy in Kotno, Poland, pondered over the division of people into Jews and Gentiles. As he grew older and his religious ideas became stronger he decided to become a religious novelist. In his lives of Christ (The Nazarene and Mary) he stretched the Gospel truth. It was really just fiction linking the faith of Jews and Christians together.

Moses, his latest novel is different. It is his first Old Testament novel. Asch attempts to make this biblical character more real to us. He is presented to us as a man of many moods. This novel gives a good description of the burning bush and God's commandment to Moses to lead his people out of the slavery of Egypt. The pages are full with the wrath of Pharaoh. He believed Moses was only trying to lead the Hebrews out of Egypt and to become their ruler in the desert. He did not believe Moses was led by God. Then comes the horror of the plagues God sent on the people of Egypt.

After the liberation Moses and Aaron were at the head of the host as they go into the wilderness. Here on Mt. Sinai Moses, the lawgiver, is told the Ten Commandments by God.

This novel is one of his most forceful and should become a best seller. The story is taken from the King James version of the Bible. It has been translated into English by Maurice Samuel. Although this book is filled with interesting details you may become a bit annoyed at the length of it.

GSC TROUNCES FAIRMONT IN 69-52 TILT

Barrett and Tennant Are High Scorers For Glenville State

Glenville recovered from a poor start here Saturday night to hand Fairmont State's basketball team its tenth straight loss of the year, 69-52, in a state collegiate conference contest.

The victory boosted Glenville's conference mark to 8-4. Fairmont has lost eight of its games in circuit competition.

Glenville trailed 28-26 at halftime but forged to a 4-point lead at the third quarter mark. The Pioneers then outscored Fairmont 18-5 in the final period.

Dick Barrett with 16 points and Jack Tennant with 15 were Glenville's scoring leaders. Dick Schamp had 14 and George Riley 13 for the losers.

PIONEERS WILL MEET BOBCATS

Wesleyan is reputed to have. But it can be done. With speed to match speed in Dick Barrett and Jack Tennant along with the rebounding power of Mills, Merriman, and Johnson, Glenville State has good chance of coming out on top in their contest with Wesleyan.

Pioneers at Fairmont

Saturday night, February 2, the Pioneers will find themselves in the city of Fairmont battling it out with the Fairmont State Falcons in their first contest to be played during the month of February.

Fairmont, although not a top team in the conference standings, is always tough to beat on their home floor. The Pioneers, on the other hand, have compiled a better-than-average record on the road thus far this season by racking up three wins against three losses.

Never consistent in his first team lineup this season, Coach Josephs, in all probability, will be juggling his players during the early stage of the February schedule. Players likely to start are: Ronnie Mills and Jack Tennant at forwards; Cecil Johnson, center; and Dick Barrett and Don Merriman, guards. Carlton Gandee and Bob Reed might also figure in the starting lineup.

Following three days after the Fairmont tilt, Salem College will entertain the Pioneers on their home court at Salem. This will be the second meeting between the two clubs. Glenville won the first game, 69-66.

White Wave Attains Half-Way Mark Pioneers Stand Fourth In Conference

By DARRELL MORRIS

Dr. Mike Josephs' Glenville State Pioneers rounded out the half-way mark on their 26 game cage card as they romped over Bill Moore's Shepherd Rams, 87-78, at Shepherdstown on Saturday night, Jan. 19. The Pioneer's 87 points at Shepherd ran their season's total to 893 points, an impressive 68.9 points per game average.

Tennant Leads Team Scoring

According to unofficial tabulations, Glenville's sensational freshman find from Fairview, Jack Tennant, leads his team in scoring with 218 points. The jumping jack has tossed them in at the rate of 16.7 per game. Team mate Sid Adelsberg, who has now concluded his college basketball career for the Blue and White, was second with 196.

The team scoring is as follows:

	FM-FS	PS
Jack Tennant	32-47	218
Sid Adelsberg	58-76	196
Dick Barrett	52-58	128
Cecil Johnson	30-63	117

Pioneers Are Fourth

On Tuesday, January 22, the United Press released the current WVWC ratings. West Virginia Tech was leading the pack in the mad scramble for the league championship. Tech is again favored to duplicate last year's performance and walk off with the crown. From here on in the Golden Bears should have easy sledding. Davis and Elkins put the screws to the Hilltoppers from West Liberty on January 19, knocking them from the league lead and the undefeated ranks. This win moved Tech into first; followed by West Liberty, Davis and Elkins, and Glenville. The Pioneers moved up a notch, from fifth to fourth. Morris Harvey's fizzled Golden Eagles dropped to fifth after being handed their third league loss, this one being at the hands of Doug Stone's vastly improved Salem Tigers. As we go to press the loop standings are:

By BILL LILLY

Ronnie Mills, 6'2", 176 lb. junior and graduate of Parkersburg high school, has been doing alright for Coach Michael Josephs, Glenville State college, and for himself while performing for the Pioneers on the hardwood this year.

On several different occasions this year Mills has come through with timely baskets to insure a Glenville victory. In the Pioneers third game against the Concord Mountain Lions this season, Mills padded the Glenville lead during the final quarter by scoring ten of sixteen points. Glenville won the game 74-64, just ten points difference.

Since the departure of Sid Adelsberg, Mills, figures prominently in Coach Josephs' plans as a member of the first five. Possibly such a break will give Mills the opportunity to display the kind of basketball he is really capable of playing. Such a statement as the preceding one doesn't take anything away from Mills; but, as a member of the first team, Mills is more than likely to see more action. The result of Mills' being allowed to play more will no doubt result in his being (Continued On Page 4) ahead as they meet their next eleven opponents. A win over any five of them would be exceptional, but anything can happen in this man's game of basketball. The Pioneers have yet to face Wesleyan, Alderson Broadbuss, and West Liberty for their first time this season. Glenville's return match with Salem will be difficult, not to mention Davis and Elkins, Fairmont, and Potomac State.

Hunt and Floyd Continue Winning Ways In Intra-Mural Basketball Contests

By BOBB BOGGS

Joe Floyds' and Paul Hunts' quintets continued on their winning way as Frank Vincent's squad evened its record in action January 16. Floyds' five beat the Arbogast Musicians to the tune of 30-20 in the lid lifted. Hunts' team won a close decision from Frank Fultineers' cagers by a 38-31 count. The Alcoholics were soaked 38-29 by a hot and cold Vincent five to end the night's action.

Floyd and Gainer shared high point honors for the winners with 8, while Bob Milligan netted 6 for the losers.

Paul Hunt captured scoring honors in the Hunt-Fultineer affair by flipping the cords for 15 markers. Prymier contributed 10 points for the losers.

Ron Godfrey connected with jump shots and set shots in scoring 15 points to pave the way for Vincent's overdoing of the Alcoholics. Mike King racked up 12 points for a losing game.

The following Thursday Charlie Marks' aggressors over-powered Joe Floyds' outfit 43-39 in a thrilling contest. Joe Arbogast's Musicians again met defeat as Maurice Buck's netters handed them a 37-33 setback. Bill Ice's Stormtroopers suffered a thumping posted by Eugene Knically in a contest ending by a 33-13 count.

Rodney Spaur, former Walkersville standout, captured honors of the night with 23 points. Roy Skidmore flipped in 16 for the Marksmen.

Milligan again led his teammates with 11 counts for the losers in the Buck-Arbogast clash, while Oliver Hunt tallied 10 for the winners.

Hedge Hissam hit the cords for 12 points to lead the winners. Alex Jokay was high scorer for the losers with two field goals.

Athletic director, Carlos Ratliff, announced there would be no games during the week of January 21-24 due to exams.

Across the Sights

more consistent on offense.

If it should happen that Mills doesn't take over Adelsberg's forward position, then, the Pioneer who does will find a lot of pressure placed on his shoulders. This shouldn't be the case, though. Adelsberg, the last of the fabulous championship five to take leave of this institution, has been the outstanding player on the floor for the Pioneers this year. So, if even a member of the present first four should happen to take his place, it is very improbable that he would be able to win the acclaim of the Glenville fans. To do it he would have to play better than did Adelsberg.

So, if and when Mills, Gande, Poole, Riddle, or some other Pioneer squad member steps into the big shoes left vacant by Sid Adelsberg, it would be wise not to compare the overall performance of the team scores in games won and lost but to compare instead questioned replacement's performance to that of the rest of the members of the team.

If we should happen to lose more games during the latter part of the season, it still won't indicate the Pioneers are not as strong as they were at the beginning of the year. Such teams as West Liberty, Salem, Potomac, Wesleyan, and Alderson Broaddus are still in line to be beaten. The question is not "could we have beaten them then." Instead, it is "can we beat them now..."

The roughest, toughest bunch of gladiators ever to pretend to play the game of basketball put on an exhibition for the benefit of the fans and to raise money for the cheer leader's sweaters one night about two weeks ago. And a game it was, too. The score ended up 38-36 in favor of the Kappi Chi Kappis over the Xi Beta Taus.

Phillis Spaulge was high scorer of the evening by tossing in 30 of 36 points for the locers. Nancy Harris and Christine Hyer were the individual scoring stars for the winners.
