Phillips States Glenville's Feats in Published Article

John Taylor Phillips of Columbus, Ga., has recently written an article which was published in the May issue of the West Virginia School Journal.

The article was written as a term paper in English 102 under the direction of Prof. E. B. Elder. The name of the article was "What Glenville Offers — A Southerner Views A West Virginia College."

When asked to make a statement regarding the publication, Mr. Phillips said, "I chose this particular topic because I felt there must be a great number of high school graduates who were missing the opportunity which is presented by the state. It is my belief that the people of West Virginia should know how the educational system appears to the critical opinion of an out-of-state student."

Taylor is enrolled as a senior at Glenville State college where he is majoring in pre-law. He is an active member of the GSC debate team and he plans to attend law school at Mercer University at Macon, Ga., next year.

Visiting Professors To Be Included In This Summer Faculty

Three visiting professors will be included in the faculty for the summer sessions beginning June 2 and July 14.

Miss Mable Nicholas, master of arts graduate of West Virginia university and a visiting instructor from Webster Springs high school, will teach social science courses.

Virgil B. Harris, principal of Green Bank high school and also a master of arts graduate of West Virginia university, will be an instructor in the field of education.

Dr. Patrick Gainer, Ph. D., of the West Virginia university English department, will instruct classes in the English field. Dr. Gainer, well known state folklorist, directed a state folk festival here last summer while teaching on this campus.

The visiting instructors were members of last summer's faculty.

Two more final touches were applied on campus this week with the completion of lockers in the new health-physical education building and the installation of plumbing at Verona Chapel Hall.

President Harry B. Heflin will deliver commencement addresses at Pennsboro high school May 20 and at St. Marys high school May 28.

It's time to get out the rubbing alcohol once again! The college faculty has voted to donate another day's work at the community recreation center. This year's contribution will be held June 7. Task taken on by the "testlingers" this year will be the purchasing of paint which they will apply to a portion of the house erected on the center grounds. Just how big a portion will depend upon painting skill and faculty endurance.

With the WVIC announcement of new policies to go into effect for next year, it is apparent that West Virginia college athletics are in for some de-emphasis. Although these new proposals will definitely hurt some state schools, it is significant to note that Glenville State conforms almost entirely to them all already.

William Ice to Receive Summa Cum-Laude Honors

William Ice will head a group of 16 students who will be graduated with honors at the commencement exercises May 26 in the college auditorium. Mr. Ice will graduate with Summa Cum Laude honors, while six others will receive Magna Cum Laude honors, and nine will graduate Cum Laude. Mr. Ice, a native of Grantsville, will graduate with an A. B. degree in mathematics and physical science and a B. S. degree in chemistry.

The six students who will be graduated Magna Cum Laude are Robert Neil Mottice, Canton, Ohio; Ann Lillard Brannon, Auburn; Doris June Adams, Charleston; Ruth M. Post, Roanoke; Shirley Joyce Porter, Ansted; and Cyril D. Anderson, Glenville.

Cum Laude graduates will be Stella Brannon Chenoweth, Route 2, Parkersburg; Laco Earl Geissler, Mahone; Robert Fred Radabaugh, Glenville; Helen Lucille Jackson,

Botany Class Visits Glades

Dr. Ward's Classes Have Annual Expedition May 9-10

Dr. Max Ward's botany class, accompanied by other students, made a two day trip to Cranberry Glades, Pocahontas County, May 9-10. Because of continuous rain, the party returned one day earlier than expected.

The night was spent at North Bend which is on the north fork of Cherry River, a few miles from Richwood. The following morning the crew went into the glades where they had a chance to see, for the first time, a sundew (carnivorous plant). A Canadian dogwood, which is believed to grow no further south than the Adirondack mountains, was also examined during this trip. Other vegetation typical of a much more northerly region was studied by the group. Several tents were used as housing accommodations and the meals were prepared by members of the party.

Professor H. C. Darlington and his class, from Marshall college, were also visiting the glades, and they accompanied the Glenville group for sometime. Prof. Darlington has made extensive studies of the glades, which are the largest ones of their kind in the West Virginia region.

Students who made the journey May 9 were Lee Woodburn, Roy Cooper, John Klingery, Eddie Nixon, John Loyd, Junior Kennedy, William Smith, Lewis Vilers, John Stalnaker, Albert Somerville, John Johnson, Betty Sims, Betty Kankas, Alvy Tustin, Frank Fultineer, and Dr. Ward. Earnest Wine, Garrel Divers, and Kenneth Pratt followed the next day.

Cool's Collegians Play For Moorefield Dance

Cool's Collegians, Brent Cool's campus dance band, traveled to Moorefield Friday, May 16, and to Harrisville Saturday, May 17, to furnish music for the evening's entertainment. Those taking the trip were: Mary Faith Holbart, William Waldeck, Carl Galsgania, William Rhoades, Myron Mason, Brent Cool, Lonnie Miller, Donald Arbogast, and Prof. Harold Orendorff.

Baccalaureate Set For May 25 In College Auditorium

Principal speaker for the Glenville State college baccalaureate sermon will be the Reverend William E. Crane. The sermon will be held Sunday, May 25, at the college auditorium at 10:30 a. m.

William E. Crane received his Bachelor of Arts degree from Davidson College, Davidson, North Carolina; Bachelor of Divinity degree from the Union Theological Seminary, Richmond, Virginia; Master of Theology degree from Xenia Theological Seminary, St. Louis; Doctor of Theology degree from the Union Theological Seminary in Virginia; Honorary Bachelor of Divinity degree from Davis and Elkins College, Elkins, West Virginia. He holds both masters and doctors degrees, as well as special study at Princeton Theological Seminary, Princeton University, MacCormick Theological Seminary in Chicago, Union Theological Seminary in New York were in the field of counseling.

He has served as president of the Kanawha Welfare Council for the past year and the term continues through the coming year. Also, he is a member of the advisory committee of the Citizen's Mental Health committee of Charleston; member of the board of directors of the Charleston Community Chest and of the advisory board of the Child Study League of Charleston.

Since 1940, Rev. Crane has served as pastor of the Ruffner Memorial Presbyterian Church of Charleston. At present time he is awaiting action on application to membership in the American Association of Marriage Counselors.

Post Receives IR Club Award

Mrs. Ruth McCray Post, Roanoke, W. Va., will receive the twelfth annual International Relations club award tomorrow in assembly.

Wm. O. Douglas' book, STRANGE LANDS AND FRIENDLY PEOPLE, will be presented in recognition of high honors in the field of social sciences.

Mrs. Post has completed 36 hours of "A" in the social science field. She will also complete the course in elementary education this year.

Officers of the International Relations club are Veri Garster, Jr., president; Eugene Hall, secretary; Prof. Bessie B. Bell, advisor.

Dean Kingsley To Attend State Guidance Meet

G. Gordon Kingsley will attend State Guidance conference May 22, at Charleston. The meeting will be held in the office of Clements Brown, State director of Guidance.

Topics that will be discussed in the meeting are (1) Regional Guidance Conference (2) Plans for next year's conferences (3) Revision consular education requirement. This Conference was organized one year ago.

Far-Reaching Changes

Some far-reaching changes concerning education have been proposed by President Conant of Harvard University during the course of a series of lectures given under the Page-Barbour Foundation at the University of Virginia.

Some of the points stressed by President Conant are: "Do not expand the four-year programs in state universities, rather, contract them."

"Make a two-year college course fashionable; give graduates of such colleges a bachelor's degree of general studies."

"Make far more effort to locate the gifted youth and provide him or her with more vigorous training in languages and mathematics; but adhere to the principle of comprehensive high schools with a common core of studies and differentiated special programs."

"Provide by private and public action for more scholarships for high school graduates, but only for those who are potential professional business men and women. For the others, provide advanced education locally."

"Transform all the present four-year colleges into institutions with high academic standards. Arrange the curricula with the thought that a majority of the students in these colleges will go on to professional training after three or four years, depending on the ability and drive of the individual."

It is evident from the principles proposed that President Conant favors some radical renovations in our present educational system. Perhaps he is a little ahead of the times. At any rate, his proposals certainly are food for thought.—WB

Athletic Speculation

Reviewing the measures passed last week by the West Virginia Intercollegiate Athletic conference at their spring meeting in Wheeling gives rise to some interesting speculation about state college athletics.

In the first place, the proposal made by President Harry B. Heflin and passed by the group which would prohibit subsidization of athletics is, if followed strictly, a mere falling in line with present Glenville State college policy. Whereas many of the conference schools will not be affected by the new ruling, some of the big-money colleges will be seriously cramped. It means that no more money will be able to be passed openly to outstanding athletes—if that is any consolation.

The decision to return the state basketball tournament to Buckhannon means a continuance of the poor facilities and crowded conditions that tournament fans have had to cope with in the past. It has been a source of wonder to many people for years why the tournament has not been moved to a city that can adequately take care of the visiting teams and fans. With the granting of the tournament to Buckhannon again, it means more of the same inconveniences that have plagued state colleges increasingly as the event has grown.

The measure which calls for a four team playoff to determine the state's representative to the NAIB tournament seems to be a logical solution to the problem of how to select the state's best basketball team. To survive competition leading up to the final honor of going to Kansas City, a team in the future will be certain to be a worthy representative.

As a whole, it seems that the directors of the state conference have done some serious consideration of the athletic scene. Their newly enacted rulings are evidence of a growing tendency toward de-emphasis of athletics. They are to be commended for their farsightedness.—WAB

Anything! Anything, that is, can happen!

Audrey Kessler and Joe Craig are beginning to be a familiar sight on the campus. These two don't even mind the rain.

Wanda L. Taylor and Chick Zakarian have ceased to be steady.

Jean Adams, a Glenville Galmorous, is casting her charms upon Cecil Johnson. This "Casanova" seems to be readily responding.

We hear from the grapevine that Helen Berry is very much interested in our armed forces. Especially in someone whose initials are Louis Kessel who is in Korea.

We wonder if the "music box" given to Wanda James by a "Wonderful Guy" still plays?

Carol Hughes' favorite pastime seems to be writing letters and her favorite song has changed from "Because of You" to "Anchors Aweigh."

Congratulations to Nancy Hamrick who is wearing a diamond purchased by Ron O'Brian from Webster Springs.

Don Merriman has finally met the girl of his dreams in Wanda Carol Taylor. We hear that Wanda is now wearing Don's frat pin.

Don Weaver is receiving plenty of attention from some of those Western girls.

We wonder if Jack Tennant has received all of those kisses from Carol Hughes for the baskets he made during basketball season last winter. Come on, kids, confess.

Congratulations to Taylor Phillips for the swell article he wrote and had published in this month's West Virginia School Journal. We need more up and coming citizens like Mr. Phillips.

Mabel Moore's sister was visiting on the campus last week.

Congratulations to the speech department for the successful production of "You Can't Take It With You," which was presented last week.

Business Education Gives Programs To Meet Student's Individual Needs

For the student who wants to study business education, there are special programs planned to meet individual needs. There is individual counseling in advance by corresponding or by personal interview.

There are three different programs set up for business education students. These are as follows:

1. The one year program (Clerical or General Office).

2. The two year (Secretarial or Business Administration).

3. The four year program (Teaching or B. S. Degree).

If a student takes the business education course and decides he does not want to work in that field, his credits are not wasted; they can be used as credit on another certificate, such as a teachers certificate.

The salary a business education graduate receives depends on the locality of his job. In the city he would receive higher wages than in a small town. His own ability helps determine what his salary will be. The number of years of commerce one has had does not count as much as ability.

Some of the advantages of a business education are:

1. No prerequisite of any course.
2. Practical knowledge and training that is salable and in demand.
3. 100 percent placement of all graduates.
4. Credits will be accepted anywhere in the country.
5. All courses may be taken in one year if you are a special student, that is taking nothing but commerce.

Baseball Team Racks Up Third Win In Salem Game

Merriman's Grand Homer, Cecil Johnson's Pitching Are Features Of Game

Glenville Pioneers slugged out a 12-9 upset over the Salem Tigers, last week to post win No. 3 against 6 losses.

The game was highlighted by Don Merriman's home run with the bases loaded. Salem struck early as they put together 3 hits, 2 walks, and 4 Pioneers errors to score 6 runs in the 3rd inning.

The Wave came back to within one run in the 5th when they scored 5 times on but one hit—Merriman's grand slammer. Glenville came back with 4 more in the 7th and iced the game with 2 in the 8th and one in the 9th.

Salem threatened with a 3 run outburst in the 8th inning. Both teams left 11 men on base in this 4 hour slugfest which was held up about an hour and a half for rain.

Merriman led the hitters with a homer and a single while Pete Kostyk continued to fatten his average by getting two hits, two walks and being hit by the pitcher.

Ron Deem continued to lead Salem's club by rapping out 3 hits in 6 trips to the plate.

Cecil Johnson went all the way to pick up mound win No. 2.

PIONEERS WILL MEET MARIETTA IN LAST GAME

Wave Diamondmen Will Attempt To Avenge Defeat, Seasons Record Is 3-6

Today the Glenville State Pioneers will compete in their last game of the season when they play the Marietta College Pioneers at three o'clock in a non-conference tilt at Marietta, Ohio.

This will mark the second time this season Coach Michael Joseph's nine has faced the Marietta team. The first meeting between the two teams occurred April 17. Marietta trounced the Pioneers by score of 12-0. Marietta then went on the down West Virginia's conference champions, Morris Harvey, by a score of 7-6 at Marietta.

Sporting a record of three wins and six losses to date in conference competition, and with Davis & Elkins and possibly Fairmont State to be played before publication of this Mercury issue, the Pioneers will be entering the game as the underdog.

The Marietta-Glenville game will be the climax of Cecil Johnson's brilliant athletic career at GSC. Johnson, a versatile athlete, has won letters in football, basketball, and baseball.

Of the three wins registered by the Glenville team this season Johnson has earned two. His first victory, and also the first victory of the season for the Pioneers, came at the expense of Alderson-Broadus College. Johnson won his second game when Glenville defeated Salem College by score of 12-9.

When not pitching, Johnson played right field. In the W. Va. Wesleyan contest Johnson neared or set a conference record by throwing out three Wesleyan base runners from his right field position. Johnson's batting average to date is .325.

The leading Pioneer batsman is Pete Kostyk with a batting average of .350. Kostyk is followed by Joe Floyd, who is currently hitting .333. Johnson follows with his average of .325.

The battery for today's game will in all probability consist of Cecil Johnson, pitching; and either Joe Floyd or Glen Vannoy, catching.

The electric utility companies used one-fifth of all bituminous coal produced in the U. S. last year (1951).

Hunt Leads Golfers Stanevich, Mottice Reach Tennis Finals

Glenville State golf and tennis teams finished third and fourth respectively in competition at the West Virginia Inter-collegiate conference meet at Wheeling last week.

In garnering fourth position in the tennis competition, the Glenville State doubles team of Bob Mottice and Frank Stanevich went all the way to the finals before falling before the championship Davis-Elkins representatives. Other point-getters for the Pioneers were Alex Jokay and John Brooks who won first round matches but were defeated in the quarter finals.

Mottice and Stanevich, in reaching the finals of doubles play, defeated Hill and Rich of West Liberty 6-2; 4-6, 6-1 and Doran and Hervatin of Fairmont 9-7, 0-6, 6-3 before bowing to the champs.

Jokay defeated Basset of Fairmont State 6-2, 9-7 before being downed 6-0, 6-1 by Renner of Bethany. Brooks beat team of West Liberty 6-2, 6-1 and lost to Keneweg of Wesleyan 6-2, 9-7. Bob Hoffman, fourth Glenville player was defeated in first-round action by Bethany's Delidnegru.

Hunt Leads Golfers

Glenville's high-flying linksmen ended up with a final 36-hole total of 566 which was good for third place honors. Top Pioneer golfer of the days was Paul Hunt who had an individual 172 stroke total placing him in the number 4 position among the 18 entries at the meet. Other 36-hole totals for Glenville representatives were: Gerald Kress, 194; Oliver Hunt, 200; and Lloyd Jordan, 213.

WVIAC Proposal Prohibits Athlete Subsidization by Member Schools

A rule putting athletes on the same basis as other students as far as scholarships are concerned was proposed by Glenville State President Harry B. Heflin and passed by the West Virginia Intercollegiate Athletic conference at the spring meeting in Wheeling last week.

The measure prohibits "the subsidization of athletes, as athletes, whether by use of college funds or funds provided by outside agencies." Dr. Heflin explained that his intent was not to discriminate against athletes but to put them on the same basis as other students. It was his view that scholarships should not be given solely for athletic prowess, but that at the same time, an athlete who could obtain a scholarship on scholastic merit should be allowed to do so.

Other action taken at the meeting included the following: (1) Restored a ban against participation by conference players in post-season independent basketball tournaments. (2) Elected President W. H. Cramb of Bethany college to succeed President E. B. Church of Potomac State as conference chairman. (3) Discussed but tabled without decision a proposal which would require a 'C' scholastic average for sports eligibility. (4) Decided to hold the 1953 conference basketball tournament on the Wesleyan college floor at Buckhannon but changed dates to Wednesday through Saturday of the last week in February. (5) Voted to hold a four-team playoff the week after the conference cage tournament to determine the West Virginia representative in the annual NAIB tournament.

The proposal to require a "C" average for athletic eligibility was felt by many of those present to be too severe where freshmen are concerned. A committee was named to study the question and make recommendations.

McNemar-Richards United in Marriage

Joan McNemar became the bride of William E. Richards on April 10 at six p. m. at Gassaway.

The double ring ceremony was performed at the Gassaway Methodist church with the Rev. Hugh Cummings officiating, by candle light before an altar decorated with white lilies.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, was attired in a chapel length gown of net and lace with a shoulder length veil. She carried a white prayer book covered with an orchid.

Martha Mick served the bride as bride's maid. She wore a blue gown and carried a bouquet of red roses.

Samuel Lemons Jr., cousin of the groom from Pennsylvania State college, served the groom as best man.

Organist, Mrs. Mary Skidmore played the "Lord's Prayer" as a background through the ceremony. Betty Dobbins sang "I Love You Truly" and "Because".

Ushers for the ceremony were: Robert McNemar, brother of the bride from Fort Lee, Virginia, and Thomas Bragg from Puerto Rico.

Immediately following the ceremony, a reception was held in the basement of the church with Mrs. June Adams and Ruth James serving as aides.

Others from Glenville State college attending were: Margaret Westfall, Frank Stanavich, Brent Cool, Lonnie Miller, James Ball, Ruby Cromwell and Julia Stalnaker.

Advanced Food Class Gives Second Lunch

Student Teachers Attend Conference In Science Hall

A student teacher conference was held Monday night May 12 in the Science hall. Student teachers were from Dr. Delmar Somerville's 307 education class, Prof. Genevieve Butcher's business education class and Prof. Lillian Chaddock, home economics supervisor. Cookies and punch were served to these people by Prof. Naomi Albanese at intermission. Then they went to Mrs. Chaddock's home economic laboratory and discussed objectives of teaching home economics, then discussed the units taught.

Demonstrations and pictures were shown by the home furnishings class. Textiles were discussed and the men wanted to know how to select material for their clothing that would be durable and hold press.
