Six Students Are Selected For Who's Who Publication

By JEAN ADAMS
Six college students have been selected to represent Glenville State in the 1952-53 publication of Who's Who Among Students in American Colleges and Universities. These students have brought honor to the college and to themselves through this national recognition.

The Who's Who publication has been functioning since the academic year of 1934-35 when it was first issued. It is an official directory of outstanding students selected from colleges and universities throughout America.

Approximately 600 schools are represented in Who's Who, and the student representatives are selected on standard qualifications. Nominating committees are instructed to make their selections according to the students' scholastic ability; his cooperation and leadership in academic and extra-curricular activities; his citizenship and service to the school; and his promise of future usefulness to business and society.

Winners Announced
Nominated and accepted for publication in Who's Who are Nancy Harris, and Robert Milligan, juniors; William Boram, Carlton Gandee, Frank Fultineer, and Ruby Cromwell, seniors. These students have been outstanding in campus activities during their four years at college. They have served as leaders and active participants in various school activities.
William Boram has played an important part in the Sigma Tau Gamma fraternity during his college years.

One Student to Practice In Elementary This Term

By WANDA WIANT
Only one student is doing directed teaching in the elementary field this term, states Prof. Eddie C. Kennedy. Maxine Edwards is teaching in kindergarten. Eight are teaching in the secondary field.

"Forty three students graduated last year with degrees in the elementary field," Dr. Kennedy said, "compared with this year's eleven graduates with elementary and public school curriculum degrees. This is approximately one fourth of the number graduating last year."

Reasons Given
Reason for this sharp decline, as given by Dr. Kennedy, is that many two-year students are going out to teach because of the demand for elementary teachers, not completing work for first class certificates. He said that some elementary people who are off-campus at present are planning to get leaves of absence to take directed teaching next term.
"The need for elementary teachers is probably greater today than it has been at any other time."

Marks to MC Talent Show

Fred Marks, freshman from Buckhannon, will act as master of ceremonies in the fourth annual talent show sponsored by the senior class, according to a recent revelation by Bill Lilly, senior class president. The contest will take place Tuesday, Nov. 25, at 8 p. m. in the college auditorium and will feature the finest student talent that is available on the campus.

President Lilly added that he is still seeking contestants who wish to display their aesthetic ability before their fellow students. He iterated that he wished desirous contestants would consult him before this coming Friday, in order that a tentative program might be designed, but that last minute entrants would not be barred.

Cups Given
Prizes for the show are three loving cups of different sizes now on display in the Student Union. Three as yet unannounced faculty members will serve as judges.
Last year's winners include: first place, Glenville College Chordbusters (Myron Mason, Joseph Arbogast, and Charles Dodd-rill); second place, Myron "Red" Mason (saxophone solo); and third place, Mary Frances Sommerville (vocal solo).
Admission will be 35 cents for students and 50 cents for adults.

'Mr. Barry's Etchings' Will Be Presented Tomorrow

Onimoghow Players Rehearse

Hobart Childers Will Have Lead Role In Comedy

Tomorrow night at 8:15 the first curtain will rise on the play, "Mr. Barry's Etchings," first dramatic production of the year by the Onimoghow Players.

"Mr. Barry's Etchings" is a three-act comedy by Walter Bullock and Daniel Archer, first presented at the Forty-eighth Street Theatre in New York City when Lee Tracy starred.

Childers Stars
The action centers around the studio of Judson Barry (Hobart Childers), world traveller, soldier of fortune, jack-of-all-trades, and near-genius who amuses himself in his spare time by re-designing U. S. currency after his own tastes, and who prints several thousand dollar's worth of spurious fifty dollar bills, the only noticeable difference between the real and phony being the pleasant expression on the face of General U. S. Grant's portrait, as engraved by Barry.

Much to his sister's (Wanema Davidson) consternation, Barry donates anonymously all the counterfeit money to several local charities. The sudden flare of prosperity which follows the "generous" gesture brings about a long-needed turnover on the political scene in the city of Stanwich, but also complicates matters by attracting professional counterfeiters (Claire Bowles and Chick Zakarian), Treasury investigators (Bob Milligan and Claudette Hefner), and a movie producer (Frank Fultineer), in search of material for a movie.

Other Members
Other members of the cast are Joyce Georgalis, Bertie Turner, Don Davidson.

Annual White Rose Dance To Be Held In Gym Dec. 13

Sigma Tau's second annual White Rose dance will be held Dec. 12, 9 p. m.-1 a. m., in the "Old Gym."

Last year the fraternity dance replaced the annual Christmas dance held by the college, and the fraternity hope that the custom of a White Rose dance will continue, and become a tradition at Glenville.

The Sigma Tau Gamma national social fraternity has, as a custom of long standing, given an annual dance shortly before Christmas holidays at colleges throughout the country, in honor of the fraternity talsman, a white rose.

Metz Was Queen
Each year a girl is chosen as White Rose Queen to reign at the festivities, and to be crowned at the dance. Last year, Joan Metz, elementary major from Elkview, was chosen as Sigma Tau's first White Rose Queen. This year's choice will be made by the fraternity, and will be announced at a later date.

At the last regular meeting of the fraternity, William Waldeck, president, appointed as coronation committee members Hobart Childers, Lee Woodburn, and Clarence Maze Jr.

Members Named
Members who are to serve on the publicity committee are Robert Milligan, Clarence Maze Jr., and Hogart Childers.

Decorations for the affair will carry out the traditional motif of the holiday season and of the fraternity.

Tickets to the affair are now available from the fraternity members at $2 each (stag or drag). Arrangements for an orchestra for the dance have not yet been completed.

Why We Will Give Thanks

Next week, many Mercury readers will sit down to a delicious meal when the annual Thanksgiving dinner is served at Kanawha dining hall the evening before Thanksgiving vacation starts. The meal will be served in a warm, clean room, and all those present will be dressed in neat, attractive clothes.

Other Mercury readers elsewhere will be observing the annual holiday with full tables and luxurious surroundings. Most of the students and faculty members of the college will spend Thanksgiving day in clean, warm homes, and will eat fully of the Thanksgiving turkey.

Many others across the nation will likewise have the benefit of comfortable, warm food and lodging when the annual Thanksgiving turkey is carved.

But several Mercury readers won't have the opportunity to partake of the luxuries that are available to those who aren't with them on a Korean battlefield. And few other American soldiers in Korea will sit down to tables in warm rooms crowded with delicious food. And many other Americans right in this country also will not enjoy the Thanksgiving holiday in clean, comfortable surroundings.

What better reason is there to observe Thanksgiving? Just knowing that the meat will be on the table at Kanawha hall is reason enough for giving thanks. Just knowing that Thanksgiving dinner will be eaten in a warm, clean home gives added meaning to Thanksgiving.

It's cold and dark in the greying November in Glenville, but it's warm and clean inside. That is why we will give thanks next week. —WAB.

Wagner Constructs Toy Train To Show Newton's Laws

By WANDA WYANT

Although his "choo-choo" is not yet completed, Prof. John R. Wagner is right proud of the one he constructed recently. It consists of a part of an old differential mounted in a bearing, a transformer, electric wires, a toy train and cart, a track, and the platform.

Electrical connections make contact in two places from the transformer. Wires are connected to two different tracks.

Newton's first and third laws of motion are shown by the train. The third law of motion maintains that to every action there is an equal and contrary reaction. To show this, force pushes on the track and the train moves forward. The track goes clockwise while the train moves counter-clockwise.

First Law Shown

In showing the first law of motion, the current was turned on and the train went into motion. The track stopped, then went in the same direction as the train. Since force tended to go forward, friction pulled the track after the train.

Another demonstration showed rolling and sliding friction, with the result that rolling friction is less than sliding friction. A cart was placed on the track, blocks were placed under the track to raise it, and the cart rolled downhill at a slow rate of speed. The wheels turned in the process of rolling friction.

Friction Demonstrated

In showing sliding friction, power was put behind the train. The wheels did not turn, and the train moved slowly upward. After hooking the cart on behind the train, tendency was to go downward.

The track is elevated to some extent to prevent the train from jumping track. However, Professor Wagner is taking no chances. He has built a fence around the track to be doubly sure the train doesn't hit the floor if it should jump track. He plans to finish the demonstrator by correcting a tilting default of the track platform.

Eight Games Slated For Pioneer JV's

Eight games have been slated for this year's Pioneer JV team. Games with Sand Fork, Normantown, Tanner, and Troy high schools have been announced. Coach Michael Joseph's stated that an attempt will be made to schedule more games for preliminaries to the varsity tills. The JV roster includes the following boys: Ed Tekiel, Stewart Cain, Bill Woodyard, Bob Duffield, Lloyd Huff, Brenton McClung, Ed Dennellan, James Sell, Harvey Haight, Eugene Gay and Danny Hall.

One Student to

period in American history," Dr. Kennedy declared. "The pupil-teacher ratio, brought about by the increased birth rate of the 1940's, is higher than at any previous time. Of the estimated 75,000 teachers needed within the next four years, only about 46,000 now in training. This means that conditions will continue to grow worse unless something is done to recruit students for elementary work."

Dr. Kennedy attributed low enrollments in teacher education to at least two major causes. The teaching profession itself does not wholeheartedly attempt to recruit students for teacher education. Secondly, because of high wages in industry, many high school students can get positions that pay as much or more money than the teaching position of a college graduate. They can see no good reason for spending four years in college when it adds little to the immediate income.

Students Enroll

Students enrolled in secondary directed teaching are: Margaret Stanevich, home economics and art; Claudette Fehner, business education and English; Billy Dean Hanlin, biological science and physical education at Glenville; William A. Boram, speech and English at Grantsville; Ruby Ann Cromwell, commerce and library science at Glenville; Jane Myers, home economics and art; Richard Holt Gray, physical education and social studies; and Katherine Cutright Weekly, social studies.

SIX NEW STUDENTS ARE ENROLLED

New students enrolling this term are: William Paul Snyder, Brohard; Yvonne Marie Miller, Shock; Kent Davis Duffield, Sutton; Eddie Nixon, Mt. View; Virginia Ann Weaver, Grantsville; and Katherine Cutright Weekly, Spencer.

Prof. Harold Orendorff announced that there were four new music majors in his department. They are: Wanda Davidson of Glenville, Thomas Reed also of Glenville, Roland Kobler of Cedar Creek, and Kent Duffield of Sutton.

Sadie Hawkins Day Successful

Sadie Hawkins day celebrants at Glenville State enjoyed a colorful day of activities in the history of the annual event held last Sunday. Donald Weaver, activities chairman, announced that the enthusiasm of all the participants exceeded that of all past events.

Lonnie Miller, Kappa Sigma Kappa president, pronounced the day a great success from all standpoints. He viewed the "Skunk Hooter Stomp" as one of the most riotous yet successful dances ever held on the Glenville campus, and added that he wished to extend his wholehearted thanks to all who made the celebration possible.

In rounding out the year's volleyball, the Sims-coached team won 8 contests against no defeats, finishing one game ahead of Betty Cooper's tappers.

Cooper defeated Hughes 52-31 in the final night's competition thus assuring her of second place with a 7 won, 1 lost record. Hinder, with a 4-4 overall mark, finished in third position followed by Brubaker, Harris, Hughes and Brammer.

The final standings for the league as announced by WAA president, Marge Hardman are:

Winding up the football season, statistic wise—according to figures at our disposal, we find that captain Bill Hanlin led all Pioneer backs in yards gained with 431 yards in 78 carries. This was an average of 5.5 yards per try. Next in the rushing department was Joe Riddel with 230 yards in 45 tries for a 5.1 mark.

Ron Godfrey had 169 yards in 38 carries, a 4.7 average. Hodge Hissam picked up 156 yards in 37 tries for a 4.2 mark. Quarterback Jack Tennant, although not primarily a running back, gained 69 yards in 23 carries for an even 3 yards per carry.

Jack Tennant led the passing attack with 31 completions out of 70 attempts, good for 529 yards and 7 touchdowns. At this writing, Tennant was second in the conference in yards gained by passing and touchdown passes. Other Pioneer quarterbacks included: Dick Barrett, tossing 14 times with 5 completions good for 81 yards, and Fred Gainer, with a perfect season, flipping four completions in four tries, good for 76 yards.

Just two weeks from tonight, Glenville State college fans will get their first look at the 1952-53 edition of the Pioneers. Glenville opens their season with the Fairmont State Falcons. Fairmont has always proved a tough foe for the Pioneers and this year will be no exception.

Last season Fairmont dropped a 69-54 decision here but copped a '70-70 thriller at Fairmont. Fairmont has several lettermen returning, and they are expected to improve upon their rather dismal record of last season.

Winners In WAA Volleyball League

Speaking of Sports

By Joe Riddel

With the opening of basketball season but two short weeks away, it is time for us to take a brief and we do mean brief) glance around the state's collegiate conference in order to determine the potentiality of Glenville's WVCC opposition. This year the conference is working under a new set of playoff rules that will determine its Kansas City representative.

Formerly, the winner of the annual tournament was accorded the NAIB berth but this year a separate tournament will be held to determine the ultimate winner. This tournament will follow the state tournament and will include four teams selected from among the top regular season finishers and the tournament finalists. So much for tournaments which are some three months away, and now to delve into the matter at hand.

Up Fairmont way, housed in the friendly atmosphere of Colebank gymnasium, the Falcon is reportedly sharpening its talons for one of its greater years—a fact which bodes ill for Pioneer supporters. Last year's tournament champions, West Liberty, paced by the tremendous speed and hustle of Jack Donovan and Emil Rubuch, which has often been a dire omen to championship aspirants. Closely following the Hilltoppers in potential strength will be three teams who lost practically nothing—Morris Harvey, Wesleyan, and Alderson-Broaddus. Led by Dave Rosen and Ralph Kryzak, the Golden Eagles are expected to ravage the conference—if they can overcome last year's mortal defect, lack of teamwork.

Wesleyan coach Hank Ellis may find that too much material is a handicap as he did last year; but it's certainly a handicap that many a coach would welcome. With Harry Bush, Jack Greyndolds, and Earl Hartman back in harness, A-B backers can look forward to a fruitful year. Add to these regular season champion V. Va. Tech and one can vision the keen competition.

Coach Press Maravich and captain "Skippy" Hill are gone from the Davis and Elkins scene; but the Senators are always strong, so they, along with our own Pioneers, must be rated as the conference darkhorses. Concord and Beckley are of unknown strength, with the former undoubtedly much improved. Salem is unknown, but will feature Salem high school's fabulous Gibson twins.

Three conference teams, Potomac State, Shepherd, and Bethany, do not appear on the Pioneer schedule, but pose a threat in post season ventures. The former should be comparatively strong with returning veterans Poe, Murovich, Baird, and Sutton plus freshman find Ira Robinson, one of the state's leading high school scorers last year. Shepherd, without Sam Berry but with a reported fine freshman crew, will be another sleeper, while Bethany, always tough, is unpredictable.

Prediction of the week: A very interesting year for West Virginia cage enthusiasts.

With collegiate football rapidly drawing to a close, the grid spotlight is turning to bowl bids with Georgia Tech as yet the only team selected. Sugar Bowl officials, with the Engineers already in harness, are having trouble lining up a suitable opponent because of the many teams bound by conference regulations. Also, Oklahoma's trouncing at the hands of a rejuvenated Notre Dame eleven dulled the lustre of that once top-ranked club, and it is unlikely that the Sooners will appear in any post-season contest this year.

Elsewhere, the Rose Bowl representative from the West coast will be decided in this Saturday's meeting between UCLA and Southern California. A complicated Big Ten situation confounds the prediction of their probable opponent.

Orange and Cotton Bowl officials are not yet certain about their choices, but should announce them within the next few days.

Top week-end contests are: Boston-Villanova, Penn-Cornell, Penn St.-Pitt, Yale-Harvard, Alabama-Maryland, Kentucky - Tennessee, LSU-Miss. St., No. Carolina-Duke, West Virginia-So. Carolina, Vir-

"Cotton" Gandee Is Named Basketball Team Captain

By JOE RIDDEL

Carlton Gandee, senior physical education and social studies major from Clendenin, has been named captain of the 1952-53 edition Pioneer basketball squad according to a statement by Coach Michael Josephs. The hustling 5-ft., 11-in. performer is a former two-time letter winner, and a steady operator at the guard post where he is expected to hold forth this season.

"Cotton," as he is nicknamed, came to Glenville from Clendenin high school where he learned the cage sport under the astute guidance of Paul Workman. In high school he was a four-letterman in both football and basketball, and in his senior year served as captain in both sports. He was further honored in his final year by being selected honorary captain of the all-Kanawha Valley conference five.

Josephs Comments

Coach Josephs, commenting on his selection of the sandy haired floor general, stated, "He is a hard working, hustling, very dependable boy; one of the finest I have known." Gleaming very pleased with his selection, the coach indicated that Gandee would assume the captaincy when the Pioneers open their hardwood endeavors against a highly touted Fairmont Falcon Dec. 3 at home.

Other than his achievements in athletic ventures, captain Gandee is quite active in campus activities, currently serving as vice-president of the Student Council, treasurer of the Kappa Sigma Kappa fraternity, and a member of the G-Club. Most recently he was named to Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities.

"He combines a wonderful personality with fine leadership qualities, and is certainly a credit to his institution as the playing leader of the cage sport."

There is some talk circulating throughout the state that Fairmont and Morris Harvey may meet on the gridiron to decide the state conference title already awarded to Fairmont on the basis of points. Both teams being undefeated, the contest would undoubtedly draw a fine crowd that would go far in filling the coffers of both athletic departments.

It is generally known that undefeated Fairmont is seeking a small bowl bid; if they should fail to receive one, the game might become a reality.

Speaking of Sports

Jim and Pioneer kicking specialist and defensive end Fred Gainer, will be making their first appearance in the playoff, as will the slight underdog Grafton eleven.

This is the first time in the history of the playoffs that a so-called larger school hasn't achieved a playoff berth, and it has brought down the wrath of many sports-writers on West Virginia's selection and classification system.

INCIDENTALS:

George Cook, Pioneer freshman cage hopeful, recently received a broken nose in a friendly scuffle. Basketball is much more pleasant, isn't it, George? . . . Football star, Bill Hanlin, is currently serving as assistant basketball mentor to Coach Michael Josephs. He will be in charge of freshman basketball as the season progresses. . . . . . Home town plug: Pat Petty, diminutive fullback of this year's Calhoun County high school eleven, is without a doubt one of the finest high school backs in the state. Among other things, he tallied over 100 points from his spinning post, served as captain, signal caller, and was as fine a defensive safety-man as could be desired. Are you listening, Coach Josephs? . . . Au revoir.

NOSE, THROAT,

and Accessory Organs not Adversely Affected by Smoking Chesterfields

FIRST SUCH REPORT EVER PUBLISHED ABOUT ANY CIGARETTE

A responsible consulting organization has reported the results of a continuing study by a competent medical specialist and his staff on the effects of smoking Chesterfield cigarettes.

A group of people from various walks of life was organized to smoke only Chesterfields. For six months this group of men and women smoked their normal amount of Chesterfields—10 to 40 a day. 45% of the group have smoked Chesterfields continually from one to thirty years for an average of 10 years each.

At the beginning and at the end of the six-months period each smoker was given a thorough examination, including X-ray pictures, by the medical specialist and his assistants. The examination covered the sinuses as well as the nose, ears and throat.

The medical specialist, after a thorough examination of every member of the group, stated: "It is my opinion that the ears, nose, throat and accessory organs of all participating subjects examined by me were not adversely affected in the six-months period by smoking the cigarettes provided."
