Pioneer Alumni Will Honor Rohrbough at Banquet Apr. 15

By MARY HELEN SOMERVILLE

A. F. (Nate) Rohrbough will be honored with a testimonial banquet in Kanawha hall at 6 p. m. on April 25.

"Nate" will be recognized for seventeen years service of coaching and instructing he gave Glenville State college, and also the recognition he and his teams brought to the college.

He will receive recognition for his continual efforts to bring the West Virginia Intercollegiate conference standards up to rank with any other state conference in the country.

Approximately 200 Pioneer alumni, many of whom are now coaching throughout this and other states, are expected to return for the affair announced. David Fitzpatrick, banquet chairman.

Fitzpatrick is sending letters to former Pioneer athletes, team managers, and publicity men informing them of plans for the banquet.

The program will begin shortly after noon with a tour of Glenville campus followed by a "bull session" in the new health and physical education building. The banquet will highlight the day's activities.

The following committees were appointed to complete plans for the affair:

Planning — Gordon Elsmo, James McMillon, Jack Luzader, Fred W. Wells, Robert Butcher, Stanley Hall, Carlos Ratliff, Linn B. Hickman, Lloyd M. Jones, William Whitel, Earl Wolfe and Frank Martino.

Banquet arrangements—Stanley Hall, Lloyd Jones, Robert J. Butcher.

Reception for guests — Carlos Ratliff, Jack Luzader, and Fred W. Wells.

Tickets—David Fitzpatrick, William Moore, Earl Wolfe, Stanley Hall and Fred Wells.

Gift—Earl Wolfe, Frank Martino, William Moore, Russell Poterfield, and Gordon Elsmo.

After "Nate" completed a tour of duty with the Naval Reserve he accepted a position with the Veterans administration and is now stationed in Hampton, West Virginia.

He was graduated at Buckhannon high school and received his bachelor and master's degree at West Virginia University. While in high school and the university "Nate" was a star basketball and football player.

Speech Meet Is Set for Friday

Representatives from most of the state colleges and West Virginia University will attend the West Virginia Intercollegiate Speech Festival which will be held on the Glenville State campus March 20 and 21.

Debate question is, Resolved: "That the Congress of the United States should enact a compulsory fair employment practice law." The extemporary speaking will be on a statement made by James Michener, author of "Tales of the South Pacific" from which the Broadway musical "South Pacific" was made.

The general topic will be on the subject of "Our decisions in Asia: How can we meet the Communist threat in the Far East."

Registration will be held March 20 from 10 to 1 in Louis Bennett lounge. The general session will begin at 1, round I debate 1:30, oratory 3; a banquet will be held at 5:30 in the Kanawha hall dining room. At 7:30 the extemporary speaking contest will be held. A round table of debate will be held at 8:30.

On Saturday morning from 9 to 10:30 and at 1:30 rounds III, IV, and V of debate will be held.

The public is welcome to attend the sessions of the festival.

7 More Schools Are Given Glenville Test

Tests given to high school seniors by the education department are continuing according to schedule. Students and professors have visited the following schools this week:

March 10 Dean Gordon Kingsley and Prof. Stanley Hall were at Gilmer, Ripley and Spencer high schools. March 11 Dean Kingsley and Professor Hall were in Walton. March 12 Professor Hall visited Williamstown high school, and March 16 Reg. D. F. Arnett went to Richwood and Summersville.

There will be classes offered in all of the departments of the college. Fundamentals of speech and hearing, conservation education in the twelve-year program, and the attendance officer's workshop are the workshops being offered.

COSSACKS ARRIVE SATURDAY

Easter Dance Is March 28

Kappa Sig Formal To Feature Music By Groves' Band

By PATTY SUMPTER

Kappa Sigma Kappa fraternity will sponsor the annual Easter Dance Saturday, March 28, from 9-12 p. m. in the old college gym.

Jimmy Groves' five-piece orchestra will provide the music. Although this orchestra has not played on the Glenville campus before, its reputation is wide spread. The orchestra played at West Virginia University February 28. Mr. Groves is from Sistersville, and plays mostly in the Ohio valley between Parkersburg and Wheeling.

Decoration and advertising plans are underway. The decoration committee consists of Edward Tekieli, Harold Hissam, Charles Zakarian and Chairman, James Robinson.

Robert and Kent Duffield and Chairman Harold Butcher make up the advertising committee. Harold Hissam is over-all chairman of the dance, and Joe Craig is in charge of tickets.

President Lonnie Miller says he expects this to be one of the biggest dances of the year since it is at the end of the term and precedes the April 2 Easter vacation.

Tickets can be obtained from any Kappa Sigma Kappa member after March 14.

Program Series Will Be Offered

By Elaine Bell

Glenville State college has arranged a series of summer programs which should be of interest to many of the students on campus and to public school teachers in all parts of the state.

Beginning June 8 and ending June 26, the college, in cooperation with the West Virginia Society for Crippled Children and Adults, has arranged a course in The Fundamentals of Speech and Hearing. The credit will be three semester hours on the upper division level. An expert in speech and hearing difficulties in elementary and high school will be brought to the campus to provide leadership for this workshop. Much of the laboratory time will involve actual work with children who have speech or hearing deficiencies.

Total cost for three weeks at Glenville will be $43.07, including board, room, and tuition for the three hour course.

Hours for the workshop will be arranged in such a manner that the teacher desiring six hours of credit during the first six-weeks' session may take another course by staying, for the entire period.

Another program which will be of interest to many teachers has (Continued on Page 4)

Class Views WVU Production Mar. 13 Don Cossack Star

Members of the beginning acting class journeyed to Morgantown Friday, March 13, to view the West Virginia University Players production of Maxwell Anderson's "Winterset."

Students who made the trip were: William Boram, Marlene Brown, Charles Dodrill, Maxine Edwards, Virginia Harris, Wanda James, Ruth McLaughlin, Harry Owens, Bonel Poling, Barbara Sizemore, Patty Sumpter, and Prof. Marjorie Skelton.

DON COSSACK STAR

Gabriel Soloduhin

Dagger Dance Is Feature of Program Set for Auditorium

By SALLY WAGGONER

Gabriel Soloduhin, the intrepid Cossack whose hair-raising dagger dance is one of the most exciting interludes in the program of the Plattoff Don Cossack singers and dancers to be presented here on March 21, in the college auditorium, at 8 p. m. under the auspices of the Lyceum committee, is probably the most photographed Cossack in the world.

He has made dozens of motion pictures, and is summoned each season to Hollywood whenever there is a call for a colorful Cossack in a movie. A daring horseman, trained by his father and his grandfather, Soloduhin has also been featured by Ringling Brothers and Barnum and Bailey's Circus in riding spectacles, performing the famous Cossack trick of riding strapped to a horse's belly.

Soloduhin came to America a decade ago with the Plattoff Cossacks, and after their debut at San Francisco World's Fair was signed by Colonel Tim McCoy, the wild west motion picture star, and became a regular member of his company making summer tours with Colonel McCoy and the circus. During the war when Colonel McCoy rejoined the United States cavalry, Soloduhin returned to his band of fellow Cossacks for their overseas tours to entertain American troops, and he has been with them ever since.

In the current program of the Cossacks, Soloduhin is featured in the Legzinka, a barbaric Caucasian dance which begins on the sad lilt of a peasant song and concludes in a wild dance of jubilation. With the entire chorus providing the vocal background, Soloduhin performs the traditional dance with daggers which never fails to stir his audiences.

In 1918, the Cossacks established the Republic of the Don a state separate from Russia proper) which was destroyed a short time later by the Bolsheviks. But their historic spirit of independence caused them to choose exile rather than live under a tyranny.

When Communism started sweeping their native land, the Cossacks, aroused by the injustice of such an ideology, fought until they were driven out of the country of their birth. Thousands suffered, many were wounded, many died, and the survivors fled to the neighboring Slav countries where they found refuge.

GSC Students Attend Meet

Annual spring meeting of the State Association of College Students was held at W. Va. Wesleyan College at Buckhannon March 12, 13, and 14.

Representing Glenville State at the meeting were Robert Milligan, junior from Wellsburg, and Billy Radcliff, junior from Troy.

Appendicitis Joins Measles and Flu As Leading Illness

Glenville State college students have not only had influenza to fight, but also measles and appendicitis. John Rohrbough, Michael Popp, and Charles Mayo have had influenza; James Watson and Geraldine Groves had the three-day measles.

Geraldine Groves had an attack of appendicitis with her measles; Donna Lee Costlow was taken to a Clarksburg hospital for appendicitis.

Dr. Max Ward and Prof. John R. Wagner are the latest members of the faculty to be on the sick list long enough to be absent from any classes.

Whiting Delivers Principal Address At Honor Observance

By PATTY SUMPTER

Prof. Hunter Whiting, speaking at the honors banquet March 12 on "An Educated Man," said that "Education can be compared to trying to pump water in the old days when the pump wouldn't work. It was necessary to pour water in to prime the pump to get the water out. Education is very much like this. We have to pour in to get out what is really there."

Professor Whiting feels that the danger of the age lies in the "centrifugal way," the belief that nothing is certain. He said, "I believe when we say nothing is certain we will be like a pea on a revolving barrel head. Faster and faster it goes until it is thrown off and nothing is left."

"The desire to learn is what makes you an educated man," and "The mark of an educated man is satisfaction with little," said Professor Whiting.

As a bit of advice to the student of today, Professor Whiting said, "When you want to fill up your schedule with electives, add philosophy, mathematics, and literature. Those are the things that will teach you more about man and his laws." He added, "Education is not merely knowing things and their forces, but man and his ways."

Following the address by Professor Whiting, Dean Edwin P. Adkins presented the honored guests with certificates of award in recognition of meritorious scholastic attainment.

ANNOUNCEMENT MADE

Persons desiring dormitory rooms for the first summer term beginning June 1 should make $10 reservations at once to be assured of a room. Financial Secretary Lloyd M. Jones announced.

Summer Registration Set; Classes Will Begin June 2

Registration for the first summer term for 1953 will be held Monday, June 1. Classes meet 5 days a week for 6 weeks, with the first classes meeting Tuesday, June 2. The first term ends Friday, July 10.

Summer sessions at Glenville State college are designed to serve those interested in general college work, and current high school graduates desirous of beginning college work before the opening of the regular fall term. Dean Edwin P. Adkins said. Sessions are also designed for students already enrolled in college who are hastening the completion of their curriculum, and teachers who are in-service desiring to renew a certificate or complete requirements for a degree, he said.

Spring Has Sprung

Winter's icy finger for the most part having departed from the local scene for another year, the Glenville State student body again turns to thoughts of spring and its accompanying activities.

For many, the approaching season means a chance to participate in spring sports. The school offers intercollegiate competition in baseball, track, and golf, while tennis enthusiasts will find enjoyment in a game of tennis—not offered as a major sport this year. A varied intramural program will present competition in softball and horseshoes for both men and women. With such a variety of athletic offerings, a large majority of the student body will again be taking part in at least one phase of the program.

With April just around the corner, election of officers to lead school organizations next year is the next major item for campus discussion. Most important of these, of course, is voting for student council officers for the 1953-54 school year. As in previous years, a spirited campaign is expected, with hopes this year of a large turnout for voting that would be in keeping with the trend established during the past few years.

Seniors will be anticipating the spring season because it will bring either a joyful or sad end to four years of study and will climax with the annual commencement exercises in May. Leading up to the seniors' big day will be many dances and parties, sponsored by various school organizations.

And while some will look forward to sports, others to political activities, and still others to dances and parties, many will be content merely to enjoy the warmer weather and to appreciate the chance to turn from class work to thoughts of—other things. WAB.

Stalin's Death Will Not Help World---Students Say in Poll

By PATTY SUMPTER

Stalin's death will not improve world conditions, is the general opinion of Glenville State students according to a survey taken on the campus. The majority of those interviewed felt that conditions will now be worse. Some feel that war is now almost inevitable and that the new leader will be even more aggressive than Stalin.

Here are the results of the survey:

Rose Marie Rogers—I feel that Stalin has held back the people in Russia from making rash moves. His death will hinder the peace negotiations in Korea.

Maurice Buck—Malenkov will stay on top as a leader. It won't help conditions for years and he will follow the policies of Stalin. There will be no change; the situation won't get any better or any worse.

Kathryn Raines—I think conditions will definitely be worse, but time will tell.

Harold Hissam—I hate like h—to see old "Uncle Joe" pass to the great beyond. This new fellow Malenkov hasn't been out of Russia to my knowledge. I say Russia would be very foolish to declare war.

Inez Connolly—I think Stalin was the force for peace in Russia; and now that he is dead there will be more chance for war.

Lionie Miller—I think that Stalin's death will have practically the same effect, as far as the morale of the people is concerned, as did the death of Lenin. The results will be that another blood-thirsty person will rise to rule the people of Russia.

Charles H. Spencer—I am forced to side with the school of thought that believes no radical change will be initiated into the foreign policy of the United States because of the death of Stalin. I do believe that a stepped-up propaganda program aimed at the Russian people will be in the offing, however. Our state department was never in more capable hands. John Foster Dulles is a natural.

Novel Decorations, Music By Katz Are Feature of Hop

The annual Sock Hop, which is sponsored by Xi Beta Tau sorority, was held Saturday, March 14, in the old gymnasium, from 9 to 12 p. m. Girls asked the men of their dreams, bought the tickets, and danced in their stocking feet, shoes were checked at the door.

Students and faculty danced to the music of Sidney Katz and his orchestra. Mr. Katz is the director of the Weston high school band, the Weston junior high band, and the Weston beginner band.

The gymnasium was decorated in green and white not only the traditional colors for St. Patrick's Day, but also the colors of the sorority. The walls were covered with green and white crepe paper; the ceiling was covered with multi-colored balloons.

Under the basket green paper socks were hung with the name of a sorority member on each; her date signed his name below her in white ink.

At intermission President Faith Eisingman awarded prizes for the holdest socks, the most unique design, the loudest socks, the "darn-dest" socks, and to the couple who wore the socks that were best matched.

Chaperones for the Sock Hop were: Miss Marjorie Skeleton, Dr. and Mrs. Byron Turner, Nora Anne Kennedy, and Carl Gagliani.

Textile mills in India set a monthly production record of 422,000,000 yards of cloth last year.

Most popular length of ordinary lunch periods is three quarters of an hour, according to the Chicago Office Management Association.

First offices in which the typewriter was used extensively were those of the daily newspapers. Carbons were first used, it is said, in the Cincinnati office of a news syndicate.

HOLY ROLLER COURT

Judge Gagliani appointed the following committee to start working on the Fun Night program: Oliver Hunt, Dick Barrett, Ronald Butcher, and Maurice Buck. Fun Night, an annual affair will be held during late March or early April.

Discussion was held on the court assembly program to be held in May. Pledges were discussed and voted on.

KAPPA SIGMA KAPPA

George Cook, Robert Poole, William Starcher, and Harold Hissam have received fraternity pins. Kent Duffield announced that Casto's orchestra from Buckhannon has been engaged for the Easter Dance.

A pledge period for five pledges will begin the week of March 16. Coach "Chick" Zakarian predicts a win over the Sigma Tau in their game Friday night.

SIGMA TAU GAMMA

President William Waldeck announced that Al Hodges and Lee Woodburn have gone inactive from the local chapter, which leaves Alpha Xi Chapter with 25 active members.

The annual monthly party was discussed and because of other school activities the party has been dropped from the social calendar.

All members were reminded that election of officers for the forthcoming year will be held the first week in April.

Home Ec Sets Loan Fund

West Virginia Home Economic Association is in the process of establishing a loan fund for junior and senior girls who are in the field of home economics in West Virginia colleges.

To be eligible for this loan, girls must be home economic students of junior or senior standing in West Virginia colleges. They must have scholastic standing of "C" or above during their enrollment in college.

Students will be permitted to borrow in the amounts from $50 to $500. Interest on a loan will begin one calendar year after the student graduates and will be at the rate of three per cent per year. The amount borrowed with interest shall be paid back within three years after graduation.

Each borrower shall give a note co-signed by a mature, responsible person acceptable to the committee.

Anyone interested in obtaining a loan should give her name to Prof. Naomi Albanese so she can refer them to the committee.

White, Mick Wedding Is Announced Feb. 26

Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Mick, of Cox's Mills, are announcing the marriage of their daughter, Carol, to Glen L. White, of Camden-on-Gauley.

The wedding ceremony was performed Feb. 26, at the parsonage by the Rev. Ray Neilson, pastor of the First Baptist church of Morgantown.

Mrs. White attended Glenville State college where she was a member of the Xi Beta Tau sorority and was a reporter on the Mercury staff. She is now majoring in math at West Virginia University.

Mr. White graduated from Glenville State college in 1951. He is now working toward his master's degree in education at West Virginia University.

Date Bureau Pros and Cons Revealed in Mercury Survey

By Juanita Green

Spring has come and with it the usual array of dances—the Sock Hop, April Showers dance, Easter dance, and Holy Roller Court dance. In past years, because the ticket sales have not always been large enough to cover expenses, the organization sponsoring the dance has had to assess its individual members to cover the deficit.

A date bureau was formed for several of the dances last year and has been in discussion plans for several of the affairs this year. The date bureau committee asks the girls and boys in the dormitories if he or she has a date for the dance, and if he or she would like to go. The committee places these names on a list and proceeds to arrange something so that everyone may dance.

There has been discussions of "pros and cons" of the date bureau. We have asked the opinions of only a few students, but hope that it will be a guide for organizations sponsoring future dances. The question asked was "Should organizations have a date bureau when they sponsor a dance?"

Bernard Jolley: "No; it is nice for everyone to go, but here there just aren't enough party boys."

Betty Joyce Cooper: I sorta think they should. It might encourage more dating, for some are too bashful. Once they start they will find social life important and interesting.

Carl Gagliani: Yes, because of the financial risk involved if you don't have some way to get them there.

Faith Bingham and Patty Reynolds: No, unless it would be done differently.

Charles Mayo: It is all right. I have nothing against it.

Bertha Turner: It would be a good and convenient way for girls and boys to get acquainted, but it should not be limited to a certain sorority or fraternity.

Edsel Robinson: I see no reason why they shouldn't. They do help make a little money.

Ruby Cromwell: If it is necessary to have a date bureau to put over an event, it is okay; and if it is worked in such a way that no one feels he is forced into a situation.

Robert Cutlip: Yes, because some boys and girls are too shy to ask someone.

Genevieve Hinder: No, the girl or boy will be able to ask for himself if he or she is interested.

Committees were appointed to purchase food and to make sandwiches to sell at the men's dormitory at a meeting of the Kappa Chi Kappa sorority Monday night.

Those appointed were: to purchase food, Patty Hardman and Jane Ratliff; to make sandwiches, Sue Arnold, Alice Ann Griffith, Betty Simms, Patty Sumpter and Elaine Bell.

Members discussed plans for the April Showers dance which is sponsored by the sorority and will be held April 17.

Orders are being taken for pins by the president, Nancy Harris.

XI BETA TAU

It was announced at a meeting of the Xi Beta Tau that pins have been received. The pins, which were designed by the members of the sorority, are diamond shaped with pearls and rubies decorating them.

Reports were made by committees for the Sock Hop.

The financial report was given by Juanita Green, the sorority treasurer.

Wesleyan, Fairmont State Are Visitors Taking Part In Athletic Competition

By Maurice Buck

Fairmont State college, West Virginia Wesleyan, and host Glenville State college met Saturday, March 7 in a 3-way sports meet. No overall score was kept, only scores of individual games. Men's competition was held in basketball, volleyball, tennis, both doubles and singles.

Women's competition was held in badminton, shuffle board, and volleyball. No varsity athletes were eligible for the basketball competition. Glenville was represented by the MAA champions, O'Dell's Korpses.

In basketball, Fairmont downed Glenville 57-45. The Falcons, with their superior height, pulled away in the second half. Glenville came back to nip Wesleyan 45-42 in a thriller as the locals held a small lead throughout the game. Fairmont swept the basketball series by ripping Wesleyan 62-47. Again, too much height spelled defeat, this time for the Bobcats.

Glenville proved far too powerful in volleyball, downing Fairmont 15-1, 15-3. Wesleyan did not field a volleyball team. Jim Wilson, of Fairmont college, won the elimination tournament held in tennis singles. In the doubles elimination tournament, Joe Riddell and Bob Cutlip won for Glenville. Handball, both doubles and singles, tournaments, were won by Wesleyan.

In women's competition, Glenville downed Wesleyan's badminton team 2-0. Fairmont's 2-0 and Wesleyan again 2-0 to sweep this sport. In shuffle board, Glenville downed Wesleyan 2-0. Fairmont downed Wesleyan 2-0, and Glenville dumped Fairmont 2-0.

In volleyball Wesleyan clipped Fairmont 41-30, Glenville snowed Fairmont 39-16, and in the finals Wesleyan took a heart breaking 33-32 decision from the local lassies to prevent a Glenville distaff sweep.

Sport Talk

By MAURICE BUCK

This year's class tournament produced some of the best games ever played in the annual classic, according to several learned spectators. The freshman-senior men's tilt was the prime thriller, ending up 59-57, freshmen.

George Cook, unheralded frosh from Virginia, amassed 16 points to surprise many fans. Cook, never living up to expectations during the regular season, showed possibilities of developing into a scoring threat by the time another season rolls around.

Bobby Poole, sophomore star, proved nigh unstoppable for the second year in a row. However, little Dick Barrett did a good job of holding him down until fouling out early in the final period of the soph-junior game.

Distaff dribblers of the junior class put on the best comeback of the tourney. After trailing 18-11 at the half time, the junior women came roaring back to win 33-24, proving again that a team is never beaten till the final whistle blows.

Reynard Gives Varied Program

Grant Reynard's visit last week to the Glenville college campus was a very satisfactory one. His wit and humor made his lectures enjoyable even to those who were not particularly interested in art.

Mr. Reynard was first introduced to the Glenville student body in assembly on Thursday, March 12, when he discussed slides of his painting under the subject "Painting My Way Across the United States." Widespread parts of the country were included in his interpretations.

A the Lyceum program on Thursday evening, Mr. Reynard called his lecture "Enjoyment of Art." He used two projectors and flashed two paintings on the screen simultaneously, and usually one old and one new. He compared and contrasted these and pictures which varied in point of time from cave painting to the extreme modernists.

On Friday, March 13, Mr. Reynard worked informally in Louis Bennett Lounge where a display of his own water colors, etchings and lithographs had been arranged. During the morning Mr. Reynard painted a scene of the Little Kanawha River looking from the far end of the new bridge toward the old bridge.

During the afternoon he continued painting, demonstrating and answering questions for students.

Freshmen Sweep Annual Class Cage Tournament

Bill Hanlin hooks one in from the side for the Seniors as Freshmen Eddie Tekell and Bob Duffield and official Ronald Butcher look on. Goal was good but the upperclassmen dropped a close 59-57 decision to the Frosh in Tuesday night's opening play of the annual class tourney.

Sigma Tau Vs. Kappa Sig Basketball Game Will Be Feature of ADE Mix March 20

Alpha Delta Epsilon will sponsor a student mix in the old gym from 7:30 to 10 March 20.

Kappa Sigma Kappa and Sigma Tau Gamma fraternities are planning to entertain those present by participating in a basketball game at 7:30. Sigma Tau coach Clarence Maze said "Since the Kappa Sigs aren't using varsity players, the teams look pretty well matched." Bill Snider will serve as assistant coach to the Sigma Tau.

Charles Zakarian will be coaching the Kappa Sigma Kappa cage men.

Faculty chaperones for the mix will be Professor Genevieve Butcher and Professor Stanley Hall. Student chaperones will be Ruby Ann Cromwell and Billy Radcliff.

Committees for the mix are refreshments: Billy Radcliff, Patty Sumpter, Charles Ray and Alice Anne Griffith. Publicity: Vanda Bird, Freda Peters, and Clarence Maze. Clean up: Bernard Jolly and Jack Tennant. Recreation: Mary Helen Somerville, Betty Sue Sims, and Elaine Bell.

Students are urged to stay on campus this weekend because of the mix and the Don Cossack Chor-us.

Freshman class reigns supreme as basketball champions of Glenville State college for 1953 as both their men and women teams came through with victories in the finals of the Class Tournament. Friday evening at the Old Gym the men staged a final period rally to stop the Sophomores, 56-59, while their female counterparts edged the Junior girls, 26-21.

"Dynamite" Jack Tennant staged a brilliant third period scoring performance that bolted the favored Sophomore quintet into a 16-15 lead at the first rest stop. Tennant, the varsity's top point-producer, dropped in 9 first period points in an effort to offset the loss suffered by the Sophomores when their star center, Bob Poole failed to appear for the game.

The Freshman "Redjackets" caught fire in the second session, and with Danny Hall leading the way with 7 points, the first-year men held a 29-28 half-time margin.

Unsung John Lazear assumed the scoring chores in the third period and scored 9 points to aid the Redjackets as they widened the gap to 48-44 as the final period began. With George Cook and Gene Gay doing the defending honors, Tennant was held to one field goal during the second and

Corrective Therapy Class Views Morris Memorial Hospital for Children March 4

Prof. Clarissa Williams, Mrs. Bryon Turner, and members of the corrective therapy class visited the Morris Memorial hospital for crippled children, March 4, at Milton.

The tour of the hospital started by the group's going through the surgery room, library, cast room, where the students saw a cast being removed. Next the isolation ward was visited and the rocking bed was demonstrated. The rocking bed is for polio patients after they have been removed from the iron lung. They were then taken to the room where two patients were in the iron lungs.

The group visited the hydrotherapy ward. Here there are two pools; one is used for exercises and the other one is used for recreational swimming by the staff and patients who can swim. In this ward they also saw a patient being treated in the Hubbard tank. Next they were taken to the physio-therapy ward where the therapists showed various exercises that were given to reeducate the muscles of polio and cerebral palsy patients. They explained how much progress had been made and how long it took for this progression. The group also saw how braces and other apparatus are used to help the children learn to walk.

Following this they were taken to the occupational-therapy ward where they saw patients learning various activities such as typing, weaving, painting, and carving.

The last part of the visit was spent by the students' visiting with the children individually in the wards. The students were greatly impressed by the happiness of the children and the interest and co-operation shown them by the hospital personnel.

Students who made the trip were: Marjorie Burke, Ronald Butcher, Nancy Harris, Bernard Jolly, Paul Lanham, Donald Meriman, Leona Satterfield, Richard Satterfield, Sally Waggoner, and Charles Zakarian.

been arranged in the area of conservation education. Two courses in conservation for the six-weeks period will be offered: Agriculture 331, Conservation of Natural Resources, 3 hours, which will deal with the broad aspects of conservation in the United States, and Biology 452, Principles of Forestry, 3 hours, which considers a more specialized aspect of conservation.

A special workshop in conservation education will begin on June 8 and will end on June 26. The workshop (Agriculture 303-W, Conservation Education in the Twelve-Year Program, 3 hours) will place emphasis on soil, water, and wildlife conservation as it applies to West Virginia conditions. Professors Warden Lane, Delmar K. Somerville, and Eddie C. Kennedy will provide the leadership in the workshop and many community agencies will assist.

During August a one-week workshop in Attendance and Public Relations Problems will be offered by the college in cooperation with the State Department of Education.

It's easy to account for the cents, but what becomes of the dollars?

Milk Supply Gained From Farm's 13 Cows

Thirteen cows on the farm produce the milk supply for the college. Prof. Warden Lane announces. These thirteen produced 8,380 pounds of milk for the year ending January 1, 1953. This means that each cow produced approximately 1,000 gallons of milk for the year. This compares to 550 gallons per cow, which is the state's average.

If the milk were produced into butter there would be approximately 35,196 pounds.

One cow on the farm has produced 5,760 pounds of milk for a 3-month period, according to Professor Lane. This is an average of 8 gallons of milk per day. It is expected that this cow will produce from 13,000 to 14,000 pounds of milk for the 305 days of lactation.

FRESHMEN SWEEP

third periods, and this proved instrumental in the Redjackets drive to overhaul the Sophomores.

Tennant led a Sophomore outburst in the final period that vaulted the losers into a 53-53 deadlock at the five minute mark, but baskets by Tekiel and Huff started a Redjacket drive that never ended and the Frosh won going away.

Tennant led all scorers with 18 points and Oliver Hunt had 15 points, the only sophomores to hit double figures.

The Freshman scoring was more evenly distributed with six men doing the scoring, and four of them were in double figures. Danny Hall led with 17, followed by Bud Huff with 13, Eddie Tekieli and John Lazear both had 12, George Cook had 8, and Bill Powell scored 4 points.

The Freshmen women, trailing for three periods, exploded in the last period to outscore the Juniors, 8-2, and go on to win, 26-21.

Captain Nancy Harris, working the pivot, led the underdog Juniors to a 10-7 first period bulge, that left the Freshman "Bluejackets" a very disorganized group.

Clendenin and Rastle regrouped their forces in the second session and the Bluejackets rallied to knot the count at half-time, 14-14.

The Juniors went ahead again in the third period by outscoring the Frosh, 5-4, to hold a 19-18 margin at the period stop.

Some fine defensive work by Patty Hardman and Jane Ratliff held the Juniors to 2 points in the last period as Mary Lou Clendenin, Jackie Rastle, and "Do-Do" Yoak combined for 8 points and victory for the freshmen.

The Freshman class also dominated individual honors as Danny Hall and Jackie Rastle were awarded trophies as the tourney's outstanding performers.

The men's all-tournament team was made up of Ed Donnellan, Danny Hall, and George Cook from the Freshman, Bob Poole and Jack Tennant of the Sophomores, Dick Barrett and Hodge Hissam from the Juniors, and Senior Carlton Gandee.

The Frosh also garnered three places on the women's all-tournament squad with Jackie Rastle, Mary Lou Clendenin, and Jane Ratliff all gaining berths to the coveted team. Nancy Harris, Sally Waggoner, Marj Hardman Burke, Doris Spicer, and Mary Helen Summerville were also named.
