Milligan, Lanham, Gregory Are Nominated

Cheerleaders End Duties

State Science Prexy Hanlin Sets Academy Meet April 24

By Sally Waggoner

Billy Dean Hanlin, president of the State Collegiate Academy of Science, has announced that this year's state meeting will be held at Morris Harvey college, April 24. This meeting will consist of presentation of papers, discussion of new constitution, and banquet.

Bill Hanlin and John Loyd, secretary of the state Collegiate Academy of Science, have made several trips to state colleges this year. They organized new chapters at Bluefield State college, Salem college, Shepherd State college, and reorganized the chapter at Alderson-Broadbent.

They visited chapters at Morris Harvey, West Virginia University and Alderson-Broadbent. They also rewrote and ratified the constitution for the State Collegiate Academy of Science.

Glenville State college students who plan to enter papers into this meeting and their topics are: John Loyd, "Nutritional problems in raising broilers," James Hardman and Robert A. Hodges, "Aureomycin and vitamin B2 in swine nutrition," William Smith, "Factors influencing seed germination and seedling growth," John P. Arnold and Linger Arnold, "Physical properties of Krellum treated Soil," Dorothy Terrill, "Growth habits of the slime mold," John P. Arnold, "The ballistics pendulum."

Budget Slash Cuts Bulletin

Severe slashing of travel and printing funds for all state colleges as announced in the budget bill from the West Virginia legislative budget will probably mean that printing of a Glenville State bulletin for the next two-year period will be impossible, according to President Harry B. Hefflin.

Expenses for both travel and printing have been rigidly limited for all West Virginia colleges, with the result that some reducing of the local budget will be necessary. President Hefflin said, "As the printing budget now stands, I don't see how we can possibly arrange to print a college catalog for the next biennium."

President Hefflin reports that the Glenville State allotment for printing amounts to approximately one-half the amount that it would take to publish a bulletin.

Voting For Student Council Officers Set For Next Week

Plans for Regional FTA Meet Are Made

Plans for the regional F. T. A. meeting, which will be held on the Glenville State campus April 17, were made by a group of high school F. T. A. members and their sponsors March 20 on campus. Seventy-five members of the high school F. T. A. are expected to attend the meeting in April. A tentative program was planned.

Those attending the meeting were: Glenville F. T. A. members, Norene Westfall, secretary; Inez Connely, program chairman; Wagona Hall, president; Harry Owens and Eunice Hatfield. Ripley; Zena Cremeans, sponsor; Ima Jean Walker, Joyce Harper and Winnie Walkers. Calhoun; Roy Stone, sponsor; Robert Giles and Ramona Starcher.

Robert Milligan, Paul Lanham, and Selbert Gregory won nominations for the presidency of the Glenville State student council last week following announcement of the nominating committee and the annual student body nominating assembly.

Also receiving nominations were: vice-president, Inez Connolly, Marvin Stewart, Charles Dorrill, and Maurice Buck; secretary, Alice Anna Griffith, Bill Waldeck, and James Robinson; treasurer, Robert Cutlip, Jean Fore, and Nancy Harris; and sergeant-at-arms, Richard Hoover, Bill Radcliff, and John Lazear.

Milligan, a junior chemistry major from Wellsburg, has served two previous years on the student council, one as sophomore class president and this year as sergeant-at-arms. He was recently elected treasurer of the state student council federation at their annual spring meeting held at Wesleyan college. Milligan is treasurer of Sigma Tau Gamma fraternity, is a member of the college band, and the Science Club.

Lanham, a junior physical education major, from Ripley, is a member of Kappa Sigma Kappa fraternity, the G-Club, and the Glenville State football and baseball teams.

Gregory, a junior from Webster Springs majoring in mathematics, is a member of the Student Christian Association and the Science Club.

Barring future withdrawals and in view of the fact that the nominations are now closed, the slate to be voted on will be as follows:

President:

Paul Lanham
Selbert Gregory
Robert Milligan

Vice-President:

Maurice Buck
Inez Connolly
Charles Dorrill
Marvin Stewart

Secretary:

James Robinson
Alice Anne Griffith
Bill Waldeck

Treasurer:

Robert Cutlip
Jean Fore
Nancy Harris

Sergeant-at-Arms:

Richard Hoover
John Lazear
Bill Radcliff

This year's campaign promises to be most vigorous with some active campaigning and political horse trading among the organizations on campus.

College Represented At Speech Festival

Representatives from West Virginia University, Concord, Marshall, Fairmont, and Potomac State, were on the Glenville State campus for the West Virginia Intercollegiate Speech Festival March 20 and 21.

Winners of the festival were: Oratory: first place, West Virginia University; second, Concord; third, Marshall. Extemporaneous speaking: first, West Virginia University; second, Concord; third, Marshall. Debate: first, West Virginia University; second, a three way tie between Fairmont, Concord and Marshall; third, Glenville.

REGULATION ANNOUNCED

Facilities of the Health and Physical Education Building are not to be used on Sunday. Students are asked to please abide by this regulation.

'Kanawhachen' Goes To Press For First Time in Ten Years

Co-Editors Dorothy Terrill and Joe Riddell, and Yearbook Coordinator Frank Fullinier announce that for the first time since 1942 the Glenville State college yearbook, the "Kanawhachen" has been assembled and sent to the printers, The American Yearbook Co. of Owatonna, Minnesota. Barring unforeseen difficulties, this year's edition should be returned and ready for distribution about May 20.

The editors have made an effort to include in the book every phase of the year's activities, including a complete coverage of sports, organizations, lyceum, dramatics, faculty, seniors, honors, and many informal snapshots donated by students.

The book is to be produced from the best materials available and will contain 100 pages. The contents will be bound in a padded, embossed, plastic binding with an original cover design by Miss Julia Nutter of the art department. The pages of the book are to be made from enamel finished paper, recommended as the best possible paper on which to reproduce photographs.

Members of the staff wish to thank all of the advertisers and subscribers who have made this production possible. Special recognition is extended by the editors to faculty advisors Stanley Hall and Denver F. Arnett, and school photographer Jack Cawthon, without whose help the yearbook could not have been successfully completed.

Enrollment for Band Festival Reaches 9

Glenville State college will be host to several state bands at the Regional Festival on April 18. To date nine bands have indicated that they would enter the competition here.

The bands are: Gilmer county, Sutton, Calhoun county, Spencer high school, Spencer elementary, Walton, Cowen, Wirt county, and Clay.

James A. Dunlop, director of bands at Pennsylvania State college, and William Brophy, assistant director at the University of Ohio, will be two of the three judges. The third judge will be announced at a later date.

'Julius Caesar' Is Viewed By Glenville Delegation

Prof. Hunter Whiting, Prof. Espy Miller, and students of their English classes attended a movie "Julius Caesar" at Sand Fork high school 7:30 p. m., March 25.

This was not a public showing of the film. Special and public schools were invited to attend by Sand Fork high school.

Prof. John Wagner and Geology Class Take Field Trip for Study of Rock Formations

By Sally Waggoner.

Prof. John R. Wagner took his geology class on a field trip March 21, into the eastern part of West Virginia. The class was primarily interested in rock formations; however, a number of other geological principles were observed on this extensive trip.

Tygart Valley dam near Grafton was the first stopping place after leaving Glenville at 5 o'clock that morning. On the way to Black Water falls, the group visited a sandstone quarry where they collected several specimens of sedimentary rock for their geology display.

The scenic falls of the Black-water River, besides giving aesthetic satisfaction, gave ample evidence of the slow erosion process which

Finer Things of Life

Rumblings up north from West Virginia University's daily, The Athenaeum, seem to indicate that poor attendance at assemblies and Lyceum programs, also evidenced on the local scene, is not restricted to the Glenville campus.

Editorial moaning in a recent Athenaeum reveals that at an appearance of Miss Thelma Burdick, of the Church of All Nations of New York City, only 35 persons turned out at WVU's Reynolds hall auditorium to hear her address. And since the U's enrollment now is 4,687, the attendance at that particular convocation was rather light.

The writer goes on to say, "Of course, the University Players, who do near-professional work, have box-office blues and they charge only a nominal fee. If it weren't for townspeople and faculty, their audiences wouldn't be worth sneezing at—as it is, the actors must find it rather frustrating to give their remarkable performances to half-filled houses.

Just what seems to be the matter? We refuse to believe that University students haven't the intelligence to appreciate the so-called "finer things of life."

Well, to the mournful University writer, we can offer this one bit of consolation: student convocation attendance problems at Glenville are just as bad as those at Morgantown.

Last week when the world famous Don Cossack chorus and dancers appeared on the Glenville State campus as the fifth in a series of six Lyceum presentations, a total of just 180 students availed themselves of the opportunity to view the performance. While there was a large crowd of townspeople and out-of-town visitors present, the college students stayed away to the tune of 50 per cent of the total school enrollment.

Weekly assembly programs do not even meet with the meager success that the Cossacks had. Rarely do 100 students turn out for the chapel programs, even though they are held on Thursday mornings with no classes meeting and the student union closed at that hour.

Many other West Virginia colleges report similar poor turnouts to entertainment programs equally as inviting as that offered by Glenville State and WVU. We include ourselves in the ranks of college editors who continue to bemoan the sad fact, but remain in the dark as to a solution.—WAB.

Speakers Appear In Conjunction With Prof. Stanley Hall's Government Finance Class

By JUANITA GREEN

To provide a greater public understanding of the intricate tax structure of state, county, and city government, Prof. Stanley Hall has been teaching Economics 312 from 6 to 8 p. m. on Wednesday nights for two hours credit.

The class has been designed primarily for adult education purposes; however, it is open to upper division students. Adults throughout this area have been invited to attend the sessions, which have been emphasizing government financing for the average citizen, rather than a technical study for officials.

Frank Wiseman, city manager of Clarksburg, spoke to the class on "Financing municipal government" March 25.

Future speakers are:

On April 1, Mr. Joseph Soto, assistant tax commissioner from Charleston, has chosen "The importance and problems of taxation as related to the office of the tax commissioner" as his subject for the evening.

Milton Koslow, chief clerk in the auditor's office from Charleston, will speak on "The importance of auditor's office within the taxation framework" on April 8. Mr. Koslow will also deal with the problems encountered in collecting and disbursing local taxes.

On April 15, Mr. D. L. Galner, the budget director from Charleston, will speak on the state budget.

Mr. Alva H. Anderson, supervisor of county school budgets from Charleston, will speak on state aid to public schools on April 29.

Prof. Lane's Class Visits Poultry Farm on March 23

Prof. Warden Lane's poultry class, visited Richard Whiting's poultry farm, Monday March 23. The students visited a broiler house in which Mr. Whiting has 3500 broilers housed. Mr. Whiting is in the process of constructing a 40 by 200 foot broiler house. This house will be filled with 11,500 baby chicks on April 20. This will be one of the largest broiler houses in central West Virginia.

HOLY ROLLER COURT

Plans are near completion for the annual Fun Night that will be held Tuesday, April 7. The court voted to order jackets. An order was placed, and delivery is expected about the first of May.

Decorations committee members appointed to start work on the Court dance are Dick Barrett, Raymond Oxler, Maurice Buck and Dick Satterfield. Judge Carl Galgani is in charge of contacting a band.

KAPPA SIGMA KAPPA

Pledges Gail Boggs, Edward Donnellan, Albert Wash and Paul Caltrider were given instructions for the pledge period before Easter vacation.

President Miller announced that the Easter dance was a success and a good time was had by all. George Cook ordered a fraternity pin.

SIGMA TAU GAMMA

Roland Coberly, Thomas Reed, Elton Woofert, John Cutlip, Dick Sturm, Virgil Greenleaf, Leonard Tyree, Dave Umstead, Jim Smith and Perry Merritt have been formally initiated into the fraternity.

The annual outing will be held May 16 at Lake Riley.

A party will be held April 24 at the Glenville recreation center. Concessions for the band festival will be handled by Sigma Tau Gamma.

Sorority Simmerings

By Elaine Bell

KAPPA CHI KAPPA

President Nancy Harris announced that the Kappa Chi Kappa sorority would help the Kappa Sigs decorate for their Easter dance held Friday night. Members voted to donate one dollar to the Ohnimgohows.

Committees for the April Showers dance which will be held April 17 were announced. Committees are: Tickets, Loretta Poling, advertising, Peggy Shores, Joanne Metz, Helen Brammer and Dorothy Brannon; supplies, Alice Ann Griffith, Patty Hardman and Susan Arnold.

XI BETA TAU

Plans for an assembly program which will be given by the Xi Beta Tau sorority April 16 were discussed. Treasurer, Juanita Green read a report of the finances. Members voted to donate one dollar to the Ohnimgohows. Green jackets with the sorority crest on them were ordered by several members.

has made this region of Tucker county into an area of dissected plateaus and hanging valleys.

In the limestone region of Pendleton county the abrupt and massive protrusion of Seneca Rock was observed as an example of phenomenal upheaval and subsequent erosion.

A rare occurrence of vertical rock layering was observed and photographed along route 33 near Riverton; Professor Wagner pointed this out as an important deviation from the common anticline, syncline, and horizontal stratifications. By special permission, the class viewed the unusual stalactite and stalagmite formations of Seneca caverns.

The nine-mile dirt road ascension of Spruce Knob gave climatic interest and elevation to the last phase of the trip. Near the top of the 4860 feet peak, a flock of wild turkey was seen, and below in the next valley several members of the class saw their first beaver dam.

Those students who made the trip were: Victor Gilkeon, Sebert

'Man From Mars' Is Featured In Third Guessing Contest

Hooded creature pictured is not a man from Mars or a hybrid specimen from the college farm, but a Glenville State college student, posing as the subject of the third in a series of Chesterfield guessing contests, campus agent Carl P. Galgani announced.

Rules for the contest require that contestants submit their guess on the back of a Chesterfield wrapper to Carl Galgani. First person to correctly guess the identity of the hooded figure will be awarded a carton of Chesterfields.

In identifying the subject of his latest contest Galgani replied, "He is an upperclassman, making a flying saucer."

Dr. Kennedy Reports Plans And Committees for Meeting

Dr. Eddie Kennedy gave a report on the plans for the P. T. A. high school regional conference at a meeting of the P. T. A. March 19. After the report was given, a discussion was held concerning the meeting.

A program committee was named. Members of the committee are: James Scott, Chairman; Maxine Edwards, and Emma Lou Stewart.

'Stop Tennant' Offenses Are Only Gift from WVIC Coaches

By Jim Robinson

The popular "all" teams almost always create quite a controversy; the arm-chair quarterbacks invariably have their suggestions to make after the selections are made known. It is with this thought in mind that we were at first reluctant to comment on the 1952-53 all-conference basketball team.

There will be some that will merely write this off as another example of the home school crying because the local hero didn't quite make the grade. After studying this from every possible angle, however, we feel quite sure we have a case, or rather, the WVIC coaches have a "case".

The local hero in question is Glenville's Jack Tennant. Tennant was the third-highest scorer in the conference during the past season and for outdistanced his two predecessor Solomon and Greynolds, in field goal percentage. Jack's seasonal total of 516 points enabled him to surpass the two-year total set by Bob Hardman, the Pioneers all-time scoring champion. Tennant's point total for his first two seasons at Glenville is a very fancy 931 points, a mighty total by any man's standards.

We are ready to concede the few shortcomings of the Pioneer sharpshooter. He is a small man as they measure basketball players these days, and he isn't the most capable ball-handler in the world, either; but there is an adage we just made up that goes, "A tall rebounder is great, a good floor man is a very handy item, but somebody has to put the ball in that basket", and Tennant's near 24-point game average for the recent campaign clearly attests the fact that he has some idea of where the basket is.

Playing on a losing (won 8, lost 14) club is, in some quarters, thought to have been Tennant's greatest drawback. We can't possibly imagine a better reason for claiming him as the great player he is. With the G-Men fielding a sub-par quintet this season, opposing coaches realized, (but not when it came voting time), that Tennant was the man they had to stop in order to win. This respect resulted in defenses that were made especially for Jack. Two, and even three-man cordons were often assigned the task of covering the Fairview youngster, but they never did. Tennant scored 20 or more points in 12 of the 22 games he played, hit for 30 or better in four others, and only once did he fall below double figures.

Yet, despite all this, Tennant did not receive a single vote from WVIC coaches. West Liberty failed to remember Jack although he countered 39 and 25 points in the two engagements against the Hilltoppers, while the West Liberty all stater, Emil Rubich was getting just 46 points. Davis & Elkins looked the other way, forgetting Jack's 30 and 28 point totals against the Solons. Tennant outscored Morris series, but his name was not on the Eagle ballot. Tennant Harvey's Dave Rosen, 56 to 46, during the home-and-home averaged 27 points against Fairmont, Salem, and Concord. It must have been the coach's night off.

Being conservative, we believe Tennant, a second team selection in 1952, rated at least a second team berth this year. We would have been greatly surprised if he had received only honorable mention. Not receiving a vote is beyond all understanding.

We have reason to believe that Tennant and the Pioneers will make a more lasting impression when next season rolls around.

Court Fun Night Scheduled For Old Gymnasium April 7

By MAURICE BUCK

Fun Night, an annual event, will be presented April 7 by the Holy Roller Court in the old gym. The feature attractions of this night are: The Court-Kappa Sigma Kappa, and The Kappa Chi Kappa—Xi Beta Tau basketball games. Last year the Court edged the Kappa Sigs 68-66, and the Kappa Chi's nipped the Xi Betas 30-28. This year's contest promise to be equally thrilling.

Representing the Court will be Dick Barrett, Paul Hunt, Oliver Hunt, Bill Lilly, Don Merriman, Ervin Hull, Joe Romano, and Jim Gainer. The Kappa Sigs can call upon a host of talent to gain revenge for last year's loss. Dan Hall, George Cook, Jack Tennant, Bob Poole, Ed Tekieli, Joe Riddel, Bill Hanlin, Frank Vincent, Mike Popp, Ron Godfrey and Jim Robinson are those from which the Kappa Sig team will come.

In the sorority game the Xi

Betas will be attempting to even their series with the Kappa Chis. Expected to play with the Xi Betas are Mary Lou Clendenin, Sally Waggoner, Mildie Hughes, Mary Helen Somerville, Betty Cooper, Marlene Brown, and Juanita Green.

For the Kappa Chi Kappas, trying to win number two, will be Nancy Harris, Marjorie Burke, Patty Hardman, Betty Sims, Jane Ratliff, Alice Ann Griffith, and Clair Bowles. In addition to these top-notch games there will be several novelty acts presented as only the Courtsters can present them.

Bowles Takes WAA Top Spot

Claire Bowles' team broke the two-way tie for first place in the W. A. A. basketball tournament Tuesday night, March 24, when they trounced Doris Spicer's team 25-8.

Bowles' team took the lead in the first quarter by scoring 12 points, then continued to rack up the score until they were leading by a 21-2 margin at half time. Spicer's team scored 3 field goals in the fourth period to make them a total of 8 points for the game.

Claire set the scoring pace for her team by sinking 21 points, while Jackie Rastle added 14 more.

In the only other game played, Joan Dotson's team won over Jean Reeder's 27-20. Dotson's team led a half time by a score of 16-6; however, Reeder's team out scored them in the third quarter by getting 4 field goals to Dotson's 2.

Patty Hardman was high scorer for the winners with 13 points followed by Marge Burke and Joan Dotson with 10 and 4. Sally Waggoner sank 10 points for Reeder's team. Leona Satterfield was second high with 6.

Wanda James' team won a game from Ester Freeman by a forfeit.

O'Dell and Craig Grab Wins To Open MAA Cage Tourney

Sport Talk

By MAURICE BUCK

"Why didn't Jack Tennant make All-State?" This was the cry heard all over the town and campus of GSC last Sunday. We were sure we gave people the correct answer when we said "I don't know." To mark this off as an oversight does not seem possible.

For Morris Harvey to forget that Tennant outscored Dave Rosen 56-46 in two games, for West Liberty to forget he outscored Rubich 64-45, Sanzari of D & E 58-31, and for Salem to forget he outpointed their all-state Fudala 61-18 in two contests, is not a sensible answer.

In addition to this Tennant averaged 27 points a tilt against Fairmont and Concord. No, there must be some other reason than that they "forgot." It would be far from our practice to berate any member of the mythical team, but you could not help noticing the record of one player in particular. This choice, a junior, playing forward, has scored 414 in 3 years. Jack has 976 in two years. Also, in passing, Dick Barrett, another unsung pioneer, has 668 points in three years.

Jack outscored four of the eight choices on first string, and all those on second team and honorable mention. In concluding our opinion is this, Glenville and Jack Tennant were done an injustice. Besides Jack, the Pioneers had at least two men worthy of no less than honorable mention.

Our advice to the Pioneers, is this. Next season, General Hershey permitting, let's "remind" these coaches of their "oversight."

One other word. Next Tuesday night GSC students and townspeople have a chance to see a great continuation show in the Holy Roller Court Fun Night. The two basketball games alone would cost at least 75 cents elsewhere. However, the Court has decided to put on this show for a charge of only 15 cents.

Glenville Students Attend M-H Play Day

Several Glenville students attended a play day at Morris Harvey college from 9 to 4 o'clock last Saturday. The students participated in such sports as volleyball, basketball, square and round dancing, ping pong, archery, horse-shoe, cage ball, and aerial darts. Lunch was served in the college cafeteria.

Those attending the play day were Jack Tennant, Frank Vin-

O'Dell's Corpses and Craig's Steamrollers notched two victories apiece this week in the opening round of the MAA basketball Tournament. In the first game O'Dell's lads buried Crum's club 40-26. The Korpses led 22-5 at the half and won easily. Oliver Hunt led all scorers with 19 points while Crum was high for the losers with 10.

Craig's team pulled a minor upset by noosing Robinson's Rams in an overtime 47-52. The contest was close and rough from the first period. Craig led at the quarter 5-4, Robinson at the half 12-11, and Robinson's at the 3rd period 25-24.

Then, with the Rams leading 39-37 with five seconds remaining, Bill Powell took a rebound, dribbled the length of the floor, and layed in the tying bucket at the gun. Robinson's team, seeming disorganized after this, could not get going in the overtime. Powell paced the victors with 20 points and Brenton McCurg had 18 for the losers.

O'Dell's team won their second game of the tournament as they edged Butcher's club 50-47. Butcher's quintet led 19-12 at the period, 25-24 at halftime, and 35-34 going into the final canto. In the last period the Korpses scored 16 points while the Lovers could garner only 12. Jim Gainer headed all point makers with 18 scores for the losers.

In the final contest Craig's club took a dull 29-25 victory from McCurg's Wildcats. Craig's team failed to approach their performance of the night before as they were forced to come from behind to win. Powell again led the winners with 9 points while Denvin McClung paced his club with 9.

Students Discover 'Weighty' Problem In Pig Experiment

By John Cutlip

Are you undernourished? Would you like to know how to gain weight?

These and many other questions may be answered by two sophomore boys who are conducting an experiment along these lines. The only catch to the problem is that the experiment is being conducted in connection with the member of the animal kingdom known as swine instead of the Homo sapiens.

Three Hampshire pigs are the subjects of the two "master minded" scientists. James Hardman, animal husbandry, and Robert "Al" Hodges, biology major, are conducting the experiment under the supervision of Dr. Max Ward and Prof. Warden Lane. The "feeding experiment" is concerned with the use of controlled amounts of "aurofac" which is a product consisting of crude Aureomycin and Vitamin B-12. The purpose is to determine what value the Aurofac has as a growth factor.

At the start of the experiment in January the pigs weighed approximately the same at an average of 50 pounds. Pig No. 1 is getting the regular amount plus an ounce of Aurofac per 25 pounds of feed. Pig No. 3 is getting regular feed plus two ounces of Aurofac per 25 pounds of feed.

At the end of sixty days, March 7, the respective weights of the pigs were: No. 1—95 pounds, No. 2—110 pounds, and No. 3—131 pounds.

"Scientists" Hardman and Hodges plan to reveal the results of their experiment at the Collegiate Academy of Science meeting which will be held April 23-24 at Morris Harvey college.

The Aurofac was supplied by the Lederle Laboratories Division of American Cyanamid company. Company officials requested a detailed report on the results of the experiment.

Pioneer Diamond Aspirants Take to Field In Preparation for Opener with Fairmont

Glenville State's diamond aspirants worked outside last week for the first time. As yet it is too early to make any predictions about the team that will take the field at Fairmont April 11.

Coach Carlos Ratliff said that several more candidates are expected to report to their practice teaching. The "paper" line-up looks like this: Hull 1b, Tekiel 2b, Merriman ss, Hall 3b, Lanham lf, Barrett cf, Butcher rf, Cook c, and Poole p.

Men expected to report this week include Joe Riddel, Bill Lilly, and Don Weaver. Joe Floyd, last year's catcher, is expected to report also. Glenville will open their home season April 23 against Wesleyan before a Senior Day crowd.

Six Golf Matches Are Set For Glenville Linksmen

Glenville State's golf team will play at least six matches this year, with other dates still pending. Glenville's linksmen will meet Salend, Fairmont, and Morris Harvey, with one or two other matches not complete yet.

Because of lack of funds in the athletic treasury, GSC will not field intercollegiate track and tennis teams this year.

Olsen is ADE Guest Speaker

Prof. Bertha Olsen spoke to the Alpha Delta Epsilon business fraternity at 7:15 p. m. March 16 following the regular business meeting.

This is one of a series of speeches scheduled by the fraternity to correlate the business department with other departments of the college.

Miss Olsen feels that "Musicians as a class need the advice of businessmen and businessmen need the relaxation that the musicians offer."

Rhythm, accuracy, and speed are essential in business as they are in music, says Miss Olsen.

Following the address by Miss Olsen, refreshments were served to those present. These were: Professor Olsen, Prof. Marvin Newman, Frank Fultineer, Jean Fore, Mary Helen Somerville, Patty Sumpter, Elaine Bell, Bernard Jolley, Donald Merriman.

Freda Peters, Willadean Clarkson, Alice Ann Griffith, Patty Hardman, Carl Galsani, Ruby Ann Cromwell, Doris Spicer, Betty Sue Sims, Billy Radcliff, Peggy Lynn Shores and Prof. Genevieve Butcher.
