Summer Session Instructors Named; Dr. P. Gainer Returns

Dr. Patrick W. Gainer, English professor of West Virginia University, will be the visiting instructor of English during the summer session of Glenville State College. Dr. Gainer, formerly a student of Glenville State College, has taught previous summer sessions here.

Dr. Gainer will again conduct the traditional Folk Festival. The University faculty member has spoken on and sung ballads in almost every state city. Before joining the United Service organization in 1943 as the director of training, he was an assistant professor at St. Louis university. He spent all of 1945 in South America assisting with community organization for recreation.

Dr. Gainer holds an A.B. and M.A. in English from West Virginia University, and a Ph. D. from St. Louis university.

Miller To Teach

Prof. Elizabeth Miller of Youngstown, Ohio, will return to the campus this summer. From June 14 to July 2, Prof. Miller will conduct a speech workshop. She conducted a similar three-week speech clinic last summer.

Prof. Virgil B. Harris, who is now principal of Greenbank high school, will be in charge of the secondary education department. Prof. Harris, father of Nancy and Virginia, has taught previous summer sessions. He received his A. B. from Glenville State College in 1934.

During the second term, Prof. Sam Madia, of Morgantown, will teach art. Prof. Madia taught art last summer.

Ohio Import

Prof. John W. Creager, a new-comer to Glenville State College, will teach library science. Presently, Prof. Creager is a librarian at South high school, Youngstown, Ohio.

A tentative schedule has been constructed for the present instructors who have indicated that they will teach one or both terms this summer.

Choir Begins Tours; First Trip March 21

Glenville State College choir is beginning a series of personal appearance tours. The choir, under the direction of Prof. Harold Orendorf, will make their first trip to Belington high school and Coalton high school on Friday, March 21.

The entire group will travel by bus. They will present a program of musical selections at each high school.

The group is planning to visit Walton high school and Spencer high school on Thursday, April 1; and Clay high school and Widen high school have been scheduled for Wednesday, April 21. However, these latter dates are not definite, and may be changed.

Recorded Illnesses Increase Last Month

The recorded number of illnesses during the month of February shows an increase of 78 cases over the preceding month, according to Mrs. Mary Fest, college nurse. Mrs. Fest has reported 270 clinic visits for February, while only 192 patients were recorded for the month of January.

There were six students who were admitted to the infirmary, and the nurse made only two dormitory calls. There were no major illnesses. Head colds, headaches, and minor athletic injuries were the most frequent causes of illnesses.

Rumbach Out of SC Race; Nora Ann Kennedy Enters

Dr. Fuller, Lyceum Guest, Speaks to Various Classes

Dr. Edward C. Fuller, who recently visited Glenville State as a lyceum speaker, also met with the students for informal lectures in the Louis Bennett lounge.

The topic of his talk Monday at 8 a.m. was "Science and Stability." At one o'clock, he spoke on "Atomic Power for Peace." His public lecture was Monday evening at 8:15.

Tuesday morning at 10, he spoke in the assembly on "Science and the Humanities." At 7 o'clock Tuesday evening, Dr. Fuller concluded his series of lectures by speaking on "Science and Religion."

Dorothy Lanham Chosen All-State At Buckhannon

Dorothy Lanham, head cheerleader from Glenville, was chosen as one of the three best cheerleaders during the West Virginia inter-collegiate tournament held at Buckhannon during the week of Feb. 22.

Dorothy, "Dottie" to Glenville students, is a junior home economics and physical education major. She is associated with the Kappa Chi Kappa sorority, W.A.A., Home Economics and 4-H clubs, and is president of the Verona Maple hall house governing board.

This is her third year of cheerleading at Glenville.

SURVEY REVEALS

Sorority, Frat Prexies Oppose Party Politics

Presidents of the five leading social organizations, Kappa Sigma Kappa, Holy Roller Court, Sigma Tau Gamma, Kappa Chi Kappa, Xi Beta Tau, were unanimous in their opposition to "party politics," according to a survey taken by the Mercury. Each leader said that his organization would not officially support any candidate but would urge individual thought and consideration before voting.

When the presidents of the fraternities and sororities were asked to give their opinions concerning the coming student council election, they made the following statements.

Nora Ann Kennedy, president of Xi Beta Tau—I have formed no opinion about the coming election. In fact, I don't even know who the candidates will be. As for the sorority, we are not backing anyone

By JACK CAWTHON

William Rumbach, a prospective candidate for the top Student Council post, has definitely declined to enter the student political battle. Rumbach who polled the majority of the Xi Beta Tau sorority votes in last week's Mercury poll, stated he would play no part in the coming encounter.

With the withdrawal of Rumbach from competition there is doubt as to whom the anti-Stewart forces will select.

Nora Ann Kennedy, president of the Xi Beta Tau sorority and expected contender for the top post, would make no statement other than that she would be a candidate for a student government office.

There are no new comments from the already announced office seekers. Everything seems to be moving along, but, no doubt, within a few weeks of the appointed election time all fury will probably break, causing a spirited campaign.

President Paul Lanham, who has been plagued by inter-Council strife all during his tenure of office, had the following comments to make concerning prospective candidates: "The students should select an individual on his merits, someone who has the interests of the student body in mind instead of the interests of just a few. I think the prospective candidate should have had some experience with the student council or at least a thorough knowledge of its responsibilities and how it functions."

'The Little Foxes' Opens Thursday

By WILLARD SMITH

"The Little Foxes," a drama in three acts, will be presented at 8:15 tomorrow night in the college auditorium. A special matinee performance for the county high school pupils was given this afternoon.

Written by Lillian Hellman, "The Little Foxes" was voted the best play of the year by the New York Drama Critics' circle. Starring Tallulah Bankhead in the leading role, the play enjoyed a long run on Broadway; later it was made into a movie with Bette Davis playing the leading role.

Taking its title from the Bible, "Foxes" develops into an intriguing drama of greed and hate. Through its expose of the members of a hateful and rapacious Southern family at the turn of the century who try, by fair means or foul, to swindle each other out of a fortune, "Foxes" becomes a scornful and heartfelt parallel to the rise of the industrial South. This new South, with all its ruthlessness, its savage sense of realism, and its fine scorn of the older trappings of Southern romanticism, is amply typified by the members of this family.

Members of the cast are: Wanda Lea James, junior from Dunbar, who plays Regina Giddens. This is the role played by Tallulah Bankhead in the play's long run on Broadway and by Bette Davis in the movie version of the play. Miss James, a member of the 1952 All-State cast, is a veteran of both "Death Takes a Holiday" and "Harvey."

Jerry Hamilton Gass, transfer student from West Virginia University and last year's West Virginia representative to the National F. F. A. convention in Kansas City, Mo., is co-starred in the role of Horace Giddens.

Bertha Turner, veteran of "Death Takes a Holiday," "Harvey," and president of Alpha Psi Omega, will play Birdie Hubbard.

Rabbi T. S. Levy Speaks to Student Body Tomorrow

Rabbi Theodore S. Levy, a representative from the Jewish Chatauqua Society, will speak to the student body tomorrow at the regular assembly period.

Rabbi Levy, now assuming his pulpit at the Congregational Ohio Shalom in Huntington, studied at the Hebrew Union college in Cincinnati. He was ordained in June, 1951.

He was appointed chaplain for the Huntington Veterans Administration hospital, and is sent by this society to disseminate authentic information about Judaism.

Dean Delmar K. Somerville and Prof. Denver Arnett will go to Troy on Thursday and Friday to evaluate that school to see if they will be admitted to the North Central Association of Schools and Colleges.

XBT To Sponsor Informal Dance Fri., March 19

A large sock filled with various colored balloons, green and white streamers, and colored socks will be used for decorations at the Sock Hop, sponsored by the Xi Beta Tau sorority March 19. This dance will be informal, and will be held in the old gym.

Prizes will be given to the ones who have the brightest, the best matched, and holiest socks. Confetti will be given to each couple as they enter the dance.

Those people who attend the dance will have a chance to dance in their socks to the music of "The Five Knights."

Committees for the event are: tickets, Wanda James, chairman, Nancy Grose, and Norita Payne; refreshments, Barbara Shimer, chairman, Yvonne Hart, and Muriel Whaling; advertising, Jean Ingham, chairman, Dorothy Light, and Jean Reese; clean-up, Mary Helen Somerville, chairman, and all sorority members.

Tickets will be $1.50 per couple.

Sigma Tau Gamma, national social fraternity, is preparing to celebrate its fourth anniversary as a Greek Letter organization on the Glenville State campus. The organization was established March 14, 1950, when a group of Lewis Bennett hall residents met in the Science building and formed the Xi Nu fraternity which had as its aims the fostering of more color and activity on the campus.

The Xi Nu's elected their officers at this first meeting with William Harper, a sophomore journalism major from Parkersburg, getting the nod for "prexy," while Stephen Bail, from Summersville and the student council treasurer, was ushered into the vice-president's chair.

Sid Adelsburg, sophomore from Pittsburgh who was one of GSC's great in football and basketball, was named fraternity treasurer and Robert Hoffman, freshman from Elkview, was elected to the secretary's post.

Other officers balloted into office were: Robert Mottice, a freshman and graduate of Waynesburg high school, Ohio, who was tagged as sergeant-at-arms; Jack Sizemore, chaplain; and Ronald Rollins, Mercury sports editor, publicity director. "Bigwigs" named to advise the organization were Dr. John W. Caruso and Dr. Byron Y. Fleck of the social science department.

20 Charter Members

The Xi Nu had 20 charter members. They were: Sidney Adelsburg, Roger Amos, Steven Bail, William Boram, Frabert Davis, Richard Elliot, Sam Ferrainola, William Harper, Robert Hoffman, Herbert Holstein, Alex Jokay, Brooks Kee, Byron McKnight, Tony Megna, Robert Mottice, William Richards, Ronald Rollins, Perry Smith, Edward Thorne, and William Waldeck. Soon after organizing, the fraternity petitioned the Sigma Tau Gamma national social fraternity for membership in its organization. The local Xi Nu fraternity was voted in as one of the 45 chapters of Sigma Tau Gamma. The chapter's name was changed from Xi Nu to Alpha Xi, in accordance with the wishes of the national office.

On May 6, 1950, a national degree-conferring team from Fairmont State college along with national officers, came to Glenville and formally initiated the group into the national organization. In a two-hour ceremony, Prof. Hadden Rhodes of Fairmont State college, Don Campbell, past president, Dan Kennedy, president, Jack Fisher, vice-president, and other brothers of the Greek Leher organization conferred the charter to Alpha Xi Chapter of Sigma Tau Gamma.

National Founded In 1920

The Sigma Tau Gamma National fraternity was first organized at the Central Missouri state college, Warrensburg, Mo., on June 28, 1920. The movement spread to other schools and in October, 1924, the chapters were organized into a national organization. The national constitution originally called for only member chapters from state teacher colleges, but later it was revised so that chapters in universities might join.

There are three chapters in West Virginia: Fairmont, Concord, and Glenville. A few of the other 45 chapters include Kent State university, University of California, Arkansas A. & M., and Southern Illinois university.

The national constitution states that "Sigma Tau Gamma is by nature primarily social. It is social in plan of organization, stressing social friendships and true brotherhood. Objective social training of this nature is not possible in the formal educational activities of the college, although it is necessary for professional success and the harmonious adjustment of an individual."

their first election since becoming a nationally affiliated organization. William Boram, Mercury editor for two years, was named to take over the executive reins as president.

Other officers named were Robert Mottice, vice-president; Alex Jokay, recording secretary; William Harper, corresponding secretary; Carlyle Kee, treasurer; and Ronald Miller, sergeant-at-arms.

The following year Carlyle Kee got the nod for presidency for the school year 1952-53. Kee's assistants on the executive council were: William Waldeck, vice-president; Billy Radcliff, secretary; Robert Milligan, treasurer; Clarence Maze, corresponding secretary; and Charles Dorrill, sergeant-at-arms.

Waldeck Fills Vacancy

At the fall term of 1953 President Kee transferred to another school and Charles Dorrill failed to report for the first term. William Waldeck was elected to fill the vacancy at the president's post, while Bill Phelps was named sergeant-at-arms. James Scott was balloted in to succeed William Waldeck at the vice-presidency.

April 20, 1953 the Sigma Tau Gamma fraternity met in a special session in order to elect officers for 1953-54. Robert Milligan was named to the executive post. Other officers named were William Snider, vice-president; Bill Radcliff, recording secretary; Billy Phelps, treasurer; Robert Cutlip, sergeant-at-arms; and Deniz Whipkey, corresponding secretary.

Three men did not return at the first term of 1953, and one man resigned. An election was held to fill in the administrative vacancies. Those getting the nod were: Charles Dorrill, vice-president; Virgil Greenleaf, treasurer; and David Umstead, sergeant-at-arms. Dr. Byron Turner replaced Dr. Byron Fleck as chapter adviser.

Introduce White Rose Dance

Since the organization of the fraternity, it has been active in social affairs on the campus. In 1950-51 the group sponsored a "Farewell-To-The-Boys" dance in honor of those men leaving for the armed service.

In 1951 the annual White Rose dance was sponsored by the fraternity. This dance took the place of the annual Christmas dance which was usually sponsored by the activity committee. Brent Cool's Collegians played for the dance, and in an all-school election Joan Metz was named queen.

The Sigma Tau's hold the White Rose dance each year before the Christmas holidays, and each year it names the local college orchestra to play for the event.

Byron Lee Mason's Saints played for the affair in 1952 while Doris Spicer reigned as queen. In 1953 it was the GSC Collegians, under the direction of Prof. Harold Orendorff, who played for the event with Wanda L. Taylor occupying the queen's throne.

Six Make Who's Who

The fraternity has been active in scholastic work, also. One of the requirements for membership is that all pledges must have a "C" average. Six members have been elected to "Who's Who in American Colleges," and five members have served on the Student Council since the formation of the fraternity.

Tennant Is on Player's All-WVIAC Team

Unanimous Choice Hartman Named Captain of Quintet

By JIM ROBINSON

EXCLUSIVE—"Dynamite" Jack Tennant, the pride and joy of Glenville, was named today to Player's All-Conference team released by the Glenville Mercury sports department, which conducted the poll of the varsity players in the conference. The team was selected by 58 conference players in a survey conducted by the college basketball coaches and athletic publicity directors.

Myles Witchey from West Liberty, Carl Hartman of Alderson-Broadbudd, Morris Harvey's Dave Rosen, and Clair Muscaro of West Virginia

Tech's conference champions round out the first team. Only five men were selected by the players, making the selections that much more difficult, but clinging to the belief that basketball is strictly a five-man game.

The mythical quintet is a result of an independent poll of the players who have played in the conference this season and was based only on regular season performances, because of the prevailing opinion that some twenty-odd games is enough to base any player's ability, while short appearances in tournament play are often misleading.

Cropped closely behind the first team are Ed Hood, Wesleyan; Tom Surret, Alderson-Broadbudd; Beckley's Luther Stover; huge Don Thompson of Tech; and Bill Berkley of Salem who made up the second and five that would make any coach's eyes green with envy.

Average 115 Points

The first quintet is a well-balanced combination that has averaged over 115 points a game this season. Led by the prolific scoring thrusts of the brilliant Hartman, the first team boasts great set shots in Tennant and Muscaro, and two brilliant pivots in Witchey and Rosen, who would also set the pace in rebounding, both being among the conference leaders this season.

Hartman, who makes a conference record every time he plays, was the only unanimous choice of the schools that submitted their all-opponent teams. Scoring over 800 points for his third year of play under the guidance of cagey Rex Piles, Hartman easily led the conference scoring and at last report was ranked ninth in the NAIA's list of the nation's small-college scorers. By virtue of being the only unanimous choice on the team, Hartman was named honorary captain.

Rosen Consistent

Dave Rosen is the biggest reason why Morris Harvey's Gee Eagles made a startling comeback in the conference race after getting off to a ragged start. The talented New York City import has been one of the most consistent point-makers in the conference since he enrolled at Morris Harvey in 1951.

With the departure of Rubich and Donovan from the fine 1953 team, the fortunes of West Liberty's basketball team fell on the broad shoulders of Myles Witchey. Scoring on over 50 per cent of his field goal attempts, the Hilltopper pivotman averaged over 23 points a game in leading the Panhandle quintet to a surprising eighth place finish in the loop race.

Solomon's Heir

The unenviable job of filling the fabulous Eddie Solomon's shoes was inherited by Tech's veteran performer, Clair Muscaro. While Muscaro, or anyone else for that matter, could hardly be expected to make the fans forget the great Solomon, the versatile Muscaro proved to be the guiding hand as Tech roared through the regular season campaign to annex their fourth regular season crown. The Golden Bear set-shot ace scored over 500 points in averaging better than 23 points for the season.

Just a step behind the top five performers are some of the season's finest players. Ed Hood was the spark-plug that sent offensive-minded Wesleyan on their merry way through the regular season schedule. While not posting an impressive team record, the Bobcats were always a threat and highlighted the year with upset victories over Tech, Morris Harvey, and VPI. Hood and Tennant are outstanding examples that even players from teams with poor records can receive honors when the players are doing the voting.

Hartman's Shadow

There can be no question about the abilities of Surret, Stover, Thompson, or Berkley. Surret, while playing in the shadow of the great Hartman, impressed opposing players just the same, and was considered a major factor in the outstanding success of the Battlers.

Stover completed his second, and final season at Beckley, by raising his point total to 1,105 points, a two-year average of 25.1 points a game. Once again the poll rated merit by not passing up outstanding players who played for losing teams.

Thompson and Berkley are close to being the two top defensive rebounders in the state and both are deadly scoring threats. Thompson aided, Muscaro as the Bears reigned invincible during regular season play.

Rugged and reliable Bill Berkley, while noted for his defensive prowess, averaged 19 points a game on the high-powered Salem team that ranked as the third highest team in the NAIA. In addition, the Tiger stalwart snatched off 210 defensive rebounds for a 9.5 game average.

Aiding the Mercury in conducting the poll were Coaches Frank Bowman of Beckley and Don Fous of Shepherd, athletic publicity directors Jim Southern of Salem, Galen Kyre from Fairmont, and Ben Brown of Morris Harvey.

Deans Attend Conclave

Deans Pearl Pickens and Robert Higgins will attend the first state convention of the West Virginia Guidance association which will be held at Jackson's Mill, March 12-14.

Student personnel workers from high schools and colleges of the state will attend this meeting.

Dr. Harry A. Jager, chief of guidance and pupil personnel from the U. S. Office of Education, and Dr. Thelma G. Thurston of the University of North Carolina will be the guest speakers.

John Shock's 218 Points Leads Frosh Five Through Impressive 12-4 Basketball Season

By JOHN CUTLIP

The Glenville State freshmen team, coached by Professor Clinton Brown, has come up with some good material for future Pioneer varsity teams. The little Pioneers played 16 games during the season and tasted defeat only four times. The bitterest defeat came at the hands of West Virginia Tech's first-year men who plastered the young Pioneers, 113-71. However, the closest game which the freshmen went under was one played with a fraternity all-star team, 41-40. Other defeats came at the hands of Salem and West Virginia University freshmen.

Two of the stars of the little Pioneers are John Paul Shock and Paul McKown. Shock, the lightning little guard, has topped the team with a total of 218 points in 16 games, while McKown has crowded him for scoring honors with 190 in 15 games. Shock is also high at the charity line with 68 out of 98 free throws for 69 percent shooting average. His average for 16 outings is 13.6 points per game.

190 For McKown

McKown, who was the eleventh man on the Pioneer varsity traveling squad, has a total of 190 points for an average of 12.6 per game. Paul is sixth in foul shooting percentage with 46 out of 88 for a 52 percent average.

David Posey may be another man to aid the Pioneers in the next few years. David, playing in the pivot spot, has totaled 136 points in 16 games for an average of 8.5. He made 36 of 68 free throws for a 53 percent average.

Domenick Nocida, the little Glenville guard, is fourth in scoring with 104 points for a 6.9 average. He made 14 of 41 at the charity line for 34.1 percent average. Big Keith MacAfee rates fifth in scoring with 83 points in 15 games for a 5.5 average per game. Roger Fouty of Elkview rounds out the high scorers on the little Pioneer team with 75 points for a 5-point per game average. He has a 53 percent shooting

Shock Over "Hot Rod"

The little Pioneers started the season off with a 58-36 win over St. Patrick of Weston. The team then won 5 straight before tasting defeat at the hands of Salem 55-41.

The little Pioneers then dealt out defeat to the Holy Roller Court and the Kappa Sigma Kappa fraternities before being defeated by the fraternity all-star team 41-40. After consecutive wins over Griffins, an independent team from Parkersburg, and the Veterans' club, the Glenville junior varsity journeyed to Morgantown where they tangled with the West Virginia University freshmen and "Hot" Rod Hundley.

The little Pioneers couldn't quite match the rangy Mountaineers who won 83-71. It is quite interesting to note that the Pioneers' own little John Paul Shock outscored the great Rod Hundley who got 15 points while Shock pitched in 17 points.

Hyer, Hall, Rardin. Popular Choices for MAA All-Stars

Mercury sports writers, along with captains of the different teams of the MAA, have selected an all-league team. Eight men were selected an all-league team. Men who gained enough votes to place on the all-league second team were Sizemore, Lazear, M. Buck, Groves, Hissam, Stewart, Hamon, R. Rardin, Bokovitz, and Cogar.

Hyer and K. Rardin lead all scorers in MAA play with 86 points each. Hall is third with 70.

Junior Men Upended In Finals For Third Successive Season

Trailing throughout the first three periods of play, the Senior men staged a brilliant last period rally Friday night to win their first tournament championship over the highly-favored Juniors 61-56 in the annual Holy Roller Court class tournament. The defeat marked the third straight year that the Juniors ('55) had fought their way into the final round only to be beaten. In 1952 the class of 1955 lost to the seniors and last year the freshman class of 1956 upset the '55 squad 66-59.

In the championship female battle, the Senior girls made it a clean sweep by thwarting a last period rally by the Sophomores to win 25-22 for their second tournament championship. The '54 girls won as sophomores in 1952.

The Junior men gained the finals by edging the defending champion Sophomore men team 60-59 on Ron Godfrey's dramatic foul shot after the final buzzer had sounded.

The defending titlists jumped off to an 18-15 lead in the initial session and held the fort until the final 10 seconds when Harry Smith hooked in a two-pointer to knot the count 59-59. Just as the final bell sounded Ron Godfrey was fouled, and as the large gathering witnessed one of the most dramatic moments in tournament history, the Pioneer football ace dropped in the charity toss to qualify the Juniors for the championship finals. Smith led the victors with 27 points followed by Tennant with 12. Ed Donnellan's 20 points and Bob Weaver's 19 paced the luckless Sophomores.

In the first semi-finals women's game, the Seniors built up a six-point lead at the half and coasted home 24-21. Captain Nancy Harris paced the victors with eight points while Martha White was high for the first-year girls with 12.

The Senior men entered the final round by outlasting a determined last-half rally by the Freshmen to win 62-61 on Al Groves foul shot with only seconds remaining in the contest.

Time And Al Groves

Led by Dick Barrett's 12 points and Bill Radcliffe's 11 points, the Seniors marched to a commanding 40-32 half time bulge. The winners found it difficult to dent the revamped Freshman defense in the final two periods and the Frosh assumed control of the game. Closing the gap to 49-44 at the third period stop the first-year men were on their way to victory in the final stanza when time and Al Groves intervened.

The Sophomore girls, shooting for their second straight tournament championship, blasted the Juniors 27-14 in the semi-finals behind the two-pronged offensive of Sue Arnold and Mary Lou Clendenin. Boasting a tremendous 18-5 half time margin, the Soph's substituted

During the past, the voting has tended to follow party lines, and has not been too successful. My opinion is that the voters should be honest with themselves and decide on a candidate who is interested in Glenville College and the student body.

Harris, Tennant Outstanding; Harry Smith Leading Scorer

Nancy Harris, a veteran of the class tournament wars, climaxed her career in the annual Holy Roller Court affair Friday night by being named to the all-tourney team for the third straight year and the 1954 "outstanding player" award for women. In addition to leading the Senior women to their second championship in four years, Miss Harris led all scorers in the women's bracket with 22 points.

Jack Tennant, high scoring star of the Pioneer varsity was the only male selection to have been named to the all-tourney team, being selected in last year's classic. Tennant was the big cog in the machinery that drove the Juniors into the finals for the third straight year. Tennant's 20 point average in the two games he played earned him the "outstanding player" award over his Junior team-mate Harry Smith.

Others named to the women's all-tournament team were Mary Lou Clendenin, for the second time; Leona Satterfield, for the second time; and last year's "outstanding player" Jackie Rastle, also for the second time; Jean Rardin and Dottie Lanham for the first time.

Men named to the coveted all-tourney team were the tourney high-point man, Harry Smith, Don Merriman, Dick Barrett, Paul McKown, and Bob Weaver.

Smith led the men in scoring with 42 points and tied team mate Jack Tennant for the tournament's single-game high with 27 points. Freshman Paul McKown had the highest game average with 23, but only played one game as the Frosh were eliminated in the first round. Smith's point total was far below the record set by rugged Bob Pooler in 1952 when the varsity pivotman tallied 81 points for an average of over 40 points a game.

Senior captain Nancy Harris completely dominated individual honors in the women's division. In addition to emerging as the tourney's high woman scorer, Nancy had the high single game total with 14 points against the Sophomores in the finals. Dottie Lanham, seeing action in only one contest, had high average with 12.

liberally in the final two periods and won with ease. Dottie Lanham posed the only threat to the Sophomores, scoring 12 of the loser's 14 points.

A scoreless second period proved the undoing of the defending champions as they fell before the high-geared offensive of the Senior women 25-22 in the championship game. With the tourney's outstanding female player, Nancy Harris, leading the attack with 14 points, the Seniors rallied from a 10-10 deadlock in the first session to lead 15-10 at the half. The Sophomores put on a spirited rally in the final two periods, outscoring the winners 12-10 but the drive fell short as the Seniors dethroned the Sophs as women champions of Glenville State College.

Trailing for three periods, the Senior men outscored the Juniors 17-9 in the final period to upset the favorites 61-56 in the championship final. Behind 47-44 as the final session opened, the Seniors took advantage of Harry Smith's departure via the five-foul route to overcome the big height advantage enjoyed by the Juniors.

With unsung Hodge Hissam doing most of the damage, the underdog Seniors battled furiously in the final period, overwhelming the Juniors with five minutes to play and then added momentum to their attack and won going away. Three men, Don Merriman with 18, Dick Barrett with 15, and Hodge Hissam with 14, scored in double figures for the champions while Jack Tennant tallied 27 for the Juniors and Harry Smith had 15.
