

Famous Virginia Symphony Here on Friday

By KATHRYN PALMER
Glenville State collegians will have the opportunity Friday evening at 8:15 to hear one of the country's leading symphonettes, the Virginia Symphony orchestra.

This 24-piece orchestra is one of the few that travels to small communities offering first-class listening music. The group has been making a series of visits during a 14-week period presenting daily concerts.

Under the direction of William Haaker, a talented commander of the podium, the orchestra will open the evening program with strains of the overture, "Die Fledermous." The Carmen suite is featured as the second number, followed by many others such as Syncopated Clock, the rousing "Toreador's Song," and "Habanera."

Student concerts are a feature portion of the tour and are of educational nature. Each instrument will be introduced, and some melody familiar to or associated with that particular instrument will be played to demonstrate a meaning of the instrument's name. This has proved to be one of the most pleasant ways for students to learn and appreciate music and the orchestra.

After the lyceum, a reception will be held in Louis Bennett lounge. Ushers and aids for the evening performance and reception will be students from the music department.

This lyceum will conclude a series of programs presented by artists and speakers who have visited Glenville State during the past year.

All programs are arranged by a Lyceum committee which is composed of two faculty members and two students. Prof. Ruth Johnson is chairman of the committee which includes Bertha Olsen and Norene Westfall. One student vacancy exists on the committee.

Among the Lyceum attractions of the past school year were the

Elaine Bell Elected Kappa Sig Sweetheart For Easter Dance

ELAINE BELL

Elaine Bell, Huttonsville junior, has been elected to reign over the seventh annual Kappa Sigma Kappa Easter dance this Saturday evening from 9 to 12 in the old gym. For the first time in the local chapter's existence, the Kappa Sig's have named an official "Sweetheart" in the personage of Miss Bell.

Her photograph, along with those from every Kappa Sigma Kappa chapter in the United States and Canada, will be submitted at the national convention this summer in Manitoba, Canada, for the honor of national "Sweetheart of Kappa Sigma Kappa."

This makes the third time that Miss Bell has been honored by the local chapter, having been elected "Daisy Mae" for the 1952 Sadie Hawkins day festivities, and fraternity queen in the 1953 Homecoming pageant. She is a member of Kappa Chi Kappa sorority, the Kanawhachen, and the Mercury.

The Five Knights, recording artists from Sistersville, have been contracted to play for the dance, according to dance committee chairman Kent Duffield. The combo, one of the better-known groups in the Ohio valley area, will be making their second visit of the Choir Visits Walton; Gives Program Wed.

The Glenville State College choir, under the direction of Prof. Harold Orendorff, appeared at Walton Wednesday, March 31. This was the third in a group of personal appearance tours the choir has made and is planning for this year. The other trips were to Belington and Coalton high schools, and the group is planning a trip to Clay and Widen high schools, Wednesday, April 21.

The choir will also sing at the spring meeting of the Central West Virginia Supervisor's association Friday, April 2. This meeting will be in the recreation room of the new physical education building.

Citizenship

NOTE: As we did last year, the Mercury is once again printing an outstanding article written by an area high school student. This theme, written by James E. Salvino, Glenville high school student, is truly a commendable accomplishment. With the local Student Council election only a few days away, it also is very appropriate. JIM.

By JAMES E. SALVINO
Glenville High School

Citizenship is a privilege which, in America, means freedom of speech, freedom of religion, equal rights and the pursuit of happiness. None of these precious heritages can be taken for granted. Each citizen, young and old, must be alert to the danger of those who would destroy our liberty. We must give careful thought to all that is happening in our own country as well as in other parts of the world.

As citizens of the greatest country in the world today, we must exercise our privilege of the right to vote by studying the platforms and ideals of our candidates. We must cast our votes to elect only those who will stand steadfast in their efforts to win for America and all freedom-loving peoples, a way of life that is both harmonious and peaceful.

There are today too many voters who cast their votes for corrupt politicians who are known to be under the influence and power of racketeers and other political "bosses." One of the chief reasons for this is fear of losing their jobs and other reprisals. This, however, is no excuse for doing something which they know will have ill effect on their fellow citizens and perhaps on the entire nation. Any public official must be carefully screened to determine his worthiness to handle the affairs entrusted to him. It is the privilege and responsibility of each citizen to make every effort to eliminate from all public offices such persons who use their power to engage in "shady" deals or to make secret treaties with other nations to the sorrow of those who entrusted them to act for the national welfare.

We in America want to be able to go quietly about our daily living without having some secret police or investigating committee breathing down the back of our necks, causing embarrassment and suspicion amid friends and neighbors. The Gestapo in Germany and its counterpart in Soviet Russia is an excellent example of the effect such a practice can have on the people of a nation. Freedom, for those in Russia, is only a memory. There is no place in our American democracy for corrupt government, which endangers the justities, liberties, and ideals of the people of this nation.

Every citizen must strive to improve himself in all of the many ways that would contribute to making a more happy, peaceful world in which to live. It takes so little effort to be courteous. It costs nothing to smile. In lending someone a helping hand, the thought of being needed more than compensates for whatever efforts are expended. Along with these requirements for building good citizenship, we must also form better working habits. It is well to remember that whatever is worth doing is worth doing well.

We as individuals must strive to be courteous, to be friendly, to be helpful, and to discover the good in all of these attributes. We must learn to appreciate the many wonderful things of nature: the woodland in the fall, the splash of a fish in a stream, snow on a fence post, the first robin in the spring, and one of man's most precious gifts to civilization—good books. We must do all of those and many more to build ourselves into better citizens.

Young people of America must develop into citizens of which our nation can be proud in order that the country in which their lives are reflected might truly be the fullest, most serene, most powerful, most God-loving of them all.

First Council Elected in 1932

By KATHRYN PALMER

The Student Council, Glenville State's student governing body, was first organized on campus Sept. 16, 1935. The first faculty advisor of the governing body was Raymond E. Freed, instructor of the social sciences and preceptor of Kanawha hall, which at that time, was the men's dormitory.

Election of the first Student Council officers followed a pattern which still exists today. Officers were elected by the popular vote of the student body; additional members were the presidential representatives of the classes.

Results of the election of 1935 made Lloyd Metheny, of Terra Alta, first Student Council president. Remaining officers of the first Student Council were: Stanley D'Orazio of Wheeling, vice-president; Catherine Wilson of Glenville, secretary; John Mowery of Clarksburg, treasurer; and Chado O'Del of Summersville, sergeant-at-arms.

On October 1, 1935, the first constitution of the Student Council was established. According to a statement made October 1, 1935, to a Mercury reporter, President Metheny pointed out several parts of the constitution and some of the ideals which they should strive to accomplish in the following parts of the year.

Included among the intentions of the constitution were rules concerning freshmen who violated freshmen rules, definite seating arrangements for freshmen, establishment of point system for members of freshmen class and appointment of a cheerleader or cheerleaders.

Yearbook Planned
Among those things which the Council would try to achieve were the publishing of a year book, the adoption of a standard ring for graduates, the sponsoring of artist courses.

In President Metheny's statement he said, "Not much in the way of power can be expected from the council this year; however we are a new organization; we expect to live and grow." He added, "We hope that the Student Council will become a permanent form of rule in the college. It will, if proper consideration is given."

The Council of 1935 made the first plans for "freshmen rules" which still exist today, much to the dismay of the beginning freshmen who come to Glenville State.

Candidates for the presidential seat of Student Council for the election of 1936 was Blantz Craddock, Jr. of Glenville, and John B. Barrett.

Election Campaign
Student campaign speeches and parades climaxed a week of pre-election campaigning. The rivalry for the presidency of the Council had promoted such lively interests and intensity that on the eve of the election both factions sponsored parades which went through the main streets of Glenville and ended on the campus in front of Verona Mapel hall where the candidates gave brief campaign speeches.

The county band led Craddock's supporters, while a student band played for the supporters of Barrett.

On the following day, nearly 95 per-cent of the student body rushed

HIGHLIGHTS OF OUR STUDENT COUNCIL 1935-1954

- 1935—The first Glenville State Student Council, under the able leadership of Lloyd Metheny of Terra Alta, was the originator of freshmen rules. This council's objective was to sponsor the appearance of Bohimir Kyle and his symphony orchestra.
- 1936—The campaign this year featured a primary election; three weeks later the general election was held. Intensive campaigning marked the '36 elections with the two principles, Brantz Craddock and John Barrett, the sources of parades and student rallies through the downtown streets. The pre-election campaigning came to a halt on the eve of the election following a parade and speeches made by the candidates on the Verona Mapel lawn.
- 1939—The first out-of-state student, Harold Noroski of Munhall, Pa., ever to be elected to the Student Council highlighted the '39 election which saw 75 per cent of the student body turn out to vote. The supreme court was founded on Oct. 24 of this year.
- 1941—President E. G. Rohrbough announced plans that would allow the Student Council to allocate the student activity fees. Student Council adviser, Prof. Freed, termed the plan, "the most far-reaching one in the history of the Student Government." The initial budget included such items as the yearbook, Mercury, yearbook, and incidental expenses of the Council.
- 1942—Yearbook and freshman handbooks were curtailed because of the critical paper shortage.
- 1943—Catherine Withers became the first girl ever to be elected president of the Student Council.
- 1945—Eighty per cent of the student body voted in the '45 election, naming Homer Heckert president.
- 1947—Thanks to a $300 loan from the Holy Roller Court, the Student Union was opened under the direction of Charles McElwee. Serving on the first committee for the "Pine Bar" were Profs. Clarissa Williams and A. H. Anderson and students Kathryn Rose Elliot and Robert Higgins.
- 1952—Student Council proposal to raise the activity fee to $10 a semester was approved by a 181-59 vote by the student body.
- 1953—Under the direction of Frank Fultineer, the first yearbook in a decade was published under the combined editorship of Joseph Riddel and Dorothy Terill.

to the poles to give Craddock a 211 to 187 edge over his opponent.

May 26, 1937, the Council, in a secret ballot election, selected the four outstanding freshmen of the year. Considered in the selection of these students were their scholastic standing and their participation in school affairs. Freshmen chosen that year were Sadie Harless, Leah Stalnaker, James Musser, Jr., and Delmar Dye.

Most significant of the achievements of the Council of 1936-1937 was the establishment of the College Social committee.

75 Percent Vote In 1937
During the existence of the Council of 1939 ten amendments were proposed. Of those which failed to be passed were tentative provisions to permit student body officers to succeed themselves, and to transfer lyceum from the council to the Lyceum committee.

Harold Noroski, a native of Munhall, Pennsylvania, was elected president of the Student Council in 1939. Seventy-five per-cent of the students voted in making Noroski the only out-of-state resident ever to head the Council.

On October 24 of that year, plans were organized to establish a Supreme Court. The court consisted of the President of the College, two faculty members and two students who were chosen by the student body or appointed by the Council president.

Take Over Activity Fund

In April, 1941, President E. G. Rohrbough made plans to allow the Student Council of the following year to allocate a student activity fund. The budget included such items as the Lyceum course, the student newspaper, a yearbook, and expenses of the council. The plan became effective the following fall. This plan was not effective again until the spring of 1952 when the Council prepared the budget the following fall.

Because of the high price of paper during the war, no appropriations were made for the annual. In a meeting of the Council, it was also voted that no freshmen handbooks be made.

Catherine Withers of Glenville was elected president of the Student Council for the year 1943-1944. Miss Withers was the first girl ever to head the Council. She was succeeded in 1944-1945 by another girl, Janette Cunningham. They remain the only two women presidents of Glenville State's student governing board.

Pioneers Open at Tech Tomorrow Evening

Mike Popp Likely Starter; Senators Invade Saturday

By TEX CUTLIP

Glenville Pioneers take to the diamond tomorrow night when they meet the mighty Tech Bears at Montgomery in a game which will be a battle between experience and defensive skills. The Bears, although showing weak in the early part of the season, have a tremendous edge on the wave in experience that they have played seven games before tomorrow's meeting. However, Coach Carlos Ratliff is determined to have a winning season, so he has come up with a fine defensive team to match any offensive power that Tech might have.

Tech has some great hitting power in Bob McLain, Mike Gizenaro, Gordon McKeen, and Ken Hammond, but their pitching has been weak so far this season. Glenville's pitching staff is weak, but Coach Ratliff hopes to keep the opposition off balance by free substitution of his eight pitchers who all appear to have a different style of delivery.

Ratliff has not named his starting line-up yet, but on paper it appears to be Joe Bokovitz, Don Merriman, Danny Hall, and Bill Reit in the infield with Paul Latham, Ed Tekiel, and a possibility of Stan Costy in the outfield. Probable choice for catcher will lie between Don Merriman and Joe Brad-

Coach Ratliff said it would be a draw as to whom would be the starting pitcher, but from this corner it appears that veteran Mike Popp may get the nod to start with Ed Donnellan and Wendell Garten other possibilities. Other pitchers who are ready are Sid Copley, Jim Hamrick, Al Reich, Paul McKeen, and Eddie Miller.

On Saturday, April 10 the Davis and Elkins Senators will invade the Rohrbaugh field in an attempt to gain revenge on the Pioneers who gave them a 4-1 lashing at Elkins last year. Battery for Glenville will probably be Hamrick and Bradley.

Next Tuesday the Pioneers will again play at home against the always tough West Virginia Wesleyan. Glenville split games with the Bobcats last year, winning the home encounter 3-1 and losing at Buckhannon-8-3. Tommy Rutherford and Ed Hood are only two of the many stars that the Ratliffmen will have to contend with.

Smith's Team Leads WAA; Marley Places Close Second

With one week remaining in the WAA basketball season, Smith leads top berth with 6 wins and only one loss. Marley is the runner up with 4 wins and two losses.

In Tuesday's action, four games were completed, and two games were forfeited. Coe was declared winner of the Coe-Marley tilt; Marley was winner of the Marley-White game; Smith emerged victorious over White; and Kenney won over Coe.

In the first game, Coe and Bourne led for Coe, while Bush and Marley paced the losers. The final score was 38-32 in Coe's favor.

Outstanding shooting was displayed by Bush when she again was top scorer with 30 points for Marley in the Marley-White game. Davis was high for White with 6 points, with the total points showing a 45-13 win for Marley.

Cooper and Somerville led Smith's team to 33-13 victory over White with 13 and 12 points respectively. Pickens was top scorer for the opponents with 6 points to her credit.

Harris made a record for the Kinney vs. Coe tilt with 20 points for Kinney. Coe had 13 points for her own team. This left the score at 36-28, Kinney's favor.

Smith and Kinney won over Battle by forfeits.

The present standings are:

Team	Wins	Losses
Smith	6	1
Marley	4	2
Coe	4	3
Kinney	3	3
Battle	2	4
White	0	6

Glenville Golf Team at Montgomery Saturday

The Pioneer golf team will kick off their nine-match 1954 schedule this Saturday afternoon when they journey to Montgomery for a morning encounter with Tech's Golden Bears. Following the Tech engagement, The Gee Men will invade Huntington on Monday to play Marshall's Big Green.

Following a 12-day layoff, the Linksman journey to Fairmont April 24 for a triangular meet with the Falcons and West Liberty. The first home match will be played April 26 when the Pioneers play host to Wesleyan and Salem in a triangular meet at the recently renovated Glenville country club.

The Gee Men close out their regular season schedule against Wesleyan at Buckhannon on May 8 and will embark for the state championship tournament May 10 at Wheeling.

Despite the loss of veterans Al Wash and Paul Hunt, the picture for the 1954 squad is indeed bright with veteran linksman Arnie Wilson, Jack Reed, Dick Satterfield, and Oliver Hunt forming the backbone of the team. Other candidates for the club are Dick Barrett and Ronnie Rokisky.

The schedule:
April 10 Tech at Montgomery
April 12 Marshall at Huntington
April 24 Fairmont at Fairmont
April 24 Fairmont, West Liberty at Fairmont
April 26 Wesleyan, Salem at Glenville
April 30 Fairmont at Glenville
May 1 Tech at Glenville
May 3 Salem at Salem
May 7 Marshall at Glenville
May 8 Wesleyan at Buckhannon
May 10-11 WVIAA Tournament at Wheeling.

year's Council established such committees as activity, athletic, Student Union, lyceum, and the dining hall.

Among the changes which were accomplished by the Council of 1951-1952 was the increased Activity fee, from $5 to $10. This change was brought about by the voting of the student body.

The Council of 1952-1953, led by Frank Fultineer, was the first to work under the new constitution. It was this Council which first brought forth support to the student movement which made the publication of the first yearbook possible since 1941. This year the Council also had control of the distribution of the activity fund.

Procedure Changed
Most significant of the achievements of the Council of 1953-1954 were the improvement of the Student Union and the change in the nomination plans for candidates for Student Council elections.

Regular duties of the Council each year are the formulation of freshmen hand-books and the preparation of a budget for the activity fee.

Throughout the years, the Student Council has represented a sincere and wholesome type of government for the students of Glenville State. Individually, each year's council has contributed, in their progress to a better student government, to a better Glenville State College.

HOLY ROLLER COURT: Judge Donald Merriman announced that the Costello dance band of Clarksburg has been selected by the fraternity to play for the annual Court Ball on May 7.

The Court also voted to amend the constitution to allow 35 members in the organization instead of 30.

Discussions were held on new pledges, but no definite plans were reached.

SIGMA TAU GAMMA: President Robert Milligan announced that new pledges reported to the last meeting where they were given instructions for the first week of pledging.

The fraternity discussed the annual spring outing which will be held at Lake Riley. May 15 is the tentative date set for the event.

The fraternity voted to buy gifts for the graduating seniors.

KAPPA SIGMA KAPPA: President Harold Hissam announced that final plans were made for the annual Easter dance which will be held April 10. A decoration committee was appointed with Jack Tennant as chairman. Other men appointed to the committee were Arnett Wilson, Larry Evans, James Hamrick, and Marvin Stewart.

Gall Boggs and Sidney Copley were appointed to make signs, John Lazear was appointed head of the ticket committee. Tickets were to be sold by each member starting last Thursday.

President Hissam said that letters had been written to alumni of the chapter inviting them to attend the dance.

The fraternity voted to purchase a fraternity plaque which will be placed in the Union.

Hissam urged all members to get their money in for the "Iris", the national fraternity periodical.

Pickens, Dorothy Lanham, and Eunice Hatfield; lighting: Jane Ratliff and Patricia Hall; entertainment: Patty Sumpter, Bonel Poling, Elaine Bell and Bertie Turner.
