8 Students to be Nominated As 'Who's Who' Candidates

By SHIRLEY JAMES

Eight students, instead of the usual six from Glenville State, will be recommended for membership in "Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities." This increase is the result of the increased enrollment this year. Eleven seniors and six juniors have been chosen by their classes to be considered for this honor.

"Who's Who" is an annual national publication containing the biographies of outstanding students from colleges and universities throughout the United States. The "Who's Who" publication has been functioning since the academic year of 1934-35.

Standard qualifications such as scholastic ability; cooperation, and leadership in both academic and extra-curricular activities; citizenship and service to the school; and future usefulness to society are the basis of student selection for "Who's Who."

From the 17 students who have been nominated, a special committee consisting of members of faculty and the student body will choose the eight who are to be recommended for membership in "Who's Who."

Home Ec. Club Plans Student Mix Oct. 30

On Saturday, October 30, the Home Economics club will sponsor a mix. Round dancing, square dancing, folk dancing and various games will comprise the evening activities.

To be admitted, the students must wear costumes.

Jackie Rastle, president of the club, has set up committees to have charge of the mix. The decorations committee is headed by Bertie Turner with Clara Bell Snyder and Oneta Polan assisting. Patty Hybert will head the refreshment committee with Lynn Rastle and Donna Costlow on the committee. The clean-up committee is headed by the president with all members of the club helping.

The gym will be decorated in regular Halloween fashion with witches and black cats dominating the scenery.

Well-Planned Sorority Rush Period Begins Second Term

By NOGA ANN KENNEDY

How do I get in a sorority? What sororities are on campus? When does sorority rushing start? All these are common questions about this time of year when the fraternities begin rushing.

Sorority rushing and pledge periods are exactly the same for both sororities, the Kappa Chi Kappa and the Xi Beta Tau. Members from each sorority and Prof. Pearl Pickens planned these periods so they will cause the least possible interference with other school work.

At the beginning of school, the two sororities have a joint party for all Freshmen women. All girls are invited to this, whether they are interested in sororities or not.

All is quiet until the beginning of the second term. The first week of the term, the sororities have another joint party, for those girls who are interested in joining a sorority.

Sometime during the following week, the second week of the second term, each sorority has two parties. The first of these is an informal party, and girls are invited to attend whether they are interested in that particular group or not. The second is a formal party. Girls should attend only the formal party of the sorority of their choice. This is not compulsory, but it makes it easier for the sororities when they make their final choices.

Following these two parties, the sororities choose the girls they wish to initiate.

Rumbach Chairman Of LBH Gov. Board

William Rumbach was recently elected chairman of the Louis Ben-Zett Hall governing board. Other officers elected to represent their respective sections are: first section, Stephen Rohr and Ronald Godfrey, second section, Joseph Bokovitz and Paul Given, third section, William Snyder and Oliver Hunt, fourth section, Don Deal and Roy Cogar.

Roving counselors were also chosen to keep order in the dormitory and to enforce the rules. They were: Daniel Dobbins, John Shock, and Hurley Cutlip.

Homecoming Activities Hampered by Flash Flood

Game Cancellation Cost College Estimated $2,000

A flooded football field, as high as three feet in some places, forced cancellation of the Glenville-Potomac football game Saturday, and thus washed off the books what promised to be the largest crowd ever to watch the Pioneer eleven play at Rohrbough field.

With the Catamounts stranded in Clarksburg because of flooded streets in Weston, it was decided early in the morning to permanently cancel the scheduled game. At 2 o'clock, what would have been kick-off time, the field was only slightly better, with water covering 80 yards of the field, and having entered the field house. The temporary bleachers, installed especially for the Homecoming game, were barely visible because of the high water.

The cancellation was also a great blow financially, with the College obligated to pay a guarantee to the proposed visitors, and yet no gate receipts realized. The game is always a financial success and very much depended upon to help finance the other sports participated in by the College. It was estimated that the cancellation cost the College about $2,000.

MENC to Sponsor Broadway Musical, Messiah, Festival

Plans for another Broadway musical are being made by the M.E.N.C. This will be the major project of this year's organization. The musical they had last year was "Finian's Rainbow."

An assembly on October 21 will be given by the organization. Also, this group will aid the chorus in giving "The Messiah" at Christmas, and they will help with the regional band festival in April.

The M.E.N.C. has had the informal initiation of new members. They will hold their formal initiation this week.

Joe Arbogast, a former member, has returned from the army. Curtis Flesham is a transfer member from Concord. New members this year are Junior Boyles, Jean Martin, Lillian Stanley, Paul Takash, David Arbogast, Norman Stone, Janet Thompson, Raymon Ayers, and Gene Elmore.

VMH Honors Mrs. Smythe

Residents of Verona Maple hall held a surprise going-away party for Mrs. Olive Smythe, former house director, Tuesday evening, October 12. They gave her an iron. Refreshments of punch and cookies were served by the board members. The group sang songs; later Mrs. Smythe gave a farewell talk. Mrs. Smythe, who left Wednesday, October 13, will be replaced by Mrs. Edna Keim of Buckhannon.

Plans November Assembly

Alpha Psi Omega is planning an assembly early in November. This assembly will be a play with all female characters.

This group wants to increase its membership this year. The four members of the Alpha Psi Omega are Wanema Hermiz, Bertie Turner, Wanda James, and Bonel Poling.

Parade, Coronation Inundated Areas Dance Held Despite

By PATSY FRIEND

Despite flooded streets and threatening clouds Glenville College's 21st Homecoming got under way Saturday with a gala parade that started at 10:30 a. m.

Amid intermittent bursts of sunshine and chilly gusts of wind, spectators lined Main street to watch the colorful parade. Due to flood conditions and rainy weather, the Homecoming crowd was smaller than it has been in many years, but the weather failed to dampen enthusiasm.

Leading the parade was Marshall T. W. Hyre of Glenville, on horseback. Following him was Dr. Harry B. Heflin, President of Glenville College, and other college and alumni officials. Immediately behind them came various organizations from Gilmer county and the town of Glenville.

Beautiful and amusing floats took their places in the passing parade.

Educ. 321 Class Sees Reactions of Third Graders to Movies

Members of the Education 321 class observed the actions of third graders watching movies Oct. 10. The films were shown by George Gray, a member of the class.

They included a Terrytune, a silent western, and a movie about a baby chimpanzee. The class sat in various sections of the room so they could observe bodily movements, facial expressions, and other reactions to the films.

A discussion of the reactions followed in which the third graders decided they liked the movie about the chimp best. Several of the children decided they would like to be monkeys. They received the most enjoyment from action causing minor accidents such as falling off chairs. They seemed to identify themselves with the characters. They were completely oblivious of the other people in the room while the films were being shown.

The class decided this is one of the best ways to teach the value of audio-visual aids and plan to have more movies in the future.

Program Committee Appointed by FTA

A program committee was named to be in charge of programs for the F. T. A. meetings until Anna Radabaugh returns to take over these duties. Those appointed for this term are Robert Sharp, Julia Murphy, and June Collins. Julia Murphy had the program for the last meeting.

Final plans for the Homecoming float were discussed. The following committees were named for the Regional Conference; refreshments, Jean Loyd, Pat Snyder, Genelda Cochran; guides: Rose Marie Rogers, Roy Cogar, Paul Given, Barbara Wright, and Elda Utterback. Other plans for the conference are not complete.

On-Campus Parking Problem Concerns Other Institutions

By BETTY COOPER

"Where can I park my car?" is a question which leads to one of the major problems confronting Glenville College.

Prof. Robert Higgins, dean of men, states, "From our standpoint, do we need enforced parking regulations? Our present parking facilities are seemingly adequate when properly used. If a few people insist upon disregarding the rights of others then perhaps parking permits are needed."

A committee, headed by Dan Dobbins, has been appointed to study the parking situation.

Glenville is not the only college with the problem of parking. West Virginia Tech and West Virginia University are having similar problems.

West Virginia Tech is constructing a new parking area. Several regulations were made to relieve the parking congestion, such as students must have stickers to secure parking space. A fine of $5 is the penalty for parking a car without a sticker.

West Virginia University students are also required to have a parking permit. Prof. George G. Pohlman, director of the program for University parking permits, announced the enforcement of their campus parking program.

Officials of Oklahoma A & M college at Stillwater made a survey to see what worried a freshman the most—the hectic pace, classes, exams, athletics, dates, or finance. The biggest worry turned out to be, "Where can I park my car?"

Wanted: Night Football

The recent Athletic committee declaration that no home football games will be moved to other sites unless there are more than three home football games carded for that particular season is merely a reiteration of a policy that has long been in practice here at Glenville.

Since 1946, Pioneer football home games have been moved to other towns on only three occasions, and in all three of those seasons, 1950 and 1951 to Grantsville, and 1953 to Weston, there were four home games scheduled.

In 1950, 138 students accompanied the team to Grantsville to see the Fairmont game. Not including the Homecoming game, the average student attendance at 1950 home games was 152. Apparently not too many students suffered by the change in fields.

The following season, the Pioneers again played at Grantsville, and this time realized a profit of $179.80 against a Salem team that would have drawn little better in Glenville.

Last season, the Pioneers moved the Salem game to Weston. Despite the fact that it was the worst football night of the year (the temperature was in the low 20's) and the fact that Salem hadn't won a game in two years, 106 students were on hand for the game, just 35 below the average that watched the 1953 home games a few hundred yards from the campus.

Add to the fact that the paid attendance (non-students) at these games was much higher than the season average without too much of a sacrifice on the part of the students, one can well realize that we are not losing too much by our home-away-from-home football games.

Actually, the student attendance at the football games has been terrible, and the paid admissions are not what they should be, either. One of the biggest reasons why the Grantsville and Weston games did so well is because they were played at night, and in all fairness to the Glenville student body, that is why student attendance has been so disappointing.

In our area, Saturday is a very busy day. Many students have to go home and help with the work that has been accumulating all week. Adults, as well, are just as busy, and while most of them are rabid football fans, they are just unable to push away their responsibilities and watch a football game.

The answer to the problem is, of course, lights at Rohrbough field. Big League baseball found this out 15 years ago, and even many high schools in our own area have turned to this method to be of better service to their community. A team in our conference, Morris Harvey, has long realized that they can not make a go of it without night football games.

If one wants to be an idealist, lights on Rohrbough field would allow more students to see the games they are paying to see. Then, there is the obligation we have to citizens of surrounding communities. Glenville could win a lot of friends if we allowed these people to feel that the Pioneers are THEIR team, and the only way we can get them in here is by playing at night, when the work day is over.

Certainly the Student Council should devote some thought to this problem. When our football games attract less than 50% of the student body, then something is wrong and needs looking into. JIM

Sorority Simmerings

By NORA ANN KENNEDY

Xi Beta Tau

Discussion of the meeting centered around the banquet to be served to members and alumnae Homecoming. Each member of the sorority was assigned some definite task for the Homecoming float. Wanda James and Wanda Milligan sold hot dogs this week. Kappa Chi Kappa

The following committee is responsible for the Homecoming float: Wanda Taylor, June Drake, Barbara Given, Julia Murphy, Pat Hybert, and Ella Mary Hamrick. Pledge pins were ordered. Nancy Barlow is responsible for a Vesper program, Oct. 24, sponsored by the sorority.

Following the meeting, the group went to the home of Patty Hardman Hall where they honored Patty with a surprise baby shower. Doty Lanham was in charge of Halloween games.

Frat Chat

By JOHN CUTLIP

SIGMA TAU GAMMA: President James Mullins announced that the Sigma Tau chapters in Ohio and West Virginia have been organized into a new province. The national office felt that this would make it more convenient for chapters in the two states to have a better fraternity relationship.

The pledges were given their duties for this second week of informal initiation. Pledges were requested to work on the float, paint the sign on the hill, carry paddles, and also open doors for the females on the campus.

Frat Pledge Periods Colorful

By George Pease

When the campus is decorated by students with signs on their backs, weird letters on their foreheads, and the sound of a cracking paddle breaks the otherwise peaceful stillness of the air, then it is a good sign that fraternity pledging is in the process of teaming with freshman rules to provide entertainment for old members, independents, and anyone else who wishes to observe. Both pledging and freshman rules are similar in the sense that they each call for certain rules, duties, and obligations to be fulfilled before the new member is a real part of the fraternity or class.

Variety of Duties

Pledging a fraternity at Glenville State College follows a standard set of rules to a certain point, and then the specific rules for each fraternity branches out to cover a wide variety of duties that the pledge must perform. Most of the pledge duties in the different fraternities are traditional, but in some cases new duties may be added to cover problems which arise during the pledge period.

Court Period 2 Weeks

Holy Roller Court pledges must be voted into the organization by every member. One vote against a prospect will keep him from getting a bid. The pledge period lasts for two weeks, with the first night being the initiation night when pledges are brought in the fraternity. Paddles are carried for two weeks, and the old members can warn a pledge any time during this period. During the pledge period, the neophytes must stay at school on the weekends. The new members must grow a beard on one side of their faces, and do the decorating on the Homecoming float. If they are taken in during the Spring, they must decorate for the Court dance. Meals have to be attended fifteen minutes early, and an entertainment night must be provided for the old members. The much-welcomed end comes at 6 p.m. on the night of the Homecoming or Court dance.

Kappa Sigs "Goldbrickers"

Kappa Sigma stretches their pledge period out to 4 weeks. All yearlings must get no more than two negative votes or they are rejected. Pledges must have a C average, and they must maintain this average. Duties consist of learning the history of the organization, learning the Greek alphabet, and learning the fraternity songs. Carrying a gold brick, doing chores for the float and for dances, wearing Dogpatch clothing preceding Sadie Hawkins Day, and growing a beard for the dance are some of the other duties that the newcomers must do. "Hell Night" climaxes the pledge period, with the initiating into the fraternity as the last part.

Sig Tau's Serenade

Sigma-Tau Gamma divides their pledge period into 3 weeks. It takes one "blackball" to keep a student from entering the organization. Pledges are compelled to wear the Greek letters which abbreviate their fraternity's name across their forehead. They must speak to all members, work for their "big brother", learn the history of their group

ALUMNI NOTES

Carl Galgani Now in France

By YVONNE HART

Pvt. Carl Galgani, a '53 graduate of Glenville, is now stationed at the Toul-Rosiere Air Base in France. Pvt. Galgani completed his basic training at Fort Knox, and was sent to a school of engineers. He left the United States in July and landed in Bremerhaven, and then went to Metz.

Galgani does office work at the present time. He has applied for a teaching position in an Army dependent's school, and is now planning to take an elementary math course in his spare time.

While in college, Galgani was a member of the Holy Roller Court. Alpha Delta Epsilon, business manager of the Mercury, and the Kanawha.

Those who wish to write to Galgani may send the letter to: Pvt. Carl Galgani, U. S. 1723 885 Eng. Avar. Maint. Co. C-o Postmaster, New York, New York.

John Davis Rohrbough, son of Dr. and Mrs. Nate Rohrbough, and a former student here, has been elected as his class company representative at the United States Naval Academy. He is out for company boxing, brigade choir, and cheerleading.

John was here for two years, and during that time, he was cheerleader, a member of band, choir, and was a prominent character in "Finian's Rainbow" which was presented last spring. He was also a member of the Holy Roller Court.

Howard J. Lindell, superintendent of Oklahoma Veteran's Home, has been promoted by President Eisenhower to the rank of Commander in the U. S. Naval Reserve. Lindell is a graduate of Glenville State Teacher's College, from which he holds an A. B. degree.

He was recently elected as first vice president and member of the board of directors and the National Association of Commandants of State Veteran's Home. He has also served on the board of directors of the Ardmore Quarterback club, and the Ardmore Kennel club. He is past exalted ruler and honorary life member of the Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks Lodge, of East Liverpool, Ohio. He is also associated with VFW and the Masons.

Russell R. Bell of Charleston

along with the rules and songs. Serenading the girls at night is another task which must be done. Later on in the pledging, pledges must carry a sign and get the name of a girl along with a kiss from her that must be witnessed by an old member. The pledge must get twenty-four kisses in all. "Hell Week" follows this portion, and the pledges must dress in suits during this week. "Hell Night" ends the pledging, with initiation following it.

CARL GALGANI

(1910) was appointed by President Eisenhower to be Marshall of Southern District Federal Court of West Virginia.

Donald K. Arbogast ('53) and wife, the former Mary Burg, are now in Texas, where Donald is stationed with the U. S. Army.

6 Students Join Debaters

Six more students have joined the Debate group. Prof. Joseph Riggs said he was very pleased with the turnout. Professor Riggs also said that anyone interested in debating is welcome to come to Room 204A, Tuesday mornings at 10 o'clock, or to see him for a special meeting time.

The new members are Yvonne Hart, Roy Spencer, Mary Helen Plunkett, Shirley James, Roger Carr, and Perry Stilwell.

11 Seniors Play Last Home Game Against Wesleyan Sat.

Eleven of the men representing Glenville this Saturday in the Pioneer-Wesleyan battle at Rohrbough field will be playing their last collegiate game before a home crowd.

Dick Barrett, Ron Godfrey, Dick Satterfield, Jack Sizemore, Bob Weaver, Al Groves and Jack Tennant, backfield men; Oliver Hunt, Avis Partain, Mike Snyder, and Frank Vincent, linemen, are the seniors that will close out their Rohrbough field careers in this Saturday's tussle with the Bobcats.

Of the 11, Ron Godfrey, Jack Tennant, Oliver Hunt, and Frank Vincent have played their entire four seasons of college ball here at Glenville. Barrett and Snyder are three-year veterans, and Satterfield, Sizemore, Weaver, and Partain are two-year men, and Al Groves is playing his first season.

Godfrey came to Glenville from Calhoun county high school where he was a mainstay halfback on one of the finest elevens in the state. Since his freshman season, Godfrey has been a first-string halfback and one of the leading ground-gainers on the team.

Tennant is a Fairmont high school alumnus, and has also been a first team man for four seasons. Probably the finest passer in the College's history, Jack was an all-conference selection in 1953 and the leading candidate for similar honors this season.

Oliver Hunt, a native of Elkview has served mostly as a utility tackle during his four seasons here and has proven himself a dependable performer in the many times he has been called upon to fill needed holes in the Pioneer line.

Glenville bids farewell to another all-conference selection in Frank Vincent of West Newton, Pa. The durable Pioneer pivotman has been the bulwark of Glenville lines for four seasons. A bruising and cagey linebacker, Vincent also fills in as punter when needed, having a 37 yard average on more than 20 kicks.

Well-Planned

to pledge and give those names to Miss Pickens. The girls go into the Dean of women's office sometime during rushing (this is announced by Miss Pickens) to sign a slip stating which sorority they would rather join. Miss Pickens then checks these slips and the bids from the sororities and gives the girl the bid of her first choice. Thus if a girl receives a bid from both sororities, she receives only the one she prefers.

Sometime during the third week of the second term each sorority has a formal pledging ceremony. At this ceremony the girls receive pledge pins and information about the sorority.

The fourth week of the term is Help Week. This is a week of informal initiation during which the girls are asked to perform certain tasks. These tasks are designed to be helpful both to the girl and to the school.

Following this week is another period of "rest" during which the girls attend pledge meetings and receive instructions about the functions of the sorority, the by-laws, and help with any dances or programs the sorority is sponsoring.

Formal initiation is held during the first week of the second semester. Girls must have maintained a C average for one semester, fulfilled their duties as pledges, and still desire to become members of the organization.

8 Students

Students who have been nominated are:

Seniors—Jack Tennant, Olga Paskevich, Wanda Milligan, Betty Joyce Cooper, Elaine Bell, James Mullins, Bette Turner, Mary Faith Holbert, Donald Deal, Stanley Costy, and James Robinson.

Homecoming

Sprinkled among the various units were the bands who aided sparkling and snappy music to the proceedings. Guest bands from regional high schools had been invited but were unable to attend.

After the parade, Elaine Bell was crowned Homecoming Queen by Dr. Hefflin. The ceremony took place on the spacious area between the Science hall and the Administration building.

Attending the Queen were Mary Ann Judy, senior from Huttonsville; Virginia Harris, junior from Green Bank; Mrs. Norita Ballato, sophomore from Glenville; and Barbara Burke, freshman from Weston. William Rumbaugh, also of Weston, was the Pioneer, Elaine Stopp, daughter of Prof. and Mrs. George H. Stopp, was the crown-bearer.

One of the disappointments of the day was the postponement of the ballgame between Glenville and Potomac College. It was necessary for the game to be called off because of the flooded football field.

The day's festivities were brought to a close with the traditional Homecoming dance held from 9-12 in the old gym.

VMH Women

Joyce Jackson, Shirley Jones, Dorothy Maties, Virginia Parsons, Oneta Polan, Lois Post, Barbara Royce, Constance Sams, Clara Bell Snider, Barbara Taylor, Janet Thompson, Peggy Welch, Patricia West, Eileen White, and Sally Ziegler.

Dean of Women Pearl Pickens attended the house meeting, and she discussed the demerit system with the girls. Upon the voting for the demerit system, the house failed to favor it. Kitchen problems and painting were discussed.

Two girls were selected to ride on the Homecoming float. They were Jackie Humphreys and Shirley Chancey.

PROF. BELL ELECTED

Prof. Bessie Boyd Bell was recently elected to serve as a member on the executive committee of the West Virginia Historical Society for the Third Congressional District. The meeting was held in Fayetteville at the modern, new Soldiers and Sailors Building.

5 Frosh Football Aspirants Promise Future Greatness

Some of the freshmen on the 1954 football squad are looking very good and should be a great asset to our future teams. There is a freshman ready to step into every position on the team.

Jack Justice is a 230 pound tackle who is proving himself to be hard to handle in the line. Jack played one year at Tyler county high school under the coaching of a former Glenville star, Billy Hanlin. He is an engineering major and plans to follow that work when he completes his education.

John Estep, a veteran, comes from Meadow Bridge high school. He is a 195 pound end. John played three years on the Meadow Bridge squad. After completing his education as a physical education major, he plans to teach.

A fast-running halfback, Edward Armstrong also comes from Meadow Bridge high school, where he played four years of football. Eddie is a veteran of the U. S. Army. He plans to follow the teaching profession after completing his education in physical education.

James Dotson, 190 pound end, is from Charleston high school where he played one year on the football squad. He is an agriculture major and plans to follow that profession when through school.

James Whorton is another footballer who played under Coach Hanlin. A 175 pound halfback, he played in the L. K. bow! game this year and was voted as a member of the third string All-Star team. Jim undecided as to what profession will follow after graduation.

Letter to Parents By Prof. Matthews

"Dear Parents" is the title of an article appearing in the October issue of the WVEA Journal, written by Prof. Jewell Matthews. In it he thanks parents for loaning their children to her to teach and learn from.

According to Miss Matthews teachers receive more from children than children do from teachers. From a child we get a clearer outlook on life, we become young again, we learn simple things. She thanks parents for giving her the opportunity of this learning from their children.
