Stewart Announces April 1 Deadline for SC Candidates

By GEORGE PEASE

Marvin Stewart, Student Council president, in a recent interview, urged all students who are interested in running for a Student Council office to submit their platform to the Council no later than April 1.

Stewart said that the platform should be written and signed by any ten students who think the person is a good candidate for the stated office. He said that the candidate will have an opportunity to present orally his platform before the student body in a special assembly which will be held on April 1. The list of nominees and their platforms will then be posted before the student body, and the election held two weeks after the list has been posted.

Administration Favors
Commenting upon the coming election, Stewart said, "Each year the Student Council at Glenville State College is becoming more important. The Administration advocates that the students should govern themselves in order to be a well-organized student body. With this viewpoint of the Administration in mind, the importance of a strong Student Council is evident."

Valuable Time
Stressing the importance of good candidates, Stewart continued, "If a Student Council is to accomplish anything, its members must sacrifice valuable time and work for the interest and welfare of the student body."

Pointing out the responsibilities which a Council officer must accept Stewart concluded, "Next year's Student Council should be dedicated to the task of attaining new privileges for the student body and preserving the rights that have been given them in the past."

Urges Candidacy
"I want to urge any aspirant who has the welfare of the students in mind to become a candidate for some office in the Student Council." Qualifications for the office of (Continued on page 2)

YB Subscriptions Must be Received Before Next Week

Kanawha staff members have been working toward completion of the material for the yearbook's first deadline on March 4, according to Elaine Bell, editor. Shirley James, associate editor, and Doralene Bell have completed the material for the multiple which must be sent to the American Yearbook company before this date. This multiple contains pictures of the administration and faculty and some of the senior pictures.

Richard Tolliver, business manager, has begun selling pages for advertisement. He has also announced that a final subscription drive will be held during the last week of February. Students who wish to buy a yearbook must do so before Feb. 25.

Work on the yearbook is still being held up because of a lack of information. The yearbook staff urges all seniors to get this information to Shirley James or Doralene Bell immediately.

Valentine Party Held

A Valentine party was given for the kindergarten students in their room Monday. The children played games, exchanged valentines, and were served refreshments by their parents who sponsored the party.

17 to Attend Morgantown Music Meeting

Seventeen Glenville State music students will attend the annual music conference which is being held in Morgantown for the second successive year. The conference will be held on February 17-19 with the University School of music and the Monongalia County school acting as joint hosts.

Mr. Raymond Dvorah, director of bands at the University of Wisconsin, will direct the clinic bands, demonstrate rehearsal techniques and help solve music problems.

Fennell Conducts
The West Virginia All-College Symphony orchestra will rehearse and play on Thursday. It will be conducted by Frederick Fennell, who is rapidly gaining national recognition for having founded the Eastman Symphonic Wind Ensemble.

Faculty Holds LBH Party

A patriotic theme was used for the faculty party held February 11 in Louis Bennett Lounge.

The committee in charge of arrangements for the party included Miss Julia Nutter, chairman; Mrs. Lloyd Jones, Mrs. Nelson Wells, Mrs. Byron Turner, Miss Jewell Matthews, Miss Clarissa Williams, and Mrs. Asa Anderson.

Canasta, bridge, and Scrabble provided the entertainment for the evening. These parties are held each month.

POLL DEMANDS

Mercury to Add Column Favored by Students

By Yvonne Hart

A new column relating humorous incidents of campus life will be a regular feature of the Mercury, beginning with next week's issue. The column is a direct result of a poll which was taken last week by members of the editorial writing class. The column will be written by Patsy Friend, Shirley James, and Yvonne Hart.

In this poll, 104 of the 162 students interviewed were in favor of the column on the lighter side of campus life. The other 58 students weren't actually opposing it, but they seemed indifferent toward the proposal.

Other main issues of the poll were: whether the paper should include a column summarizing recent state and national sports and news and a gossip column. Sixty-seven students approved the former column; only 41 approved the latter.

Voice Opinions
Students were asked to express both destructive and constructive criticisms of the school paper. Very few offered criticisms, but some of the random opinions stated that

Braxton, Putnam
Students Head List;
'A' Averages Absent

By Shirley James

There were 100 students named on the honor list released by Dean Delmer Somerville for the first semester. For the first time in the past decade, no students maintained an 'A' average for the semester.

Twenty-five counties were represented on this list. Braxton and Putnam counties led the list with 33 per cent of the students from each of the two counties on the list. The other counties represented in order of their percentage are Pocahontas, Clay, Kanawha, Lewis, Gilmer, Marion, Wirt, Fayette, Randolph, Pleasants, Ritchie, Nicholas, Webster, Jackson, Greenbrier, Barbour, Harrison, Doddridge, Wetzell, Boone, and Calhoun.

Students who were named on the Dean's list are:

Prof. Floyd Miller Admitted to Library Science Fraternity

At a recent meeting of the American Library association, Prof. Floyd W. Miller, librarian, became a member of Beta Phi Mu, national library science honorary fraternity.

This fraternity was founded in 1948, and its purpose is to recognize academic achievement in library science and to sponsor professional and scholarly projects according to Professor Miller. Since the founding of the fraternity, nearly one thousand librarians, representing 24 library schools, have become members.

While he was at this meeting, Professor Miller attended several workshops and special committee meetings. The general purpose of the American Library association is to promote libraries and library professions, Professor Miller says.

Progressive Glenville Notes 83rd Birthday on Saturday

By SHIRLEY JAMES

Glenville State College will celebrate its eighty-third anniversary this Saturday, Feb. 19. A faculty party will be held in honor of the day. Since its establishment, this College has been a continuously growing institution.

On February 19, 1872, Glenville Normal School came into being as a result of an act of Legislature. Its establishment as a branch from Marshall college was provided for,

60 Members Of 1954 Class Now Teaching

By Jim Robinson

During the past several weeks the State Legislature has been considering the vast expense required to support West Virginia's higher education system. This problem has been brought into sharp focus by a series of articles in the Charleston Gazette. This interesting feature has dealt with the many aspects of the problem and has also hinted upon some mergers, eliminations, and curtailments in order to balance State College appropriations.

In this, our 83rd year of service to Central West Virginia, Glenville State College can well be proud of its outstanding contributions to the state's cultural and educational development.

Based on the assumption that the State Colleges were founded to prepare WEST VIRGINIANS TO TEACH in WEST VIRGINIA, Glenville State College has steadfastly maintained this policy for 83 years. Here, at Glenville, we prepare citizens of West Virginia to teach, and to teach in West Virginia. While few others can claim such a noteworthy accomplishment and support it with cold statistics, we can.

KH Residents Honor Recent

Residents of Kanawha hall honored Elaine Bell Markley with a surprise party at the dormitory last week. Elaine was recently married to Carson Markley, who is serving in the US Army at the present time. The girls of the dormitory gave Elaine a lace tablecloth as a gift. Mrs. Freda Couthall, dormitory housemother, served cookies and punch. Entertainment was provided by Sue Leach, Marita Spicer, Betty Jo Lewis, Shirley Lambert, Janice Tingler, and Mona Hinkle.

on the condition that citizens of the town furnish buildings without expense to the state.

Opened in 1873

The school was first opened to receive students on January 15, 1873. At that time, the school was located in the old courthouse. T. M. Marshall, who was at that time taking a language course at Marshall, was named as acting principal.

In 1885, the first building was erected. It was at this time that the old part of the Administration building was built. The library was then located in the Administration building. An additional building was joined to the older one in 1903 to accommodate growing needs for space.

2 Courses Offered

During the early years of the College, only two courses, a normal and a scientific, were given. The courses covered a period of two years. Students who applied for admission were expected to have completed some elementary English grammar, practical arithmetic, have a knowledge of history and geography, be able to write legibly, and also be able to spell and read correctly.

Tuition $10-$20

In 1905-06, tuition was from $10 to $20 a term, as compared to today's tuition fee of $25 a semester. At that time board was $2.50 to $3.00 a week. Students were expected to furnish or provide for their own lodging.

Fifteen students were graduated from the school in 1875, compared to 100 in 1948 and 75 in 1954. The smallest graduating class in the history of Glenville numbered one graduate in 1876.

Bigger Faculty

There was approximately one faculty member for every 33 students in 1911. Today there is approximately one faculty member for every 20 students.

Students from 23 Area High Schools Attend Home Games

Glenville State College has invited 23 central West Virginia high schools to be guests at its home basketball games throughout the season. By this gesture, it is hoped to create a better and more friendly relationship with these schools.

Roane County has been invited to the last home game of the season, which is scheduled for Feb. 19.

Schools who were invited to attend the past games are: Gilmer county, Calhoun county, Lewis and Upshur county, Doddridge county and Roosevelt-Wilson high school, Wood and Ritchie county, Braxton county, Clay county, Pleasants county.

Prof. H. Y. Clark commented that Burnsville high school was the only high school of the group to have a unanimous attendance. He also stated that Gilmer county had the largest crowd.

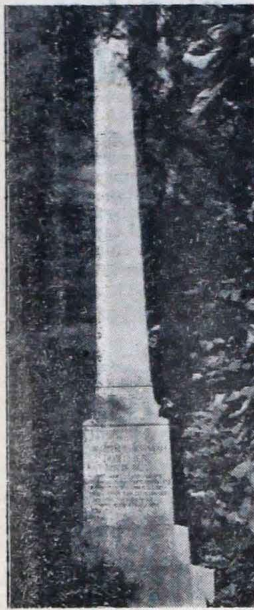

Movie Shown Ed. Class

The movie "Principles of Development" was shown to education classes, directed teaching classes, and to mental hygiene classes during last week, according to the education department.

Purpose in presenting these movies to education students was to show them, prospective teachers, how children grow. These movies also make students understand children better.

OUR FIRST PRESIDENT

Legendary Marshall Buried at Stout's Mill

BY JACK CAWTON

It was a hot summer day. The air hung limp and lifeless. Several feet below the sloping hillside ledge came the sound of gurgling water—the only sound that broke the stillness of the day and disrupted the quiet of the tree-implanted country cemetery.

Rising to a height of feet, the tall slender column of granite seemed out of harmony with the surroundings. On every side were tall cedar trees. The trees seemed to be waging a winning battle against the man made structure. Saplings and weeds filled the space left vacant by the trees.

It was cool here. The heat seemed to retract its power, and in its place hung coolness—a coolness that brought with it the still colder thought that here lay the dead.

In this small country cemetery near the little community of Stout's Mill is the final resting place of one of the most colorful figures in Glenville college history—the fabulous T. M. Marshall.

Many are the stories concerning this man. It is not our purpose to relate these stories, but it is a rare student indeed who attends Glenville State College for any length of time without hearing of the exploits of this man.

Serving as the principal of Glenville Normal school, Mr. Marshall saw the school emerge from hopes and dreams and become established in the field of education.

From such a humble beginning, Glenville College has pushed on to become the respected and well known institution that it is today. Through the efforts of such men as T. M. Marshall, our progress has been ever toward a bigger and better institution of higher learning.

Still the wind blows through the trees above the man almost forgotten by society. And still the little Kanawha gurgles onward toward the sea.

SIGMA TAU GAMMA: Thomas Reed, acting president, announced that there would be a fine of 25 cents levied on each member who misses a meeting.

Pledge Larry Sergent has found it necessary to leave school, but he will be initiated into the fraternity before he leaves. This will be done in hopes that he will be returning in the future and will at that time be a member.

Plans were discussed for holding a celebration in honor of pledge Berman Litton's marriage.

Discussion was given to the future Spring Outing, but, nothing definite was planned.

HOLY ROLLER COURT: Judge Richard Barrett announced that the pins have been ordered for eligible members, and that they should be received in about one week.

It was decided that members who had missed repeatedly in the past semester will be asked to go inactive so that more pledges can be brought in during the Spring. It was further decided that any member missing more than three meetings a semester would be asked to go inactive.

Take, for example, our most recent graduating class. Of the 75 members of the class of 1954, 80 percent were residents of West Virginia. The enrollment this year reveals 98 percent of our student body are residents of West Virginia. Glenville is truly a West Virginia College serving West Virginians.

In addition, our students still come from the same general area as they did during the 19th century. Our first graduating class consisted of two students from Gilmer County and two from Roane County. Today our service area has been vastly extended, but our main objective is still the same—training Central West Virginia youth in becoming teachers.

A remarkable 97 percent of the 75 1954 graduates were qualified to receive West Virginia teaching certificates. Forty-three were qualified elementary teachers and 30 were qualified to teach in the secondary school system, evidence that Glenville is fulfilling teacher-training responsibilities.

Probably the most noteworthy item of all is that 80 percent of the 1954 class immediately entered the teaching profession. Of these 60 who are now teaching, 49 are teaching in West Virginia. Some of the 11 who left the state to teach did so to be near their husbands who were in service. Glenville-trained teachers do their teaching in West Virginia.

Today, approximately 1,152 boys and girls are being taught by teachers who were part of the Glenville State College graduating class of 1954. Counties to which these teachers went are Nicholas, Roane, Randolph, Webster, Gilmer, Wood, Wirt, Harrison, Jackson, Calhoun, Hampshire, Lewis, Braxton, Ritchie, Wyoming, Kanawha, Marion, Mason, Cabell, McDowell, Pocahontas and Fayette.

A factor of prime concern to our Legislature at the present time is per student cost in state institutions. Of major importance in determining actual cost to the State is the total appropriation as it is affected by those meeting the major responsibilities of our State Colleges—teaching, how many actually teach, and how many remain in West Virginia to do their teaching.

An excellent investment and an outstanding record would seem to be indicated by an institution that has 97 percent qualifying for a teaching certificate, 80 percent actually teaching, and 96.6 percent teaching in West Virginia. Glen-

The college students attending the conference are invited to an informal dance after the All-College symphony on Thursday night. Music will be furnished by a combo from the WVU men's music fraternity, Phi Mu Alpha Sinfonia.

Third Largest

Glenville's chapter of MENC has one of the largest student-chapter membership in West Virginia. It is exceeded only by Marshall, West Virginia, and Fairmont.

Students who will make the trip are Delores Black, Doris Marks, Glenda Black, Alpha Lee Cokerly, Kent Duffield, Mary Dyer, Alice McCullough, Lee Jack Kaufman, Junior Boyles, Curtis Flesman, Fred Patton, Joe Arbogast, Norman Stone, Lyla Jean Stump, Roland Cokerly, James Davis, and Raymond Ayers. They will be accompanied by Dr. Harold Orendorff and Miss Bertha Olsen.

New Students at H. Ec Home

Four new students are now maintaining residence at the Home Management house according to Patty Hybert. Those students are Clara Mae Hull, Martha Ann Marsh, Patty Hybert and Marilyn Rastle.

Different duties are assigned to each girl every five days. The purpose is to acquaint them with each so that they might obtain knowledge which will aid them in the later work.

Presently Marilyn Rastle is acting as manager; Clara Mae Hull is cook; Martha Ann Marsh housekeeper; and Patty Hybert, assistant housekeeper.

Last Friday evening the group had as guests President and Mrs. Harry B. Heilin for dinner. These dinners are held every week.

Pioneers Need 2 Wins to Clinch 2nd Place

Important Playoff Position Within Grasp of Stoppmen

Glenville's ever-surprising Pioneers, fighting desperately to hold on to their coveted second place position in the WVAC standings, face two serious threats to their standing this week when they oppose Salem Thursday night and Fairmont Saturday night.

Locked in a four-way battle for the second place spot with Wesleyan, Davis & Elkins, and Morris Harvey, Coach Stopp's "Cinderella kids" were faced with the proposition of winning two of their three league engagements this week, beginning with last night's encounter with Wesleyan.

Two victories this week would secure the highly-contested runner-up position to the season-Broadbuds.

Second place means a lot to the Pioneers because with it goes automatic berth in the NAIA playoffs which follow the championship tourney. The win in the NAIA tourney represents a conference at the National University in Kansas City.

Pioneers won three games last week, but only had to play one. The reason for the unbalanced being that the Gee Men were awarded a forfeit victory.

The fight for second place was fought before last night's game.

Tech in a game that Tech lost 100-100 on January 5. In that game, the Golden Bears were ineligible player and Glenville awarded the victory.

Glenville's other victories were at the expense of Fairmont and Beckley 92-66. The three wins raised the season standing to 14 wins and five defeats.

Performance

Though the Gee Men downed Tech 118-85 in their first meeting this season, the Pioneers can't count on the same performance tomorrow night. Glenville's early-season over the Tigers was a straight and certainly their performance of the season. Only did the current quintet play a school scoring record last night, but they worked with it not often seen on the local scene. Five men hit in double figures and 11 participated in the game as the red-hot Pioneers won 52% of their field goal.

The Gee Men hit their season peak against Salem, their meeting with Davis & Elkins, opponent this Saturday, was powered by Paul Williams. Powered by Pete Bezzini, the Senators won with an easy 98-81 conquest of the Pioneers in their Jan. meeting.

JACK TENNANT

HARRY SMITH

Tennant, Smith Play Final Home Tilt Sat. Against D&E

With this Saturday's final home game of the season against Davis & Elkins, two of Glenville's finest basketballers, Jack Tennant and Harry Smith, will close out their careers on the local court.

Tennant came to Glenville in 1951 from Fairview where he was a triple-sport star in high school. Although in high school he played in the shadow of the more-publicized Mike Marko, Tennant came of age following his entrance at Glenville.

During his freshman season Tennant racked up 420 points for a 16.2 game average. As a sophomore, he scored a record 516, and last season "Dynamite" Jack tallied 448 to raise his three-season total to 1,425 points.

Holds Conference Mark

Thus far this season (up to the Fairmont game) Jack has scored 340 points, raising his career total to 1,763 points, 111 short of the record mark set by Bob Hardman. Even at this writing, Tennant has scored more points (1,600) in conference competition than any other player in Glenville history. Hardman gains his margin over Tennant by virtue of his many tournament opportunities while Tennant has played in only three post-season games.

Most Improved

Regarded as the most improved ball player in the state this season, Harry Smith is a holdover from the great 1951 team that capped the state championship and represented the conference in the N. A. T. A. tourney in Kansas City.

During that campaign, Harry was a vital cog in the attack as he tallied 122 points for a 5.8 game average. Following two years in the Army, where he picked up some valuable basketball experience in the tough Panama basketball circuit, Smith returned to Glenville last season and scored 224 points for a 8.9 game average.

High Percentage

This season Harry has been one of the most valuable members of the squad. His field goal percentage has been hovering around the 50 percent mark all season long and has been leading the team in foul shooting as well.

Up to, and including the Fairmont game, Smith had scored 271 points to rank third in team scoring. In addition to his scoring potential, Smith is one of the conference's top rebounders and an adept play-maker from his pivot post.

Big Vacancies

With two such seasoned performers departing from the local basketball scene, Coach Stopp faces a difficult task in filling the shoes of senior performers Jack Tennant and Harry Smith. They have given their utmost for many years in hopes of raising Glenville's basketball fortunes. That we have improved considerably in the past season is, to a large extent, due to the play of Tennant and Smith, the unofficial "co-captains" of the 1954-55 squad.

Locked in a nip-and-tuck battle for the first 10 minutes, Glenville's rapid Pioneers broke out in a scoring blaze during the latter stages of the first half Saturday night and went on to post a convincing 92-66 win over hapless Beckley. The win was Glenville's third of the week (including the forfeit win of the January 5 game with Tech) and gave the Wave a 14-5 season slate.

Deadlocked at 16-16 with 10:36 remaining in the half, Harry Smith, Glenville's talented pivotman, dumped in a two-pointer to provide the White Wave with a margin they never lost.

Tennant Nears Mark

Leading the Pioneer attack was "Dynamite" Jack Tennant who enjoyed his finest scoring night of the month by scoring 22 points 15 of them in the first half. Tennant's outburst left him 107 points short of the school record now held by Bob Hardman.

Following Tennant in the scoring column was freshman flash Rudy "Cool" Poole with 16 points and veteran Harry Smith who tallied 12. Smith also led the team in rebounding in addition to his fine defensive play.

By a Whisker

Against Fairmont, the Gee Men were forced to resort to a tremendous last half rally before they overcame the spirited Falcons by too-close-for-comfort 78-77 win. Trailing by 18 points at the half time stop, the Pioneers, sparked by unassuming Bob Weaver, came roaring back to snatch certain victory away from the Fairmonters.

Turner effective

Poole paced the offense with 19 points followed by Tennant and Weaver, both with 14 points. Bob Turner was the most effective defensive operative with 11 defensive rebounds and four off the offensive boards. In addition, the dependable Turner chipped in with eight important points.

More states in the United States have names which originated from Indian words than from any other language.

By Jim Hamrick

Bokovitz's Bears, Hunt's Hustlers, and Crouch's Woodies all continued their winning ways last week to remain undefeated in M. A. A. play. Bokovitz's Bears had to come from behind to pick up a 55-40 victory over the Rowdies of Steve Rohr. Barrett and Hall tossed in 18 and 17 to lead the Bears while Williams had 17 and Dotson 13 for the Rowdies.

The Hustlers of Ollie Hunt's racked up their fifth straight win as they defeated the second place Bradors of Joe Bradley 40-32. Hunt and Kelley paced the Hustlers with 15 and 12 points respectively, but John Lazear lead all scorers with 13 points.

Woodies Romp

Crouch's Woodies ran roughshod over the Bullets of Joe Kimble for their fourth win by a score of 63-25. Ted Crouch paced his own team with 26 markers while Kirk provided able assistance with 20 points. Huffman canned 10 for the losers.

In other play Cogar's Cats beat the Commuters of Gary Smith 43-36 and Melrose's Rosies walloped the Hardmaners of John Estep 43-16. Schoonmaker led the Cats with 13 and Jones tossed in 11 for the Commuters. Courtney and Fulks paced the Rosies with nine and eight points while Hannaman and Armstrong got six apiece for the Hardmaners.

The standings to date are:

Basketball Pictures On Display In Grill

Basketball pictures of interest to the townspeople and college students are the chief feature of the Grill's new window display. Centered in the display are individual pictures of Glenville's basketball team. The first ten men on the team are included. Beneath these individual pictures are the names of the players and their home towns. One feature of the display is the "Player of the Week." Also included are pictures of this college's cheerleaders.

Individual statistics are included in the window display, as well as team standings. Various other pictures are shown including action shots of games. These pictures are taken by Jack Cawthon. Pictures of the crowd are also taken by Cawthon and displayed in the window. The display is an effort on the part of the College News Bureau to publicize home basketball games.

The second round of Louis Bennett hall's basketball league was marked by the comeback of the mighty Batten "Babblers" in their 28-24 victory over the highly ranked Weaver's "Wobblers" of the first section. In the second game of the night Rardin's "Ribbles Ribblers" knocked of Cogar's "Cats" 26-12. Ron Godfrey of the "Wobblers" and Oliver Hunt of the "Babblers" were the main-stays in the Weaver-Batten battle. Each one netted 11 points; Godfrey's points coming on four field goals and three for five at the foul line. Hunt's scoring came on three goals and five for ten at the charity line. Justice netted six points for the losers to place second next to Godfrey. Richard Stewart made two markers and a foul to place second to Hunt for the winners.

Ray Rardin, who took over the management of the defunct Hamon's "Hoodlums," coached the "Ribbles Ribblers" to their second consecutive win. The Rardinmen walked over the "Cats" 26-12; their first win was a 38-32 trouncing of
