'Glass Menagerie' Will Have Original Background Music

A new dimension will be added to dramatic productions here when "The Glass Menagerie" is given this fall, according to Prof. William Coleman, director, with the use of background music for the production.

This is the first time that music has been used with straight dramatic productions on this campus in recent years, and will be the music written for the original Broadway production. Trent Busch, a member of the Ohningohow players, will be in charge of sound for "Menagerie."

16 Candidates Vie for Listing In Who's Who

Sixteen students, 10 seniors and six juniors, have been chosen by their classes to be considered for membership in "Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities."

"Who's Who" is an annual national publication containing the biographies of outstanding students of colleges and universities throughout the United States.

Qualifications for recipients of this award include: scholastic ability, cooperation, leadership, citizenship, service to the school, and usefulness to society. From the 16 students who have been nominated, a special committee consisting of members of the faculty and the student body will choose eight who are to be recommended for membership in "Who's Who."

Members of the committee are Susan Arnold, Joseph Arbogast, Phyllis Given, and Prof. Stanley Hall, adviser. This committee will check to see that those chosen for the honor are eligible in all respects. An election was held last Thursday, Oct. 20, in the student union for the selection of the eight students, five seniors and three juniors.

College Enrollment Now Numbers 645

Glenville State College's final enrollment for the fall term numbers 645 students—including those enrolled in extension classes and part time students—according to Dean Delmar K. Somerville. There are 250 freshmen enrolled, 159 sophomores, 83 juniors, and 60 seniors. Forty-five part time students attend classes and 42 students are enrolled in extension classes in Harrisville and Clay.

Greene Cops Top Laurels In FFA Meet

By ROBERT MILLER

Ben Greene, a freshman majoring in pre-forestry here, walked away with top honors in the National Future Farmers of America's 28th annual soil and water management competition staged earlier this month at Kansas City, receiving $250 in prize money.

A graduate of Ripley High School last spring, Greene was the first West Virginian to cop first place in the national contest.

Greene's work in soil and water management during the past three years—for which he was judged—was a continuation of the program initiated by his father and grandfather in 1942, at which time their farm was placed under a soil conservation district agreement.

At that time, it could be said that the farm was in an over-worked state, having no timber of value, sparse and gully-cut pastures, and undesirable growth covering much of the good land.

In order to put the farm back on a profitable production basis, a number of corrective steps were taken. First, contour strips for 92 acres of cropland were developed, followed by the building of diversion ditches to carry off excess water, and the adoption of other practices to help hold the soil in place.

Greene then built and planted two sod waterways and laid 1175 feet of tile to drain a swampy area and turn it into good meadow. He cleared the fields of filth and stones and built eight check dams.

160 STUDENTS TREATED

One hundred sixty Glenville State College students were treated in the school clinic during September, according to Nurse Mary Fest. Two of that number were admitted to the infirmary, the others being dismissed after treatment.

Gainer Appointed Chesterfield Agent

Robert Gainer, sophomore, has been appointed Chesterfield campus representative at Glenville State College, it was announced here today by Campus Merchandising Bureau, Inc. of New York, N. Y.

Gainer was chosen from applicants throughout the country to represent Chesterfield cigarettes, first choice with America's college men and women. The position will mean valuable experience in merchandising, advertising, and public relations, as the student representative gets on-the-job training in conducting a sales promotion program.

Gainer, from Corton, is a Glenville high school graduate. He is president of Ohningohow players and business manager of the MEGURY. Treasurer of Sigma Tau Gamma fraternity, he is currently a lead in the cast of "The Glass Menagerie" to be given on campus in December.

Area Supervisors Conference Will Meet on College Campus

Problems confronting present day junior high schools will be discussed at the annual meeting of Central West Virginia Supervisors when they convene on Glenville State College campus Tuesday, Nov. 1.

According to Dean Delmer K. Somerville, Miss Blenda Proudfoot, of the State Department of Education, will discuss some of the curriculum problems facing junior high schools in West Virginia.

Greetings will be given by President Harry B. Heflin at 10 a.m., and Prof. Harold S. Orendorff will lead the group in singing.

Concord Professor Talks on Curriculum

Curriculum building in grades seven, eight, and nine will be discussed by Prof. Ralph Cunningham of Concord college.

After lunch the group will again assemble in the lounge where music will be led by Miss Eugenia Adams, supervisor of music in Lewis county schools.

Panel Will Discuss Needs

Next on the agenda will be a panel discussion, "Meeting the Needs of Pupils in Grades, Seven, Eight and Nine." Participating on the panel will be: Edgell Dean, principal of Richmond high school; Harold Proudfoot, superintendent of Clay county schools; Fred Coffindaffer, assistant state supervisor of instruction; Mrs. LaVaughn Wolderton, teacher from West Union; and Dean Somerville.

Summary of the meeting will be presented by H. Cliff Hamilton, state supervisor of instruction.

Four One-Act Plays Billed; Casts Listed

Members of the play production class will present four one-act plays during this term, with each member of the class casting and directing a play.

Yvonne Hart is directing the farce, "Box and Cox", involving two businessmen who unknowingly occupy the same apartment and date the same girl. The two men will be portrayed by Edward Perrine and Trent Busch. Shirley Cawthon will play the role of the landlady.

Jack Cawthon has chosen the comedy, "Suppressed Desires." The cast for this play is Shirley James, Beverly McComis, and Fred Batten. This comedy is about a woman who is involved in psychoanalysis. The other characters are her husband and her sister.

Mary Lou West has cast Carolyn Jackson, Charlotte McCarty, Lee Kessinger, and Jack Cawthon for the roles in "The Flattering Word." This play portrays a mix-up between a minister and an actor.

Bernyce Roberts is directing a melodrama, "The Valiant." Included in the cast are Orton Jones, Ray Carson, Pat Starkey, Paul Roberts, and Jack Cawthon. This is a melodrama which takes place in the warden's office in the state prison shortly before the scheduled execution of the prisoner who has refused to reveal his true identity.

Council Lists 1955 Kanawhachen Staff

Shirley James, senior from Frametown, has been named editor of the 1955 Kanawhachen by the Student Council. Miss James, who was associate editor of last year's publication, is majoring in English and minoring in speech.

Other members of the yearbook staff who have been chosen are: Dorene Bell, associate editor; Edsel Ford, business manager; Jack Cawthon, photographer; John Cutlip, sports, and Prof. Stanley Hall, faculty adviser.

Associate editor, Dorene Bell, a junior from Huttonsville, was a member of the staff last year, and is a member of the Ohningohow Players and Kappa Chi Kappa sorority.

Edsel Ford, a senior from Scarbo, is Kappa Sigma Kappa president, and vice president of the Student Council.

Photographer Jack Cawthon, a senior from Glenville, is the photographer for the "Mercury," editor of the "Pathfinder," and a member of the National Press Photographer's association.

Annual Talent Show Slated November 22

A call for talent has been issued by Veterans Club Commander John Lazear for the forthcoming talent show Tuesday, Nov. 22.

Winners of this annual affair, which is sponsored by the local Veterans Club, will be awarded cash prizes in the amount of $10, $5 and $3 for the top places. Chesterfield Agent Robert Gainer has also stated that he plans to give cigarettes to the winners.

Lazear announced that persons desiring to enter the contest should fill out an application, giving name and act they intend to perform and turn it in to any member of the club, or deposit in boxes placed for that purpose in several places on the campus.

GSC Library Changes Reserve Book Program

Beginning tomorrow, students using reserve books in the library will no longer sign them out at the loan desk. Students are requested to sign for them only when the book is taken from the building for overnight use. Titles regarding use of reserve books are printed on a card inserted in each book.

The reserve book procedure is being placed on a self-service basis. Students are requested to get the book they want from the reserve shelf and return it when finished. Only books borrowed for overnight use are to be returned to the loan desk attendant.

Car Controversy Debated

Should ownership of a car on campus have anything to do with one's grades, or vice versa? This question has been asked by many of our students during the past two weeks.

A regulation concerning car owners maintaining a "C" average in order to keep a car on campus is being enforced. Whether it is a justifiable regulation from the student's point-of-view or from the faculty's point-of-view, the fact remains: "No 'C' average; no car!"

One of our students remarked, when hearing of the regulation, "I can't see why they don't let us worry about our own grades. If we can't leave a car alone long enough to study, then that should be our worry."

Some students erroneously think of this new regulation merely as a punishment for scholastic probation. However, this is not true. If this were a punishment, then it would effect all students. This ruling effects only dormitory students. This ruling, according to members of the faculty, is in the same class as the rulings that athletes and student employees must have a "C" average. It is not a punishment; it is a precaution to help those who are on probation to raise their grade average. It is a popular belief that students would have a tendency to study more if their cars were not here.

Approximately 184 of 604 GSC students own cars. Of course, all of us are concerned, to an extent, because we often ride home with a college student who is one of the 184 drivers.

On one hand, we have the viewpoint of the students. They do pay to go to College here, and many go home every weekend. Many need their cars desperately. Should the faculty absolutely say "No!"? If a person is old enough and responsible enough to attend college, he should be capable of both operating a car and keeping up with his subjects.

On the other hand, the faculty has only our best interest at heart. They get no personal joy out of depriving the student the use of his car. They are merely trying to help us to help ourselves. Other colleges have gone even farther—they have not permitted freshmen to have cars on campus at all.

Think this over. There are many facts to every question.—Yvonne Hart

Where's the School Spirit?

So far as school spirit is concerned, our college is sadly lacking.

Almost automatically, when school spirit is mentioned, we begin to think of going to ball games, yelling our heads off, and really backing the team. But is school spirit nothing more than this? This is only one phase of school spirit—when we hope the Pioneers will win every game of the season. Even this part of our school spirit is not what it should be.

To see an example of a lack of school spirit, attend the next home game. Students who go to the games are supposedly interested, but many of them do not show their interest at all. Our cheerleaders, who have a great deal of enthusiasm, cannot be expected to do their best without help from the student body.

Another manifestation of school spirit, or a lack of it is shown by the appearance of certain parts of the campus. Look at the front of the student union. There we find an assortment of chewing gum wrappers, paper bags, cigarette packages, and other unsightly objects.

A few steps into the union to put this debris into a wastebasket would certainly help the appearance of the campus. The same is true of the entrances into the dining hall. These entrances are often littered with cigarette butts and pieces of paper, which give the area an unsightly appearance. Such things as these certainly show a lack of school spirit.

Participation in activities is also partly motivated by school spirit. Of course, students are supposed to be in college to get an education, but education is a great deal more than "book-learning." Education includes the extra-curricular activities of college life. Think how dull life on a college campus would be if there were no such activities.

We are not saying that students should devote all their time to extra-curricular activities, but if every student were an active member of at least one campus organization, these organizations could become a more functional part of the college.

School spirit applies to many more activities than those mentioned here. Actually, it applies to our entire campus life. We do believe that if every student practiced the manifestations of school spirit mentioned here, this campus would be a more pleasant and a more valuable one.—Shirley James.

Kappa Sigma Kappa—President Edsel Ford presided at the meeting. Pledges were sent into their third week of pledging. Plans were discussed for the annual Sage Hawkins Day which will be held Saturday, Nov. 12. Member Danny Hall was welcomed back, after being inactive for some time.

Holy Roller Court—Judge Donald Hamon presided. Various activities of the year were discussed. Pledges have been taken in and are now full-fledged members of the organization. Pins and jackets were discussed.

Sigma Tau Gamma—Vice President Curtis Flesherman, in the absence of President Joe Arbogast, conducted the meeting. An orchestra for the White Rose Dance was discussed. A possible choice is the Star Gazers from Clarksburg. Pledges were given instructions for their third week of pledging.

Two Roads to Truth, by Edmund Sinnott

Few people in western civilization fail to recognize any longer the apparent conflicts which modern science has made with our well-grounded religious traditions. Mr. Sinnott attempts to define the problems as he sees them and to offer possible solutions in his new book, Two Roads to Truth.

Mr. Sinnott names the two roads to truth as man's ancient traditions of Reason and Spirit. Both are needful for an enrichment of life and cultural advancement; they should not be tearing society apart. Since man is a creature of both mind and spirit, he should be striving for as much harmony as possible in science, the tradition of the mind, and in religion, the tradition of the spirit. The two roads to truth may not be so fundamentally different.

"Individuals should be hospitable to new ideas, of mind or spirit, and set their faces earnestly against dogmatic certainties based on partial knowledge of the truth that close the door to visions of the boundless future," Mr. Sinnott offers this as an important solution to our present problems.

His treatment of the worlds most controversial issue is indeed stimulating.

Several GSC Students Wed

Seven Glenville State College couples were married during the past summer or early fall. A brief summary of the weddings is as follows:

Glenville College students who were married this summer include: Nancy Grose Greenleaf, senior, was married Aug. 12 at Buckhannon to Virgil Greenleaf. Mrs. Greenleaf is a math major from French Creek and Mr. Greenleaf, a former student in Mr. Harmony. He was an agriculture major.

Lanham Marries Gandee

Dottie Lanham, senior of Bristol was married to Carlton Gandee of Clendenin on Aug. 27 in Marshall Baptist church in Bristol. Mrs. Gandee is a physical education and home economics major. Mr. Gandee, a 1952 graduate, is in the Navy. Barbara Wright and Donald Hamon, seniors, were married on July 17, at Cowen Baptist church. Mrs. Hamon, an elementary major, is from Cowen and Hamon, a physical education major, is from Hurricane.

Doris Marks, junior, became the bride of John Short, senior, on Aug. 1 at Winchester, Va. Mrs. Short is a music major from Lorentz and Mr. Short a physical education major from Cowen.

Boggs-Frymier Are Wed

Betty Boggs, sophomore, and Francis Frymier were married in Weston, Sept. 9. The new Mrs. Frymier is a business major from Sand Fork and her husband, a freshman is from Glenville.

David Arbogast, sophomore, was married to Martha Stalnaker on Aug. 27. Arbogast of Junior is a music major and his wife is from Belington.

Bernard Heflin, a freshman, married Delores Stewart of Sutton on Sept. 3, in Sutton. Heflin from West Union is a physical education major.

ALUMNI NOTES

Boram Heads Information Office At Marietta College

By Connie Sams

William A. Boram, '53, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Boram of Weston, has assumed duties as director of information at Marietta college. Boram is a cum laude graduate of Glenville State College and has been director of publicity for Montreat (N. C.) college for the past year. At Marietta he will head the sports and general news department of the college.

Courier diplomat for the State Department, James R. Scott, '53, is now in Helsinki, Finland, after having spent two weeks in Russia. Mr. Scott, a former employee of the F. B. I. in Washington, D. C., reports that he had completed freedom within Moscow and was at liberty to take pictures although there are restrictions on what may be photographed.

The engagement of Miss Elsie A. Elswick, '52, to Karl A. Dunlap has been announced by Miss Elswick's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Rex Dunlap of St. Albans. The bride-to-be received her B.A. degree in music from Glenville State College and a masters degree from West Virginia University. While at Glenville Miss Elswick was affiliated with Xi Beta Tau Sorority and Alpha Psi Omega, national dramatics honorary.

Julia E. Stalnaker, '52, of Weston received a graduate assistantship in the School of Physical Education and Athletics of West Virginia University for the 1955-56 Academic year. Miss Stalnaker will be teaching swimming and other basic courses in the Women's Physical Education department while she is working on master of science degree in health, physical education and recreation at the university.

A column entitled "Nursery Rhymes for Adult Minds," written by Mrs. Juanita McDougal, '52, has been published in The Challenger, West Virginia Classroom Teachers' association newspaper. Mrs. McDougal is teaching third grade in Glenville elementary school.

Dick Barrett, '54, fresh from a summer of camp counseling in New England, has been named head basketball coach and assistant football coach at Hurricane high school. While Barrett attended Glenville State, he was active in the Holy Roller court and Student council. He was president of his senior class, and a member of the football, basketball, and golf squads.

Mrs. Strony Is Guest Speaker

Mrs. Madeline S. Strony, national education consultant for Gregg Publishing division of the McGraw-Hill Book Company, Inc., spoke to approximately 75 Glenville State College business students and visiting teachers from Normanstown, Tanner, Troy, Glenville, Weston, Cassaway, and Grantsville Wednesday, Oct. 19, in the Science Hall.

Topics discussed by Mrs. Strony were: improvement of instruction in shorthand and transcription; improvement of instruction in typewriting; improvement of instruction in bookkeeping, general business and other business subjects.

Luncheon was served to the visiting group at 1:00 p.m. in Kanawha Hall. In the afternoon Mrs. Strony gave an address, "Personality Plus," in Louis Bennett lounge. Following the address, Mrs. Strony answered questions raised by the group. Mrs. Rosalea Miller, commercial teacher at Glenville high school, and Prof. Nelson Wells gave a summary of the meeting.

Robert M. Hall, Weston, zone manager of the Investors Diversified Services, Inc., was another recent guest of the business department for the fourth consecutive year.

Since Mr. Hall became associated with the Investors Diversified Services, Inc., he has done more than $500,000 worth of business each year. Last year his volume exceeded $1,000,000. He has led the state in business for the past two years, and since joining the company he has been awarded membership in the coveted "President's Club" every year.

Verona Mapel Hall Holds Open House

By Reta Jo Vannoy

Verona Mapel hall held Open House Thursday night, Oct. 20, from 7:30 p. m. to 10 p. m.

The theme, Halloween, was carried out in decorating the lounge, front porch, and sun porch.

Mobles hung from the streamers of orange and black in the lounge. The front door of the lounge was decorated with ghosts and pumpkins, and the mirrors were covered with black cats, witches, and a large skeleton.

Podder and pumpkins were placed against the white posts of the front porch, and a witch riding across the moon could be seen on the sun porch.

Freshmen girls living in Verona Mapel dressed in Halloween costumes served as guides and took groups from room to room.

Some of the rooms carried out the Halloween theme with appropriate decorations and each girl had candy in her room as a treat for her guests.

The receiving line consisted of Miss Pearl Pickens, dean of women; Mrs. Edna Keim, house mother; Rita Pickens, president; Bonnie Gorrell, and Barbara Taylor, officers of Verona Mapel hall. Barbara Blackhurst acted as registrar at the front door in the lounge.

Punch and cookies were served to all guests.

PIONEERS WILL BATTLE SALEM ON WESTON FIELD, SATURDAY

Encouraged by their 25-6 win over Davis-Elkins, the rejuvenated Glenville Pioneers will take on the up-and-coming Salem Tigers on the Weston high school field Saturday night.

Salem, who bowed to Glenville, 13-0, on a muddy field last season, has several lettermen back this year and promises to give the Pioneers a stiff tussle. The Green and White, who have had a jinx for a number of years of not being able to win games, broke their jinx by downing Wesleyan, 14-0 in the annual homecoming tilt.

Glenville, also suffering from a victory famine lately, won its first game in five starts by downing D-E, 25-6, October 15.

West Figures Salem Better

In playing the percentages, the industrious Tiger coach, Paul West, figures his team to be a sure choice over the Gee-Men. Coach West bases his decision on the fact that the Salem boys beat Wesleyan by two touchdowns; Fairmont notched a one touchdown margin over the Methodists, and the Falcons moved over Glenville by two touchdowns. Thus, by his logic, the Green and White will have little trouble with the Pioneers.

Coach Nick Murin made no comment about his team's chances with the Pioneers, except to say that the Tigers, who are playing an improved brand of ball, will be out to notch their ninth win against nine losses and two ties with the Salem squad.

The game, which will start at eight o'clock, will be played for the benefit of the Little Leaguers and Babe Ruth Leagues of the Weston community.

Reit, Shields In First-Way Tie

After the third round of MAA volleyball league play, Reit's "Rompers" and Shield's "Shielders" still maintain a first place tie. The "Rompers" knocked off Butcher's "Butlers" who were previously tied for first place. Shield's charges continued their masterful playing as they stamped Vento's "Vaulters" for their third straight defeat of the current season.

Chancey's "Challengers" moved into the undisputed third place spot when they took the measure of the big Mason's "Maulers."

Fans Look To First Place Match
MAA fans are eagerly awaiting the match between the "Rompers" and "Shielders" which will determine the first place rating. Although the "Rompers" are favored, the "Shielders" have come up with some brilliant play so it will probably be the breaks which will determine the winner of this much-looked-for contest.

The "Rompers" have such experienced players as Reit, Jones, Holder, Schoonmaker, Stewart, and Weaver. Playing for the "Shielders" are such key men as Shields, Allen, Sullivan, Nuzum, Webb, Tustin, E. Buck, and B. Buck.

Pioneers Humiliated 20-6 By Fired-Up Wesleyan

Completely outclassed by an inspired Wesleyan Bobcat eleven, the Glenville Pioneers suffered their fifth defeat of the season, 20-6.

It was Wesleyan's ball game all the way as they recovered a Glenville fumble on the opening kick-off and turned it into the first score with about two minutes gone in the game.

The Methodist moved the ball from point of fumble on the 23 yard line down to the one yard line in four plays. After failing to move through on a quarterback sneak, the ball was handed off to the Bobcat's ace back, Frank Cvetnick, who jumped it across.

Sam Zinaich kicked the extra point to put the startled Pioneers behind, 7-0.

Glenville Rolls

After an exchange of downs, Glenville took over on their own 11 yard line after knocking the props from under a grinding Wesleyan drive. At this point, the Pioneers looked like the ball team that stomped D-E last week as Hanford carried for 20 yards, Holder picked up 12 more, and Lawrence Reed, on a quarter back keep, ground out seven yards to put the ball on Glenville's 46 yard stripe.

It was from this point that little Doc Stanley struck around right end, received some blocking, evaded two would-be tacklers, and streaked 54 yards for Glenville's score. Holder's pass to Tekieli for the extra point was wide of the target and thus ended Glenville's scoring.

Wesleyan uncoded a couple of good drives in the second period but never got past Glenville's 20 yard line as Jolley, Whipkey, Tekieli, and Hanford arose to the occasion to stop the Bobcat's clawing.

The second half opened with a bang for Wesleyan as they took the opening kick off and moved the ball from their 34 to the 48 yard line in four plays. Again Cvetnick was the man of the hour as he took the ball on a pitch-out and galloped 32 yards for another 6 pointer.

Suffering from an acute case of fumbleitis, the Pioneers could never get a sustained drive going in the second half as the ball carriers were constantly jarred by the souped-up Bobcat line.

Fumbled Again

A Glenville fumble set up Wesleyan's third touchdown in the fourth quarter when a Bobcat pounced on the ball on Glenville's 20 yard line.

It took the jubilant Reemsnyder men just five plays to run through the humiliated Glenville line and into pay territory. Zinaich's bonus

Ralph Holder Leads Glenville In Rushing, Passing Attack

"Stop Holder," is the command given by the pilots of the teams opposing Glenville Pioneers nowadays.

Ralph Holder, a former Potomac student and now a senior at Glenville State College, has astounded the West Virginia Intercollegiate football conference with his running and passing attack. Something which makes his playing seem all the more spectacular is the fact that this is the first year he has from Victory high school in Clarksburg.

In last week's statistical release by conference statistician, George Springer, Holder ranked fourth in the conference in rushing, sixth in passing and third in total offense. This is quite a feat for a lad who has been out of football action for three seasons.

Holder also ranked fifth in pass completion with 15 out of 35 for a 42.9 percentage. Also included in that passing mark is one touchdown heave. He was also tied for fifth spot in the conference on total scoring with 24 points.

The 180 pound fullback wasn't even in the starting line up of Glenville's first game against Potomac. But mid-way of the second quarter he was inserted in the defensive forces and immediately he snagged a Potomac pass and ran it 90 yards for a touchdown. Since that time he has been the main cog of Glenville's back field.

Holder's four intercepted passes for 110 yards is the big factor in ranking Glenville second in the conference in the pass interceptions department. His passes also account for the fact that Glenville ranked eighth in that department.

Playing in the fullback slot, Holder's favorite play is one in which he angles off the tackle position and stiff-arms his way through the opponents' secondary.

point was good and Wesleyan marched off the field with their first victory over the Pioneers in four seasons.

The downs favored the Bobcats, 14-9, also the rushing yardage was 225 to 168 for Glenville. Glenville had a one yard advantage in the passing department, 20-19. Perhaps the key to Glenville's unsuccessful bid for their second straight win was their five fumbles which were covered by the Bobcats.

ODDS & ENDS

Wesleyan's 20-6 win over Glenville certainly came as a big surprise, even to Wesleyan. Most of the Glenville fans and perhaps many of the team members considered the game to be a relative easy contest; especially after the licking the locals gave D-E last week.

Perhaps that was wherein the trouble was concentrated—over confidence.

Coach Paul West now has good reason to consider his Tigers a sure choice over Glenville Saturday night. Salem beat Wesleyan 14-0 last week. If the Pioneers are stopped by the Tigers Saturday night, it'll be the first Glenville squad to do so since 1950.

Salem has one of its better teams this year. Facing the Tiger eleven is the two Burkhardt boys, Bob and Ron. Bob is an aggressive ball handler and is rated seventh in the conference in passing and total offense. He averages 6.6 yards per carry. Ron is one of the leading pass receivers in the conference.

Although the Pioneers are having a dismal season this year, they are ranking relatively high in conference statistics. They rank second in pass interceptions, third (just behind Shepherd) in rushing defense, seventh in passing defense, and fourth in total defense. The Pioneers rang fourth in kick off returns with Eddie Armstrong holding third position in that department.

Turning to the lighter side we find the Verona Maple football league going easy on their practice sessions the past week or two. Perhaps they are resting up for a major contest. Outstanding players for the league this year are returning veterans Raymond Oxier, Don Schoonmaker, and Richard Stewart. First year men who have looked good are Dave Sullivan and Pete Casto. If some of these players could be recruited for the Pioneers it would certainly help to alleviate the lack-of-reserve problem.

BLACKHURST'S VOLLEYBALL TEAM LEADS IN WAA FLAG RACE

Barbara Blackhurst's volleyball team added another victory to its undefeated list as it triumphed over Beverly McComis's team with a final score of 31-16. Juanita Radcliff's team defeated Iris Mack's team 34-26, and leads in aerial darts with no losses. Blackhurst and Radcliff, with their skill and teamwork remain the only two undefeated teams in WAA.

In other competition, Jackie Coe's team beat Yvonne Hart's team 39-16, while Hart took Pat White's team by a 32-23 margin. Ada Cox's team nervously edged out a 31-30 victory over Carolee Singleton's team.

JACK CAWTHON

CAWTHON NAMED TO PRESS CLUB

Jack Cawthon, senior, has been accepted as a member of National Press Photographers' association. Cawthon is photographer of The Glenville Mercury, and editor of the Glenville Pathfinder. He was accepted as a member in this organization last spring.

This organization is open to all college press photographers of publications recognized by NPPA. The faculty advisor must sign a recommendation for the petition for membership, however.

Cawthon, a Glenville native, is a working member of the West Virginia Press association, director of publicity of the West Virginia Folk Festival, affiliate member of National Editorial association, and county correspondent for Parkersburg News.

Cawthon's photographs have been used in Pittsburgh press magazine, in Ford Times, by AP, and have been used on television programs in the state. Some of his editorials have been printed in The Charleston Gazette.

FACULTY ATTEND WVEA MEETING

Four faculty members of Glenville State College attended the annual regional West Virginia Education association meeting in Parkersburg last Thursday, where two of the instructors took an active part in the program.

Representing Glenville State were Professors Carl Kern and George Howard, Dr. Robert Higgins and Dr. Harold Orendorff. Dr. Higgins took part in a guidance panel, "The Development of Guidance Programs in West Virginia." Serving on the panel with him was Dr. Walter Jacecki of West Virginia University.

"Schools Take a Look at Their Total Music Program" was the topic discussed by Dr. Orendorff when he addressed the West Virginia Music educators section of the meeting. Orendorff will also speak at the W.V.E.A. regional meeting in Clarksburg this Thursday and Friday concerning the junior high music program on a 12-year plan.

Sorority Simmerings

By BARBARA JOHNSON

Xi Beta Tau

At a recent meeting, the Xi Beta Tau sorority presented wedding gifts to Barbara Hamon, Doris Short, Nancy Greenleaf, Betty Frymier and Carina Hitt.

The sorority voted to invite Miss Julia Nutter, adviser, and Mrs. Floyd Miller and Mrs. Byron Turner, patronesses, to become honorary members of Xi Beta Tau. Plans were also made to send an order for sorority pins.

Kappa Chi Kappa

Kappa Chi Kappa sorority planned at a recent meeting to sell hot dogs or sandwiches in Louis Bennett hall.

Patty Hall presided over the meeting which included a discussion on sorority pledging.

STUMP, OXIER AID SCIENCE ACADEMY PLANS

Original research among college students will be stressed by the State Collegiate Academy of Science during the year.

Harold Stump, president of the academy, reports plans to this effect were formulated at a recent executive meeting held at West Virginia University.

Raymond Oxier, secretary of the organization, and Dr. Max Ward, secretary of the Senior Academy of Science, accompanied Stump on the trip to Morgantown.

Glenville chapter of the academy will hold a reorganization meeting in the near future. Dr. Ward urges all students who might be interested in doing some original work in the field of biology to join.

Long, Varney Examine Agriculture Program

J. E. Long, West Virginia University registrar, and H. R. Varney, dean of the WVU agriculture school, conducted their annual inspection tour of the Glenville agriculture department recently and approved the facilities and curriculum offered here.

Fifty Students Get Jobs Under College Employment Plan

More than 50 students are presently employed by Glenville State College in jobs connected with the school according to Dean of Men Robert Higgins.

Jobs, ranging from dining hall aides to farm workers, are assigned by the administrative council on the basis of financial need and scholastic record. The rate of pay is set at 55 cents per hour, with a maximum of 65 hours per month permitted. A student must maintain a "C" average while working.

To obtain employment, a student must first make application to either the dean of men or the dean of women, stating financial need, the type of work sought and the length of time employment will be needed, along with a transcript of his high school record.

This application is then considered by the administrative council and jobs assigned.

At present, 19 students are employed in the library, as janitors and as counselors. About 20 students are working in the dining hall and 15 on the college farm.

The great thing in the world is not so much where we stand, as in what direction we are moving. —Oliver Wendell Holmes

TEKIELI SERVES ON WHS PANEL

Ed Tekieli, president of the Student Council, served as moderator for a panel discussion held yesterday at Walton high school by seven various aspects of student government, its problems, its values, at the organization of student governing boards.

Members of the council participating in the panel were Ed Tekieli, Yvonne Hart, Edsel Ford, B. Deal, Bob Weaver, Dave Posey, R. Reeder, and Bernard Heflin. Pr. Stanley Hall accompanied the group to Walton.

College Provides New Bulletin Board

Three new bulletin boards have been provided for the college members of the maintenance crew under the supervision of James Campbell.

The largest of the new bulletin boards, which is 12 feet long, will be placed in the main hall of the Administration building. This board will be divided into twelve sections, one for each campus organization.

Names of the various organizations will be carved into plaques over the twelve sections by the department. Each organization will be responsible for placing items of interest to students on their board.

A much smaller, but adequate bulletin board has been placed in the new room of the MERCURY. It will be used by members of the staff for the posting of assignments. Kanawha hall is the site of the third bulletin board.
