Dean Compiles Schedule For Next Semester

Scheduled listing the various classes which will be offered next semester are in the process of preparation and will be out in a few days, according to Dean Delmer K. Somerville, who is compiling the schedule.

Registration day for the second semester will be Jan. 30, and juniors and seniors may be given the opportunity to register the week prior to registration day, according to the dean.

An entirely new class, Education 450 entitled Educational Measurements, will be offered and will be taught by Dr. Robert Higgins. The course will be offered the fourth term and may be taken by either elementary or secondary students.

Night classes that will be offered are Political Science 331, English 412, and Physical Education 436.

More than 100 classes will be offered and off campus students may register for the night classes.

GSC Instructors Spend Holidays In New York

During Christmas holidays, Professors Esby W. Miller and William Coleman visited New York. While in the city, they saw several plays of current interest. Professor Miller is head of the College English department, and Professor Coleman is head of the Speech department here.

Professor and Mrs. Miller stayed in New York five days and Professor Coleman stayed overnight.

Some of the plays which they saw are: "The Diary of Anne Frank," with Susan Strasberg; Chekhov's "The Cherry Orchard;" Julia Harris in "The Lark;" Michael Redgrave in "Tiger at the Gates;" Paul Muni in "Inherit the Wind;" and Enid Baynold's "The Chalk Garden."

While in New York, Professor Miller attended an opera and a performance of Tchaikovsky's "The Nutcracker Suite." He and Mrs. Miller also toured the "New York Times" building.

Discussion of the Plays

When asked what was significant about the plays that he saw, Mr. Miller cited some definite characteristics of interest to a public in general.

One observation concerned the Golden anniversary of Helen Hayes. She was honored in all New York theatres during the week of Dec. 26-30, because of her fifty years of acting in American theatres. Professor Miller noted new stars such as Susan Strasberg and Julie Harris. Julia Harris plays the role of "Joan of Arc," and according to Mr. Miller, she does an excellent job.

Also, the former Horatio of Sir Laurence Olivier's Hamlet, Michael Redgrave, was given commendable admiration. Paul Muni, too, received a very good recommendation.

About Glenville State's recent production of "The Glass Menagerie," Professor Miller has this to say: "Our local thespians are to be complimented for their production. I compared this presentation with an off-Broadway performance of 'The Cherry Orchard.'"

Education Students Begin Observations

Students of Prof. George O. Howard's 102 Education classes have begun the observation of children in the classes of Mrs. Jean Adams, Mrs. Juanita McDougal, Mrs. Nancy Fitzpatrick, and William Erwin. Grades in which the students are observing are first, second, and sixth.

Education 306 students of Prof. Howard started Monday to actively participate in the teaching of reading in Mrs. Lyla Wilson's third grade.

Under the guidance of Mrs. Wilson, the students will have the opportunity to teach reading during the rest of this term. It is felt by Prof. Howard that this type of experience should precede student teaching, Education 444.

GSC Staff Favors Social Security Plan

The Glenville State College staff recently voted in favor of joining the social security retirement program by a count of 59 to 3 according to President Harry B. Hefflin.

Results of the secret balloting conducted at other colleges throughout the state also show the educators in favor of participating in the plan by an overwhelming majority.

It has been pointed out that, should the move prove successful, the regular teacher retirement plan now in effect will not be altered.

About 98 per cent of everything grown in the soil of America moves by truck at one time or another between point of production and market.

All elementary teaching majors who plan to do their student teaching the second semester will take their comprehensive examination today at 1:00 p. m. in room 202A.

Exchange Student Tells of Journey To North Africa

George M. Williams, West Virginia's 1955 International Farm Youth exchange, recently spoke to Glenville students on his trip to North Africa.

The honor of being an exchange student is awarded each year to an outstanding farm youth. As an IFYE, Williams spent the past summer in Algeria. Many interesting slides that he took during his visit were shown in an assembly program.

A native of Hardy county, Williams has been a 4-H club member for 11 years. During this time, he has served as a county 4-H camp instructor, a leader at Older 4-H Club Members conference in 1953, and was chief of his tribe at Boys' State 4-H camp in 1954.

Williams received the Danforth award as the outstanding 4-H boy in Hardy county, and in 1954 was taken into the West Virginia All Stars, honorary organization for outstanding older club members, former club members, and leaders.

Since graduating from Hampden-Sydney college in 1954, Williams has been studying physics in the graduate school of the University of Virginia.

Jubilee Celebration Slated By MENC

At the jubilee celebration of the Music Educator's National conference, which will be held in April, 1956, in St. Louis, Mo., West Virginia will be represented by one band member, one orchestra member, and 16 choir members states Dr. Harold Orendorff. This will be a meeting of the national band, orchestra, and high school choruses. The board met over Christmas holidays to select West Virginia's representatives. They will be announced later.

'Flattering Word' Scheduled On Campus Tomorrow Night

George Kelly's "The Flattering Word," third in the series of one-act plays being given by the Ohnimgohow players, will be presented tomorrow night at seven o'clock.

This play, directed by Mary Lou West, involves an actor, a minister and his wife, one of their neighbors and her daughter. The actor, portrayed by Jack Cawthon, pays a visit to the minister's wife, not realizing that the minister is thoroughly convinced that the theatre is the most sinful part of the world.

Further complications arise when Mrs. Zooker, one of their neighbors, arrives on the scene. Mrs. Zooker, played by Charlotte Beeghly, is under the impression that her daughter is talented dramatically.

Lee Kessinger is seen in the role of the daughter. Carolyn Jackson portrays the minister's wife and Jerrold Murphy is seen as the minister.

On Jan. 19, the farce "Box 'n' Cox" will be presented. Shirley Chancey, Edward Perrine, and Trent Busch make up the cast for this play. The action involves two men who unknowingly share the same room. One man works during the day and the other during the night. Their meeting turns the entire play into a hilarious complication.

Two of the other plays which will be given within the next six weeks are Prof. William Coleman's "Found: An Author" and J. M. Barrie's "Twelve Pound Look."

Ex-Adviser Writes Letter to Editors

A letter from E. B. Elder, former adviser to the MERCURY, was received recently by the editors. Elder, who came to Glenville in 1949, resigned last spring to accept a position with the English department at Ft. Lauderdale, Fla., high school.

Elder wrote: "We bought a house here, living room, dining room kitchen, three bedrooms, and two baths. It was already landscaped, so all I have to do is cut the grass and water the flowers. The flowers are certainly pretty. We have 30 poinsettia plants. The three in the front yard must have 25 blooms each."

"We like it here but do miss all the nice people we knew in Glenville."

Elected President Of College Heads

At the December meeting of the West Virginia Council of State College and University presidents, Dr. Harry B. Hefflin was chosen to serve as president of the organization for the coming year. Dr. Hefflin succeeds Oliver S. Kenberry, president of Shepherd State college.

Dr. Hefflin said that the organization usually meets about ten times a year to discuss problems of concern to all the state colleges.

Carson, White Will Join Mercury Staff

Robert Gainer, business manager of The Mercury, has resigned from his duties and has enlisted in the Air Force. He will leave at the end of this semester. Gainer, also Chesterfield agent on campus, is a sophomore speech major.

Gainer, the son of Burl Gainer of Corton, is a graduate of Clendenin high school. He is treasurer of Sigma Tau Gamma fraternity, president of the Ohnimgohow players, and a member of the Men's quartet here. He has been seen in many productions on campus, such as "Brigadoon," "Arsenic and Old Lace," and "The Glass Menagerie."

Ray Carson, junior, and Jim White, freshman, will replace Gainer as business manager. Carson is a transfer student from West Virginia Tech, and White, a veteran, is majoring in mathematics.

Pep Band Entertains During Cage Tilts

A familiar "Tiger Rag" sounds throughout the gymnasium as the Glenville College pep band begins its swing and sway session, under the direction of Curtis Freshman, Junior. This popular group has been providing entertaining music for home basketball games and they plan to attend some away games in the near future.

With the help of the pep band, the cheering section has become louder and more spirited. Enthusiasm is at its highest peak when Freshman, with his trombone, raises his hand as a signal for all members to sound off.

The group of eight usually opens with the National Anthem, and follows with the College song, "Bleacher Boogie," "Alabama Jubilee," "Down Yonder."

Before all games, regular practice sessions are held.

'Finer Things' Rejected

When something that is worthwhile is offered to us at a minimum cost, we should be eager to take advantage of the situation. Reportedly, college students are especially eager to acquaint themselves with the finer things of life when offered to them under advantageous circumstances. However, we would disagree with this report, particularly in one instance—that of the one-act plays which are being given at intervals by the Ohningohow players.

At the last one-act play, only 25 people were present. This number included several faculty members. The cast of the play had rehearsed for several weeks and had done work outside of rehearsal for the play. Then, when the time came to present the play, it was presented to an audience smaller than the Ohningohow organization itself.

All the work on these one-act plays is not done for selfish reasons. If it were, admission would be higher and the members would not work quite so hard. These plays are presented for the student body, for their entertainment, and for their education. The original idea in presenting these one-acts was to acquaint the student body with some of the better plays. Therefore, it seems almost useless to go on with the series when interest is evidently sadly lacking, but the Ohningohow players plan to present the remainder of the series chiefly because most of the plays have been in rehearsal for some time.

At least six more one-act plays will be presented to the student body during the next two months. Admission fees will remain at 20 cents a performance. If you want top-notch entertainment, don't miss the plays.—Shirley James

GSC Growing, Improving

Glenville State College has shown definite signs of improvement and progress within the past year. In one respect no new buildings have been added and no noted changes may be seen by visitors. However, we who are inside the College can look into the issue and see many improvements, maybe minor ones, but at least changes.

In the first place, thanks to those who have taken the perceptive to look ahead for the welfare of the College. We now have plans for a new dining hall, union, and recreation center. Although we need more dormitory space badly, we have favorable hopes for new dorms, also.

The debate team which was formed last year brought much acclaim to the College also, as it tied for first-place honors in the state contest and showed favorable results in the North-South tournament at West Virginia University. The team appeared on a television program in Charleston.

Glenville State rose to new fame when it was learned that Patsy Greene, a junior here, had been chosen Future Teacher of the Year. This was a state honor, also.

The annual Folk Festival must have shown great signs of progress last summer, too, as it was reported as the biggest and best year. Films of this event also appeared on television.

One of the most noteworthy evidences of progress was shown last Wednesday night in our College gymnasium when West Virginia State College's basketball squad visited our varsity team. The attitude of our College students toward the Negro students showed that we are mature and broad-minded enough to treat others with deep respect and cordiality. We believe that we succeeded in making them feel at home and among friends. We certainly must say that they showed great sportsmanship and teamwork.

During the past year, our varsity-basketball squad set a record by scoring 118 points against Salem college. This was the highest score ever made by a Glenville team.

All in all, 1955 was a good year for Glenville State College. Enrollment increased greatly, too. The editors of THE MERCURY wish to express their hopes for a year as prosperous in 1956.—Yvonne Hart.

Glenville State Students Announce Marriages During Christmas Holiday

Five marriages of Glenville students were announced during Christmas holidays.

Reaser-Tustin

Betty Reaser, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Marshal Reaser of Cedarville and Alvin Tustin, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Tustin of Middlebourne were united in marriage in a candlelight ceremony at the Cedar Creek Baptist Church, Dec. 25, at 5:30 p.m. with the Rev. Cheno-weth Stadmaier of Arnoldsburg officiating.

Brenda Reaser served as maid of honor and Juanita Knight and Dora Jean Brannon as bridesmaids.

A reception was held at the home of the bride's parents immediately following the ceremony.

Mr. Tustin received his A.B. degree from Glenville in 1951 and is now teaching in Tyler county. Mrs. Tustin is now a senior at Glenville.

They plan to live at Middlebourne.

Godfrey-McCartney

The First Presbyterian Church of East Liverpool, Ohio, was the scene of the wedding of Nina Godfrey, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Godfrey of Grantsville; and Delano McCartney, son of Mr. and Mrs. Goff McCartney of Rogers, Ohio. The Rev. M. Rudolph Miller performed the ceremony Dec. 27.

Mrs. McCartney is a sophomore here and Mr. McCartney is employed in East Liverpool.

Quinn-Harris

Kathleen Quinn, daughter of Mr. Thomas F. Quinn and Brooks Harris, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Harris of Weston were united in marriage Dec. 27, in Staunton, Va., by the Rev. Robert Garrison in his parsonage.

Mrs. Harris is a senior this year at Glenville and will graduate in May. Mr. Harris is coaching at Glenmont, Ohio. They plan to live and teach in Ohio next year.

Ash-Seckman

Mr. and Mrs. John W. Ash of Wilbur are announcing the marriage of their daughter, Olive Joanne, to Ernest G. Seckman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Seckman of Alma. The ceremony was performed at the Alma Methodist Church on Dec. 23, with the Rev. Charles Daniels officiating.

Mrs. Seckman, is a sophomore here and Mr. Seckman is employed by General Dry Cleaning Inc., at Sistersville.

Mr. and Mrs. Seckman are graduates of Tyler County high school.

Spaur-McKown

Frat Chat

By Jerrold Murphy

IN REVIEW

The year 1955 was a combination of trial and triumph for the Holy Roller Court. The year started off in the usual manner by the taking in of pledges. This could possibly be considered both trial and triumph for the frat members. It was undoubtedly a triumph for the old members and it certainly was a trial for the pledges. However, their sufferings were gratified when they were at last received as full-fledged members with all the rights and privileges thereof.

Old members were pleased by the news that they would be able to order their pins soon. One problem which soon became apparent for the Court was that of obtaining jackets for members desiring them. Though they searched far and wide they were not able to find what they wanted but, according to late reports, success is at last in sight.

The Court sponsored its annual swim meet which commanded a surprisingly good attendance. A basketball team was organized which has, so far, met with indifferent success but great things are at store. And, finally, the Court made someone happy for Christmas by the raffling of a radio which was given to the winner, Patty Wharton, during halftime of the last home basketball game before Christmas recess. And, showing a final surge of Christmas spirit they sent Christmas cards to all active Court members.

Kappa Sigma Kappa

The year 1955 may well have been a banner one for the Kappa Sigma Kappa fraternity. As usual, it was active in promoting and participating in social events. The members began in the usual manner by taking in pledges. Part of the results of their initiation period activity still remains for the public eye in the form of the Kappa Sigma Kappa emblem, on town hill, which was constructed by the pledges.

A high point on the activity calendar was Sadie Hawkins Day, which has become an annual affair at Glenville State College. Members directed their efforts toward the success of this affair, which began with the election of L'il Abner and Daisy Mae. Sadie Hawkins Day was terminated by a dance which was conducted in traditional Dogpatch fashion. To make the activity even more promising a radio was raffled off and was given the winner during intermission at the Dance.

A basketball team was organized by the fraternity and games were played with frats of other schools.

Sigma Tau Gamma

The Sigma Tau Gamma fraternity started 1955 with flying colors. The hilarity of freshman rules had hardly become stagnant when this fraternity registered its first triumph. To the delight of the Sigma Tau members and the consternation of other organizations, their float in the homecoming parade captured first place. And, of course, the cash prize was a welcome addition to their treasury.

As did the other frats, the Sigma Tau Gamma fraternity took in pledges during the early weeks of school. During this time the frat added its initials to those already on town hill.

At Thanksgiving, a turkey raffle was held with an alternate cash prize. A juke box dance was held by the frat Nov. 19. The highlight of their activities for 1955 was the annual White Rose Dance, which has long been one of the most popular affairs on campus, and the 1955 edition was no exception.

The fault is not in our stars, but in ourselves, that we are underlings.—William Shakespeare in Julius Caesar

Sand Fork, was married to Bernard McKown, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. G. McKown of Arnoldsburg. The Rev. A. Schoolcraft performed the ceremony at Millstone.

Mrs. McKown is a junior majoring in elementary education and Mr. McKown is a senior. The couple plan to live at Arnoldsburg.

ALUMNI NOTES

Former Editor Is Teaching In Parkersburg Junior High

JIM ROBINSON

Former MERCURY editor, James E. Robinson, Jr., is now teaching at Benjamin Franklin junior high school in Parkersburg. Mrs. Robinson, the former Miss Edna Yeak, is teaching in Rayon elementary school, also in that city. Both Mr. and Mrs. Robinson were graduated from Glenville State College with the class of 1955.

While attending college here, Robinson served as editor and athletic publicity director of the MERCURY. A Navy veteran from Pawtucket, R. I., the former editor was vice-president of the West Virginia Intercollegiate Press association, and is listed in Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities.

He served as president of his class, secretary of the Student Council, commander of the Veterans club, corresponding secretary of Kappa Sigma Kappa fraternity, and sports editor of the Kanawha-chen.

Sorority Simmerings

By Lee Kessinger

IN REVIEW

The Xi Beta Tau sorority opened the 1955-56 school year by presenting gifts to the members who were married during the summer. Miss Julia Nutter, adviser; Mrs. Floyd Miller and Mrs. Byron Turner, patronesses, were invited to become members of Xi Beta Tau.

During homecoming festivities, Elda Utterback, junior; Lois Fisher, senior; and Barbara Royce, sophomore were attendants to Queen Susan Arnold. Also during homecoming weekend, a party was held for former members.

Patsy Greene, a member of Xi Beta Tau, selected by the WVEA as the future teacher of the year, was elected secretary of the Student Council and was selected for "Who's Who in American Universities and Colleges."

Yvonne Hart was selected as co-editor of the MERCURY and elected treasurer of the Student Council.

Elda Utterback reigned as queen of the White Rose dance. Barbara Royce, sophomore; and Frances Sanford, freshman, and a pledge of Xi Beta Tau; were selected as attendants.

One of the projects of the sorority has been the selling of hot dogs in Verona Mapel and Kanawha halls, every Wednesday night.

A pirate party and reception were held for girls interested in joining a sorority. Seventeen pledges were selected. The last event of the year was a Christmas party and gift exchange held at the home of Mrs. Byron Turner.

Kappa Chi Kappa

Kappa Chi Kappa sponsored the float, "We Did—They Didn't" in the Homecoming parade.

On Sadie Hawkins Day, three members of Kappa Chi Kappa were made residents of Dogpatch. Martha White appeared as Moon Beam, McSwine; Rita Pickens as the Wolf Gal; and Sally Zeigler as Mammy Yokum.

Kappa Chi held a Thanksgiving party in Louis Bennett lounge. As Pic. Billy J. Radcliff, '54, is now stationed in Northern Greenland with the Transportation Arctic Group. The Unit is experimenting and testing equipment for ice cap travel.

In a letter that Prof. Virginia West received from the former students he says, "I have received two or three copies of THE MERCURY and saw in the article on its circulation the places it was being sent. It has a wider circulation than you think; coming to Thule, Greenland, more than seven hundred miles above the Arctic Circle. It is very interesting to get copies of the paper and see what is happening 'down south'."

The letter also read, "The weather is a little different here than in West Virginia, temperature ranging from zero to 59 degrees below during the last month. We are in our dark season now, and won't see daylight again until the last of February."

Glenville Mercury's first adviser, Everett Withers, paid a visit to Glenville during the holidays. Withers is now in Washington, D. C., where he is working for the Department of the Interior.

The former instructor is a graduate of the school of journalism at the University of Missouri.

A part of rushing, Kappa Chi Kappa held a combined party with Xi Beta Tau—an informal party and formal tea for girls interested in joining a sorority. The group also held a formal pledge ceremony for the selected pledges.

To wind up the old year, a Christmas party was given in Louis Bennett lounge by Mrs. Espy Miller and Miss Erma Edwards. Members exchanged gifts and fixed a box for a needy family.

Tests Scheduled

Professor George Howard has announced that Education 310 students will meet at 8:00 a.m. and 4:00 p.m. on Thursday, Jan. 9, for testing purposes.

GSC Pioneers Notch 90-78 Victory Over Yellow Jackets

In a game which featured an unusually slow and listless start, the Pioneers took the measure of the West Virginia State Yellow Jackets last Wednesday night in the first contest ever to be played between the two schools. The Pioneers, suffering from the loss of ace guard, Al Reich, got off to a slow and nervous start and were led by the Yellow Jackets for the first six minutes.

But with 14 minutes left to play in the first half, a Glenville player pitched a field goal to put the Pioneers in the lead to stay, 8-7. The Pioneers held leads as big as 18 or 20 points at different times but half time found the visitors within five points of the leading Gee Men, 39-34.

Pioneers Slow Against State Giving one of their poorest performances of the season, the Pioneers suffered from a case of "fumbleitis" and were never in command of the banking board. Only State's weak shooting and Glenville's 81 percentage of foul shooting saved the day for the Gee Men and gave them their third home victory, 90-78.

In other basketball action, the Pioneers ran up their highest score of the season in lambasting a Salem quintet, 115-89. Six Gee Men hit the double figures in the high scoring fracas.

Following the Salem victory, the Byrdmen travelled to Fairmont where they lost their third consecutive road game of the season, 94-88. Glenville jumped to an early 10-point lead but were soon headed off by the rampaging Falcons. This was the last game in which Al Reich played. The scrappy little guard is out of action with an injured knee and may be lost to the Pioneers for the season.

Varsity Blasts Old Grads In the annual exhibition game with the Alumni on December 31, the White Wave varsity walloped the old grads, 109-61. The Varsity placed seven men in the double scoring figures. Rudy Poole paced the winners with 29 markers.

RUDY POOLE

White Wave Will Rely Heavily Upon Reynolds, Turner, Poole in Basketball Conference Race

By John Cutlip

This is the first in a series of articles featuring Glenville Hardwood stars.

Robert "Bob" Reynolds, William "Rudy" Poole, and James Robert "Bob" Turner are the three big men Coach Leland Byrd has selected to play the forefront for the Pioneers. These three men compose the top rounds of the height ladder, measuring 6-3, 6-4, and 6-5 respectively.

Bob Reynolds is a product of Man high school where he was a varsity man for two years and was named captain of his team in 1954. Bob's basketball fortunes were guided through high school under the watchful eye of Coach Jim White.

Reynolds was named to a second string berth on the All-South Western West Virginia conference during his senior year of high school. He is a sophomore here at Glenville and is majoring in engineering.

Bob Gains Starting Berth

Bob was left out of the starting line-up of the first game this season with Morris Harvey, but he earned a starting berth on the strength of his brilliant performance as a substitute in that game. His top performance to date was in the Glenville-Salem game in which he paced the Pioneers with 25 markers.

Rudy Poole was one of the most highly publicized high school players in this area during his 3-year release does not include the West Liberty game.

GUY F. BAILEY

'History' Donated To College Library

Family History, a genealogy of the Talbot family has been presented to the Robert F. Kidd library by Loren C. Talbot of Iowa and Guy F. Bailey of Linn. Loren C. Talbot, author of the 201 page history, is a native of Iowa and a former newspaper writer.

The Guy F. Bailey family, of Linn, has been included in this work. Bailey furnished much of the information presented in the chapter on the Richard Talbot family of Lewis county of which he is a member.

Mida Bailey, Glenville State College sophomore, is the daughter of Bailey.

Floyd W. Miller, librarian, states that this is the first family history to be received by the library.

standing defensive and rebounding skills. He consistently held the circuit's high scorers to below-average performances. This year, however, he is being employed by Coach Byrd as a bulwark to keep the big pivot men away from the basket.

Lacks Former Scoring Punch

Playing in the key hole position a little more than last years, Bob's scoring has raised correspondingly, but he still hasn't reached the scoring prowess that he enjoyed in high school and in the service.

These three then have been carrying the brunt of Glenville's forefront attack during the season. Their absence from the hardwoods for any prolonged period of time could spell the difference between failure and success of Glenville's conference race.

gast, bass horn; Ray Mullins, clarinet; Jack Kaufman, saxophone; Gene Elmore, trumpet; Dolores Black, alto horn; Tom Howard, snare drum; David Arbogast, baritone; and Curtis Fleschman, trombone. Fleschman is both player and director, and he has done much in the preparation of the evenings entertainment.

These music majors have contributed much to the school spirit and have added encouragement to the team this year. The most rewarding thing about this is that they merely contribute their efforts to the betterment of the College. They get no credit for their work; they are merely volunteers.

PIONEERS FACE CONCORD FRIDAY

By John Cutlip

Glenville will try to break the road jinx Friday night when they start a long trip to Concord, Beckley, and West Virginia Tech. The Pioneers open with the Concord Mountain Lions Friday night at Athens. They continue their weekend jaunt with a return engagement against the Beckley Blue Hawks on Saturday night. The team will stay in one of the southern cities until Monday at which time they end the long journey on foreign soils with a game against West Virginia Tech.

Coach Byrd and his Pioneers have high hopes of breaking their long road jinx in this prolonged southern road trip. Concord will be led again by the aggressive forward, Don Mikush, who proved the undoing of Glenville in the tournament last spring. The Athens five have always proven to be a tough hurdle for the Gee Men on their annual southern trip.

Glenville Holds Edge

However, on comparative scoring basis, the Pioneers hold an edge over the Mountain Lions. Salem recently plastered Concord on a road trip, and, of course, Glenville had little trouble in settling the Tigers in their annual visit here.

White-Marley Register Three Victories In WAA Tournament

By JOYCE JACKSON

Shirley Brown-Joyce Jackson recently slipped by two hard fighting opponents to narrow victories in the WAA badminton tourney. Brown-Jackson tallied their first win over Sue Click-Carolee Singleton by scores of 15-12, and 15-5. The match was closer than the scores indicate as the winning two-some trailed during most of the first game, and the second was a see-saw affair until Brown-Jackson showed a flash of strength to take the lead for keeps.

Click-Singleton made a brilliant comeback in their second game, defeating Iris Mack-Judy Kennedy by Beckley has one of its taller teams but certainly it isn't the best team that the White Wave has met this season.

But Tech is the big team that bears watching. To date, Glenville is the only team that has found the right combination to stop the high-scoring Tech attack. And this victory came to the Gee Men on a narrow two-point margin, 98-96.

If the Pioneers come through this series of road play with a clean slate, they could come to be known as the "Little Globe Trotters."

scores of 15-6 and 15-11.

In their second game, Brown-Jackson defeated Martha Douglas-Nancy Gillespie 15-3 and 15-6.

Gwinn-Parsons Win

A sophomore duo, Rose Gwinn-Virginia Parsons chalked up two wins for the evening. Their first victims were Ada Cox-Jearl Stump in one of the few games in which three games had to be played to determine a winner. Gwinn-Parsons took the first round 15-5, while Cox-Stump rallied to a 15-6 win in the second of the three. In the playoff game Gwinn-Parsons showed their opponents out of the picture to win 15-6.

Gwinn-Parsons squeezed out a close win over Bonnie Gorrell-Connie Sams by scores of 15-14 and 15-5.

In an earlier game Sams-Gorrell overcame Douglas to a tune of 15-13 and 15-10.

Darkness Invades Gym

Joyce Bourn-Patsy Green defeated Mack-Kennedy 15-13 and 15-10. The final game of the evening, between Cox-Stump and Bourn-Green was a rather dark affair due partially to an electrical power failure. Bourn-Green won the first match 18-17, and Cox-Stump pulled ed through to a 15-10 win in the second. The game is to be continued at a lighter date.

W. A. A. ping pong has seen some bouncing games lately. Beverly McComis-Carolee Singleton provided an interesting game as they defeated Mary Underwood-Sharon Shumaker 21-11 and 21-14.

Sue Click-Virginia Davis won over Pat Starkey-Pat White by a forfeit. Patsy Greene-Joyce Bourn battled their way through to two 21-9 victories over Joyce Jackson-Shirley Brown.

Martha White-Connie Marley recently defeated Jane Shires (who is currently playing single-handed) 21-10 and 21-7.

Ping Pong Standings

Current Standings in the WAA ping pong tourney are as follows: White-Marley with three wins and no losses, followed by Bourn-Green, Shires, and McComis-Singleton, each of which boast two wins and one loss. Underwood-Shumaker, Jackson-Brown, and Click-Davis follow with one win and two losses. Starkey-White have yet to hit the win column.
