Student Council Notes Progress

Accomplishments of the Student Council within the past year have been tabulated. These changes, made possible through the efforts of Edward Tekieli, Edsel Ford, Robert Weaver, David Posey, Rex Reed, James White, Patsy Greene, Yvonne Hart, William Deel, and Stanley Hall, have affected Glenville State College in many ways.

Some of the largest and most noteworthy accomplishments of the past year have included: the record book purchased for use of all College organizations; the public address system which was installed in the dining hall; the departmental bulletin board that has been erected in Administration Building; and the handrails which were installed on the steps at the southwest end of the Administration Building. Other accomplishments made possible through the efforts of the Student Council are: the purchase of a new Pioneer uniform, a new printing machine for the Club Pioneer, the presentation of the Bronze Award plaque to the athletic department, and the order for a new Pioneer gun.

Regular Duties

Some regular duties of the Student Council include appointing committees, holding elections, appropriating money for various organizations, planning and conducting Homecoming festivities, ordering the Pioneer's sweaters, visiting other schools, speaking at meetings and approving employees of the student union. This year the council approved the first full-time manager, Yvonne Norman.

The Student Council meets each Tuesday at 6:15 p. m. to discuss campus problems and take care of the organization's business.

Instructors Attend Language Workshop

Professors Julia Matthews and George Howard, Mrs. Juanita McLaughlin, Mrs. Jean Adams, Mrs. Lydia Wilson, Mrs. Nancy Fitzpatrick, and John Montgomery will attend one-day workshop on Language Arts at Stonewall Jackson high school, Charleston, on Feb. 11.

The workshop is sponsored by the Kanawha County Council for the Improvement of Reading. Professors Matthews and Howard will present the elementary education department while the others are elementary teachers in the Glenville school.

Principal speaker for the conference will be Dr. Ruth Strickland, professor of elementary education at Indiana university and author of the textbook in reading that is used here by the College.

It has been stressed that anyone wishing to know more about the workshop before the February issue of the Kanawha Teacher may contact Mrs. Martha Cottrell, supervisor of instruction.

Kanawha Hall Plans Open House Feb. 9

Kanawha Hall open house will be held Feb. 9, according to Elda Utterback, house president. The theme will be in accordance with Valentine's Day.

Dorlene Bell, who is in charge of the affair, has announced the following committees and their members: Refreshment committee, Mary Helen Plunkett, Iris Mack, Pat Hylbert, and Wanda Cutright; Decoration, Sue Waggoner, Betty Jo Lewis, Judy Kennedy, Pat Manning, Janet Scott, Rosemary Hammond, Wilma Ball, and Juanita Brannon; welcoming committee, Shirley Lambert and Nancy Hall; clean-up committee, Alice McCullough, Charlene Cole, Jeal Stump, Shirley James, Dorlene Bell, Patty Snyder, and Elda Utterback.

Freshmen girls will serve as waitresses.

Violinist Replaces Becker, March 15

Stuart Fastofsky, noted American violinist, will appear here March 15, according to Lyceum Chairman Carl Kerr, as a replacement for Irving Becker.

Becker, originally scheduled to appear on the local lyceum program in March, will be unable to keep the engagement because of a long-term contract he signed recently with a symphony orchestra.

Described by the New York Times as "... a prodigious technician, a brilliant of sheer virtuosity," Fastofsky has fulfilled hundreds of concerts from coast to coast and promises to be an outstanding attraction.

GSC Men's Glee Club Seeks New Members

Men who are interested in joining the Men's Glee club should contact Dr. Harold Orendorff. Members must attend each meeting or rehearsal unless previously excused.

There are now 20 members. If membership drops below 15, the group will be dissolved. Rehearsals will be held on Mondays at 8 p. m. unless there is some conflict. Changes in time will be announced on the bulletin board.

International Relations Club Will Sponsor Lecturer, Feb. 6-7

F. Martin Hutton, editor of the Malay "Mail" in Kuala Lumpur, Malaysia, will be on campus Feb. 6 and 7, and will give lectures and discussions on "The End of Colonialism." Hutton is being brought to the campus under the sponsorship of the College Administration and the International Relations club.

On Monday, Feb. 6, there will be a public lecture at 8:00 p. m. in the college auditorium and at 11:15 a. m. that same day, Hutton will meet with student groups to discuss various issues pertaining to the subject. History 320 class will act as the host group at this meeting.

On Tuesday, Feb. 7, the lecturer will speak before groups of students throughout the day. At 9:00 a. m., Dr. Charles Martin's history 101 class will be host, and at 1:00 p. m., another history 101 class of Dr. Martin's will act as host. At 2:05 p. m., Dr. James Gay Jones's history 101 class will be host.

10 Years in Malaysia

Martin Hutton has spent almost 10 years in Malaysia. He first landed there with the liberation forces in September, 1945, with the British Royal Navy. About a year later he joined the staff of the "Strait Times." For five years he was editor of the "Sunday Times," Singapore, probably the largest selling English language paper in Southeast Asia. In 1952, Hutton went up-country permanently to Kuala Lumpur to edit the "Malay Mail."

Somerville Member Of State Committee

Dean Delmer K. Somerville attended a meeting of the State Teachers Education Committee in Clarksburg last week where the organization made a study of the state teacher-training program.

The committee functions for the purpose of studying the teacher-training program and to make recommendations for changes in the program to the State Board of Education.

Dean Somerville is a member of the committee.

Alpha Psi Omega Chooses New Member

Five students were initiated into the local chapter of Alpha Psi Omega national-honorary dramatic fraternity, according to Shirley James, president. Those initiated were Dorlene Bell and Ray Carson, juniors; Mary Helen Plunkett and Iris Mack, sophomores; and James White, freshman.

Membership in this fraternity is based upon outstanding work which students have done in dramatics. A point system is set up whereby each person, before becoming a member, must have accomplished a required amount of theater work.

International Relations Club

Hutton was born in London and began his journalistic career in the English Midlands. Early in World War II, Hutton enlisted as an ordinary seaman in the British Royal Navy. In a year he was commissioned and rose rapidly to the rank of lieutenant commander. Part of his duty was in the Middle East. During 18 months in the Far East he was in charge of a commando unit and saw service in Rangoon and Malaya. Attracted by the country, even in the difficult post-occupation days, he returned after the war.

Demands Self-Government

The Federation of Malaya, composed as it is of Malays, Chinese, and Indians, as well as other peoples, is overcoming the effect of Japanese occupation. The war sharpened racial tensions and developed and increased demand for self-government. The country has been beset with terrorist activities of Communist-inspired bands, despite which the British have patiently pursued a program of fitting the people for complete autonomy.

Hutton has never been in the United States before and is anxious to learn about this country as he is to inform Americans about the focal point of Southeast Asia. The student body and faculty and friends are cordially invited to all meetings, according to Prof. Bessie Boyd Bell, adviser of the International Relations club. There is no admission charge.

Music Department Reveals Schedule of Coming Events

Dr. Harold S. Orendorff, of the College music department, has announced a tentative schedule of music programs for the next semester. Both Orendorff and Prof. Henry Fasthoff have chosen dates for their musical presentations.

At a recent meeting of the music department, it was decided that "Paint Your Wagon" would be the musical show to be presented here in May.

Mercury Will Stage Contest

THE GLENVILLE MERCURY will sponsor a Campus Cover Girl contest to select a campus representative for the Roto magazine contest, sponsored by the Pittsburgh Press.

This will be an all-school election. Each organization on campus will be asked to select a representative for the committee to select six local beauties. Pictures of these six girls will be in a future issue of the MERCURY, and campus students will select the girl of their choice.

A picture of the winner from this campus will be sent to Roto magazine, where it will appear along with photos of other college winners. Judges will select one girl from an estimated 27 colleges, and the winner's picture will be used on the cover page of Roto magazine. A story of her life will appear in the magazine, also.

Glenville State's candidate last year was Jeanette Prather of Burnt House.

Gainer Honor Guest At Farewell Party

Sigma Tau Gamma fraternity and the Ohnimgohow players co-sponsored a surprise farewell party last Friday night for Bob Gainer, who is leaving at the end of the semester to join the U. S. Air Force. The party was held in Louis Bennett lounge.

During his two years at Glenville State, Gainer was a member of Sigma Tau Gamma, Alpha Psi Omega dramatic fraternity and the Ohnimgohow players. He served as president of the latter group this year. Gainer recently resigned his position as business manager of the MERCURY.

1956 Kanawhachen Honors Librarian

The 1956 issue of the Kanawhachen will be dedicated to Miss Alma Arbuckle who retired last year after having been librarian for 34 years, and H. Y. Clark who also retired last year after 28 years as an instructor at Glenville State College, Editor Shirley James announced.

Senior, faculty and group pictures are included in the material for the first yearbook deadline. Editor James states that this first draft was completed today, one month ahead of the scheduled deadline.

Gives Talk at Dinner

Dr. Harold S. Orendorff spoke Monday night at the Weston band banquet, held at the First Methodist Church in Weston. Professor Orendorff, of the College music department, spoke on "The Power of Music."

Library Books Due

Miss Josephine Fidler, assistant librarian, reminds students that all library materials are due today, Jan. 25. Students who do not return all borrowed materials to the library before the term ends will not receive their grades on time.

Net profit from the musical will be provided proportionately by the amount of money invested by each organization. Dr. Orendorff and Prof. William S. E. Coleman, of the College speech department, will be co-directors.

Students Give Recitals

For the first time at Glenville State College, student recitals will be given. These will include students in applied music, voice, instrumental majors, and piano majors. The first recital will be March 4, and the others will be March 18, and April 22.

Enfiah, an Easter oratorio, will be given on Wednesday, March 28. This, too, is under the direction of Dr. Orendorff, and will be presented by the choir.

Annual Band Concert

The annual band concert will be presented on Tuesday, Feb. 28, according to Fasthoff. Plans for this program have not been completed, but the band is now rehearsing for the concert.

College choir will give its annual spring concert on Wednesday, April 25. There is also some possibility of choir trips to high schools in this area.

Campus Men Attend Music Clinic at OU

Joseph Arbogast, Curtiss Fleschman, Jack Kaufman, Gene Elmore, and Kent Duffield, all music students, visited Athens, Ohio, Sunday, Jan. 15, to see one of the world's greatest saxophonists, Sigured Rascher, in the Alumni Memorial Auditorium in Athens.

These students attended a clinic during the morning, and in the afternoon, they were in a clinic with Rascher. They heard the Ohio University Symphony orchestra.

Rascher was the first man to persuade composers of all nations to write special works for the saxophone. He proved that the saxophone is a flexible instrument by playing four octaves on an instrument with only two and one-half natural octaves.

A graduate of the State Academy of Music at Stuttgart, Germany, he came to America in 1939 and performed as soloist with the New York Philharmonic Symphony and Boston Symphony orchestras.

Vocational Material Available in Library

A vocational file consisting of information on approximately 120 occupations is a recent addition to the Robert F. Kidd Library, announces Miss Josephine Fidler, assistant librarian.

Pamphlets are available which not only relates skills, aptitudes, and interests of individuals to various occupational requirements but also explores job opportunities and wage scales.

Occupational information can be found on a variety of subjects such as aviation, art, engineering, forestry, interior decorating, medicine, publishing, television, and the U. S. Army.

Pamphlets may be borrowed from the library for home use.

THINK BEFORE SPEAKING

The first semester of the school year 1955-56 is fast drawing to a close. With the end of the semester comes a series of final examinations. In approximately a week, the students of Glenville State college will be receiving their grades.

Accompanying the grades will no doubt be a great deal of griping and many accusations. It is customary, when a student receives a low grade in a course, for that student to accuse the instructor concerned. Instead of going directly to the professor, the student usually loudly proclaims to any audience that he can find that he has been cheated.

Nine out of every 10 times this statement is not true. Consequently it is entirely unfair for a student to make such accusations that have no basis. No one likes to receive low grades. However, if each student, when he does receive a low grade, would stop long enough to take stock of the work which he did in the course, that student would be less prone to hurl accusations at the faculty. Most of the time, if the student really thinks things over, he can see the reasons for his grade. Perhaps it's time then for him to begin working a little more for his classes.

If the student cannot find a reason for a low grade, then the most sensible thing to do is to go directly to the instructor concerned and discuss the matter with him. Few professors will refuse to explain a grade to any student, and most of them would appreciate a student coming to them before he discussed the matter with the student body.

All of us expect instructors to treat us fairly. Isn't it only right, then, that we treat them in the same manner? Perhaps the result would be a little less griping about grades and a little more studying.—Shirley James

MRS. NORMAN DOING FINE JOB!

Since Mrs. Yelive Norman has become full-time manager of the Club Pioneer there has been a noticeable increase in profits and service. This is not meant as a criticism of former managers of the union, but it is meant as a compliment to Mrs. Norman, the first full-time manager of this student center.

During these past few months, the union has assumed a pleasant and comfortable atmosphere. Cleanliness, orderliness, and interesting floral displays have helped make this possible. Mrs. Norman is gifted in producing attractive floral arrangements and we want her to know that they are appreciated.

On busy days at the union, one can see this efficient manager emptying ash trays, clearing tables or arranging chairs whenever she has a spare moment. Her pleasant attitude of serving makes her respected and admired.

This semester the union has shown a large increase in profit over last year and preceding years, according to Edward Tekieli, Student Council president. Whether or not this is because of the increase in enrollment or of the friendly atmosphere provided for the students is debatable.

We of the MERCURY staff believe Mrs. Norman is an influential factor in this profit increase. Her capable business-like attitude has certainly helped to make the student center more profitable and pleasant.

During the Christmas season, we are sure everyone noticed the lovely Christmas tree and decorations throughout the Club Pioneer.

We believe that Mrs. Norman is doing good work for Glenville State College and its students. We appreciate your efforts Mrs. Norman. Thank you—very much.—Yvonne Hart.

Sorority Simmerings

By Lee Kessinger

KAPPA CHI KAPPA—Material from a dance band was passed around by President Patty Hall. Pledge week was discussed. It was decided that the sorority select their best pledge next Monday night. Final plans for last week's assembly were discussed, and rehearsal schedules were set up.

Some of the Kappa Chi's pledge rules were: (1) Carry a sack of candy and chewing gum for old members; (2) Address old members as Miss; (3) Wear a sign with Kappa Chi Kappa on it; and (4) Make a plywood key and have it signed by all members and pledges. Other rules for certain days were: wear their hair in braids, take an apple to professors, and wear skirts backwards.

XI BETA TAU—Formal initiation date was set as Wed., Feb. 8. Gifts for little sisters were decided upon. The annual Sock Hop and dance bands were discussed. Stationery and cards are still being sold by this organization. Active members were entertained by pledges with a variety show.

Some Xi Beta rules are: (1) Pledges must be at breakfast each morning; (2) Learn and possess a thorough knowledge of the Greek alphabet; (3) Attend church with active members one Sunday; (4) Carry an uncooked egg and have it signed by five faculty members, five Sigma Taus, and all active Xi Betas; and (5) Make a doll or

Have You Read These Books?

By Connie Sams

There comes a time in every college student's life when he must walk into a literature class and be asked the question, "What books did you read before coming to college?" Students slip a few titles in that make the professors moan, but then . . .

To a great degree, students list as some of the books they wish they had read, the books which the professors say may well have been read before coming to college.

A student might also argue that there are a lot of important books that one should read before entering college, but how do you know which are the most important? About 30 college professors of literature have contributed their ideas as to what some of these books are.

Some of the Best

Their agreement is expressed in the following order: The Bible; Shakespeare; "Huckleberry Finn" or "Tom Sawyer" by Mark Twain; "David Copperfield" or "Tale of Two Cities" by Dickens; "Gulliver's Travels" by Swift; "The Odyssey" and "The Iliad" by Homer; "Ivanhoe" by Scott; "Idylls of the King" by Tennyson; "Alice in Wonderland" by Carroll; "The Scarlet Letter" by Hawthorne, and Benjamin Franklin's "Autobiography."

One seldom "has time" in college, in the business world, or anywhere, but one can "find time" for worthwhile things. As one person said, "We may be living in a Comic Book Culture, but I wish to urge you to read good books."

The library is the best place in the world to find these books.

"Sixteen Reams," by Jack Cawthon, has appeared in the Glenville Pathfinder. The author is photographer and feature writer for the MERCURY and editor of the Glenville Pathfinder.

The rich one's made out of food and drink.

Food and drink, women and song, His mind may be weak but his staff is strong.

You write 16 reams and whatta you get—

Two ads cancelled and a newspaper debt.

St. Peter don't call me cause I can't stop

Till I fill 10 inches in that back page spot.

I was born one mornin' when the copy was low.

(Worry over deadlines has aged me so.)

I wrote 16 reams with a "personal" touch

And the shop boss said, "That's too darn much."

(Chorus)

I was born one mornin' when the press didn't roll.

Those doggone "personals" have troubled my soul.

Some folks dyin' while others are born.

Good gosh, Gabriel, why don'tcha blow that horn!

If you see me writin' better go the other way.

Cause I'm gettin' fed up more'n more each day.

Vespers Promotes Student Relationship

By Jayce Jackson

One of the campus activities that promotes spiritual and friendly relationships among college students is the Weekly Sunday evening vespers services in Louis Bennett lounge, sponsored by the Student Christian Association.

Yvonne Hart, a Junior from Clay, is acting as program chairman for the vespers committee. Miss Hart is in charge of scheduling campus organizations who will be in charge of the vespers programs.

During the year the following groups conduct at least one program: Student Christian Association, Xi Beta Tau sorority, Kappa Chi Kappa sorority, Holy Roller Court, Kappa Sigma Kappa fraternity, Sigma Tau Gamma fraternity, Home Economics club, Alpha Delta Epsilon business fraternity, and the Wesley Foundation.

Local Ministers Speak

Prof. Pearl Pickens has spoken at one program, and Rev. Bob Gay of the Presbyterian Church, the Rev. Robert Engel of the Methodist church, the Rev. John Mullens, of the Baptist Church, and the Rev. W. E. Davis also of the Baptist Church have spoken to the group of students gathered for a worship period.

Officers of the SCA are: John James, president; Patsy Greene, vice president; Phyllis Given, secretary; Evelyn Given, treasurer; Harold Barker and Nancy Barlow, commission chaimen, and Yvonne Hart, program chairman.

Committee-Requests Student Suggestions

In an effort to present a program that will be of more interest to students, the GSC Lyceum committee has revealed that it is urging students to make suggestions or recommendations as to what changes or additions they would like to see on the program next year.

Any suggestion or recommendation should be given to any member of the committee: Carl Kerr, chairman; Miss Bertha Olsen, Shirley Chancy and Fred Batten.

Olga Pashkevich, a graduate of Glenville State with the class of 1955, is now teaching language arts at Benjamin Franklin junior high school in Parkersburg.

While attending college here Mrs. Pashkevich had fields in business administration and English. She served as faculty secretary and also acted as secretary of the Student Council in her senior year.

The former student served as vice president of both the Future Teachers of America and Alpha Delta Epsilon, local business fraternity.

Mrs. Pashkevich is also a graduate of National Business college of Roanoke, Va.

Teaching business administration at Pickens high school in Randolph county is Elaine Bell Markley, 1955 graduate of Glenville State College.

Receiving her degree in business administration and English, Mrs. Markley, during her four years at Glenville, took an active part in many campus activities.

She was editor of the 1955 Kanawha and a member of the Future Teachers of America, Omega Kappa Players, an active member of Kappa Chi Kappa sorority, treasurer of Alpha Delta Epsilon honorary business fraternity, and was vice president of the governing board of Kanawha hall.

Two former Glenville State College students, Helen Brammer and Paul Hunt, were married last summer and are now living in Knoxville, Tenn., where Mrs. Hunt is supervisor of a hot lunch program in the city schools, and he is working on his master's degree at the University of Tennessee.

Both are graduates of Glenville State. Mrs. Hunt graduated with a degree in home economics, and Mr. Hunt received a degree in chemistry.

Harley Cutlip, 1955, has been appointed assistant State 4-H Club leader and director of Jackson's Mill by the West Virginia Agriculture and Extension Service. He has been announced. The former student began his duties last September.

Cutlip is married and has one son, and before taking over his duties at Jackson's Mill, he was county 4-H Club agent of Braxton county for 11 years. He also taught in Braxton county elementary schools for seven years prior to this.

The former student is a specialist in recreation and has done recreational work in summer camps in Rhode Island and Maryland. He has also attended the University of Wisconsin, West Virginia University, and Salem college.

RUDY POOLE

Poole's Scoring Breaks Records

Rudy "Cool" Poole, that wonder boy from Lost Creek, has been breaking all sorts of Glenville records in the last five games with his scoring antics. Saturday, Jan. 14, Poole scored 42 points against Beckley for his record high of the season. However, this was five short of tying the single game scoring record that was set by Poole himself last year when he grabbed 47 in a game with West Liberty.

The "Cool" Poole scored 74 points in the Concord-Beckley tour, has topped Bob "Hooks" Hardman's record of 69 points for two consecutive games. Rudy hit for 47 points in three consecutive games to break the old record also held by Hardman at 97 points.

And Poole's 136 points in four consecutive games breaks the record of 121 made by Hardman in 1951. Although there is no available record for five consecutive games, it is quite evident that Poole's 172 points would be high for this.

Breaks 20-point Game Record
In 1951, Hardman set a record of 20 consecutive games for scoring 20 or more points per game. This record has also been broken by Poole. As it now stands, he has scored 20 or more points in seven consecutive games. And, if the exhibition game with the Alumni was included, he would have a skein of nine games of 20 or more points scored.

In those nine games of 20 or more points, he has scored 295 points for 89.5 average. The Mercury's statistical release in 11 games (does not include the West Liberty or Alumni game) shows Poole leading the field with 14 goals out of 213 attempts for (Continued on page 4)

Pioneers Top Wesleyan 80-78 In Exciting Overtime Game

ODDS & ENDS

By JOHN CUTLIP

Who is going to win the Glenville-Morris Harvey game Friday night?

Fans who have witnessed the Pioneers in action in their last three games have marvelled at the vast improvement in their play. One of the things that pleases this writer is the improvement in the Gee Men's defensive play. The game with Wesleyan Saturday night was one of the best, defensive wise, that these eyes have witnessed in the West Virginia conference.

If any students were offended by the music we had in the dining hall last Wednesday at noon, this writer would like to take this opportunity to apologize. There are several methods of drumming up enthusiasm for a ball game, and playing march music just before the game seemed to be a likely one. It seems, however, that some people took the music in the wrong (or different) attitude and found it their privilege to take the matter before the school administration.

But it is still the opinion of many that playing march music before a ball game is a good way to put one in the right frame of mind to go and yell for the team. Consequently, march music will continue to be played before each home contest, unless the administration finds it wise to rule to the contrary.

In every walk of life there are daily happenings which seem to be on the unusual side. This is also true in the field of sports. For example, take the case of Saxon C. Elliot, coach of Los Angeles State college's basketball team.

Elliot is an experimenter in the field of basketball. Recently, the L. A. fans were amazed to see a procession of red, bright orange, yellow ochre, candy striped, and black and white polka dot balls come floating through the air. Elliot was experimenting to see which ball could be easiest seen in action. He concluded that the bright orange ball was best.

Other experiments carried on by the coach was to have officials wear ear plugs so that they wouldn't be influenced by the yelling of partisan crowds. He used tape recordings of cheering and music to inspire the team on the road. He also used the tape recorder for observations made during the first half and then played them back to the boys at half-time.

In one game he had his team members attired in shoes with 6-inch soles so they could better match the height of the opposing team. (This was later ruled illegal.) To improve the officiating, he placed referees on platforms above each basket and a third one working on the floor. Only the officials on the platforms were allowed to call fouls.

Inventions Elliot proposes to put in action as soon as funds are available are: 10 and 14 foot baskets on each end of the court, one for the short player and one for the tall.

MINNICH FLORIST
"Flowers for Every Occasion"

They were majestic; they were profound; they were terrific; they were inexpressible. Yes, I'm talking about the mighty Pioneers who downed those quarellous Bobcats to the tune of 80-78 in an overtime game at Wesleyan Saturday night.

It was a game of as two evenly matched teams as one can find anywhere. Only the will to win carried the Gee Men through the nerve-racking contest. The Wesleyan group, who rank high in the conference standings, thought they had the game in the bag when they jumped off to a nine-point lead. But they were figuring their successes without taking into account the will and abilities of a great Pioneer team.

Gee Men Show Improvement.

Those loving Gee Men, who have showed steady improvement in the last three games, gave the Glenville faithful followers exactly what they have been looking for—a great game of basketball with its oil-slick defensive machine clicking along with the smooth-working offensive machinery.

Coach Byrd must have been really pouring the oil on the cylinders of the defensive unit during the last week for that unit has become, if anything, smoother working than the offensive unit. For example, the defensive unit held Tech's 107-point game average down to 84; it held rough and ready D-E to 85 (two of their points came after the game was over); and it stopped the mighty Bobcats at a mere 78 markers.

White Wave Strong In Second
In the game Saturday night, the clawing Bobcats set the pace at 41-38 at halftime, but the White Wave came back strong in the second half to pull the skids out from under the Methodists. It was the great work of those "darlings of the banking boards," Rudy "Cool" Poole, Bob "Crazy Legs" Turner, and a new comer, Jon "Mikan" Hays that turned the game in the second half, for they continually snatched the ball away from the befuddled would-be Wesleyan rebounders.

But the Gee Men would have been lost without the cool-headed playing of those two little guards, Bob "The Beard" Weaver and Dorsey "The Dunker" Scott. It was Scott's two free throws with 14 a basket rim just a little larger than the ball to prevent so many tip-ins; and a moving or revolving banking board to prevent high scoring games.

One amateur sport which is almost becoming an oddity is wrestling. But not so in Bethlehem, Pa., where Lehigh university is located. When the matmen of this school entertained arch rival Penn. State, 3,300 loyal fans crowded into the arena to view the contest. In West Virginia, we find it hard to draw a comparable size crowd for the fast moving game of basketball.

BEAT MORRIS HARVEY !! That's the call that comes ringing through the woods as the Pioneers prepare for the annual visit of the Golden Eagles from Charleston.

And beat Morris Harvey is exactly what the Pioneers would like to do. In recent years, the Golden Eagles have become one of the greatest rivals on the Gee Men's card. In fact, the Charlestonians have replaced Wesleyan, Glenville's oldest rivals, as the team to beat.

Eagles Won First Contest

Friday night Coach Eddie King and his gangling squad invaded the Glenville field house for a return match with the White Wave. The capital city team plunged ahead in the last five minutes of play to beat the Pioneers 107-92 in the first game of the season for both teams.

Since that seasonal debut, the Golden Eagles haven't been able to measure up to pre-season billing as one of the top quintets in the nation. They lost a 79-72 contest while posting a 5-1 conference record. But it has been outside of the loop where they've been in deep water. Their biggest marginal loss was to their arch rivals, Marshall, who walloped them by a 39-point spread.

But the Pioneers are also having their troubles in being able to play a consistent brand of ball. It has only been in the recent contests with Tech and D-E that the Gee Men have looked anything like the team that gave Morris Harvey such (Continued on page 4)

BOURNE DEFEATS GORRELL-SAMS; MCCOMIS HUMBLER COX-STUMP

Two Spartan battlers playing without the aid of their scheduled partners fought their way to overwhelming victories in WAA badminton competition.

Joyce Bourne won her second game of the season as a lone wolf. Bourne slammed and faked her way to two consecutive defeats over Bonnie Gorrell-Connie Sams by scores of 15-5 and 15-3.

A freshman flash, Beverly McComis, humbled Ada Cox-Jeal Stump 15-3 and 15-8.

Four games were forfeited 1-0 when Iris Mack-Judy Kennedy and Pat Snyder-Nancy Hall failed to appear. Gorrell-Sams and Shirley Brown-Joyce Jackson were awarded defeats over Mack-Kennedy. Bourne-Greene and McComis-Zeigler were checked up with automatic wins from Snyder-Hall.

Brown-Jackson Win

Brown-Jackson caught Barbara Blackhurst-Barbara Taylor off guard to swamp them 15-3 in their first game. However, the Blackhurst-Taylor rallied to give their opponents a real battle in the second game of the match. It took all the arm Brown-Jackson could swing to muster an 18-14 win.

Blackhurst-Taylor tasted defeat again at the hands of Cox-Stump, 15-10 and 15-8.

A fast moving freshman team, Virginia Davis-Mary Underwood, won over an experienced twosome, Connie Marley-Phyllis Given, 15-3 and 15-5. Another veteran team Martha White-Juanita Radcliff had little trouble defeating Nancy Gillespie-Martha Douglas by scores of 15-3 and 15-5.

A final game saw Shirley Chaney-Lauree Skeen make Carolee Singleton-Sue Click sing the blues to the tune of 15-1 and 15-8.

Odds Against Pioneers

Although the odds are against the Pioneers in the Friday night tilt, there is good reason to believe that they can take the Eagles, especially if they play the hustling type of ball they're capable of. For example, last year the Gee Men fell 99-81 at Charleston but came back to gain a 93-91 victory at Glenville. And such has been the story for the past three years.

Gee Men Travel

On Saturday night following the Morris Harvey contest, the Gee Men travel to Philippi to battle the Alderson-Broadus Battlers. And again it'll be a game with the top stars in action. The Battlers have Gilmer county grown, Joe Miller, to lead the battle for them while the Gee Men look to Rudy Poole to continue his scoring feats.

Coach Rex Pyles, a Glenville alumnus, and his conference champs took the measure of the Pioneers twice last year. This brought their total games won over the Gee Men up to 19 while the White Wave has notched 32 wins since the series began in 1925.

Next Tuesday night it's those pesky Bobcats again as they prowl into Glenville for a return match. Last year the Pioneers went wild as they settled the Methodistsmen 109-89 at Glenville. But the Wesleyan five caught the Gee Men off balance and eked an 88-86 overtime victory in the Bobcat lair.

Coach Paul West is putting his Salem Tigers in a revengeful frame of mind as they prepare for the February 4 invasion of the Pioneers. The Tigers are still stinging from the 115-89 lashing handed them by the Gee Men earlier in the season. Last year the Tigers lost 118-85 to the White Wave at Glenville but they came back strong to swamp the Gee Men 109-85 on the small gym at Salem.

points to set the game in a tie. The nervous Methodists missed on their next attempted goal and Hays picked off the rebound to give Glenville the control of the ball with 50 seconds left to play. With 14 seconds left, Scott drove in but was fouled by Wilkinson. "The Dunker's" two free throws gave Glenville the game.

In other action last week, the road-weary Pioneers met the red hot Tech team on their floor and gave them a battle all the way before dropping, 96-84. Rudy Poole topped all scorers for the night with 33.

With little rest, the Gee Men returned to Glenville where they saw their home victory skein stopped by D-E, 85-82. In the hotly contested game, the score was tied 11 times and the lead changed hands 18 times. Glenville had a one-point lead with 20 seconds left to play, but travelling was called on a player; and D-E took over with Paul Wilcox adding a goal to put the Senators in the lead, 73-72 with 15 seconds of playing time remaining.

In the fight for the ball under Glenville's basket, Bob Weaver's fifth foul was called as the final horn sounded. Pete Bezzini then added the two free throws after the other players had gone to the dressing rooms. Paul Wilcox was high man with 39 while Poole added 29 for the Pioneers.

a 1.9 average in 10 games. McPherson has 8 for 22 goals for a 36.3 percentage, 8 of 19 fouls for a 42.1 percentage, and 24 points for a 2.4 point game average in eight contests.

Tustin has a 35 goal shooting percentage with seven of 20, two for two at the foul circle for 100 percentage, and 16 points for a 2.2 game average in seven games. Scott has two for 22 goals for a nine percentage mark, 16 of 21 fouls for a 76.1 percentage, 20 points for a 2.2 average in nine games. Stanley has seven of 25 goals for a 28 percentage, 16 of 23 fouls for a 69.5 percentage, and 40 points for a five point game average in eight games.

Students Require Nurse's Attention

Injuries caused by falls on the icy sidewalks have sent at least two students to Nurse Mary Fiest for treatment recently. Nurse Fiest also reports two students required medical attention following sled riding accidents.

Colds, sore throats, and influenza attacks were among other reasons given for recent visits to Nurse Fiest by students and faculty members.
