Campus Politicians Will Vie For Student Council Offices

Students who are interested in being a candidate for a Student Council office should submit their platforms to the Council not later than April 3. This April 3 is a tentative date, according to President Edward Tekieli, and is subject to change.

The submitted platforms should be written and signed by any 10 students who think the person is a good candidate for the stated office. The candidates will probably have an opportunity to present their platform orally before the student body in a special assembly. The list of nominees and their platforms will be posted in the hall of the administration building on the glass-enclosed bulletin board.

Qualifications Listed

Qualifications for the office of President are: the candidate shall be a member of the senior class at the time of his election; he or she shall have been a full-time student of the college for a period of at least one year; their scholastic record must show an average of 2.5 or higher; they must be carrying at least 14 semester hours of work; they must never have been charged with a major violation of school regulations.

Vice-Presidency qualifications are the same as for the Presidency except the candidate can be a member of the sophomore or junior classes.

Candidates for other offices in the Council must be residents at the time of election and their scholastic average should be 2.0 or higher, carrying no less than 14 semester hours. No student officer shall succeed himself in the same capacity.

Record Attendance Is Compiled by FHA Regional Conference

Four hundred and fifty students from 23 surrounding high schools attended the Western regional Future Homemakers Conference on Glenville's campus last week. According to President Harry B. Heflin, this is the largest organizational group ever to attend a meeting here.

Jean Hogue, state FHA president from Pennsboro high school, presided over the morning session, and leading the afternoon session was Flora Dyer, Sutton high school and state vice-president of music and recreation.

Midmorning entertainment was provided for the group by the Ripley and Ravenswood chapters.

Joe Bailey, education director of the state FFA-FHA camp at Ripley reported on the status of the camp during the afternoon session. A one-act play, "Box and Cox," was presented for the future homemakers as part of the afternoon's entertainment. Student director of the play was Yvonne Hart.

Edna Cobb, Walton high school, and Wilma Staley, Buffalo high school, were elected by the conference to represent region four in the parliamentary race at the state elections which will be held at Jackson's Mill next summer. Selected to run for treasurer in the state elections were Rigby Guiney, Ripley high school, and Sue Lucas, Scott high school.

Guests at the conference were Mrs. Maxine Parsons, regional adviser from Ripley; Mrs. Pauline Stout, Charleston; Mrs. Paul Harris, Pennsboro; Mrs. Lucille Wallis, Salem; Miss Harriette Arnold, past president from Elk Garden; Miss Mary Esther Golchinger, Salem, state vice-president; and Mrs. Frances Howard, Sutton.

Schools represented include: Burnsville, Sutton, Cairo, Troy, Chapmanville, Walton, Wirt, Gassaway, Grantsville, Griffithsville, Harrisville, Buffalo, Madison, Macon, Normanstown, Pennsboro, Point Pleasant, Ravenswood, Ripley, Sand Fork, Spencer, Clay, and Doddridge.

Expect 'Okay' Soon On New Building

Approval of the new $225,000-plus dining hall-student union is expected to be received by Glenville State College when the state Board of Education meets the first week in March, according to President Harry B. Heflin.

Requests for bids will immediately be sent out to contractors should the board give its approval of the project and will be considered by the board the early part of April.

Razing of the old gym which now houses the union will probably get underway during the latter part of March. The entire project is expected to be completed by September 1957.

President Heflin also revealed that $50,000 has been granted by the state for repairs on Louis Bennett hall, which will be put up for bids in the near future. Work to be done on the men's dormitory will include remodeling of section four and the lounge; corners will be rebuilt; footers repaired; concrete floors laid and new asphalt tile will be installed.

GSC has already received permission to begin charging a student union fee of $2.50 a semester, starting June 1.

Six Art Students Give Demonstration

Six artists under the direction of Prof. Julia Nutter will depict a busy day in the life of an art major, Monday night at a meeting of the Glenville Civic club.

Students participating will be Sue Waggoner, Shirley Chancey, Bonnie Gorrell, Janice Arnold, Mildred Nichols, and Pat West.

These students will actively portray four phases of art work: painting, ceramics, design, and crafts.

Mrs. Ruth Bennett, president, will preside over the meeting which will be held in the art department at 8 p.m.

Fasthoff, Orendorff Entertain Home Ec

Prof. Henry Fasthoff and Dr. Harold Orendorff, of the College music department, participated in the musical entertainment of the Western Regional Future Homemakers on campus last Saturday. Fasthoff played organ and the Collegians, college dance band, played. Kent Duffield, senior, conducted the dance band.

David Arbogast, sophomore, was a guest of the Rotary club Thursday night. He offered some musical selections on the accordion in commemoration of "Founder's Day" for the College.

'Tartuffe' Three-Act Comedy Set For Stage March 7 and 8

By IRIS MACK

"Tartuffe", a three-act comedy, will be presented March 7 and 8 at 8:00 p. m. in the college auditorium, under the direction of Prof. William Coleman. The play was written by Moliere in 1667. Moliere (whose real name is Jean-Baptiste Poquelin) was born in Paris in 1622, of a substantial bourgeois family. He was sent to the fashionable Jesuit school of Clermont, where he studied from 1635 to 1641.

19 Students Chosen To Judge Mercury's Cover-Girl Contest

Nineteen students have been chosen to help select Glenville's representative to the Roto Cover-Girl contest, sponsored by the Pittsburgh Press and announced Yvonne Hart, MERCURY editor.

The committee and the organizations they represent are Nancy Greenleaf, Xi Beta Tau; Richard Stewart, Kappa Sigma Kappa; Susan Arnold, Kappa Chi Kappa; Bill Deel, Wesley Foundation; Rod Oldham, Holy Roller Court; Jim White, Student Christian Association; Kent Duffield, MENC; Eddie Perrine, Omicronkappa;

Ronald Schuman, Sigma Tau Gamma; Ray Carson, Alpha Psi Omega; Dave Posey, Student Council; Mary Suck, Alpha Delta Epsilon; Ada Cox, 4-H; Kitty Barr, Home Economics club; John Lazear, Veterans club, Keith Pritt, G-Club; Jackie Coe, WAA; Raymond Oxier, MAA; Wilma Ball, Future Teachers of America.

This committee will choose six girls as finalists in the contest. Pictures of these girls will be in a future issue of the MERCURY. An all-school election will be held to select one of these six girls as Glenville State College's "Campus Cover Girl."

A picture of the winner from this campus will be sent to Roto Magazine, where it will appear along with photos of other college winners. Judges will select one girl from an estimated 27 colleges, and the winner's picture will be used on the cover page of the Roto magazine. A story of her life will also appear in the magazine.

Glenville State's candidate last year was Jeanette Prather of Burnt House.

Xi Beta Tau Plans Sock Hop March 17

Xi Beta Tau's annual Sock Hop will be an event of Saturday, March 17, from 9 to 12 p.m.

Committees have been appointed to make arrangements for the dance. These include ticket committee, Mary Helen Plunkett and Lantia Wright; decorating committee, Pat Christian, Shirley Brown, Joyce Jackson, and Lorene Ellyson.

According to Anna Radabaugh, president of Xi Beta Tau, admission will be $1.50 per couple.

The Jesuits gave him the good classical education of the time, which included a study of the Roman comic authors, Terence and Plautus. Moliere's first attempts in the theatre were with the Bejarts in Paris. But their "Illustre Theatre," as they called it, was a financial failure.

They abandoned Paris, and from 1646 to 1650 Moliere with several members of the Bejart family toured the provinces with a small acting company. This was Moliere's fertile apprenticeship as actor-manager, and as author also, for his first plays were written in this period.

Banned In Paris

"Tartuffe" was once banned from Paris. The play was written in verse, rhymed couplets and twelve syllables to the line. It is high, or serious, comedy, and some have even said that it was tragic. Yet one is likely to miss its peculiar greatness unless one sees that, whatever its implication, "Tartuffe" is in its immediate effect, comedy.

Behind "Tartuffe" one may feel the chill of treachery itself. While the comedy is played on stage, Tartuffe's falseness looks like impudence and paradox: an impossibility, a farce, for the same audience which sees and enjoys it.

And Tartuffe's impudence, like Madame Pernelle's peevishness and Orgon's blind infatuation, is fed by Moliere's own love for shameless human energy in all its forms. The humor is deep, but it is the greatness of the play that keeps the perspective of a comedy.

Cast Named

The cast consists of twelve characters with Albert Sommerville as "Tartuffe," Shirley Lightner, "Pernelle," Carolyn Jackson, "Marianne," Judy Bragg, "Elmire," Jim White, "Cleante," Larry Miller, "Dams," Pat Christian, "Dorine,"

Journalism Classes Tour News Plant

Prof. Virginia West's news writing and editing and high school newspaper classes toured the Glenville Democrat office and printing office Feb. 21.

Linn B. Hickman, editor of the Democrat, discussed some of the hazards of journalistic writing and traced a story from its beginning to its place in the weekly newspaper.

The mechanics of the linotype machine and the actual printing of the paper were also noted by the group.

Students who made the tour were Joyce Jackson, Yvonne Hart, Shirley Brown, Connie Sams, Iris Mack, Shirley Lightner and Bob Miller.

Students Give Talks At Science Meeting

Eleanor Conley, freshman; Raymond Oxier, senior; and Harold R. Stump, Jr., sophomore, represented the Glenville State College science department at a meeting of the Bethany College science club Thursday at Bethany. The students were accompanied by Dr. Max Ward, department head.

Stump and Oxier spoke at the meeting on research that they have done here at Glenville as well as research carried on by others in the science department here.

Stump is president and Oxier is secretary of the State Collegiate Academy of Science.

Sunday, Mar. 11, Is First Recital Date For Music Students

The first in a series of three Sunday afternoon recitals performed by applied music majors will be held Sunday, March 11 at 3 p.m. in the College auditorium.

Doris Short, Janet Thompson, Gola Wood, Thomas Reed, and Gene Elmore will participate in the program. The recital will include piano, trumpet, and baritone selections.

Chaddock, Nutter Attend N. Y. Meet

From Glenville to New York this is the way it will be for two Glenville State College professors during the month of March.

Prof. Lillian Chaddock, head of the home economics department, will attend the North Atlantic home economics educational regional conference, held in New York city the week of March 5-9.

On March 7, Mrs. Chaddock will serve as recorder for the session. The conference will be attended by state supervisors and teacher trainers, for the purpose of improving teacher training and home economics curriculum in general.

Prof. Julia Nutter will serve on two committees at the Eastern arts convention in New York the week of March 11-14.

Miss Nutter was selected to serve on the convention banquet committee and the hospitality and service committee.

"You the Teacher" will be the theme of the convention. During the week long session, the Eastern arts council, to which Miss Nutter was elected in September, will meet.

Educ. Students View 6 Films in February

Six films will be shown to education students during the month of February, according to Prof. George Howard.

The films and the date they will be shown are Feb. 1, "How Effective Is Your Reading?" and "Skip-Pracy and Three R's;" Feb. 2, "Practicing Democracy in the Classroom," and "How to Read The Newspaper;" Feb. 3, "Motivating The Class;" and on Feb. 13 "Mike Makes His Mark."

The program has been called a "hillbilly jamboree" by some. Yet, each year when an overflow crowd converges on the College campus to attend the annual West Virginia Folk Festival, these "knock-it-yourself" people seem to be greatly in the minority.

The Festival is the brainchild of one man who has devoted many years of his life to the cause of preserving a dying folk culture. That man is Dr. Patrick W. Gainer, an instructor at West Virginia University who teaches here at the College during the summer terms.

Gainer, in his years of research, has delved into practically every section of the state in his search for remnants of a folk culture of the past. He has found in many isolated regions songs which vary little from the original versions which were sung hundreds of years before in the British Isles.

It is the purpose of the Festival to present the stories and songs of the Allegheny mountaineer who brought them from his homeland across the sea. In most instances the songs and the stories were his only possessions.

Each year the Festival brings back the memories of a twilight in our present-day culture. With the chiming of the rebeck, the low melody of the dulcimer, the squeal of the fiddle, the singing of "Barbara Allen," we are taken back to a day and age much different from ours. We are taken back to the days when immigrants crossed the oceans to a new country with hope in their hearts of establishing a new beginning in a land of opportunity. They brought little wealth with them; they had little to bring. Yet, they brought much more than can be assessed in dollars and cents. They brought with them their customs and traditions from which, when mixed and molded, emerged a fully American folk culture.

The next Festival will be held on June 28. We urge you to attend and to see for yourself a program which is as far from "hillbillyism" as the Metropolitan Opera is from "rock and roll". You won't be lowered into a lower intellectual bracket if you should attend, and we think you will be amply repaid for your time.—Jack Cawthon.

TODAY MARKS LEAP YEAR

This issue marks the last one for the month of February. It also marks the last day of the month. In addition, this is the commemorated day which marks the year as Leap Year.

Many of our students have remarked that they do not understand the common term "Leap" year! Well, it's very simple—the year contains 366 days instead of the usual 365. Feb. 29 is that extra day!

This dates back to 46 B. C., the time of Julius Caesar. It was he who established the 365 day-year, with one day intercalated every four years. He did this because his calculations resulted in a 365 day, six hour-year, so every four year, we have an extra day to catch up.

One usually regards Leap Year as the time when girls ask boys for dates, and women ask men to marry them. But this is not a common practice, we believe. Although both sororities on campus do advocate that girls ask boys to their dances, we don't regard this as typical of our campus.

This tradition of women's proposing to men or being the pursuer has been handed down from St. Patrick and St. Bridget. St. Bridget is said to have complained to St. Patrick about females being unable to "pop the question." To this, St. Patrick replied that women could have the right to propose one year in four years.

St. Bridget, in gratitude flung her arms around St. Patrick and asked him to marry her. But he, having taken vows to remain single, patched up the difficulty by giving her a silk gown and a kiss. This became a law in 1288 in Scotland—that women have the privilege of taking the initiative once in very four years.

Though the month of February is longer this year, it is still the shortest of the months. To those who were born on Feb. 29, we wish you a happy birthday.—Yvonne Hart.

Principals, Supervisors Hear Addresses, Hold Discussions During Conference Here

Approximately 40 principals and supervisors attended the regional meeting of the West Virginia Secondary Principals commission which was conducted on campus last week, according to C. P. Wells, chairman.

Opening the day's activities was an address by Pres. Harry B. Heflin, Wilson Woods, Webster county, presented a summary of the last meeting. Miss Mabel Nichols, Webster Springs high school, and Mrs. Jane Hill, Cowen high school, talked on making use of differentiated assignments in language arts in the various grades.

"Developing a Language Arts Program in an Attendance Area" was the topic for discussion when four members, Arthur J. Moore, Normantown; Robert Miller, Rosedale; Paul Roberts, Normantown; and Clavel Smith, Cedarville; presented a panel.

Highlights of the afternoon's activities included a panel on curriculum building in the various school levels, a report on inventory of developments in curriculum studies, and election of chairman and vice-chairman for 1956-57. Dwight O. Conner, principal of Parkersburg high school presented proposed changes in the bylaws for athletic activities and proposals for governing non-athletic activities.

Principals and supervisors who attended the meeting were: Mrs. George Hill, Mrs. Edith Singleton, Mrs. Rennie Boggs, Clifford Clem, Clavel Smith, Edward Crutchfield, Brooks Smith, Fred E. Smith, Miss Corlie Hill, Miss Lucy Carroll, Arthur J. Moore, H. Paul Roberts, Roy J. Stump.

Robert Miller, Ernie Harris, John V. White, Don Robinson, W. J. Anderson, C. H. Conway, Roy B. Cartwright, Paul Cutlip, Fred Berry, Lester H. Bickel, Wilson E. Woods, Holmes Skidmore, Miss Mabel Nichols, Leroy B. Stennett, H. E. Edwards, Henry Bailey.

H. B. Heflin, Virgil Harris, Oakford Deitz, Gerald Cummings, Billy Bennett, H. H. Yeager, Hoyt G. Dean, Nelson Wells, Gilbert Reed, Dean Delmer K. Somerville, Harold Scott, and Albert Moore.

Sorority Simmerings

By SHIRLEY BROWN

Kappa Chi Kappa

Susan Arnold was chosen to represent the sorority on a committee to choose the campus cover girl at the last meeting.

Jackets were discussed by the organization and plans were announced to display the banner to welcome the Future Homemakers of America.

Jean Lloyd, Sally Zeigler, and Reta Jo Vannoy were appointed to prepare hot dogs this week.

Xi Beta Tau

Plans for the annual Sock Hop were discussed and committees were appointed at last week's meeting.

Nancy Greenleaf was chosen to represent the sorority on the committee for choosing the campus cover girl and she was also elected treasurer to replace Doris Short who resigned.

Membership cards were presented to the new members. Greeting cards were distributed for the members to sell.

Connie Marley, Joyce Bourn, and Patsy Greene prepared hot dogs for sale in the hall last week.

ALTON PETERS

Glenville Graduate Coaches Sand Fork To Loop Cage Title

Alton Peters, a quiet unassuming coach and teacher, has guided his 1955-56 Sand Fork High School Lions to a season's record of 19 wins and one loss. This one loss came at the hands of Kelley-Miller High School, Clarksburg, last week by a 72-71 score.

The Lions were declared winners in the Northern Little Kanawha conference and last Saturday night met Ravenswood, southern victor, for the championship play-off.

Ravenswood was tied with Spencer for the southern championship. L. K. coaches gave Ravenswood the "go" sign for the play-off.

Sand Fork high school has an enrollment of 189 students, grades six through 12. Principal Gilbert Reed reports that there are 37 boys in the three upper classes and of this number 17 are on the basketball squad.

Sand Fork community has a population of 272.

1942 GSC Graduate

Peters received a standard normal degree from Glenville in 1928, an A. B. degree in 1942 and was granted an M.A. from West Virginia University in 1954.

He is in his thirteenth year as a teacher at Sand Fork, where he is coach of basketball and baseball, and instructor in physical education, mathematics, and driver education.

Prior to his work at Sand Fork, his alma mater, Peters taught in the Gilmer County schools of Ellis, Middle Ellis, Baldwin, and Gilmer.

A native of Gilmer county, Peters is married to the former Miss Evelyn Barker and they have two sons, Carl and Ronnie.

Carl is a junior biology major here at Glenville and Ronnie is a freshman majoring in physical education.

The year 1954 was also a successful season for Coach Peters as his team that year lost only one game.

Five Four Year Olds Find Nursey School Can Be Fun

By JOYCE JACKSON and CONNIE SAMS

In the home management house, all painted white
From nine in the morning till the noon bells strike
Live five little hearts, merry and light.

Serving as a part of the college's home economics curriculum, the nursery school, located on the first floor of the home management house, is attended by two girls and three boys this term.

These four year olds, under the supervision of Prof. Elma Jean Woolter and members of her child care class, daily participate in various activities such as clay molding, finger painting, and playing with blocks and puzzles. The tots also engage in other constructive activities.

Those enrolled in the nursery school are Debby Stump, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Rupert W. Stump; Dana Hawkins, son of Mr. and Mrs. James E. Hawkins; Stevie Engle, son of the Rev. and Mrs. Robert Engle; Marilyn Murin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Nicholas Murin, and Mike Miller, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Paul Miller.

Members of the child care class who help with the nursery school include Susan Vanner, Louise Byrd, Mavis Collins, Barbara Johnson, Virginia Horner, Ann Jones, Annette Summers, Janet Scott, Wilma Ball, Bonnie Gorrell, Mary Boggs, Bernadine Gregory, Janice Arnold, Shirley Lambert, Marita Reed, Patsy Greene, Jean Ingham, Mida Bailey, Sally Zeigler, Barbara Royce, Nancy Hall, and Sue James.

A letter was received from Bill Lewis and J. D. Brackenrich, now attending West Virginia University, requesting that mugs be ordered for them. Sheriff Ray Rardin is collecting information as to where the mugs may be obtained and what the price will be.

It was announced that officials are needed for the class tournament to be held soon. Judge, Don Hamon said that he would try to have the tournament held in the afternoon, since it will be the same date as the collegiate tournament.

Kappa Sigma Kappa

The Kappa Sigma Kappa fraternity elected Richard Stewart as their representative to the council for the choosing of local cover girl. A paddle was mailed to Jack Tennant, former member of the frat.

A letter was received from the Kappa Sigma Kappa chapter at Fairmont inviting the local Kappa Sig chapter to attend the Colonial Ball, held Feb. 25, at Fairmont. An order was made for mugs, jackets and other supplies.

The Cornell Daily Sun reports that Cornell university has received grants of $200,000 from both the Ford Motor company and the Chrysler corporation to carry on research in auto safety.

Miller, Wilcox, Mikush Elected To GSC All-Opponent Team

Joe Miller of A-B, Paul Wilcox of D & E, and Don Mikush of Concord received unanimous votes in being selected to the Glenville Pioneer's All-Opponent team. Other men placed on the team on the basis of their performance against the Pioneers are Jim Vandall and Cap Smith of Morris Harvey, Kenny Hammond and Dick Cantley of Tech, and Tom Rutherford of Wesleyan.

Mikush, of this group, was the leading scorer against the Pioneers with 76 points in two games for a 38 point average. Wilcox saw action against the Pioneers in only one game but he was the big factor in the D & E win with his 39 blockers.

Miller Gets 66

Joe Miller notched 66 points for 33 game average but he gained 10 of these in one contest. Of the other men on the All-Opponent team, Dick Cantley is the leading scorer with 56. He was the main factor in Tech's win over the Pioneers at Montgomery.

Cap Smith with 48 was just three ahead of his team mate Jim Vandall who notched 45 in the two Morris Harvey wins over Glenville. Tom Rutherford with 38 gained a berth on the strength of his superb play when Glenville and Wesleyan played two overtime games.

Hammond's Ball Handling

Although Ken Hammond only played a portion of the second game against the Pioneers, his 33 points and superior ball handling landed him a berth on the All-Opponent team.

Glenville's All-Opponent team for this year included George Swyers, Tech, Carl Hartman of A-B, Paul Wilcox of D & E, Cap Smith of Morris Harvey, and Ed Hood of Wesleyan.

YELLOW JACKETS UP-SET PIONEERS

Glenville's basketball forces ended their regular season on a sour note as they fell to an improved W. Va. State team 91-81 at Institute. The Pioneers just couldn't seem to get rolling in the rough and tumble game as the Yellow Jackets placed five men in double figures.

High scorer for the night was Rudy Poole with 23 while Bob Reynolds followed close behind with 22. Turner continued to play a good brand of ball as he picked up 14 points and 15 rebounds. Al Reich pitched in 10 markers in the losing cause.

Thompson with 21 led the Yellow Jackets while Whitlow picked up 18, Evans 17, Mills 14, and Young with 13. It was one of those rough games with a total of 46 fouls being called during the night's actions.

'Bears' and 'Rabbits' Post WAA Wins

WAA basketball had plenty of action as the "Bears" squeezed out the "Unicorns" and the "Rabbits" hepped to a win over the "Cats." Junior-Nestor, Mary Lee Foster, whipped the cords with 22 points to help pull Bourn's "Bears" to a 38-30 win over Underwood's "Unicorns" in recent play.

"Flashing" Foster was assisted by Joyce Bourn, who rang up ten points, and Beverly McComis who netted six.

For the underdog "Unicorns", Junita Radcliff was high pointer, with nine points, followed by Virginia Davis with eight.

Davis Tallies 18

Carrying the burden of the load for Jackson's "Jack Rabbits" was Mary Margaret Davis, who slipped through a strong defense to tally 18 points against Coe's "Cats."

Davis was followed in the point column by Joyce Jackson with 11 points and Frances Sanford with four.

Defense work of the "Jack Rabbits" guards speaks for itself in allowing Coe only 15 points while the winners rang up 33.

Pouls could have had some significance on the outcome of both games as the "Cats" ended up with 11 fouls against the "Rabbits" six. "Unicorns" were accredited with 12 hardwood penalties, while the "Bears" had only six.

ATTENDANCE FOR HOME GAMES FALL FROM LAST SEASON'S MARK

Basketball attendance for all the home games this season have shown a decided decrease over the attendance for last year's games. The Glenville-Alderson-Broadus game showed the greatest decrease. Last year, 1,455 people crowded into the gym for the game while only, 905 showed up for this year's game.

This shows a decrease of 551. Several things could help explain this great drop. Last year, the Battlers

White Wave Selects Bob Turner As Team Captain of The Year

Bob Turner, 6-5 Pioneer center, has been voted by his team mates as the "Team Captain of The Year." The honor comes to Turner as he finishes his third season of inter-collegiate basketball play.

Turner, who isn't highly regarded as a potential high scorer by the opposition, gains the admiration of the fans and players alike with his brilliant defensive and rebounding work. There is hardly a player in the conference who hasn't stood in amazement as one of his high arching shots is smashed to the floor by "Crazy Legs" Turner.

Team Leadership

Besides these qualities, Bob's team leadership, friendliness, and words of encouragement prompted his team mates to vote him this honor. Although he fouls out of many games, the other members of the team feel much more confident when they know that Turner is in the line-up.

Turner led the Pioneers into their battle last night in the conference tournament against the Shepherd Rams.

Teaching Positions Available Overseas

Students who might wish to acquire information concerning an overseas teaching position with the United States Air Force may do so by contacting Dean Delmer K. Somerville.

The Department of Defense has operated schools for dependents of civilian and military personnel since 1946. The purpose of this school program is to provide public school educational opportunities, grades one through 12, at least equivalent to the better public school systems in the United States. There are more than 250 such elementary and secondary schools now operating outside continental United States in Europe, Africa, Far East, Azores, and Newfoundland.

American Schools Maintained

The schools are attended by more than 60,000 American boys and girls. Approximately 90 percent of them are in the elementary grades. For the purpose of providing these children with an unbroken and satisfactory American type of educational program, the schools are established and maintained with the most able instructor and administrative staff personnel that can be obtained from within the United States.

Qualifications require that teachers have adequate training and experience background and show the enthusiasm and ability to develop the best in scholarship and citizenship in young Americans. Experience in rural and small schools often proves advantageous. Persons possessing highly specialized experience in narrow fields are seldom required. In contrast, at the high school level two major fields or a major and one or two minor fields of teaching are desirable and often necessary.

Two Deans Lead Busy Lives In Serving College Students

By ROSE GWINN

Two of the busiest people on campus last week were found to be Dean of Women Pearl Pickens, and Dean of Men Robert Higgins. The reporter and photographer had difficulty in locating Dean Higgins long enough to get some information and snap a picture of him. He was busy conducting the psychological testing program which Glenville State administers annually to high school seniors in central West Virginia.

When Dean Higgins was located, after much footwork on the part of the photographer, it was discovered that it would be necessary for Dean Pickens to be excused from her English 202 class to be available for the picture-making.

As dean of women, Miss Pickens has general supervision over all women living on campus or in selected homes in town. Dean Pickens finds time between her busy schedule of classes to give counsel and guidance. She is always ready to listen sympathetically to any kind of problem which a student may bring to her office.

In Charge of Housing

Dean Pickens is in charge of the housing for women students both on campus and in town. She works with the dormitory boards and directors to make the rules governing dormitory life.

As a member of the administrative problems, she serves as secretary of the activities committee which organizes and generally plans and executes campus activities.

ing back over past experiences, I find that the students as a group have been very reliable and eager to do the right thing. Students, as well as adults, sometimes get off the track and just need a little guidance to bring them back."

Dean Pickens attended Glenville College and West Virginia University. She later did work at the University of Ohio.

Administers Testing Program

Dean of Men Robert Higgins, advises men students about personal education, and vocational problems. He is in charge of the testing program for students both on and off campus. He also administers the GED tests.

Dean Higgins graduated from Glenville State College in 1949 with an A.B. degree; and from George Peabody college for teachers, Nashville, Tenn., in 1950. He received his Ph. D. from Indiana university this past summer.

Together Dean Pickens and Dean Higgins carry out the freshman orientation program. These two people play an important role in assisting students in their adjustment to college so they may make the maximum of their college life.

The difficulty in keeping well informed today is not that news is scarce, but that there is so much more "news" each day than the average man can assimilate.—Henry Luce

Papers, Mags Print Parody

Jack Cawthon, senior, has recently won state-wide recognition with his parody of Tennessee Ernie Ford's hit song, "Sixteen Tons." Cawthon entitled his song, "Sixteen Reams" and in it he lamented some woes of the newspaper world. This original work appeared in a recent issue of THE MERCURY.

Some state newspapers which have used excerpts from Cawthon's parody are: The Richwood News Leader, The Clarksburg Telegram, The Randolph Enterprise, The Charleston Gazette, and The Weston Blue and Gray.

W. E. Shemorry, of the Williston Plains Reporter of Williston, N. D., recently wrote to Cawthon asking for permission to publish the parody in his newspaper. He also asked if he might use it at a state press convention.

Editor and Publisher for Feb. 11, 1956, called attention to Cawthon's "Sixteen Reams," and quoted:

"You write 16 reams and whatta you get—
Two ads cancelled and a news-print debt.
St. Peter don't call me cause I can't stop
Till I fill 10 inches in that back page spot."

Cawthon is a native of Glenville.

Music Group Holds Conference at WVU

At the state meeting of the Music educators in Morgantown recently, Dr. Harold Orendorff announced that the meeting would again be held on West Virginia University campus next year. Clifford Brown will serve as conference chairman and Dr. Orendorff will still serve as president of the organization.

The College Music educators will meet on the Glenville State campus in October. Professor Orendorff reports that the all-college orchestra this year was the best in history of the convention. It was composed of 92 members, and contained a full string section.
