Guest Artists Will Appear In Lyceum Program, Monday

Glenville State College closes its current Lyceum series with a joint violin and piano concert on Monday, April 23, beginning at 8:15 p. m. Guest artists will be Eva Liivak, violinist, and Richard Anschuetz, pianist.

The concert scheduled with the Murat trio for April 26, has been canceled because the trio has recently been disbanded. Season tickets for that performance will be honored for the Liivak-Anschuetz recital.

Eva Liivak was born in Estonia. A child prodigy, she started playing before the public at the age of six and at 12 she made her debut with the Tallinn Symphony orchestra.

Because of her exceptional talent, the Estonian government gave her a scholarship to continue her studies at the Academy of Music in Budapest. She also studied in Berlin and in Paris.

Miss Liivak has appeared with more than 15 major symphony orchestras in Europe. She has also been on concert tours in many countries of Europe, in Canada and in the United States.

Pianist Will Appear

Richard Anschuetz, an American pianist, received his first piano training from his father who was a widely-known teacher and highly successful choral conductor in the Middle West.

Following the training with his father, he went to Germany in 1932 to study with Richard Roessler and William Kempff.

During his stay in Europe, he also studied conducting at the Berlin Academy of Music. Upon completing his study and work in Germany, Anschuetz went to France and continued his work with Vladimir Perlemuter, Alfred Cortot, and Marcelle Meyer.

It was during this period of time that Anschuetz was caught in (Continued on page 4)

Glenville Girl Goes To Finals

"Miss Glenville" was chosen last night at a special prelude of the college's beauty, talent, and brains. The talented co-ed will appear in the "Miss West Virginia" pageant at Morgantown May 4.

San Francisco City college sponsored a candidate last year, Miss Lee Ann Meriwether, who went on to win the "Miss America, 1955" title. This could happen to "Miss Glenville."

Contestants for the college title appeared on stage three times, first in a bathing suit, then in an evening gown. The third appearance was to give a talent routine or a talk on why she chose her career. The candidates were judged on the basis of beauty of face; voice and action; intellect; wholesomeness; disposition, and general culture; special talents; and personality.

Dinner Is Held

Judges for the contest were impartial out-of-town businessmen. Prof. Stanley Hall, student council adviser, acted as mediator for the group. The judges held a dinner with the contestants in the Kappa Chi dining room for the purpose of talking with each girl about her education and ambitions, and to study her personality, intellect, voice and diction at close range.

Contestants for the title were Carolyn Jackson, Patsy Bee, Lorene Ellyson, Joyce Bourn, and Shirley Lambert.

"Miss Glenville College" will go to Morgantown for the "Miss West Virginia" finals, sponsored by the Morgantown Optimistic club. She will appear with 72 other candidates, one from each county and one from each of 18 colleges. "Miss West Virginia" will appear in the "Miss America" contest to be held at Atlantic City, N. J., from Sept. 1-10.

Taylor, Dotson Get 3-Act Leads

Casting for the three-act comedy, "Bell, Book, and Candle", has been completed, according to Shirley James, who will direct the show. The play centers around complications caused by witches in New York.

Five characters make up the cast of the play. There is Gillian, a young and extremely attractive witch, who will be portrayed by Barbara Taylor. Gillian's aunt, Miss Holroyd, will be played by Rita Pickens. The young man upstairs, in whom Gillian develops an avid interest, is being portrayed by James Dotson. Edward Perrine, as Gillian's brother Nicky, and Ronald Shuman as a drunken author, will fill out the cast.

Witch Casts Spell

"Bell, Book, and Candle," written by John van Druten, was first given on Broadway a few years ago. It is concerned with a humorous account of three witches, Gillian, her aunt, and her brother, who live. (Continued on page 2)

Students Will Enter State Forensics Meet At Marshall College

A team is being chosen for the annual state forensics festival which is being held at Marshall college on April 17 and 18, according to Prof. William Coleman, speech instructor.

Candidates for the debate team are Jack Cawthon, Shirley James, Ronald Shuman, Ed Perrine, and Dean Smith. Four of this group of five will be chosen to represent Glenville.

Candidates for the other areas of competition, oratory and extemporaneous speaking, are James White and Albert Somerville.

Glenville's debate team, consisting of Shirley James, Yvonne Hart, Haymon Boggs, and John Mullins, tied for first place in last year's tournament.

Dr. Butterworth Addresses Rural Education Conference

Dr. Julian E. Butterworth, Professor of Educational Administration, emeritus, Cornell university, addressed members of the Rural Education conference, this morning on the topic "College Planning to Help the People of Its Service Area."

The conference, which is having an all-day meeting on campus today, is being attended by leaders in industry, business, education, and agriculture from 19 central West Virginia counties. Members of the conference are actively concerned with the role of higher education in the development of this area.

Butterworth, one of the country's foremost rural education leaders, obtained his A.B., M.A., and Ph.D. degrees from the University of Iowa. He has taught English, Psychology, and Education at the Universities of Wyoming, Wisconsin, Yale, and Cornell, and he was also an early leader in PTA work.

The noted rural educator is a member of Phi Beta Kappa, and he has written several books on rural and school administration. His latest book is "The Modern Rural School." Former head of the department of rural education at Cornell, Butterworth is also listed in Who's Who in American Education.

Group Discussions Held

Today's meeting will be chiefly made up of group discussions, and each group will be headed by a moderator who is qualified in the field. (Continued on page 2)

Students Vote In SC Election

Officers for Glenville's 1956 Student Council are now being chosen in the student union. Voting began at 8 this morning and will continue until 4 p. m. today, and will be held from 1 to 4 p. m. tomorrow.

After presenting their platforms in an assembly two weeks ago, the candidates began their campaigns. Two presidential hopefuls, Ray Carson and Dave Posey, both stressed service to the school in their platforms. Carson, a junior Gauley Bridge native, favors setting up an emergency loan fund for students; pavement of the tennis court, provision of a temporary student union, and many other advancements for the school.

Carson presented in assembly several suggestions for union facilities, including use of the play production room. Posey's platform overlaps with Carson's; he too is in favor of a temporary union and a paved tennis court. Posey, a junior from Jane Lew, presented other (Continued on page 2)

Kappa Sigs Choose Barbara Burke

Barbara Burke, sophomore elementary education major, from Weston, was chosen queen of the Mardi Gras ball, which was held April 7, in the old gymnasium. Chosen by Kappa Sigma Kappa, Miss Burke is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Oley Burke.

Miss Burke is a member of Kappa Chi Kappa, Future Teachers of America, International Relations club, and is secretary of the sophomore class.

Richard Stewart, junior elementary education major, was selected by Kappa Chi Kappa to act as the queen's escort. A graduate of Sutton high school, Stewart is the son of Mr. and Mrs. L. M. Stewart of Flatwoods.

LBH Repairs To Begin Soon

A construction contract for repairs to Louis Bennett Hall was awarded to the Kuhn Construction company of Charleston by the State Board of Education last week. According to Pres. Harry B. Heflin, this work will include repair of the cracked area in the dormitory and laying concrete floors in the greater part of the building. This work will begin May 1 and is to be completed within ninety days from that date.

The Board deferred action on bids on construction of the dining hall and student union building, and advised Dr. Heflin that it would authorize sale of up to $150,000 worth of revenue bonds to finance part of this construction.

The Raymond Holland corporation of Ripley submitted the lowest bid for this work. However, this contract cannot be signed until the bonds are sold, which will take approximately thirty to sixty days.

IRC Sponsors Film Thursday

International Relations club will present the assembly tomorrow morning according to Prof. Bessie B. Bell, adviser of the organization.

The program will consist of a film entitled "Natural Resources of West Virginia." Geared towards the development of interest and understanding in the mountain state, the film will show the growth of the natural resources of West Virginia. The movie is a publication of the West Virginia Industrial Publicity commission.

Officers of the IRC are Ruby Elder, president; Norman Stone, vice president; and Everett Mason, secretary.

Earlier in the year, the club sponsored campus lectures by F. Martin Hutton, editor of the "Malay Mail" in Kuala Lumpur, Malaya. The Malaysian newspaperman gave a public lecture in the college auditorium on the subject, "The End of Colonialism." Hutton also met with student groups in Louis Bennett lounge to discuss the various issues pertaining to the subject.

THE MEN WENT WEST for gold and the gals pictured above went West for the men, or so the story goes in "Paint Your Wagon." Upward, downward, and sideways we have Mary Helen Plunkett, Lanita Wright, Kathleen Kennedy, Carolyn Jackson, Iris Mack, Rosemary Hammond, Barbara Clark, Mary Alice McHenry, Patsy Bee, Roberta Starcher, and Shirley Lambert. ## IS YOUR VOTE MISSING?

Stop! Look! Listen! Someone's vote is missin'—is it yours?

In the recent campus election for Roto cover girl contest, 183 students turned out to vote from a total enrollment of 549. If these statistics tell a true story, only 33 per cent of Glenville's students are interested in school elections.

Thus far student council campaigning has been at a minimum. Perhaps it is this lack of campaigning that is responsible for the lack of student interest in the elections. Candidates have spent a great deal of time preparing platforms for their various offices.

How many students know what each of the candidates favor? Platforms are posted in the Administration building; they are not decorative items, but were placed there to be read. Have you read them?

President Ed Tekeli has not endorsed either Carson or Posey in the forthcoming election. The council has kept entirely neutral, as has the MERCURY. No one has tried to twist the student into voting one way or another. The decision is up to the student himself. He has every opportunity to find out what next year's officers will be supporting before he votes. The student who does not bother to find out the platform of his candidate but favors him because he happens to be a member of a certain fraternity or club, has no business voting.

This is a serious business. A crucial year approaches the college, for which we will need the best possible leaders. The ballot contains the names of students who have the personality and ability to carry the college through the coming year, and make it a successful one. This is YOUR school, and if you do not have the time for it, don't complain when it has no time for you.

If you have time to read this paper, you may still get your vote in the election box. Voting is taking place right now in the union, and will be until 4 p. m. this evening and from 1 to 4 p. m. tomorrow.

Stop! Look! Listen! If someone's vote is missin', don't let it be yours. —Joyce Jackson.

WHAT HAS BEEN ACCOMPLISHED?

One of the campus fraternities conducted another "board meeting" recently. The group was called to disorder by a resounding splat—a sound most easily made when a wooden paddle connects with the backside of a pledge. This is the first step in teaching the pledge "brotherly love." Of course, all of this is performed behind closed doors, for it seems—to the casual observer—that the organization is somewhat ashamed of the initial act of instilling within the pledge a sincere feeling of comradeship.

Next comes the trial by public ordeal. During this phase of the initiation, it is assumed that the pledge is taught that, if he passes without flipping his lid, he will be a dignified personage that will command respect from both his "brothers" and fellow students.

In order to accomplish this, he has only to debase himself by attending classes with a gold brick (symbol of extreme laziness) in one hand, a long, wooden paddle (with which his "brothers" make good use) in the other, and dressed in the costume of an infant—a diaper. This, no doubt, is to remind him that he is still a child and will become a man only when he has received the full approval of the charter members of the group.

For two weeks this goes on. During the time, brutality and humiliation is the keynote. The pledge runs the course and is accepted into the fold as a "brother." He is, at long last, a MAN!

But is he? True, he has completed the requirements, but has anything of importance been accomplished? No. Is he any better for the loss of dignity he suffered while going through the ordeal? No. Negative replies always answer these questions, therefore, why not abandon the practice altogether.

The organization could be original, as well as helpful, if it chose. As a suggestion, the old gym is still standing and it must be torn down before the new dining hall-students union can be built. Why not put the pledges to work tearing down instead of sticking to the worn-out initiation program now being employed. Or is that too useful?—Robert W. Miller.

NOT A THING OF BEAUTY

When a visitor approaches Glenville State College by way of High street, one of the first buildings that comes into his view is the half-torn down Glenville high school. This is certainly not an impressive view. The half-raised building is unattractive to our campus, and it also serves as a hazardous playground for some of the town's children.

Whether some difficulty that is beyond their control deters the Gilmer County Board of Education from completing the raising of the building, is not to our knowledge. However, this sight is not advertising Glenville State College, and the residents of this town certainly care more about their children than to let them play amongst the ruins and debris of an old building.

As springtime approaches, the campus is taking on a new look, but the budding trees and flowers cannot hide this part of the campus, which serves as one of the main draws on entrance to the college. It has often been said that the first impression or opinion of something is the lasting one. We want Glenville State College to propose a desirable opinion in the minds of everyone.

When seniors from central West Virginia high schools visit our college within the next two weeks, the appearance of our campus is one of the first things they will consider before contemplating the attendance of our college. Therefore, with these, and many other factors involved, we hope that something is done about the old Glenville high school in the near future.—Connie Sams.

Holy Roller Court

Initiation of pledges to the Holy Roller court will begin Monday, April 23. The thirteen pledges are Lawrence Reed, Carroll Staats, Albert Somerville, Jarrell Williams, Jim Millard, Harry Cook, Jerold Murphy, Bob Aikens, Curtis Anderson, Ernie Moore, Pat Lawson, Edwin Beer, and Steve McMillan.

A committee of Larry Stanley, William Crum, and Paul Hughes has been appointed for the purpose of summoning all old members of the court to attend the annual Court dance which is to be held May 4.

Other committees appointed include a decorating committee for the dance and a committee to plant a tree in the Arbor day observances.

Kappa Sigma Kappa

Vice president Ralph Holder presided in the absence of President Edsel Ford. All unfinished business concerning the dance, which was held April 7 by the Kappa Sigma Kappa and Kappa Chi Kappa, was taken care of.

Pledges were greeted and introduced to another week of initiation activities.

Jack Campbell and Dorsey Scott were chosen to be guides on Senior day. Wayne Keller, Carl Peters and Jim White were selected by the fraternity to plant a tree on Arbor day.

Sorority Simmerings

By SHIRLEY BROWN

Kappa Chi Kappa

Shirley Chancey presided over the recent meeting of Kappa Chi Kappa. The results of the Mardi Gras were discussed at the meeting.

Martha White was chosen to represent the organization as a guide for senior day, and she was also selected to assist Barbara Clark in planting a tree for Arbor day.

Following the regular meeting the nominating committee met. The committee consists of Shirley Chancey, Doralene Bell, Jean Lloyd, Bernadine Gregory, Martha White, Barbara Burke, Judy Kennedy, Sally Zeigler, and Wyene Turner.

Persons nominated by the committee are as follows: president, Shirley Chancey; vice president, Judy Kennedy; secretary, Barbara Burke, Betty Jo Lewis, and Mary Suck; corresponding secretary, Eleanor Conley and Doralene Bell; treasurer, Jean Lloyd and Jearl Stump; pledge mistress, Martha White and Barbara Clark; sergeant of arms, Sally Zeigler; and chaplain, Alice McCullough and Ada Cox.

Xi Beta Tau

Barbara Johnson was elected corresponding secretary at the last meeting of Xi Beta Tau. Miss Johnson fills the vacancy left by Yvonne Hart Chase. The meeting was conducted by Anna Radabaugh.

Pins were discussed and orders were taken by Barbara Johnson.

Joyce Bourn was selected captain of the basketball team which will challenge Kappa Chi's in the near future. Joyce Jackson will assist in choosing the team.

Hot dogs were sold in both Kanawha and Verona Maple halls last week.

Mary Burk Places Third in Magazine Cover Girl Contest

Mary Burk, who represented Glenville State College in the Pittsburgh Press' ROTO magazine contest for College beauty queens, has won third place out of a field of 27 contestants.

Patricia McWhorter, West Virginia University, and Ann Weitz of Slippery Rock college, Slippery Rock, Pa., won first and second places, respectively.

Miss Burk's picture will be featured in the May 13 edition of ROTO magazine.

Junior physical education and social studies major, Miss Burk is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Rolla R. Burk, Sr. She is a member of WAA and last year was drum majorette of the college band.

and practice right in New York city. Gillian is interested in a young, handsome publisher who lives in the apartment above her and, to win his affections, she casts a spell on him. Her unhip brother throws a few disturbances into her plans, and her aunt further complicates the affair.

Then, when the author, Sidney Redlitch, comes into the scene wanting to write a book titled "Witchcraft Around Us", things really do become complicated. To top the whole situation off, Nicky becomes an assistant to the writer and takes him to many of the hangouts of the witches.

Mrs. Roberts Is Assisting

Miss James is directing the play as a project for forensics class. Bernyce Roberts is serving as assistant director. Miss James, a senior, was assistant director for "The Glass Menagerie" and has directed one-act plays. Mrs. Roberts, who was acting coach for "Tartuffe" has also had experience directing one-act plays.

Students Vote

suggestions for union facilities and dances next year.

Paul Hughes and William Deel are battling it out for the veep position. Hughes, from Walton, presented a platform consisting of support for any provision which would call for improvement in student housing, week-end activities, temporary union facilities, or co-operation between the townspeople and the college.

A Clendenin native, Deel boasted a service platform, pointing out that he has voted for student betterment in council this year. He would not commit himself to specific points, but stuck to his policy of upholding any legislation which would better the school.

There is a two-way race for the secretarial post between Jearl Stump and Bonnie Gorrell. Miss Stump, from Stumptown, presented a platform calling for regular attendance, accurate records, support of any legislation for the betterment of the college, and upholding of the ideals set forth by all Glenville's councils.

Miss Gorrell, a native of Parkersburg, advocates regular attendance, accurate files and records, week-end activities, betterment of laundry facilities, and fair enactment of freshman rules.

Jones Unopposed

Lone-horse candidate for treasurer, Orton Jones, may be considered elected, since he is unopposed at the money-holding slot. The Spencer native advocates coke facilities for Louis Bennett hall, establishment of a commuter's room, and after game pep activities.

Three candidates are vying for the position of sergeant-at-arms. Jim White, from Parkersburg, is running on a three-fold platform.

Judges for the contest were Lenore Brundage, fashion editor of the Pittsburgh Press; Edgar A. Roth, art director of United States Steel; Harold Carsine, commercial photographer; and Frederick Burleigh, director of the Pittsburgh Playhouse.

This is the second year that Glenville has participated in the annual contest. Miss Jas. Prather, Burnt House, was last year's entrant in the contest.

consisting of "Service, Justice, and advancement." White favors service to the council, justice to the freshmen, and advancement of the welfare of the student body.

Second candidate for the position, Homer Smith, from West Union, bases his platform on a better choice of lyceum programs, advancement of special holidays, and provisions for dancing facilities.

Mike Ferrell, a Grantsville native, will also be in the running for sergeant-at-arms. He advocates pep rallies after games, coke machines for Louis Bennett hall, and a commuters room.

These are only some of the points from the platforms of each candidate. The entire platforms of each are posted in the Administration building. Students are invited to read these before going to the union to cast their votes.

to which he has been assigned. Each of the groups will have a discussion leader and reporter.

Group discussions and their leaders and reporters will be: Agriculture, Gus Douglas, Jr., farmer and business man, and John Lough, agricultural agent for the B. and O. Railroad; Business, Adonis Hunt, bank cashier, and Stanley Hall, professor of economics at the college; Education, Stark Wilmoth, superintendent of Randolph county school, and Corina Mowrey, W. Va. Education association.

Industry, Robert Soule, personnel director of the Monongahela Power co., and Jack Whiting, assistant director of the W. Va. Industrial and Publicity committee; Human and Natural Resources, Walter C. Gambel, soil conservationist of the Monongahela Power co., and Lawrence Cavendish, director of the state youth camp at Ripley.

A banquet will be held this evening in the Kanawha Dining room. After the banquet, members participating in the conference will go to Louis Bennett lounge to hear reports on the various group discussions. Espy W. Miller, chairman of the college language division, will act as toastmaster of the banquet, and the college music department will provide entertainment for conference participants at this time. The Rev. Robert C. Gay of the Presbyterian Church will give the invocation.

H. Cliff Hamilton, supervisor of instruction of the state department of education, and Dr. C. O. Fawcett, U. S. Office of Education, Washington, D. C., will act as analysts for the evening session.

Assisting the college in planning the conference were C. H. Archer, coordinator of the West Virginia Continuing Program in Education, Leadership, and H. Cliff Hamilton, supervisor of instruction from the State Department of Education.

Pres. Harry B. Hefflin greeted the guests at the morning session, and the Rev. Robert B. Engle of the Trinity Methodist Church presented the invocation. Dean Delmet Somerville is over-all director of the meeting.

Morgan Heflin Wins Awards

Morgan Heflin, son of Dr. and Mrs. Harry E. Heflin and a senior in Glenville high school, won the Crosby award for the best science teaching demonstration in the 40 exhibits at the Regional Science fair held at Salem College, April 10, 11, and 12. Young Heflin also won an additional third place award for scientific merit.

Heflin's exhibit had been entered in the Science Demonstration exhibit held in the old gymnasium, April 5, under the direction of Dr. Max Ward, chairman of the science and mathematics division. Exhibits were from Normantown high school, Calhoun County high school, Glenville high school and Glenville fifth grade.

Students entering exhibits were Carol Witt, Patricia Vaughn, Jean Wright, William Barnes, and Peggy Whytless, Calhoun; Dorothy Butler Sharon Tallman, and Thomas Isenhardt, Normantown; Alvin Engelke and Morgan Heflin, Glenville. In addition 11 local fifth graders and Marjorie Ward, kindergarten, entered the collections, demonstrations and exhibits they had prepared.

Sports In The

It was a cold, wet, miserable day, but it was still a good game—especially since we won.

Although some may think it's a bit early to be talking about football in the midst of baseball season, there is a rumor going around that fans of the Pioneer eleven will be glad to hear. If everything comes out as expected, the local squad will be boosted by the addition of five husky lads from Parkersburg.

Expected to answer Coach Nick Murin's call next fall are Wayne "Tiny" Kellar, a 250-pound tackle; Bob Summers and Frank Leap, ends; Ernie Moore, quarterback; Bill Shields, a 200-pound center; Tom Brown, fullback, and one of West Virginia's fastest halfbacks, H. K. "Express" Smith.

On the national sports scene, Rocky Marciano is considering retirement. And why not? At the rate things are going now, he'll be an old, old man before there is anybody around to take the crown away from him. The present contenders are, to put it mildly, just a bunch of bums.

Tomorrow afternoon at 2:00, the Pioneers will play host to the Bobcats of West Virginia Wesleyan. Let's all get out there and watch the local lads tame the invading nine.

France at the outbreak of the war, and when America was drawn into the conflict, he was interned by the Germans as an American civilian. After his release by the Germans he was confined to the occupied territory. It was during these years that he gave piano and language lessons.

Immediately after the war Anschuetz was requested by the U.S. War department to serve as an interpreter at the War Crime trials, International Military tribunal at Nuremberg, Germany.

On his return to the United States, the pianist appeared in many concerts and recitals throughout the United States playing both with symphony orchestras and in colleges and universities from coast to coast including a number of radio programs.

The program for this final Lyceum offering is varied and interesting and will include works by Brahms, Liszt, and Chopin.

MUSICAL RECITAL IS SUNDAY
According to Prof. Bertha Olsen, music instructor, the third Sunday afternoon recital will be given April 22, at 3 p.m.

Students appearing in the event are under the supervision of Prof. Olsen, Prof. Henry J. Fasthoff, and Dr. Harold S. Orendorff.

GSC Acts Host To Ten Bands

Glenville State College, was host to the Region XI Band Festival, April 14.

Prof. Henry J. Fasthoff, band director, was in charge of the festival, in the absence of Dr. Harold S. Orendorff, chairman of the festival.

The parade, which began at 1 p.m., started on College street and moved down Main. Gilmer county junior band led the parade, followed by Spencer elementary, Burnsville, Sutton, Walton, Wirt, Calhoun, Spencer, Webster Springs and Gilmer County.

At 2 p.m. a meeting of the directors and adjudicators was held in Louis Bennett lounge and the festival band rehearsal was held in the new gymnasium.

Festival Band concert was held in the new gymnasium at 7:30 p.m.

Somerville, Wagner Provide Trees For Arbor Day Program

Dean and Mrs. D. K. Somerville erected a living monument yesterday to the Glenville State College students who were killed in the last World War.

According to Dean Somerville, the pink-flowering dogwood tree was planted, "as a memorial to the alumni of Glenville State College who made the supreme sacrifice during World War II." The tree will stand on Glenville's campus, flowering into a lasting monument to these Pioneers.

Prof. and Mrs. John R. Wagner furnished a permanent Christmas tree for Verona Maple lawn. In past years, one has been cut and decorated for the college.

These trees were planted in observance of the college's annual Arbor Day festivities. This activity was begun by last year's Student Council, with 24 organizations participating in the planting of 27 hard maple trees. Those trees which did not live through the year were replaced yesterday by the organization in charge of them. In years to come the college will truly be "mongst the Maples."

Dr. Max Ward was in charge of planting the demonstration tree as a highlight of the morning festivities. This tree was planted to show the organizations the correct way of placing their trees in the ground. Council President Ed Tekieli called this Arbor Day, "particularly successful with the adding of the two new trees to the campus."

5 Science Students Will Talk At Meet

Five Glenville State College students will give demonstration speeches at the April 20 Academy of Science Meeting at West Virginia State college, announces Dr. Max Ward.

The students and subjects are: Paul Gene Caltrider, "Some Reactions of Endocondiophora Fogacearum in Culture;" Joseph Layne, "An Improved Technique for Special Studies of Drosophila;" Eleanor Conley, "Anatomy of the Dorsal Leaf;" James Hannaman, "The Development of Lentils in Potatoes;" and Harold R. Stump, "Problems in Chromatographic Analysis."

Miss Jack Speaks To Home Ec. Club

Miss Patty Jack, 1948 graduate of Glenville college, will give a demonstration talk tomorrow night for the Home Economics club.

"Clothing" will be the subject of Miss Jack's talk. She will dress a club member in the traditional Japanese and Chinese outfits, giving an explanation of the different costumes.

The Glenville graduate will provide first hand information on the countries after having taught in Japan for one year.

Officers of the Home Economics club met recently and made their nominations for next year's officers. Further nominations will be made from the floor and elections will be held the first of May.

The club is planning to send members to the state Home Economics conference to be held May 4-5 at Jackson's Mill.

Happiness is a perfume you cannot pour on others without getting a few drops on yourself.—Ralph Waldo Emerson

They will leave for New York by train, Friday night, and upon arriving in New York city, they will fly Pan American to Bermuda. They will make the return trip by BOAC Airlines.
