GSC Is Host For Festival; Set Mar. 12, 19

Two important high school drama festivals will be held at Glenville State College during March. On March 12, the Regional Festival prior to the State Festival at Morgantown will be an all-day activity. This is a competitive contest with the winner representing the area at West Virginia University.

Last year four schools entered the contest. These schools were Williamstown, Spencer, Calhoun, and Walton. The winner of the contest was Williamstown.

This year, according to Prof. William S. E. Coleman, there may be five or six entries. Judges will be members of the College English Department.

Second Festival Set

On March 19, the Sixth Annual Little Kanawha Regional Drama Festival will be held in the auditorium. This is the first year that this festival has been held at Glenville. Mrs. Robert K. Park is the co-ordinator and Prof. Coleman will supervise the stage management and serve as critic judge.

Both festivals will start at approximately 10:30 a.m. and continue throughout the day. College students are encouraged to attend.

The Ohnimgohow Players and Alpha Psi Omega will manage the festival and serve an informal lunch and tea for the entries in the lounge.

Since many of the students who have entered the festival in the past later enrolled at Glenville, it is hoped that a good attendance will boost their interest again.

MERCURY STAGES COVER CONTEST

Seven Glenville State College students have been nominated to enter a Campus Girl contest, sponsored by the MERCURY, to select a campus representative for the Roto magazine contest, sponsored by the Pittsburgh Press.

Girls who were nominated by a committee of 11 students last week are Reta Jo Armstrong, Sue Click, Flora Dyer, Rose Gwinn, Joyce Hannaman, Barbara Taylor, and Pat White. Each member of the committee represented a campus organization.

Election Is Held

An all-school election was held in the Student Union yesterday to select one girl to represent the Glenville State campus. A picture of the winner from yesterday's election will be sent to Roto magazine, where it will appear along with other photos of other college winners. Judges will select one girl from an estimated 27 colleges, and the winner's picture will be used on the cover page of Roto magazine. A story of her life will appear in the magazine along with pictures.

Greynolds Is Winner

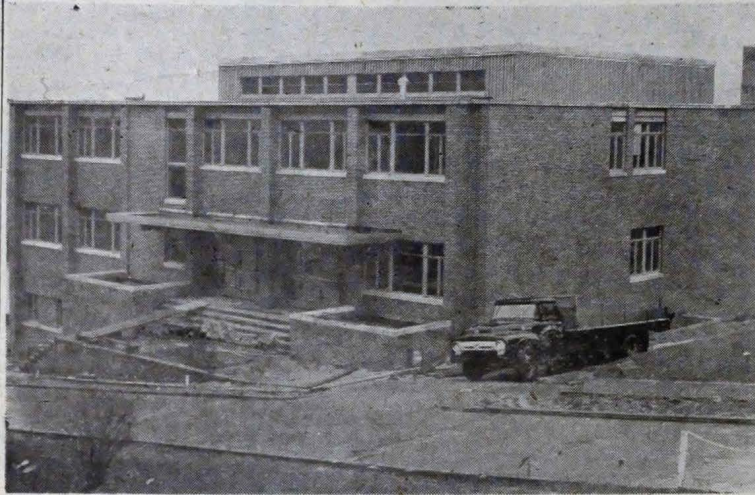

Glenville's candidate in the election last year was Mary Burk Greynolds, and Mrs. Greynolds placed third in the Roto contest.

Student committee that nominated the local beauties was composed of Bill Deel, Dave Posey, Carole Singleton, Ernie Backus, Sue Criss, Leoma Garten, Janice Arnold, Martha White Hunt, Barbara Huggins, Barbara Johnson, Frederick Batten, and Connie Sams.

The MERCURY has been cooperating with Roto magazine for the past three years in carrying out the local contest to select a winner which is then entered in the Roto contest.

Glenville's candidate two years ago was Jan Prather of Burnt House.

HERE IS OUR NEW UNION!

STUDENT UNION dream has become a reality as this picture clearly shows. Work has moved and continues to move rapidly on the $225,000 (plus) Union and Dining Hall. Ten months later the MERCURY proudly pictures this sign of progress at Glenville State College.—(MERCURY photo by Deel)

Library Gets Film Reader

A microfilm reader was recently installed in the Robert F. Kidd Library reports Floyd W. Miller, librarian. This machine is used to read magazines which have been filmed.

Films of 78 magazines to be used in the microfilm reader have already been received and more have been ordered. Some of these magazines which now have issues available on film are "American School Board Journal," "Current History," "Kenyon Review," "Music Educators Journal," "National Elementary Principal," "School Arts," "Science Digest," "Today's Health," "Coronet," "English Journal," "Harpers," and "Horn Book." These have dates ranging from 1951-56.

The library expects to add to this initial collection as rapidly as possible. All magazines from now on will be purchased on microfilm and as many past issues as are available will also be purchased.

Bound Magazines Kept

Use of bound magazines, however, will not be discontinued. Bound volumes now in the library will still be used as long as possible.

Because of the wide use of some magazines such as "Life," and "Time," the library will continue to have them bound. This means that these magazines will be available on film and also in book form so that two people may use the same issue at the same time.

This will prove useful to students especially at times when several people are working on term papers at the same time.

The microfilm reader is a type of projector. Film is threaded into it, unwound and rewound by hand on small reels and the picture is projected onto a screen in the bottom of the machine.

Student library workers, trained in the use of the machine, will be on hand to operate it for students.

Heflin Will Meet With State Board

The State Board of Education will meet on March 18 and 19 at which time all of the state college presidents will meet with the members to discuss actions of the state legislature, according to Dr. Harry B. Heflin.

The budget for next year will also be discussed at the meeting, according to Heflin.

Judith Elliot Will Present Next Lyceum

"One Woman Theatre" starring Miss Judith Elliot will be presented in the GSC Auditorium on March 14 at 8 p.m. as the fourth number in the current lyceum program.

Miss Elliot is known on Broadway as an actress, director and a monologist, but she is especially known for her dramatic presentations. She was born in Europe and came to this country at an early age, bringing with her a traditional family dedication and love for the arts.

Miss Elliot has studied music, singing, acting and dancing for several years. She has appeared on radio, in the legitimate theatre and recently on television. She has produced and directed plays in the Little Theatre movement and is a charter member of "New States," a celebrated dramatic organization.

The lyceum series will close on April 11 with the performance of Levin and McGraw, piano duetists. Prof. Carl A. Kerr is chairman of the lyceum committee.

Important principles may and must be flexible.—Lincoln

Ed. Conference Set for Apr. 3

Plans for the Rural Education Conference, to be held on campus April 3, have been mapped out and the all-day meet will open with a general assembly at 10 a.m. in Louis Bennett Lounge and close with a banquet at 6 p.m. in the Kanawha Hall Dining Room according to Dean Delmer K. Somerville.

Also assisting with the conference, along with main speaker Dr. Howard Dawson, will be Dr. Truman Pierce of Auburn University, who is affiliated with the Kellogg Foundation; and Dr. O. O. Fitzwater, an alumnus of Glenville State College who is connected with the United States Office of Education in Washington.

Dean Somerville stated that there are early indications that the attendance will be good again this year. He also said that there is a strong interest in the conference for such an early date.

Wesley Foundation Aids Alaskan College Drive

Wesley Foundation members will participate in a program to raise funds for the four year liberal arts college sponsored by the Methodist Church in Alaska. The fund drive will begin on March 10, the first Sunday in Lent. Any student who wishes to contribute will be welcome to do so.

Nothing to Do But Play

CAMPUS CHILDREN looked up from their play last week and were caught in the camera spotlight. These tiny tots have come to college early and have taken rooms in Louis Bennett Hall along with their parents, Coach and Mrs. Leland Byrd and Prof. and Mrs. John White. Student Union Will Soon Be Open For Use

By Dean Smith

Less than a year ago the request for a new student center and cafeteria for Glenville State College was approved by the State Board of Education. Today the building is a reality.

Work on the new structure is progressing ahead of schedule. Workers have begun laying tile, applying plaster, and painting the walls, and it is believed that these things will be completed well before the target date for completion of September 1957.

A tour through the building with President Harry B. Heflin was taken by this reporter to determine what the new building would contain and how near the construction work is completed.

The ground floor consists of the kitchen, living quarters for Martin Riggs, director of dining halls, a locker room for commuting students, two guest rooms with bath for visitors, a large food storage room, and a utility room.

Bowling Alleys Planned

The utility room, which is completed except for applying the white coat to the ceiling, is built long enough to accommodate two bowling alleys. No funds for the alleys are available now, but it is hoped that they will be built later.

All food is stored and prepared on the bottom floor and is carried by dumb-waiter to the second-floor cafeterias. Plastering work on the first floor is completed and the flooring is expected to be finished by the end of the week. Some of the kitchen equipment has arrived, but none has been installed at the time the MERCURY went to press.

Prof. John White, alumni association secretary, announces the deadline for the Whiting Photography contest has been set for March 15. All eligible students must submit their entries on or before this date to compete for the one hundred dollar scholarship offered by a member of the alumni association in honor of Charles S. Whiting, a Glenville graduate of 1912 and an outstanding photographer.

All students who will be enrolled in Glenville during the full school year of 1956-1957 are eligible to enter the contest. Pictures to be submitted for judging may be of any standard size although a three by five glossy print has been requested. The picture should be landscape scenes of West Virginia. The contestants must have his name and address and the location of the scene attached to the back of his entry. Students may submit as many entries as they wish.

The alumni committee will meet after the deadline of March 15 and make a decision which will be announced early in April.

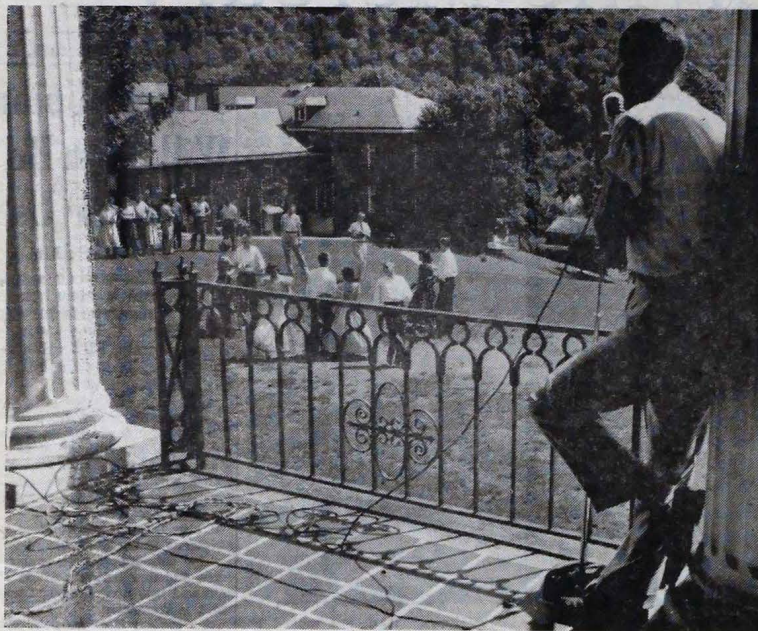

Faculty Discusses Effective Program

"An Effective Program to Meet the Needs of the Gifted Student" was the topic for discussion Monday afternoon when a panel composed of two students and two faculty members was presented at the faculty meeting.

Discussing the issue were students, Joyce Jackson and Barbara Clark and faculty members, Profs. Clarence Maze and Espy Miller.

The Home Economics Department served refreshments prior to the meeting.

Folklore Festival Followers Will Find 'Pioneer' Life on GSC Campus, July 5, 6

By Shirley Russell

A dying folk culture is being kept alive in West Virginia by the interest and determination of Dr. Patrick Gainer, a native of Gilmer County, now a professor of English at West Virginia university, and a member of the summer faculty at Glenville College where he teaches a class in folklore.

The scene of the eighth annual West Virginia Folk Festival will be Glenville and the Glenville State College campus during a two-day celebration on July 5 and 6.

Pioneers migrating into the Allegheny Mountain region chose to make this rich, fertile land their home. Homesteads were established along the streams, valleys, and hillsides where virgin timber was cut and cabins built among the stumps.

These mountaineers constituted a group who were basically courageous, God-fearing people with an independent spirit that defied defeat from the hardships and privations encountered in the rough mountain area.

Folklore Reveals Life

Despite the disadvantages of this frontier wilderness, these people found many things to be thankful for and kept a cheerful, gay outlook on life that is reflected in the folklore culture of days gone by. The happy toe-tapping fiddle tunes, the sweet old ballads, the hymns, and the hours spent making the beautiful handicrafts all reveal a part of the mountaineers' reverence for life.

A scene that was once prevalent in the pioneer home saw the family and friends absorbed in a story grown mellow with age but always new and fresh each time it was repeated or sung to the tune of a fiddle or rebeck. Radio and recently television have taken the place of the old home scene and the original folk culture is rapidly becoming a lost art.

Dr. Patrick Gainer is one person who has devoted much of his life to preserving and keeping alive the fast dying embers of the Allegheny folklore culture that was once a burning flame. Dr. Gainer made plans for the first West Virginia Folk Festival at Glenville back in 1950. He hoped that in this small way he could present a true picture of the Allegheny Mountain life and West Virginians would thus have an interest and pride in their Allegheny ancestors.

Class Is Active

Dr. Gainer's folklore class has played a major role in preparing the behind-the-scenes work that goes into the festival each year. Many of the participants that have appeared on the program were brought to Dr. Gainer's attention by members of the class. Gainer would then go visit the person mentioned; if he could sing or play old songs or instruments and if he knew any of the old crafts, Dr. Gainer would likely ask him to come to the festival. People who appeared on the program received no pay and often had to furnish their own transportation to and from the festival.

He has estimated his past travels at 10,000 miles in a year while delving into the rough Allegheny region armed with a tape recorder and a friendly personality that is spontaneous.

Plans have been made for many new aspects of folk culture never before a part of the program in this eighth annual West Virginia Folk Festival. The event this year has been expanded to include activities in town and on campus under the overall direction of Dr. Gainer with Dr. Harold Orendorff the coordinator. Co-chairmen of the festival are Mrs. Ruddle Reed and Linn B. Hickman.

Opens Down Town

The Folk Festival celebration will open July 5 at 10 a.m. at the corner of Main and Court Street. Dr. Gainer will be the principal speaker. Ten "Belles" chosen from as many counties will be the honored guests at the opening ceremonies and during the two-day activities.

An old-fashioned fish fry is scheduled for Friday evening and the Friday night program will feature shape-note choirs, a demonstration of folk singing by Dr. Gainer, the well-known authority of folklore, and a college experimental chorus singing folk songs under the direction of Dr. Harold Orendorff.

There is a possibility that a miniature log cabin raising will be staged in town, a once common sight to the pioneer. Displays are to be set up in town and the usual display of handiwork and crafts will be held on campus of an age gone by.

Parade Planned

On Saturday morning the main feature will be a parade of buggies, oxen-drawn wagons, and other means of travel used by the mountaineer. The attraction for the afternoon is an ox roast if anyone can be found who knows the secret of this fine old art that was once as popular as our backyard barbecue pit is today.

Square dancing in the street on Friday and on campus is planned during the festival to the tunes played by old-time fiddlers.

The main program arranged by Dr. Gainer will be presented in the auditorium. Many old favorites of past festivals and new folklore crafts discovered by Dr. Gainer will make up the program that brings crowds to overflowing capacities to laugh, shed a few tears, or unconsciously tap a foot to the ballads and tunes of yesteryear, thus revealing a culture to be cherished with pride by those who will but stop to remember.

In the past years the festival has

IRRELEVANT FOR NO ONE

Although all history does not agree that Christ was God, there are few that deny that this is a Christian era and that our democracy and laws were brought to the mind of men by the Jewish thought.

So let's face facts. We're here, and we're to know something about Christianity whether we choose it or oppose it. The "Religion In Life Week" program, set for our campus April 7-11, can help us acquaint ourselves with the Christian approach to Courtship and Marriage.

Even though there are those who would not follow Christ through Church membership, they should familiarize themselves with what society has found desirable, whether they are a Christian or not.

"Fear of the Lord is the beginning of wisdom." But how strange it is that many of us who profess the Bible to be the only rule for faith and practice so seldom, in our educational pursuits, orient the facts that we have gained into our Christian philosophy of life.

It would be foolish to assume that in one week of service this could be done in any definitive sense, however, just as one practices his piano that he may play better, so it is that by practicing the application of Christian principles to courtship and marriage, we may realize the importance of doing this everyday in all aspects of life.

The opportunity to serve has also presented itself. It has been estimated that approximately one hundred students, faculty members, and other interested adults will be needed to carry out the program.

This week is ours—it will be what we make it. It can be a week in which we can bring God closer to our lives, as well as our marriages.—Connie Sams.

STUDENTS VISIT GLASS FACTORY

Members of the 302 Art Appreciation class took a field trip Monday, Feb. 25, to the West Virginia Glass Plant in Weston. Employees of the factory conducted tours through the departments and gave each person on the tour a souvenir.

Vera Eubank Hicks, Lowell Wayne Knight, Gene LeeRoy Mann, Martha Ellen McLaughlin, Carma Sue Mullins, Larry Eugene Myers, Roderick Keith Oldham, Stanley Neal Pickens, Glenville Keith Pritt, Lanty Winters Rose, Rena Marie Salisbury.

Sorority Simmerings

By Christine Ferrell

Xi Beta Tau

Xi Beta Tau Sorority meeting of Feb. 25 was opened for old and new business by Betty Frymier, president. The main topic for discussion at the meeting was the organization's budget, and the Finance Committee was appointed to work out a budget for the remainder of the year.

The sorority voted to purchase white wool jackets with the traditional diamond emblem embroidered on the pocket. The design was made by Bonnie Gorrell, and was presented for the approval of the members.

Committees were appointed to take care of the Sorority's annual dance, which will be the "Record Hop," March 16. Committees appointed were Decorating, Shirley Lambart, chairman, Willadene Campbell and Joyce Jackson; planning, Bonnie Gorrell, chairman, Barbara Johnson, and Phyllis June Young; clean-up, Ruth Creasy, chairman, Winneeta Bowman, Barbara Huggins, Betty Jo Otto, and Jane Riddle.

The meeting concluded with a report of the Assembly Committee.

KAPPA SIGMA KAPPA

The meeting was called to order by vice president Mike Ferrell. The plans for the Kappa Sigma Kappa dance were made, and the date for the dance was set for April 12. Orchestra and decoration committees were formed. Correspondence from the national headquarters was read and discussed. Fraternity pins were discussed, and representative from Fulk's Brothers of Weston attended the meeting to sell fraternity jackets.

Playday, which is to be held Davis and Elkins, was discussed and plans were made for the fraternity to participate in the event. This day is an inter-school event involving various athletic contests.

HOLY ROLLER COURT

The main topic for discussion at this meeting was the class tournaments which were held March 4 and 5. The court was in charge of Vespers and were held in the Lo-Bennett Lounge with Lowell Pritt in charge of the service.

A representative of the Phi Brothers of Weston was present at the meeting and he displayed several different types of jackets. The members discussed the type of jacket to order. Twenty-two members of the fraternity ordered a new type of jacket. They are black with white lettering.

Jim Hannom was elected temporary treasurer of the fraternity, replacing Lowell Morrison. A check for ten dollars was sent to the committee for the Religion in Life Week. The meeting time has been changed back to Monday night instead of Tuesday because it was unsatisfactory for many members to attend on Tuesday night.

The Department of the Army has announced that only a portion of the approximately 14,000 Reserve Officer Training Corps graduates to be commissioned between May 1, 1957, and April 30, 1958, will be ordered to active duty for two years. The number to be selected to meet Active Army requirements has not been determined.

out at their weekly meeting last Monday night with Judy Kennel presiding over the group.

The committee, under the direction of Barbara Clark, chairman, submitted some suggestions, but nothing definite has been planned.

The sorority also discussed member projects.

Glenville Attends Sports Day At Davis and Elkins College

Davis and Elkins College played host to four colleges Saturday, with nine boys and nine girls attending from Glenville.

The Glenville girls portrayed their abilities on the gym floor as they scored 28 points to tie up the first place slot in the girls division with Fairmont.

The nine battling girls copped a first place in the volleyball series, defeating Wesleyan 70-8 in the first round of play, and squeezed out Davis and Elkins in the finals by a score of 28-27. They played non rotation for an entire game against Wesleyan and for half the game against Davis and Elkins.

The hard fighting maidens missed their chance to take another first place in the sports day by being thoroughly beaten by the Fairmont girls in a type of ball play which the Pioneer girls had not encountered before. In the first round of basketball play, the Glenville girls defeated Wesleyan, 43-39.

Wylene Turner placed second in the badminton series, winning her first match but failing at the hands of Fairmont in the finals. Connie Marley was batted out in the first rounds of ping pong play.

Glenville lads did not fare quite so well as the lassies, but did manage to tally up 22 points during the entire match, to tie for second place with Davis and Elkins.

The Kappa Sigma Kappas pulled through to take a first place in the basketball series, defeating Davis and Elkins in the final round of

LOCAL FLOOR IS SETTING FOR PLAYOFF

The WVAC Tournament had no influence on the NAIA playoffs as the four leading conference teams met Tuesday and Wednesday of last week to decide the contenders from District 28 in the NAIA Tournament in Kansas City.

Scene of the play this year, as it was last, was the Glenville State College Health and Physical Education Building. The excellent floor and seating space makes the local campus an ideal spot for the playoffs.

On Tuesday night, Feb. 26, Alderson-Broadus faced the Fairmont Falcons in the opening contest. The A-B Battlers came out on the long end of the score, 84-80.

Tech Wins

In the second game of the evening the West Liberty Hilltoppers were pitted against the Tech Golden Bears. West Liberty pushed past the Bears in the WVAC tourney at Buckhannon the week before and for awhile they seemed destined to repeat the trick.

Substitute Gordon McCune came into the game for Tech late in the second half and turned the tide for the Bears scoring 14 points before the Hilltoppers could do much to stop him. He had collected four points earlier to make the evening's total 18. Final score was Tech 86, West Liberty, 74.

The Golden Bears saw the need to win if they were to make the Kansas City trip and they did just that Wednesday night by downing the Battlers 85-75.

Attendance Is Down

Attendance for the tournament was down from last year by approximately 275. Tuesday night reports showed that there were 1106 paid admissions while on Wednesday there were 704. This was an overall total of 1890 paid admissions. Glenville State's participation last year accounts for the attendance drop.

On Thursday, Friday and Saturday nights of last week the Little Kanawha Valley Sectional Tournament was played in the local gym.

Class tourney playoffs were held the first two nights of this week.

Coach Ratliff Will Attend NAIA Meeting Next Week

COACH RATLIFF

Glenville State College Athletic Director Carlos Ratliff will attend a meeting of the National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics in connection with the National Basketball Tournament in Kansas City, Mo., the week of March 11-16.

Ratliff is a member of the baseball committee and also secretary-treasurer of District 28 in the NAIA.

Three other representatives from West Virginia, Dr. Joe Bartell, chairman of District 28 and athletic director at West Liberty College; Frank Ellis, coach at West Virginia Wesleyan; and Rex Pyles, coach at Alderson-Broadus College, will also attend.

Committees Meet

Committees for seven major sports, basketball, baseball, football, swimming, track, golf, and tennis, will meet in Kansas City during the week.

Coach Ratliff served last week as chairman of the NAIA District 28 basketball playoff held in the Glenville Health and Physical Education Building. West Virginia Tech Golden Bears won the playoff and the right to represent District 28 (West Virginia) in the tournament in Kansas City.

Glenville Churches Organize Classes

The various churches of Glenville are working together in offering a church training school for parents, teachers, and others who have an interest in these classes. The school began Monday at the Baptist Church.

Prof. Jewell Matthews is teaching a class concerning "The Pupils We Teach." Prof. Matthews says the classes will follow sound educational principles especially related to religious aspects.

As part of her source material for teaching this class, Prof. Matthews is using text books from the education department since it is imperative to take into account certain factors that are basic to teaching children whether it be in the home, school, or church.

Prof. Stanley Hall is also teaching a class.

Leading scientists of Harvard University will join next year in a new program to stimulate high-

Baseball Opener One Month Away

Baseball practice has already started for the pitchers and catchers of the Glenville Pioneer nine on the gymnasium floor at the Health and Physical Education Building and squad practice will start as soon as the weather permits, announces Carlos Ratliff, baseball coach.

A number of men are expected to try out for baseball this year to prepare for the 15-game schedule. The first game will be held April 10, at West Virginia Wesleyan against the Bobcats.

New Teaching Schedule For Elementary Teachers Begins

Mid-term scheduling of elementary school teachers has been announced by Prof. George Howard. The teachers will be placed in the following grades.

Margaret Campbell is teaching in the first grade in Glenville Elementary School under the supervision of Mrs. Jean Adams. Leona Hampton and Virginia Staats are doing directed teaching in Mrs. Nancy Fitzpatrick's first and second grades.

Aleatha Anderson is assisting in kindergarten under the direction of Prof. Jewell Matthews. In the second grade Barbara Ayers is teaching under the supervision of Mrs. Juanita McDougal. Richard Stewart is teaching in John Montgomery's room in grades three and four.

Teaching in Mrs. Lyda Wilson's third grade are Jane Shires and Jo Ann Spicer.

Off campus student teachers are Mrs. Helen Shisler who is teaching in the fourth grade with Mrs. Edith Mayse as supervising teacher and Mrs. Martha Reed teaching in the sixth grade under the supervision of Harry Wiant. Both of these are at Burnsville Public School.

Joyce Cochran and Harlan Van Camp are at the Normantown Public School. Miss Cochran is teaching under the direction of Mrs.

Ruth Miller and Van Camp is in Harley Vannoy's fifth grade class.

Two cafeterias are located on the second floor. A small one to accommodate groups of visitors will be separated from the main cafeteria by folding doors. This floor also contains a lounge, serving area, and a room where dishes will be washed. The ceiling of the dining area and the lounge will be covered with acoustical plaster.

Provides TV Room

In the center of the top floor is a large area which will be covered with wood flooring. This area will be used for dances and student parties. Lighting may be controlled by a dimmer switch. The large dance area will be available for use by the students at all times and will be separated from the snack bar by sliding doors.

Located around the dance area are the snack bar, student center director's office, Student Council office, two small music listening rooms, the bookstore and book storage room, and a T.V. room. A space is also provided for student mailboxes, which may come later when money is available. The ceiling of Saturday, March 12, State Regional Drama Festival (all day).

Fellowship Group Goes to Richmond

Members of the Westminster Fellowship who plan to attend the vocational guidance conference in Richmond, Va., March 15, 16, and 17, are Connie Sams, Bonnie Gorell, Joyce Jackson, Barbara Johnson, Christine Ferrell, Gordon Palmer, Stanley Pickens, Jane Shires, Clara Mae Watson, Sue Criss, Tom Hilliard, and Thomas F. Hilliard. Prof. and Mrs. Floyd Miller will accompany the students.

The T.V. room will be covered with acoustical plaster, and the music listening rooms will be sound proofed.

Plastering on the top floor should be completed by the end of this week. The flooring will then be laid and the painting done. When this work is completed the flooring and painting work will be begun in the second floor dining area.

The building will probably be completed, with the possible exception of equipment, sometime in May, according to President Heflin.

Student Group Attends Camp

Members of the Baptist Student Fellowship are planning to attend a conference at the Baptist State Camp at Cowen. Among those who plan to attend are Dean Smith, John James, Sue Davidson, Willdene Jones, and Laverne Anderson. The conference will be held March 29 to 31.

The monthly program for the Baptist Church has been released. The first week of March will be a week of study, the second week has been set aside as a week for prayer. The church will be open from 2:00 to 7:00 p.m. each day for prayer. The third and fourth weeks will be two weeks of evangelism. The Rev. Jake Boggs from Charleston will speak at all of the services which are held during the two weeks period.

The Student Fellowship will entertain members of the Little Kanawha Baptist Association on March 12, from 2:30 to 9:30 p.m.

POSEY, JONES VISIT LOST CREEK HIGH SCHOOL

Two members of the Glenville State College Student Council were in Lost Creek last week where they addressed the student body of the high school there.
