Marshall College Symphonic Choir Will Present Concert On Campus

The Marshall College Symphonic Choir of Huntington will be presented here in concert on Wednesday, Nov. 6, at 10:10 in the Auditorium, it was announced today by Dr. Harold Orendorff, head of the Music department.

The Symphonic Choir, under the direction of Prof. R. Wayne Hugoboom, has become nationally known the past several years through its appearances at Regional and National meetings of the Music Educators National Conference as well as radio performances last winter on national hookup.

This is the first time that the choir has appeared in this locality to give other college students and interested members of the community an opportunity to hear the group.

Creates Interest

The prime aims of the choir tour is to appear throughout the state in an effort to acquaint students with the satisfaction and fun that choral singing can bring, to interest them in taking an active part in their own choral programs, and to cement relationships between Marshall and other state colleges.

The Choir has a complete religious program which is prepared for use in concerts in churches throughout the state.

Eleven Students Will Be Chosen For 'Who's Who' National Rating

7 Seniors, 4 Juniors Will Represent GSC

Eleven, Glenville State College students will be named to appear in the annual national yearbook of "Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities." Of this number seven will be seniors and four will be juniors.

Increased enrollment for this year makes the number to be chosen eleven instead of nine as last year.

Twenty-two candidates were selected in class meetings held last week. A student body election was held in the Union last Thursday to determine the student's choice. The results of this election will be considered when the Who's Who committee makes the final selection. Members of committee are Associate Professors Stanley Hall and Virginia West, Jearl Stump, Bill Deel and Patsy Garrett.

Seniors Named

Senior candidates for the honor are Sally Zeigler, Joyce Jackson, Connie Sams, Dorothy Maties, Rudy Poole, Marvin Stemple, Bonnie Gorrill, Bob Reynolds, Trent Busch, Shirley Brown, Don Brannon, Mike Ferrell, Barbara Taylor, and Randolph Stein.

Music Makers Present Assembly

Charles Massey and his band, "The Nine G's", will present the assembly tomorrow, Oct. 31, at 10:10. The program will consist of a variety of popular music.

Massey has also done some music arrangements for his group who plays for dances in the area.

Some of the equipment they use belongs to the college. A portion of the money that they earn during the year will be used to replace the old equipment with new.

Radio Broadcast Features Poetry

Miss Lee Kessinger read "Ode To The West Wind" for Glenville State's presentation over WHAW last Saturday. A senior from Mason County, Miss Kessinger read this selection at the State Speech Festival held at Jackson's Mill last May as an entry in the Interpretive Reading contest.

Dean Delmer K. Somerville's interview on accredited colleges was postponed because of his duties at the WVEA meeting being held in Clarksburg. This program is scheduled for next Saturday; Dean Somerville will be interviewed by Loretta Pernell and Ronald Clifton.

Students Announce

Announcers for Saturday's program were Jim White, Elizabeth Beall, Pat Christian, Ronald Clifton, and Lee Kessinger.

Future programs will include solos from the music department and a feature from "Of Mice and Men."

According to William S. E. Coleman, chairman of the Radio Program committee, volunteers for announcing or other work would be appreciated. All GSC students are eligible to participate and about thirty students have been on the air in the first three programs.

G-Club Sets Deadline For Talent Entries

Nov. 10 is the date set by the G-Club to receive entries for the annual talent show to be held Nov. 21.

Cash prizes will be awarded to the first, second and third place winners of the show. Persons wishing to center must submit their names to any member of the G-Club.

Assistant Editor Stein Announces 'Kanawhachen' Photograph Schedule

Faculty Photos, Football Section Have Been Completed, Organized

The completion of scheduling for Senior and underclass yearbook photographs has been announced by the staff of the KANAWHACHEN. The Senior pictures will be taken during the afternoon and evening of Tuesday, Nov. 12. The small dining room of the Student Union building will be used this year.

Photographs of the junior, sophomore and freshman classes will present a departure from previous yearbook practices. These classes will be photographed in small informal groups of six to eight people in various parts of the Student Lounge.

Class Pictures Set

Junior class pictures will be taken on Nov. 4 and 5; the sophomore class on Nov. 11, 13, and 14; and the freshman class on Nov. 18, 19 and 20.

Because of the small groups involved, a detailed schedule giving class breakdowns will be posted prior to the taking of the pictures.

At this time, faculty and administrative photographs have been completed and the football section assembled. The latter section contains over 45 photographs.

College Sponsors Visitations Again

Glenville State College has made plans for the visitation of faculty members in state high schools again this year announces Registrar Brown Trussler.

In past years it has been a project of the college to send instructors to serve on the college day programs in state high schools. These programs offer counseling services to high school seniors.

John V. White, assistant professor of mathematics, has visited in high schools in Green Bank, Marlinton, Hillsboro, and Lewisburg during this month. White plans to visit in White Sulphur Springs, Union, Alderson, Rupert, Colcord, and SETH.

Schedule Is Set

During this week Dr. Max Ward will visit Calhoun County High School; Virginia West, associate professor of English will go to Troy High School; and Registrar Trussler will be at Buckhannon-Upshur High School and Philippi High School.

Dean Delmer K. Somerville plans to visit the following high schools on Nov. 6, 7, and 8: Dunbar, Sissonville, Charleston, Elkview, Stonewall Jackson, Clendenin, and Walton.

On Nov. 13 Trussler will visit Clay County and Gauley Bridge High Schools.

Dean Somerville will participate in college days programs at Summersville, Webster Springs, and Cowen on Nov. 15.

Miss Glenda Black, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Black of Baldwin, is teaching music in Athens, Ohio. Miss Black is a 1957 graduate.

Community Plans Halloween Party

Civic and church groups of Glenville are planning a Community Halloween Party for tomorrow night.

Open to students, of Glenville State College, this annual event will feature a parade to begin at 7:00 p.m.

Prizes will be given for the costumes judged the best disguised, most original, best character representation, and best interpretation of a local resident. The judging will be done in four age groups—preschool, elementary, high school, and adult.

After the parade on Main Street there will be a march to the new school grounds where refreshments will be served.

Out-of-Staters Number Seventeen; Students Come From Seven States

By BILL HINTON

Glenville State College has an out-of-state enrollment of 17 students. These students come from seven different states.

Pennsylvania and Delaware lead the list with four students from each of these states.

Four From Delaware

Arthur McMichael, George S. Manlove, and John Pisapia are all junior physical education majors from Dover, Del. Howard H. Hess, a senior from Lewes, Del., is a business education major.

Steve Taylor and Dave Wethern come from Dundee, Mich. Taylor is a sophomore physical education major and Wethern, a sophomore business major. Paul Robert Rippe is a sophomore business major from Whitcomb, Mich.

James and George Cook from Fishersville, Va., are physical education majors. George is a senior and Jim a freshman.

Two Come From Ohio

Ohio has two students attending GSC. James R. Johnston, a freshman business major, comes from Marietta, and Barbara Lou Moore, a general science major, is a freshman from Thompson.

Barbara Feaster, from Hadden Heights, N. J., is a freshman physical education major, and Randolph Stein, a senior, comes from Cumberland, Md. and is an English major.

It's Not That Bad

Perhaps some of the most dramatic situations enacted within a university today are those which appear when students defend points of view in which they have come to believe after hours of intense thought.

Such a student, without the slightest doubt in the validity of his convictions, paces the floor while ranting intensely and grabs for any kind of proof to help him convince, just as a man with one foot through a hole in the ice will grab for the "no skating" sign standing nearby to save himself.

Here we have the campus leader, large or small, male or female. Here we have leaders in circles of student government who sacrifice themselves and their time to legislate for the good of the student body.

Here we have those with the social grace to nibble a cupcake and stir a rum Collins while lightly conversing or hum into a partner's ear while flitting over the dance floor.

Here we have the leader who doesn't care for the aforementioned frivolities but excels in the classroom and makes A's and A's and A's and A's.

Here we have the D students who can't dance and can't study but avidly follows every sport in the book. Here we have the typical, average "stuck-in-a-rut" campus leader who would rather resort to a fist fight or at least a verbal argument to prove to someone that "he is serious," "the situation is serious" or "the outcome will be serious."

We would like to ask, is anything serious?
On a moment's notice the student senator from the great college of so and so will rush to the campus newspaper office to claim that he has been misquoted. He will set down, in no uncertain terms, the seriousness of the case and the irreparable damage which has been done.

To this person, we can point to past student governments, past misquotations and past student senators which have long been forgotten.

The social butterfly doesn't have a date for the Junior Prom and the situation "is serious," she claims. What this person forgets is that, at the most, barely one-fifth of the regular students will attend the Prom and therefore how can the situation be serious?

The campus scholar is perhaps the most dead serious of all. To him, college is a challenge, graduating an achievement rewarded by 50 years of full, rich life. This poor fellow fails to realize that a B grade will not cut three quality points from his later full, rich life.

Yet, if by chance this student were to get a B, those all around him would soon know it for he would be expounding on the futility of his life. Why should this person consider it a serious matter when he receives a lower grade than usual?

If you have ever met some of these people, you will notice that we have exaggerated the situation but little. Probably nothing can be done for them. They have been born with this affliction and their only consolation is that in the end death ends the seriousness of anything.

Observance of those who read this article seriously will show positively the foolishness of being "serious."

Miss Marley Teaches In Pomeroy; Former Baseball Player In Ft. Knox

Miss Connie Marley, a 1957 graduate of Glenville State College, is now teaching in the high school in Pomeroy, Ohio. Miss Marley, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Marley of Weston, was a physical education and English major.

Pvt. Rannie Allen, son of George M. Allen of Pennsboro, has completed eight weeks of Infantry Basic Training in the 2nd. Training Regiment, Fort Gordon, Ga. Allen is now stationed at Ft. Knox, Ky. A former student here, Allen was a member of KSK and played shortstop for the Pioneer baseball team.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Dean Smith are both teaching in Ohio. Mrs. Smith, the former Miss Mavis White of Sand Fork, is librarian at Avon Lake High School and Smith teaches at LaGrange High School in Cleveland. Mr. and Mrs. Smith were 1957 graduates and both served as MERCURY reporters last year.

Mrs. Marilyn Rastle Barnes, a 1957 graduate, is serving as 4-H Club agent in Lewis County. Her husband, Charles Barnes, is stationed in Japan with the U. S. Army.

Berman Litton, a member of last year's graduating class, is teaching English in a Middletown, Ohio, school. Litton served as sports editor of the MERCURY during the first semester of last year.

Miss Tonabell Jones, a 1957 graduate, and Heryl Turner were united in marriage Oct. 19 at the Glenville Baptist Church. Mrs. Turner is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arden Jones of Glenville. They are living in Parkersburg.

Mr. and Mrs. Willard Smith are in Morgantown where he is a student at West Virginia University. Mrs. Smith is the former Miss Janet Conley. Both were graduated from Glenville State in 1955.

Ex Libris

By DOROTHY BUTLER

Among the new arrivals on the New Books shelves in the Robert F. Kidd Library are many books on timely topics.

For instance, "Progress Against Prejudice," by Robert Root, looks at the segregation-integration problem in terms of human beings and gives specific instances of deeds which have helped bridge the gap between the races.

Dealing with the same general subject is "The Negro Potential," written by Dr. Eli Ginzberg. This book traces the gains made by Negroes since 1940 in getting more and better jobs, progress, or lack of progress of Negro education, and the effect of integration in the Armed Services.

Presents Expedition

"Operation Deepfreeze" tells the story behind the news of the expedition to the South Pole in 1956. Written by Rear Admiral George J. Dufek, it is an account of dramatic adventures of men who were part of a twelve-nation plan to open the frozen frontier of the world's last continent.

Marley Cole in his book, "Triumph Kingdom," tells the dramatic story of the rapidly-expanding Jehovah's Witnesses movement. He explains their beliefs and practices and shows how their religion affects their lives.

These are only a few of the subjects of current interest which can be found in the New Book shelves.

Music Teachers Attend Meeting

Dr. Harold S. Orendorff and Miss Bertha E. Olsen attended the West Virginia Music Educator's Association held Oct. 28 at W. Va. Tech in Montgomery.

The association was organized Oct. 29, 1945, with Miss Olsen as first chairman. In 1950-51 Dr. Orendorff was secretary and was chairman in 1952-53. During the twelve years of the association's existence, Miss Olsen has not missed a meeting. Orendorff has not missed a meeting since he has been on the staff.

Plan State Orchestra

One of the important topics discussed was the continuance of the all-state college orchestra. Each February, during the State Music Conference, representatives from all colleges are invited to participate in "a symphony for a day."

They rehearse one day only and present a concert that evening with the assistance of a guest conductor. Last year Guy Frasier Harrison from the Oklahoma City Symphony Orchestra was guest conductor.

10 New Members Join Fraternity

Ten new members have been initiated into the Alpha Delta Epsilon fraternity.

They are Charles Beeghley, Alice Clevenger, Jim Dyer, Paul Grod, Jerry Glover, Arlene Hinterer, Rosemary Huff, Roberta Starcher, David Weatheran and Barbara Sue Zinn.

Advisers for ADE are Mrs. Genevieve Butcher and Clarence Maze Jr.

Mrs. Mary Gillispie Umstead, who was graduated from GSC in 1956, is now teaching at Clendenin High School. David Umstead her husband, is a senior here.

CHRISTMAS CAME EARLY this year to the home economics Methods and Materials class taught by Mrs. Lillian Chaddock, assistant professor of home economics. Lea Courtney, a senior from Good Hope, is responsible for the display shown above. Miss Courtney is shown assembling a stable from stalks of oats. In the forefront are the shepherds, wise men, and Joseph and Mary made from paper, corn husks and acorns. Marjorie Hall, senior from Glenville and Kay Watkins, senior of Gassaway, also participated in the demonstrations. (MERCURY photo by Deel)

Adult Education Classes Include Variety Of Demonstration Subjects

Asian Flu Shots Are Administered To GSC Students

By BETTY LOU SISK

Students, your worries are over! Mrs. Fest, GSC nurse, announces that everyone who signed for the Asian flu vaccine will receive his shot in due time.

Inoculation started Oct. 18; however, only a limited supply of the vaccine is being sent to Glenville. Around 72 of the 380 students who signed have received their shot.

Many students have been asking "How do I know when I'm supposed to take my shot?" and "Where do I go?" Those to receive the vaccine will be taken in the order which they signed and will be notified by Mrs. Mary Jean Barker, secretary to President Heflin.

Watch Bulletin Boards

Students and faculty should also watch the bulletin boards for further information. They will be "shot" at the Infirmary in the Health Building.

Many will be happy to learn that only one shot will be necessary. The effects of the vaccine are usually mild, perhaps a slight headache for which Mrs. Fest prescribes an aspirin. Outside of this and a sore arm, one should not have to worry.

Mrs. Fest asks that the students please come when called because Dr. Waitman Smith, medical examiner for the college, is on campus a very short time.

Adult education classes under the direction of Lillian Chaddock, assistant professor of home economics, have been meeting each Wednesday night for the past three weeks. The classes are taught by members of the Home Economics Methods and Materials class.

Teachers for the first class were Jean Hogue, Mida Bailey and Janet Peters. The theme for this first class was gifts and included aprons, collars, stuffed animals and other children's gifts.

Make Christmas Gifts

Christmas decorations were featured in the second meeting of the group. Teachers included Lea Courtney, Marjorie Hall, and Kay Watkins.

The third class presented a study of foods with cookies, candies, punch and party favors being featured. Teachers were Ann Kelly Skinner, Virginia Horner Mick and Carolyn Ranson.

One of the requirements of the Methods and Materials class is for each student to make a complete file of all home economics subjects. According to Mrs. Chaddock the over-all objective of the class is to give home economics majors actual teaching experience by working with adults. In such a teaching program the needs of many adults are also met.

William Eugene Richards, 1951 graduate is now serving as minister of the Knotts Methodist Church at Grantsville. Richards attended Westminster Theological Seminary in Westminster, Md. and he and Mrs. Richards, the former Miss JoAnn McNewman, have taught in Virginia.

Pioneers Trample Salem Tigers In Rohrbough Field Mud Battle

Two Teams Tied For Top In MAA

Fisher and Firehouse Six are the only remaining undefeated teams in the MAA volleyball play. KSK pulled the number of undefeated teams down to two when they upset the Bear Cats aggregation last week.

One game was also won by forfeit last week, that being the game between Fisher and Sumpter as the Sumpter combination was not present.

The games were Fisher over Sumpter by forfeit, Holy Roller "S" defeated Blues, Firehouse Six upended Cook (took the spot vacated by Tons and Ounce), KSK upset Bear Cats, Holy Roller "B" won over Stoops, Jones defeated Eaton, and Slat's won over Oral's Odd Balls.

By EDWIN WARE

Glenville State brought the 1957 football season to a rousing finale by defeating the Salem Tigers 28-6 at Rohrbough Field, Friday afternoon, Oct. 25.

Salem opened the game with a quick first down by virtue of a 30 yard pass from Jim Hartburger to Ken Brown. Hartburger, seconds later, went over for Salem's only score. West failed in his conversion attempt.

Glenville Strikes

Glenville retaliated in the same period after a Salem punt was returned to the GSC 48 yard line. McKown then went over from the two. Emory Elkins, freshman center from Meadow Bridge, converted.

The Murinmen scored again in the second period when senior Eddie Armstrong carried from the one. Elkins again made the conversion good.

The third period saw the Pioneers march 38 yards before sending Larry "Doc" Stanley to paydirt on a brilliant 40 yard-run around right end. Elkin's toe added another extra point to give the White Wave a 21-6 bulge.

Elkins Kicks Again

Near the end of the final period Quarterback Jack Campbell sent fullback Ron Stonfer 14 yards in two plays to increase the Glenville margin 27-6. Elkins made it four in a row by adding another conversion to give the Pioneers a 28-6 WVIAAC victory.

Glenville's final season record stands at three wins, two losses and one tie.

Students who made the tour were Brenda Ball, Betty Ruth Creasy, Janice Davison, Barbara Frederick, Kenneth Gaskins, Charmaine Gunnoe, Robert L. Harvey, Yvonne Helmick.

Library Is Home Of Various Helps

Library brief mentions:

Leaflets on civil service examinations are available in the entrance of the library.

The attractive plants in the library belong to Miss Alma Arbuckle a former librarian.

Vertical files in the back of the library contain many pamphlets which are available to all students. Audio-visual aids for the use of students who doing directed teaching can also be found in the library.

A card catalog display has been placed on the bulletin board in the library entrance. It is educational as well as decorative.

The library is open for the convenience of Glenville State students from 6:30 p.m. to 8:30 p.m. every Monday through Thursday; from 8:00 a.m. to 12 o'clock noon and from 1:00 p.m. to 5:00 p.m. Monday through Friday; and also from 8:30 a.m. until 12 o'clock noon on Saturdays.

Women and birds are able to see without turning their heads, and that is indeed a necessary provision, for they are both surrounded by enemies.

out the state and also includes several groups of secular numbers for their school programs and concerts.

Some of the selections to be presented are O Lord, The Measure of Our Prayers, Chillun Don't Get Weary, Psalm 96 (O Sing Unto the Lord), Woe Unto Them, The Noise of a Multitude, Fair Phyllis, Lost, Are You Sleeping Brother John, and It's A Most Unusual Day.

On Wednesday, Nov. 6, the choir will also appear at Spencer High School.

Conductor Well Known

The Choir's conductor, Prof. R. Wayne Hugoboom is also nationally known as a guest conductor for high school festival choirs, having appeared in various counties, cities, districts and All-State festivals in Virginia, West Virginia, Tennessee, Mississippi, North Carolina, New Jersey, Kentucky, Indiana and other states. He is also in demand as clinician and adjudicator for various contests and festivals.

His choirs have received national recognition with appearances at several regional and national MENC conferences and only a few years ago was invited to appear at the first International MENC conference at Brussels, Belgium.

Both Symphonic and Men's Concert Choirs have toured the state the past several years and have gained a wide and interested following through their efforts.

The public is cordially invited to attend the concert. No charge is made for this concert; an offering will be taken.

Woofter's Class Prepares Food

Miss Elma Jean Woofter, assistant professor of home economics, announces that members of the Advanced Meal Planning and Preparation Class have been giving demonstrations on preparing and serving foods.

Demonstrations included Dobes Tortes, by Anita Skeen; beverage, Lois Smith; make your own mix, Marie Reese; herbs — variety for familiar dishes, Louise Byrd; soups, Flora Dyer; variations of apple pie, Eileen Wolfe; world tour with a meal—each part from a different country, Ramona Stout; and cheese dishes, Marjorie Hall.
