Librarian and Student Helpers

Two Librarians, Six GSC Students Operate Robert F. Kidd Library

Six students, an assistant librarian and a head librarian keep things in order and make the Robert F. Kidd library a "going" concern. The library is open from 8-12 o'clock, 1-5 o'clock, and 6:30-8:30 o'clock Monday through Thursday; on Friday the hours are from 8:00 a.m. until noon, and from 1:00 p.m. until 5:00 p.m. The library is open Saturday mornings from 8:30 until noon.

Checking books in and out, keeping records, taking care of periodicals, repairing books, answering questions for students, and sweeping the floor require about 175 hours of manpower a week. Requests for pictures of sea gulls and snakes, for books on chess, fortune telling, hermits, Disraeli, high-fidelity, leap-year and mercy killings fill the days.

Ample proof that the Robert F. Kidd is not a cold machine but a warm, living organism is given by the personalities of those who work there.

Miss Spicer Is Secretary

Margaret Spicer, a sophomore from Sand Fork, is serving as general secretary in the absence of Miss Jearl Stump, who is doing directed teaching. Miss Spicer also catalogs and checks in new books. She works nine and one half hours a week.

Taking inventory since last February has been Sherri Nell Polling. She reports that the task has been

Mrs. Don Barker Recovers At Home

Mrs. Don (Mary Jean) Barker, secretary to the president, is recovering at her home following an operation that she underwent before the Christmas holidays.

Mrs. Barker is getting along very well and will resume her duties in the president's office within two weeks or ten days, according to President Harry B. Hefflin.

Survey Indicates Student Majority To Be Methodist

Three hundred seven students or almost fifty per cent of the total enrollment at Glenville College have indicated their preferences for the Methodist Church. These statistics were taken from information furnished by the students on their registration cards for the first term of the current school year.

The Baptist Church was listed by 164 students for 26.2 per cent. Twenty-six students listed the Presbyterian Church as their choice. This gave them a 4.2 per cent rating in the total of 624.

Choices Listed

Other preferences were E.U.B., 25; Roman Catholic, 17; Church of Christ, 15; Lutheran, 8; Episcopal, 4; Mormon, 4; Christian, 3; Advent, 2; Church of the Brethren, 2; Assembly of God, Greek Orthodox, Society of Friends, Congregational, and Church of God, one each.

Forty-two students listed "None" or "Protestant."

The Rev. Lawrence Sherwood, pastor of the Glenville Methodist Church and director of the Wesley Foundation, compiled the information on religious preference of students at Glenville State College.

Payments Are Due!

Tuition, room and board for the second semester will be due and payable not later than Monday, Jan. 27. However, to avoid standing in line on enrollment day, payment may be made at any time prior to that date at the business office. Amount of payment for dormitory students will be $147.37; off campus students will pay $39.50.

Dean Somerville Compiles Schedule For Next Semester Classes, Courses

Class schedules listing courses which will be offered next semester are being prepared and will be released during the next week, according to Dean Delmer K. Somerville who is compiling the schedule.

There has been a delay in the preparation of the schedule due to a staff vacancy in the physics department. A copy of the schedule will be posted on the bulletin board in the Administrative Building as soon as it is released, according to Somerville.

Registration, Jan. 27

Registration for the second semester will begin at 8:00 a.m. Monday, Jan. 27. Seniors will be given an opportunity to preregister at a date which will be announced later.

Eight evening classes have been tentatively scheduled for the second semester. The proposed schedule includes Education 306, Methods in Reading, taught by Miss Eloise Wolfe, assistant professor of education; Home Economics 301, Child Care and Guidance, taught by Miss Elma Jean Woofert, assistant professor of home economics.

Physical Education 436, Camp administration and counseling, taught by Assistant Prof. Carlos Ratliff; Political Science 304, Comparative Government, taught by Dr. James G. Jones; and Richard Robinson, instructor in art, will teach Art 307, Introductory Oil Painting; Art 406, Advanced Oil Painting; Art 308, Water Color Painting, and Art 407, Advanced Water Color Painting.

Off campus students may register for night classes, Jan. 29, at 6:30 p.m. in the Registrar's office.

Lyceum Program Features Speaker

The first lyceum program of 1958 will feature an experienced speaker, Dan Tyler Moore, whose topic will be "Spy Warfare Today." Mr. Moore will present his lecture on Feb. 13 at 8:15 in the GSC Auditorium, discloses Asst. Prof. Carl A. Kerr, chairman of the lyceum committee.

Moore was graduated from Yale in 1931 and went to work in Wall Street. This was followed by work for the federal government and for the state government of Ohio, where he acquired a reputation for tracking down complex types of criminals.

Was Counterspy

During World War II he was a paratroop major and a counterspy for the O.S.S. He was active in counter-espionage in Egypt, and after the war lived for two years in Turkey. He now lives in Cleveland with his wife and four children.

A gifted writer as well as a speaker, Moore's articles and stories have

Biology Students Make State Trips

Dr. Max Ward, chairman of the science and mathematics division, and his Biology 361 (Bateriology) Class visited the American Cyanamid Company at Willow Island, Thursday. This company manufactures aureomycin, an anti-biotic used for the treatment of many infectious diseases. The group lunched with the company.

Yesterday the same class went to Huntington to study the microbiological aspects of a brewery at the W. Va. Brewing Company. The afternoon was spent in the State Hygienic Labs in South Charleston. Here blood tests are made, inoculations are prepared, tests for rabies are made, and blood samples for hospitals, nurses, and doctors of the state are taken.

Baptist Youth Group Is Campus Organization

The Baptist Student Fellowship has officially been recognized as a campus organization by the GSC Student Council and the Governing Board. In order for the BSF to become a campus organization the officers had to draw up a constitution and submit it to the Student Council and the Governing Board of the College.

Xi Betas Plan Annual Sock Hop

The Xi Beta Tau Sorority will be in charge of Vespers on Jan. 19 and will also sponsor a Sock Hop on Feb. 14, states President Shirley Brown.

Program committee for Vespers is Ruth Creasy, Gail Ratliff and Connie Sams.

Pat Christian is in charge of tickets for the Sock Hop and Phyllis Starkey, Ginny Davis, Jane Riddle are on the committee to sell tickets. Admission to the dance is $2.00 per couple and $1.00 stag.

Barbara Zinn, Phyllis Vieth and Marcia Gilchrist may use the program committee. Mary Francis Rolloson, Gail Ratliff and Winnetta Bowman are on the publicity committee.

Miss Wolfe Advises Cheerleaders Here

Miss Eloise Wolfe, assistant professor of education, is replacing Miss Clarissa Williams, associate professor of physical education, as adviser to the cheerleaders.

Linda Floyd, assistant cheerleader, has replaced Dave Wethern as a cheerleader. Miss Floyd is a freshman and a resident of Glenville. She is a major in business administration.

The other cheerleaders are Mildred Nocida, Mary Jo Chisler and Carolee Singleton.

Miss Williams has been adviser for the cheerleaders for about three and a half years. She has traveled with cheerleaders approximately 1190 miles during basketball season and 405 miles in football each year.

Youth Examine Educational Aims

The aims of education should be to assist us in finding our life work, to fit us for it mentally and morally, to give us an intelligent attitude toward our profession, and a satisfactory understanding of the rest of our environment. The Feaster Report has demonstrated that our schools are not meeting these aims. In fact, our schools are dangerously inadequate.—Dangerous because our very system of government depends upon an educated public for its survival.

Practically everyone agrees that something should be done to improve our schools, but opinion is sharply divided as to just what should be done. There are those who want to return to the "3-R's" method used by our grandfathers, while others lean to the other extreme of Dewey's "project method." Most educators contend that education must continue to occur within the framework of our present curriculum, and that recommendations outside these limits are unrealistic.

Why must education occur within the present framework? Why are recommendations outside these limits unrealistic? Far be it from us to offer a ready-made solution to the problem, but we fail to see that it is unrealistic to discontinue a system that failing to do its job.

Perhaps our present system can be revised so it will be satisfactory. However, we should not refuse to consider the possibility of other solutions. If a radical departure from our present method of education is found to be necessary, we must be willing to make this departure and not be bound by tradition. Perhaps the most limiting factor of our progress in education is the refusal to recognize the necessity for change.

The Challenge Is Here!

When coming back to school after the Christmas holidays becomes a drudge for us as college students, it is time that we reexamine ourselves in the light of our faith and our purpose in life.

Some of us had the opportunity to participate in national youth conventions during the holiday season, and we have returned with numerous ideas and thoughts concerning our faith, church and God. We have learned that there is a great need existing in the world for Christian teachers and missionaries, which is, of course, true. But the greatest challenge in the world that is before us at this time exists here on the Glenville campus. Are we meeting that challenge presented to us on the college campus and in the college classrooms?

True, we can escape our roles by saying "What's the use, Russia is so far ahead of us that we'll never catch up," or "I give up, these students will never learn to read," but by doing this, we will not even approach the true mission of a teacher or student.

We sit in our dormitory "buzz sessions," discussing why in the world anyone would turn to Communism when the free world has so much more to offer them. But that's just it. What is the free world offering? It is offering food, clothing, and material goods when people, even we ourselves, are starving for truth, love, and beauty. There is no doubt that the individual has the basic need of food and shelter, but his spiritual and aesthetic needs must be met as well.

Chandran Devanesen, one of the main speakers at the Sixth Quadrennial Youth Convention of the Presbyterian Church, U.S., which was held at the University of Kentucky the latter part of December, had something when he said, "When a young Indian sees more meaning in Communism than in Christianity we immediately hunt around for all the economic and social reasons. True, they play their part. But we must also search ourselves for it may be that he has not seen in us as Christians any hopeful answer to the problems of poverty and injustice. We may live so comfortably, so uncaringly that he entirely misses the revolutionary significance of the Christian faith.

"If a young African sees more hope in Islam than in Christianity, is the explanation to be found in the facts of culture and geography? There is no special virtue in that young African simply because he is an African. He can hate too. But he knows that in so many places we Christians keep the Church to ourselves and offer him the Cross."

Versatile Mercury Business Manager Jim White Works, Plays, Reads, Swims, Dances, Leaves Reporter ... Busy

By BILL HINTON

As though coming back to school was not a hard enough problem to face after the holidays, this reporter happened to glance at the weekly assignment sheet and noticed that he was to write a feature story about a person on campus. With this in mind, plus the daily class assignments, he thought that he would really be busy. This attitude, however, changed after an interview with Jim White.

White, the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. O. White, graduated from Parkersburg High School in 1951. During his high school days White was in the Craft Club and Thespian Troupe 264. He was a member of the PHS band for three years, served as drum major one year and capped his high school days playing the leading role in his senior class play, "Our Town."

After graduating, White served in the US Army from 1953-55. Most of this time was spent at Ft. Benning, Ga., as a clerk-typist.

This is White's third year at Glenville State College. Just a few of the activities and duties that he has taken part in the past two years are: chosen as president of the freshman class, served on the student council, was member of Student Christian Association and served on the KANAWHACHEN yearbook staff. This is not to mention the many plays in which White has had an active role. He has had parts in such three-act plays as "Glass Menagerie," "Tartuffe," "Paint Your Wagon," "Bell, Book, and Candle," "The Moon is Blue," "Death of a Salesman," and "Ten Little Indians," and "The Playboy of the Western World," of which Jim acted as student director. In one-act plays he has played roles in "The Twelve-Pound Look," "The Valiant," "Found: An Author," "The Barrier," "Hello, Out There."

Currently, White is directing a one-act play entitled "The Shadow of the Cathedral," plus having current parts in "Of Mice and Men" and "The Monkey's Paw."

For the past two and a half years he has been business manager of the MERCURY and is also a member of the Kappa Sigma Kappa fraternity, Ohnimgohow Players, Alpha Psi Omega, honorary dramatic fraternity, and the Assembly Committee. He is president of the Ohnimgohows this year.

White, recently honored by being selected as one of the candidates for Who's Who, has his major fields in mathematics and speech. Although not necessarily in order of what he likes most or the least, his other interests are reading, dramatics, dancing, swimming, and hiking.

MERCURY REPORTER BILL HINTON "entertains" busy Jim White with questions as the two are caught in this jovial mood by the MERCURY camera. Hinton thought he was busy until he talked to White and then he was really busy reporting all of the latter's many, many campus activities. White shown at his desk (business manager) in the MERCURY office revealed that this is only one of his numerous contributions to the GSC campus. (MERCURY photo by Deel)

Six GSC Students Marry During Christmas Holidays

GSC's Assoc. Prof. William S. E. Coleman and Miss Phyllis June Young set the pace for other couples on campus by their marriage Dec. 21. Miss Young is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry F. Young of Clendenin. Assoc. Prof. Coleman is the son of Mr. and Mrs. William R. Coleman of New Kensington, Pa.

Attendants were Miss Joretta Jo Young, cousin of the bride, and the bridegroom's father. Clark and Scott Young, uncles of the bride, were the ushers.

The Rev. Frank Young, uncle of the bride, read the service, and a reception immediately following the ceremony was held in the church.

The MENC is not to be outdone in the number of marriages. Three of their members were married, all on Dec. 21. Miss Ruby Elder, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Elder from Thursday, became the bride of Charles Massey, son of Mrs. Mary Lee Massey of Sand Fork.

The wedding ceremony was held at the Glenville Methodist Church.

Stanley Burns and Joyce Brannon were the attendants. Mr. and Mrs. Massey are now living at Sand Fork.

Miss Barbara Ann Rice, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Rice from Meadow Bridge, and Ernest Backus, son of Mr. and Mrs. P. Backus from Rainelle, were married in the East Rainelle Baptist Church by the Rev. Joe E. Brown.

Attendants were Alice Bottomly, Jane Ellen Rice, Carol Malcomb, Shirley Fox, and Lee McCall.

Miss Anita Skeen and A/2 Robert Nelson Lyons were married Dec. 27 at 6:00 in the Evangelical United Brethren Church at Ripley by the Rev. Homer Hicks. Miss Skeen is the daughter of Mrs. Glada Horn of Ripley.

Attendants were Miss Louree Skeen and Darrell Riley.

Miss Patricia Starkey from Parkersburg was married to H. K. Smith during the Christmas season. Miss Betty Clyde, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Estep from Rainelle, was also married.

Students May Use Placement Directory

To answer the needs of teachers, college students and professors, The Advancement and Placement Institute announces publication of their completely new and expanded 1958 World Wide "Summer Placement Directory." The Directory is prepared as an aid to those who wish new ideas and ways to earn while they vacation.

The new Directory gives descriptions of the type of work available, salary ranges, names and addresses of employers requesting summer employees. Included are governmental positions, steamship needs, dude ranches, travel tour agencies, work camps, service projects, earning free trips to Europe, national parks, summer camps, theatres and resorts, career trainee opportunities, study awards all over the world and many others.

A current up to date World Wide "Summer Placement Directory" is published annually by the staff of the Advancement and Placement Institute which has been a non-fee professional advisory and advancement service for the field of education since 1952.

A copy of the Directory may be examined at the Registrar's Office.

D. Butler's Team Wins WAA Play

By SHARON MARLEY

Linda Mayo led Dorothy Butler's team to victory in the first game of WAA play Jan. 6. Miss Mayo scored 26 points to help defeat Mida Bailey's team 56-43.

Butler had a total of 20 points and Phyllis Starkey 10 for the winning team. Nancy Gillispie led the defeated team and had second highest points in the game with 22. Bailey had a score of 19 and Annabel McHenry 2.

The victor's team consisted of Capt. Dorothy Butler, Linda Mayo, Phyllis Starkey, Berna Shawver, Mary Lou Locke, and Joyce Hicks.

Annabell McHenry, Nancy Gillispie, Patricia Moore, Virginia Mick, and Patty Mace played on Bailey's team. Score and timer was Caroline Rose Heeter.

Two games were forfeited 2-0 for lack of players on Mary Jo Chisler's team in favor of Isabel Brady and Mida Bailey's teams.

Butler Wins Again

Butler's team was victorious the second time by defeating Brady's team 41-20. Mayo again led Butler's team by a score of 17 points and Dorothea Isch and Phyllis Starkey had 12 each. Butler's players were Mayo, Isch, Starkey, Shawver, and Locke.

Roma Starcher led the losers with 11 points and Carollee Singleton had six and Martie Douglas two. The remaining players on Brady's team were Hazel Webster, Dorothy Pauley, and Flora Dyer.

Caroline Rose Heeter was scorer and Geneva Moss timer for this game. The officials for both games were Jane Spray and Barbara Peaster.

Five Year Olds Look to Feb. 14

Tuesday, Jan. 7 was an exciting day for the kindergarten children reports Miss Jewell Matthews, teacher.

Everyone brought gifts they had received from Santa, so dolls, tractors, trucks, and guns were the order of the day. Then to add to the excitement, the children were allowed to play in the snow for awhile.

Miss Matthews remarked that during a picture-drawing session one boy got the spirit of Valentine's Day; he drew a picture of someone in love. It was explained that you could tell they were in love because the boy was about to kiss the girl. (Miss Matthews would like to say that he did not learn this in kindergarten.)

Visitors for the day were Mrs. Jack Parsons and members of an Education 102 class.

Gee-Men Fall To Jackets, Eagles In Pre-Holiday Basketball Games

Coach Leland Byrd's GSC Pioneers were in the Charleston area Dec. 13-14 to meet the West Virginia State Yellow Jackets and Morris Harvey's Golden Eagles. The GeeMen recorded two successive losses on this road trip, falling to State 87-69 and Morris Harvey 91-76.

Glenville placed four players in double figures against the Jackets with Larry Barker taking top honors at 17. Rudy Poole added 12. Bob Reynolds accounted for 11 and Mel Edwards accumulated 10.

The Pioneers trailed at halftime 23-36.

Cook Collects 39

Barker and Reynolds led the White Wave scoring attack against Morris Harvey with 13 each but Morris Harvey's Al Cook took top tally totaling 39, with 26 of these 39 points coming in the first half. Other Glenville players in double figures were Poole and Tom Burns with 12 each and Watt with 10.

Beat Hilltoppers

Closing the pre-holiday activity the Pioneers tallied their second win against three defeats by downing the West Liberty Hilltoppers, 75-67 on Dec. 17 on the local floor.

Top scoring honors against the Hilltoppers went to Bob Reynolds with 23 while Larry Barker added 19 and Rudy Poole garnered 16. Bob McNabb and Joe Blaha led the West Liberty attack with 23 and 16 points, respectively.

Pioneers At Tech Tomorrow Night

Glenville State's basketball aggregation goes on the road this week for games with conference leader West Virginia Tech Jan. 16 and West Liberty Jan. 18. Next week, Jan. 21, the Pioneers are at home for a conference game with Davis-Elkins.

The White Wave lost to the Tech Golden Bears in the season's opener 84-110. Last season also saw the Byrdmen fall to the Bears in both meetings.

West Liberty lost to Glenville when they visited the Pioneer field house, earlier this season, 75-67. The Hilltoppers won two games from the GeeMen in last years regular season games.

Davis-Elkins, who last week became the third GSC victim at 94-82, split with the Pioneers in last seasons encounters. The Senators won the first 73-70 and the White Wave came roaring back in the second for an easy 111-78 victory.

Presbyterian Church Presents Various Sunday Evening Services

Sunday evening services to extend from January through April have been planned for the Glenville Presbyterian Church, discloses the Rev. Bob Gay. Two services "Fire Upon the Earth" and "Review of the History of the Christian Church" have already been presented.

Next Sunday evening the Rev. Kenneth King of Spencer will be the guest for "Great Hymns of the Church."

A complete church service recorded on tape in the First Baptist Church of Richmond, Va., will be presented Jan. 26. Topic is "It Does Make a Difference What You Believe."

The story of "Judaism" will be brought by means of a color film-strip and narration on Feb. 2.

"A Long Hard Look at the Church and Reformation" is the topic for Feb. 9: "The Light Within," based upon the worship services of the Society of Friends, Feb. 16; and a sermon by Peter Marshall brought by tape recorder will be Feb. 23.

WVU Students Scheduled

On March 2 the Westminster Chorus of Morgantown, composed of West Virginia University students associated with the Westminster Fellowship of the Morgantown Presbyterian Church, will present the program.

On April 20 GSC students, directed by William S. E. Coleman, will present "Everyman" a morality play.

Dr. Byron J. Turner served as chairman of the planning committee for this series of services; and Floyd W. Miller was a member of the committee.

Home Ec. Majors Will Pull Taffy

A taffy pull will be the feature of the Home Economics Club meeting tomorrow night at 7:30 reports Virginia Mick, club president. Besides regular business, an income report will be taken.

Plans for the Regional Meeting of the Western Region of the Future Homemakers of America will also be made at that time. Approximately 600 high school girls are expected to attend the Regional FHA Meeting here in February. A tea, style show, and campus tours will be given for the FHA members.

Officers of the Home Economics Club are Virginia Mick, president; Bonnie Gorrell, first vice-president; Jean Hogue, second vice-president; Carolyn Ranson, secretary; Kay Watkins treasurer; Lea Courtney, historian; and Sally Zeigler, song leader. Mida Bailey, another member of the club, is a State Vice President.

Coleman Tells Of Drama Next Term

The three act play of "Mice and Men," will be presented during the first or second week of next term, announced William S. E. Coleman, associate professor of speech and English.

Revisions in the cast have been necessary and the cast now includes: Gerald Kress, Charleston; Orton Jones, Spencer; Delmas Keith, Glenville; Linda Floyd, Glenville; Jim White, Parkersburg; Roger Maze, Grantsville; Rodney Busch, Brohard; John Bogs, Glenville; Rod Oldham, Ripley; James Jones, Big Bend.

Trent Busch is director, and Pat Christian is associate director.

Activity cards will be used for George Bernard Shaw's "The Misalliance," a three act comedy. Casting announcement will be made as soon as playbooks arrive according to Coleman, who will serve as director. Tryouts are open to all students.

Readers Note!

This is the last issue of the MERCURY this semester. Next issue is scheduled to be off the press Feb. 12.

Glenville Students Attend Youth Conferences in Kansas, Kentucky

Glenville State College was well represented at the Sixth National Methodist Student Conference with Elizabeth Beall a freshman from Parkersburg and Mary Lee Kessinger from Point Pleasant, who is a senior here on the campus.

The conference opened on Friday, Dec. 27, with worship and a drama summarizing the thought process of the conference.

Miss Beall and Miss Kessinger said "Each morning a general session was opened with group singing, worship service based on John Wesley's services of Prayer and worship. Delegates then met in a small group for Bible study on the gospel of St. Mark's.

Miss Kessinger said "The most interesting part of her Bible study class, was when a man was asked to write down his theological belief; this man found that it was the hardest task that he had ever undertaken because his beliefs kept changing from day to day as he grew in studying the Bible."

Hear Scientist

The evening sessions were filled with pagentry and drama of the Christian Faith. One evening was spent with an outstanding scientist Dr. Kirtley Mather, who discussed the "Plight of Man and the Hope that Science Offers." This speech was then challenged and questioned by Dr. Harold De Wolfe, a theologian of Boston University.

New Years Eve opened with the world premier of an oratorio on the Wesleys and the Methodist movement. The climax of the evening was "John Wesley's Covenant Service, and the Sacrament of the Lord's Supper."

Miss Beall and Miss Kessinger

both said the most fun that they encountered at the conference was when some of the students from foreign countries and the lower south had never seen snow. They indicated that the students went out and washed their faces in the snow, and made a snowman. One man from Cuba took a whole roll of color film of the snow so that he could take his pictures back to his home and show his people what he had experienced.

Attend Kentucky Meet

Miss Sue Criss, who is president of the Westminster Youth Fellowship of W. Va. attended the Westminster Quadrennial Youth Conference in Lexington, Ky., over the Christmas holidays. Other GSC students who attended the conference with Miss Criss were Connie Sams, Margaret Ratzer, and Dorothea Isch. The Rev. Bob Gay also attended the meeting.

Miss Criss said "Each of us brought back something special from the convention which impressed us deeply, but we will no doubt remember throughout the year many ideas and thoughts expressed there as we seek to find our place in the world."

That there were students from some 27 countries throughout the world working and praying together with no thought of color or race was truly wonderful. We were so "lifted up" by a conference of this kind that getting back to what is considered routine is rather difficult, but perhaps because of an experience of this type, we will remember that life should not become a dull routine," was the conclusion drawn by the young women.

Leaving Campus? Leave Activity Book

Persons withdrawing from the college at end of first semester must leave activity books at the business office. Grades will be withheld until activity books are received.

Being the only speaker on the American platform who has headed a large-scale counter-intelligence operation in an important area, Dan Tyler Moore, former ranking counter-intelligence officer in Cairo and the Middle East in World War II, should fascinate his audience with exciting reflections on "Spy Warfare Today."

BSF Leader Jones Announces Programs

Wilodene Jones, sophomore, president of the Baptist Student Fellowship, has announced the programs for the month. On Jan. 19 a discussion, "Is It Worth Your Life Answering the Call of God?" will be led by Miss Jones. Stanley Pickens is scheduled to lead the Jan. 26 discussion.

A social hour will be held at the church on Jan. 18 at 7:30 p.m. Plans for the evening program include a songspiration, led by David Arbogast, senior; games led by Elizabeth Parsons, junior, and Jo Ann Litton, sophomore; and a "few minutes of thought" with Miss Jones presiding.

The BSF will be in charge of the evening service at the Baptist Church on Feb. 2 at 7:30. Mary Sue Davidson is leader for this service.

On Feb. 9 a guest speaker, the Rev. Gilbert Moore of Hurricane, will speak to the Student Fellowship at 6:45 p.m. completed, Miss Polling also works in the office and at the loan desk. She works 15 hours a week, including Wednesday nights.

Mary Lee Kessinger does all display work for the library, keeps circulation records, and works at the loan desk. The only senior of the group, Miss Kessinger works seven and one half hours a week.

Bogs Binds Magazines

Ray Bogs, a sophomore from Charleston, shelves and binds magazines, puts numbers on new books, and works at the loan desk.

Also working at the loan desk is Sue Criss, a junior, who is in charge of periodicals and serials. In charge of library maintenance and janitorial work is John Harris, a junior from Greenbank.

Miss Mary Susan Brown joined the faculty this year as assistant librarian. Head librarian is Floyd W. Miller. He has held this position for eight years.

When asked for unusual, interesting or pleasant experiences they've had while working in the library, the student helpers agreed that the cookies and candy Mrs. Miller send them make up their most pleasant moments.
