Shaw Play 'Major Barbara' Set For Stage Jan. 23, 26

By Leith Owen

"I think Major Barbara is the most interesting and exciting play I've ever produced." These are the words that William S. E. Coleman, associate professor of speech, said when this reporter interviewed him about the forthcoming production, "Major Barbara."

"Major Barbara" is a comedy-drama. The basic conflict of the play is between Undershaft (Jim Dotson), a munitions manufacturer, and his daughter, Barbara (Linda Lambiotte), who is a major in the Salvation Army. Undershaft tries to get Barbara and her fiancée, Cusins, (Bob Gainer), to take over the management of his munitions factory.

The battle between Undershaft and Barbara takes them to a Salvation Army shelter and the munitions factory itself.

The comedy in "M.B." is mainly found in the useless members of the British upper class and the free-loaders at the Salvation Army shelter. The play is concerned with ideas because it shows all levels of British society in conflict with the powerful influences of large industry.

A witty treatment of the meaning of charity, war, and good government, "Major Barbara" has been done as a motion picture, on the professional stage in most countries and is frequently performed by college and University theatres.

The play is difficult, intellectually stimulating, and a challenge to both actors and director.

Alpha Psi Omega Present:

MORE AND MORE, it seems that the students at Glenville State College are interested in raising the cultural standards on this campus. Now, something new has been added!

A NEW ENTERTAINMENT experience will soon be available to Glenville Students. Alpha Psi Omega will sponsor a series of foreign films that will be selected from the classics of world movie-making. The films will be in the original language, but they will have subtitles in English.

FOREIGN FILMS have long excelled the average, glossy Hollywood product; but they have rarely been shown outside of larger cities. Films selected for the series will be the best of a select group of prize winners and critical successes.

THE ORIGINAL subscription will be for at least three films and will cost three dollars ($3.00). Since the approximate rental and shipping charge will average fifty dollars for each film, the program can only exist if it has at least fifty members. If a number enrolls that greatly exceeds the fifty minimum, an additional film will be added to the series at no extra cost to the members.

TIME PAYMENTS will be allowed. Alpha Psi Omega intends to make no profit from the series except a small operating fee for the correspondence and incidental costs. While one dollar for each film may seem expensive, many of us spend much more than this for an evening at the movies, or in a week at the Student Union.

THE CONDITIONS of membership will be more fully described in the enrollment forms which will be available on registration day. A large membership is not expected, but members are wanted who are interested in a new cultural experience. It is the hope of Alpha Psi that this interested group will be the start of a continuing program of art films in the year to come.

ALL FILMS will be presented twice on the day of showing at start of a continuing program of art films in the years to come. 3:35 p.m. and at 7:30 p.m. The size of the group will determine the place of showing. Members may attend either or both showings.

NO SEPARATE admissions will be sold on the day the movie is presented. A deadline for enrollment will be set and no memberships will be sold after that date. The program can only exist if it has a guaranteed, paid-in-advance membership.

Watch for further information to be posted and look for the enrollment desk on registration day.

JOIN THE ALPHA PSI OMEGA IN THIS ENTERTAINING EXPERIENCE.

Question: 'What Is the Value of Comprehensive Exams?'

By Leith Owen

Perhaps the most discussed topic on campus for the past two weeks has been the comprehensive examinations. Seniors "cram" frantically for the examinations, and underclassmen stand in awe of them as something that they do not understand.

According to the Glenville State College Bulletin, "The comprehensive examination is an attempt on the part of the college to aid the student to overcome the weak links in his educational preparation."

During the week of Jan. 9, this reporter interviewed students, and professors on campus. Both seniors and underclassmen were interviewed. They were asked, "What, if any, is the value of the comprehensive examination?" Following are their answers to this question.

MR. WILLIAM S. E. COLEMAN — Ideally, comprehensives are the student's opportunity to review his entire field of study and find what strengths and weaknesses he has. Unintentionally, sometimes they become an ordeal.

MR. CHARLES PATTERSON — I think that honor students should be exempted from the comprehensive examination. Some recognition should be given to honor graduates, and one way of doing this might be to excuse the honor student from taking the examination.

BILL BIGGERS — Comprehensives are a review before student teaching. Often, however, the review boils down to a strain on the student, who is not adequately prepared for the exam.

TIM WEAVER — Personally, I don't think we need two comprehensives. Finals are comprehensive in each class. Why should there be a second examination?

LUCILLE BUTLER — Actually, I don't think there's much value in comprehensives as most students use them. Students cram for the examination but don't retain the knowledge. However, they do serve as a general review for the material that has been covered in classes.

DANNY O'CONNELL — The examinations give students a better understanding of courses they've had and how to apply their knowledge of the classes in future teaching problems.

PHYLLIS ANN HARVEY — Comprehensives refresh one's memory about the material he has had in class. But it's a waste of time to study for them.

KEITH SMITH — Comprehensive examinations force the student to go back and learn a few things that he should have learned. The examinations should be done away with.

JIM BUCK — Comprehensives would be good if they served their original purpose, that is, to see what the student has been able to learn. However, in some cases, they

Loan-Fund Gifts Received by GSC

Glenville State College has recently been awarded a check for $300 from John Partridge, President of United Fuel Gas Company, and a check for $200 from Don Potter, President of Monongahela Gas Company.

According to Dr. Heflin, these are the first gifts from industry ever to be received by the college and they will be used to match the federal contributions for student loans. No state appropriations are available for this fund.

United Fuel Gas Company gives $300 for graduate to each college from which they employ a graduate. This year James Hanniman, graduate of Glenville State College, is employed by the company.

Sr. Art Student Exhibits Display

On Jan. 4 the works of Patsy Ashley Given were put on display in the GSC Art Gallery. The exhibit includes mediums in oil, water colors, pastels, ceramics, and woodcuts.

MERCURY Advertising Manager at His Desk

Business Manager Harry Hull Collects, Writes Advertising

By Barbara Huggins

Few people know little about the work and effort expended by the staff of the MERCURY. One good example of this effort is the work of the Advertising manager, a position held the past two years by Harry Hull.

Hull, a senior from Bridgeport, is majoring in physical education and biological science and is a member of Kappa Sigma Kappa. During his sophomore and junior years, he served as assistant manager and later as manager of the football team.

After talking to Advertising Manager Hull, we found that his is not a salaried job but done simply for his own pleasure, the pleasure of meeting people and learning something about the physical make-up of a newspaper.

His specific duties are collecting advertising from various businesses in town and then writing the ads in newspaper form, slanting them towards the college students. This is done by various rhyme schemes, jingles, and catchy saying which would be noticed by the reader. This type of advertising is more effective than straight writing. Hull also lays out the advertising copy for the MERCURY.

He remarked that even though the job was time consuming, he spends about five hours preparing advertising for each MERCURY. It is a great deal of fun, and always involves something different. Hull inherited his job from Gene Rowe who talked him into just "trying" the job.

Lit Society Elects Smith First Pres.

Virgil Smith was elected president of the Glenville State College Literary Society at its regular monthly meeting on Dec. 11.

Other officers named were Bill Biggers, vice-president; and Joan Davis, secretary-treasurer.

The constitution was approved and a committee of Mike Morrison, Jane Ruckman, and Joan Davis presented the constitution to the Student Council. Constitution was approved, officially making the GSC Literary Society an organization.

Program was a discussion of T. S. Eliot's "Journey of the Magi." Joan Davis, Jane Ruckman, and Virgil Smith led the discussion.

Next meeting will be Sunday, Jan. 29, at the home of Dr. and Mrs. Espy Miller.

Patterson Writes For State Journal

The January issue of the WEST VIRGINIA SCHOOL JOURNAL carries an article written by Charles D. Patterson, assistant professor of library science and librarian of the College.

Generally, the article speaks of the preparedness of high school students to do college work as determined by their acquired skill in using library resources.

"Regardless of the physical size and number of volumes contained in the high school library to which the student had access or whether or not he had formal instruction in use of that library as a part of his high school experience, there are fundamental attitudes and skills which he can bring to college. Knowledge of these skills will be of

Byrdmen Take Three Wins; Tigers Come Here Jan. 24

By Charles Curtis

The Pioneers made it two wins in a row as they defeated a big Alderson-Broadus team on the home court Jan. 11. The G-Men started off at a scorching pace and remained hot as they came off the floor with a decisive 94-73 victory.

The Glenville five kept hitting and running well and when the halftime whistle blew the Pioneers controlled a comfortable 34-33 lead.

The G-Men kept their 21-point halftime advantage through the 20 minutes of the second half. Big Richard Bickel, Bob Lambert and Mike Eberbaugh took their share of knocks on the bankboards, but also came off with their share of rebounds.

Five men broke into the double figure ranks against the Battlers. Leading the Pioneers in scoring was Bickel who hit on eight from the floor and was five for six at the foul line for 21 points. Big Bickel also played a good defensive game.

Larry Barker, Fred Smith, and Mike Eberbaugh, all, had a total of 14 points each. Barker injured his knee in the second half of play and had to leave the game. Tim Carney, who had played well the last two games, was the fifth man in double figures. Carney cashed in with a game total of 13.

Stop Falcons

Once again the Pioneers returned to their winning ways after dropping two close ones in a row; one to Morris Harvey and the other to State. The win came at the expense of the Fairmont Falcons at Fairmont on Jan. 9. The G-Men stopped these same Falcons in two previous encounters this season. One time was in the pre-season tourney, the other in regular season play. The two wins were by 6 and 4 point margins.

The Pioneers dominated the game all the way. The Byrd-Men were never in trouble except on one occasion when the Fairmont team pulled to within six points. The largest lead the Glenville team had, except in the closing minutes, was a 16-point bulge.

Score was 48-29, Glenville, at halftime. The Pioneers came back after the halftime break and kept pouring on the steam. By the third mark they had opened up a 71-58 advantage.

Rebounding was not as important as the running offense used by the Pioneers, as rebounding was evenly distributed between the two teams. Offense was the key in taking home the 97-76 victory.

Leading the potent Glenville scoring attack was Bob Lambert who collected 27 points. Mike Eberbaugh was second in the scoring column with 14 points. Tim Carney was a key man in the first half as he came off the bench and hit on four quick fielders. He added two more and a free throw in the second half for a total of 13 points.

Down Senators

The Byrd-Men again showed their fast breaking speed as they raced away with an 87-71 win over the Davis and Elkins Senators, here, Jan. 4.

Pioneers began slowly and gradually warmed to the task. By halftime the G-Men had opened up a tidy 24-point lead.

The Senators who were somewhat lacking for men to compete on the boards with Glenville's three men came back after the half and did little better than in the opening half. The Senators did however outshoot the G-Men from the floor as they hit on 19 occasions as compared to 15 for the home team.

The bench again gave much assistance to the Pioneers as Coach Byrd substituted profusely and kept the running game going.

Bob Lambert was high point man for the Pioneers as he hit for 22. Second man in the scoring column was Russell Shepherd. Shepherd had 18 as he scorched the nets on nine occasions from the floor.

Ferrel of D&E matched Glenville's high man as he scored 22.

Take to the Road Friday

The Glenville Pioneers, who have a 6-3 conference record after the A-B game, have six more games remaining on the schedule for the month of January. They are Jan. 20, Concord, there; Jan. 21, W. Va. Tech, there; Jan. 24, Salem, home; Jan. 26, Alderson-Broadus, there; and Jan. 30, Morris Harvey, home.

The W. Va. Tech game originally scheduled for Dec. 12 was played on Jan. 16 at Glenville.

When the Pioneers have completed the February portion of the basketball calendar they will be set to compete in the annual WVIAAC Tourney held at the Charleston Civic Center, beginning on Feb. 14 and continuing through Feb. 18.

W. Va. State, M. H. Down Pioneer 5

On a weekend southern road trip Jan. 6 and 7, the Pioneers lost two close contests.

The Byrd-Men dropped a squeaker to a strong W. Va. State five 86-82. First-half play was close with the Pioneers down by only four points 41-37 at the end of 20 minutes of play.

The White Wave came battling back after the halftime intermission, were effective in their effort and pulled out to a nine-point lead with five minutes of play remaining.

Lead dwindled away, however, as Glenville missed shots which State immediately rebounded. State team capitalized on breaks-of-the-game and pulled out to a nine-point lead.

Mike Eberbaugh led the Pioneers in scoring as he cashed in for 23. Lambert and Smith each had 16 points.

Another Close One

Glenville lost its third game in conference play to Morris Harvey 93-88 on Jan. 7. The game was a closely fought contest from start to finish.

The Pioneers jumped off to an early 11-3 advantage. The Morris Harvey Golden Eagles then began warming to the task and passed the Byrd-Men as they spurred to a 49-44 halftime advantage. The White Wave tried for a comeback after the half, but could not muster a sufficient enough attack to overcome the Golden Eagles.

The Pioneers connected on 45.9 percent of their field goals as they kept hitting well from the floor. The rebounding power of the Eagles, however, overcame this display of shooting skill.

Fred Smith led the Pioneers scoring attack as he connected on nine from the floor for 18 points. Bob Lambert and Dick Bickel chipped in with 15 and 14 points respectively.

11 Assemblies Set For Next Semester

Dr. James Jones, chairman of the Assembly Committee, has announced eleven tentative assembly programs for the coming semester.

The last assembly in January will be by the Women's Athletic Association on Friday, Jan. 27. Those set for February are Phi Delta Phi, home economics club, on Feb. 9; Kappa Chi Kappa, social sorority, Feb. 16; and IX Beta Tau, social sorority, Feb. 23.

The sophomore class will present an assembly on March 9 and the Wesley Foundation will give the Easter Assembly on March 29. In April the Academy of Science will present the assembly on April 6 and on April 27, the assembly will pertain to High School Senior Day.

On May 4, the music department will be in charge of the assembly. On May 11, Dr. Heflin will speak and awards will be presented and on May 18, the Senior class will present the assembly.

Dates to remember: "Major Barbara" on the GSC stage Jan. 23 and 26; Salem Tigers, here, Jan. 24.

In pre-Christmas games, not reported in the MERCURY, the White Wave fell to Salem and won over Wesleyan.

The Glenville State College Pioneers dropped their first game of the season to a fired-up Salem five on Salem's home court on Dec. 10.

It was these Salem 'Tigers' who broke Glenville's winning skeen last season after the White Wave had compiled a 4-0 record.

The Tigers raced off to a 12-point lead as the Byrd-Men got off to a cold start and did not get warmed up until the second quarter. The score read 37-29 in favor of Salem at halftime.

GSC White Wave

til 11:47 remained on the clock when the Pioneers moved ahead by two points.

Game see-sawed back and forth from this time until the finish of regulation play when the score was knotted. The game remained close in the first overtime and ended again in a deadlock. The second overtime saw the Salem Tigers getting the shots as they pulled out to a four-point lead and a final score of 80-76.

Three of the Byrd-Men were in the double figures. Larry Barker lead the scoring as he hit on 11 field goals and was 1 for three at the foul line for a total of 23. Barker was closely followed by Mike Eberbaugh who cashed in with 22 points. Russell Shepherd was the other man in double figures as he contributed 10.

Christie and Smith were high for Salem. Each had 21.

On Dec. 14 the Glenville Pioneers downed the Wesleyan Bobcats by a score of 102-79 on the Wesleyan court.

The White Wave was primed for the event and made Wesleyan take notice as they roared off to a comfortable lead. This was practically the story throughout the game as the Pioneers played a creditable defensive game and a running offense.

Pioneers were led in scoring by Bob Lambert with 22. Eighteen of these 22 points came in the last half of play. Mike Eberbaugh followed Lambert with 21 points. Shepherd added 18 and Bickel 12.

The Pioneers shot 37 fouls in the contest and hit at an 87% accuracy clip.

MARY ANN GRAHAM — Taking comprehensives before taking all the classes needed is not a good idea. Comprehensives could be a good evaluation of what a student has learned in college but some times they aren't, because one can take the examination before he has taken all the classes in his fields of study.

CURT LEGG — A comprehensive examination as a review is a good thing. When you have to study and cram for the test it doesn't serve its purpose.

JIM TROY — Comprehensives show, to some degree, whether the student has a general understanding of what he is going to teach.

JOAN DAVIS — Most students cram for comprehensives and then the material is forgotten. Comprehensives do have values, but students abuse them.
