Gov. Barron Approves Plan For Research Center Here

Gov. Wally Barron has enthusiastically endorsed plans for a governing Community Development and Research Center at Glenville State College, according to Dean Delmer K. Somerville. Purpose of the center would be to stimulate new leadership and provide technical assistance in redeveloping 19-county area of central West Virginia.

Gov. Barron recently met with President Heflin and H. Cliff Hamilton of the West Virginia Department of Education to discuss the center.

Began in 1956 Plans for the Community Development and Research Center here at Glenville State have been developed over the past five years. In 1956, community leaders through out the rural area served by Glenville State began meeting at the college each year to discuss ways in which to end the stagnation of their region.

Those attending the Educational Development Conferences lacked the funds to get any comprehensive program off the ground. Then Glenville State officials, working with the State Department of Education, struck upon an idea which would result in more than just friendly conversations about developing their Central West Virginia region.

Center Planned for GSC The idea was to establish a Community Development and Research Center here at the college which would take on the gigantic job of stimulating both leadership and community improvement projects.

Its first assignment would be to develop a master plan for regional improvement in the 19-county area bordered by the industrial complexes of Charleston on the south and Clarksburg on the north.

Citizens committees, organized through the Glenville area redevelopment conferences, already are

L-K Drama Meet Held Here Today

The Little Kanawha Drama Festival sponsored by the Little Kanawha Regional Council is being held in the GSC auditorium today. One-act plays will be presented by ten to fifteen high schools. The Little Kanawha festival is non-competitive but is presented primarily for constructive criticism and comments.

Associate Professor of Speech, William S. E. Coleman, is serving as critic and judge.

The plays began at 9:30 a.m. and will run until 4:30 p.m. There will be a coke party for the participating schools sponsored by Alpha Psi Omega and Omicronkappa Players in Louis Bennett Lounge immediately following the final performance.

Schools that attended the festival last year were expected to return again today are Williamstown, Wirt County High School, Walton, Parkersburg, St. Marys, Ripley.

Regional Drama Festival will be held on campus March 15. This festival will be competitive. Panel of judges from the college will select a winning play to be presented at the State Drama Festival at Morgantown. These plays will also be open to students.

12 GSC Students Complete Degrees

Eleven GSC students will be eligible for AB degrees in education on March 24, according to Dean Delmer K. Somerville.

These students are Nella Jean Bess, Holcomb, vocational home economics; Daphne Cooper, Creston, elementary; James E. Cooper, Glenville, physical education and business education; and Benjamin Lepley, Rainelle, mathematics and physical science.

William Lepley, Rainelle, social studies and physical education; Gene Lilly, Beckley, library science and physical education; Janet McHenry, Spencer, business education and physical education, and Patricia Mace, Weston, elementary.

Seventy Students Named On Dean's Academic List

Seventy students have been named on the Dean's Academic List at Glenville State College for the first semester, announces Dean Delmer K. Somerville.

To be eligible for the Academic List, a student must have made a quality point average of 3.2 or better on the courses taken during the first semester of the 1960-61 term. There were no straight "A" students during the first semester.

Science Members Visit Area Schools

Four members of the GSC Science Club, along with Dr. Byron J. Turner, professor of chemistry, appeared recently at Spencer High School, at the request of the science department. The students, Ruth Justice, Sandra Elmore, John Harris and Joe Evans, all sophomores in the physical science and mathematics fields, performed demonstrations in the science classes throughout the day.

Most of the demonstrations dealt with oxidation of various materials and were presented in an informal manner. These demonstrations were shown in the chemistry and general science classes.

In the physics class, attention was focused on light and various effects that can be obtained by

Easter Concert Is 'Passion In Song'

"The Passion in Song," will be the theme for Glenville State College Choir Easter Concert on March 28, at 8:15 p.m. in the College auditorium.

The choir, under the direction of Alexander W. Zerbant, instructor of music, will show different forms in which passion music is done. The program will consist of music from the Renaissance, Baroque, Classical and Romantic Eras. Also included in the program will be spirituals.

On March 24, the Glenville State Choir will go to Weston where the members will present "The Passion in Song," on television from 7:00 to 8:00 p.m.

The choir has had offers from the Charleston area to sing this concert.

Also in rehearsal is the annual spring concert which will be given here in May. Tentative plans are also being made to travel with the spring concert and definite plans will be announced at a later date.

Cooley Displays Art Work

By Pat Mullins

Eight paintings by Mr. John R. Cooley, assistant professor of art, are now on display in the GSC Art Gallery. The pictures were put on display Feb. 22.

Paintings are in various media, ranging from abstract to non-objective to realistic.

"Not all of the paintings are recent," Mr. Cooley pointed out, "some of them date as far back as 1953."

These paintings were entered in the Juror's Show at Huntington Jan. 8 by Mr. Cooley. "City Forms," a non-objective, won a prize.

The other paintings are entitled "Roosting Chickens," realistic; "Marsh Forms," non-objective; "Pink and Gray," non-objective;

"Self-portrait," realistic; "View of Louisville," abstract; "Vespers," abstract; and a portrait of Mr. Carl A. Kerr, assistant professor of English and French.

Mr. Cooley, a graduate of the John Herron Art School in Indianapolis, Ind., did graduate work at Indiana University before coming to GSC in September, 1958.

He served in the Army for two years and his 'Army' art work included a mural for the post library and portraits of two generals.

Mr. Cooley has participated in the National Academy Show in New York, the Wichita Print Show and the Indiana Artists Show. One of his paintings was selected from the Art Center Annual in Louis-

Where the Money Goes---

A RECENT act of the State Legislature permits the College to collect an activity fee and requires the President to designate the purposes for which the fee will be used. Students often wonder how the Student Activity fee is used, so — here goes!

GSC STUDENTS pay $10 activity for each semester (which, incidentally, is much lower than the fee at most West Virginia Colleges.) This $10 fee is divided and given to various departments and organizations sponsoring student-attended activities.

FORTY PERCENT ($4.00) of the fee is awarded to the athletic department. This forty percent pays the student's way to all ballgames held in the GSC gym or at Rohrbough Field.

MERCURY RECEIVES 15% ($1.50) for your subscription to the college paper. This money, plus advertisement received from local business establishments pays for picture engravings and printing of the paper.

SPEECH AND MUSIC departments each receive 5% ($.50). The speech department has three activity shows per year. Ordinarily, the admission for these performances would be $.50 or $.75 for each show.

TEN PERCENT ($1.00) of the activity fee goes to the Lyceum fund. GSC students may take advantage of attending three or four of these programs each year.

CHEERLEADERS RECEIVE 1.5% ($.15) from each $10 fee; 8% ($.80) goes for Student Health Fund.

STUDENT COUNCIL receives 15.5% ($.155) of the fee.

WHILE TALKING with the business manager, Mr. Jones, we found that cash balances as of Feb. 24, of Activity Fee are:

Athletics	$3,298.92
MERCURY	2,099.35
Speech	581.37
Music	1,293.55
Lyceum	2,302.18
Cheerleaders	143.39
Health	441.31
Student Council	3,092.95

— Janet Hall

NOTICE

Final Room and Board payment for the second term of the second semester, in amount of $124.32 ($88.06 for those taking only meals at cafeteria) will be due and payable ON OR BEFORE, MONDAY, MARCH 20. A new meal card for the last term will be issued when payment is made.

Science Students Present Displays

Science Club is revising the exhibit in the display case in the Administration Building with emphasis placed on plastics. Several different types of plastics from acid containers to plastic playing cards are being shown.

Many of these items came from the producers as samples, and some show the steps of manufacturing and dying. These exhibits will keep changing until some other organization wishes to use the display case.

First science display placed emphasis on the biological division of the club. One of the most interesting features of that display showed the destructive distillation of a cigarette.

Foreign Film Set For Showing Mar. 6

The first foreign film in the current campus series, "Mr. Hulot's Holiday" (French, 1952), was shown Monday, Feb. 20. Awards received by "Holiday" include International Critics Prize, Cannes Film Festival, David O. Selznick Golden Laurel Medal and Edinburgh Film Festival.

"The Bicycle Thief" (Italian, 1940) will be shown Monday, March 6. This realistic study of poverty in Italy is one of the greatest films ever made. It was directed by Vittorio de Sica and features a cast of non professionals who were living the kind of life the film portrays. This film has won numerous awards at international festivals.

On Monday, March 27, "Day of Wrath" (Danish, 1943) will be shown. A film, yet to be selected, will be shown on Monday, April 17, to complete the series. Foreign film program is sponsored by Alpha Psi Omega.

Royster Receives Tournament Honor

Alicia Lu Royster, GSC head cheerleader, was recently named one of three outstanding cheerleaders at the WVIAC basketball tournament at the Civic Center in Charleston.

Miss Royster was awarded a trophy following the final tournament game between West Virginia State and West Liberty.

Miss Royster, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Raleigh Royster of Troy, is a physical education and social studies student. She is a junior and has served as head cheerleader for three years.

She is secretary treasurer of WAA, member of Kappa Chi Kappa, was elected to "Who's Who Among Students in American Universities and Colleges" this year, and is on the Dean's Academic List for the first semester.

Two other cheerleaders, one from W. Va. Wesleyan and one from West Liberty received similar awards.

SNSEA Will Show Educational Films

The regular meeting of SNSEA (F.T.A.) was held Thursday, Feb. 9 at 6 p.m. in Room 301A.

A short business meeting was held followed by an education report by Gennis H. Gonzalez. Members of the club then discussed important parts of the report. Plans were made for the showing of two films for the next meeting, Mar. 2. Films will be "A Desk Bor Billie" and "The Challenge."

Officers of SNSEA are Patty Mace, president; Gennis H. Gonzalez, vice-president; Carolyn Acree, secretary; Carol June Hawkins, treasurer; Brenda Phillips, historian.

Reviews From the Library

By Mary Vaughan

Kriegie

Every two months the Robert F. Kidd Library publishes a list of books that are new to the library collection. Reviewed here are some that this writer thought particularly worthwhile.

Three recent acquisitions which are in the Library now are The Lean Years by Irving Bernstein, Shirley by Charlotte Bronte, and Kriegie by Kenneth W. Simmons.

The Lean Years

The Lean Years deals with the condition of organized and unorganized workers, and the influence of the policies of employers and the courts, during the twenties; the emergence of mass unemployment in the depression; the efforts of the Hoover Administration to meet this new problem; the changes in government policy which resulted, and the beginnings of a national relief program; the signs of discontent and protest as evidenced by the "Hunger March" and the "Bonus Army"; the anti-injunction legislation; and, finally, the emergence of a social reform movement which eventually was to reach its culmination in the New Deal.

Kriegie (Prisoner of War) is the exciting and inspiring story of an American airman who bailed out over Germany in October of 1944 and was liberated by General Patton in person at the end of April, 1945. This book is an outstanding true story — a new, different, and untold story — of the privations, horrors, and struggles of prison life of World War II. It is a realistic story illumined by a firm, masculine, sincere religious element — an unusual book in its combination of complete realism and inspiring realism.

Shirley

Charlotte Bronte had a natural gift for story-telling, for creating memorable characters, and for evoking atmosphere. Shirley, a novel with a strongly regional flavor, is a dramatic tale of the Luddite riots during the latter part of the Napoleonic wars, when labor-saving machinery was smashed by unemployed workers. Shirley was first published in 1849, and the character of Shirley herself is based upon that of Charlotte's sister, Emily.

Assignment: 'Fire the Kiln' Place: Ceramics Laboratory

By Pat Mullins

The etymology of ceramics shows that the word has been derived from the Greek word keramos. Keramos, meant a potter, potter's clay, or mainly pottery. But this word has an older Sanskrit root meaning "to burn" and as used by the Greeks the term simply meant "burnt stuff."

GSC's expanding ceramics program, headed by Mr. Charles C. Scott, brought this reporter to the ceramics laboratory, located in the basement of Firestone Lodge. Here, one can see shelves of pottery, the two electric and gas kilns, the different glazing formulas stored in huge jars, the wedging table against which the clay is slammed to secure an even consistency, the potter's wheels, and students working industriously.

GSC offers four classes in ceramics, two of which were added to the curriculum at the beginning of this school year. The classes offered are Art 306, Art 326, Art 430, and Art 450.

Introductory Course
Art 306, ceramics, is an introductory course in clay modeling and pottery making. Coil, slab, and wheel methods are used for pottery. Some casting and glazing are also included. In this class, hundreds of cylinders are made for practice. Students are expected to form a 12 to 15-inch cylinder before they try to form or shape anything on the potter's wheel.

Art 326, advanced ceramics, is a continuation of Art 306. In this class a student is expected to throw a 16-inch cylinder or better.

"When a student can form a 16-inch cylinder with ease, he can then express himself as he so desires in ceramic form," Mr. Scott stated.

Art 430 is ceramic glazing and firing. Here, glaze formulas, compositions, and calculations will be studied from a technical and esthetic point of view. Extensive work will be done on the potter's wheel, in glazing and in firing both the gas and electric kilns.

Advanced Course
Art 450, ceramic problems, is designed for students who have sufficient background in ceramics.

Casting Completed For O'Neill Play

The Speech Department, Alpha Psi Omega, and the Ohnimgohow Players will produce Eugene O'Neill's "Beyond the Horizon" in early April. Casting has just been completed for this Pulitzer Prize play.

The cast includes Harry Lynch as James Mayo; Jane Hudspeth as Kate Mayo, his wife; Harry Morris as Captain Dick Scott; James Booth as Andrew Mayo; Harold Metz as Robert Mayo; Judith Miles as Ruth Atkins, Mary Vaughan as Mrs. Atkins, her mother; Ed White as Ben, a farm hand; and Bill Spelbring as Dr. Franeett.

Mr. Coleman will direct with the assistance of Linda Lambiote and Donald Smith. Booth and Metz are producers. New faces in the cast are Harry Morris, Jane Hudspeth, Harry Lynch, and Bill Spelbring.

"Beyond the Horizon," the first important play in the American theatre, is an intense drama of farm life on the New England seaboard.

Crews for the production will be announced at a later date.

White Wave Falls to West Liberty; W. Va. State Wins WVIAC Tourney

West Virginia State Yellow Jackets won the 24th WVIAC Tournament, Feb. 18, by defeating defending champions West Liberty 67-66.

Glenville Pioneers downed Davis-Elkins in first-round play 98-92 but fell to the West Liberty Hilltoppers in their second game, 68-77.

In the D&E encounter, the White Wave had a strong first half and maintained a 58-41 lead at the end of 20 minutes of play.

Senators Threaten

The Pioneers were never in trouble except in the closing minutes of play when the Senators threatened to pull a come-from-behind victory.

The G-Men, however, managed to keep control of the ball and pulled away in the final two minutes of play. The deciding factor in these final minutes, and throughout all the game was the terrific play of Glenville's big men on the boards.

Leading the Pioneers in scoring was Mike Eberbaugh who played a terrific game and hit for 27 points. He was followed by Larry Gandee who hit for 18. Rounding out those in double figures was Bob Lambert who had 14 and Tim Carney who had 10.

Pioneers Lack Drive

The Pioneers started out cold in their second game against the West Liberty Hilltoppers and could not seem to acquire the needed spark to get moving.

Despite a needed drive, the G-Men managed to hold onto the Hilltoppers for some seven minutes. At this time Gerard of West Liberty hit on a jumper to put the Hilltoppers in front to stay.

The Hilltoppers proceeded to open u a nine-point advantage which the Pioneers could not seem to overcome. The closest the G-Men came to the Hilltoppers was six points with four-an-one-half minutes of playing time remaining.

Playoff Set

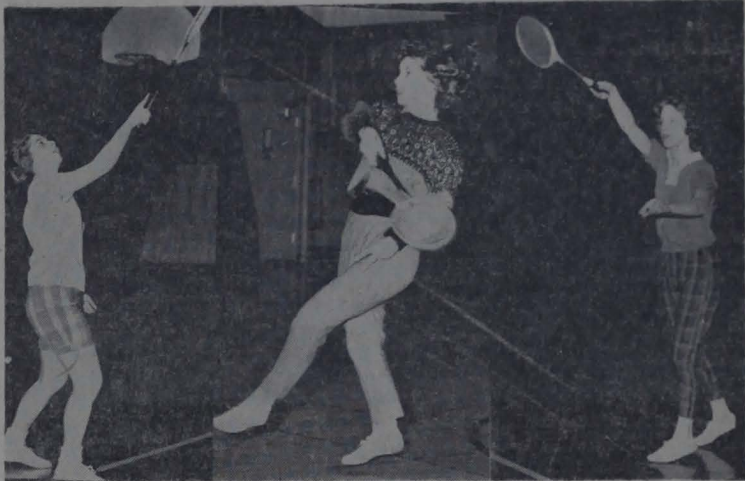

West Liberty and West Virginia State met Feb. 23 and Feb. 28 for the three game playoff which will decide who goes to Kansas City. In the event that each of the two teams win one of the first two games, the third and final game will be played March 4 at the neutral Glenville College gym. Admission for the game will be $1.00 for everyone.

Other developments at the Conference Tourney were the selection of the all-tourney team and the selection of the best cheering delegation.

The tourney-winning State placed three men on the team. Lefevre, Herb Thompson, and George Holt of State all made the team. The runner-up, West Liberty, also placed three men. They were Pannett, Tegley, and Gererd. Others on the ten-man squad were Gerry Urish of Wesleyan, Curtis Guin of Fairmont, Larry Carmichael of Alderson-Broadbudd, and Jim Carter of Bluefield.

The Fairmont cheering delegation was voted the best for the tourney.

Basketball Games Continue in MAA

MAA Play continued at a fast pace this week as five games were played on Feb. 21, 22, and 23.

The Attic Boys were defeated by a strong Kappa Sigma Kappa A team 82-39. The high scorers for the winning team were Pottmeyer with 22 and Keith Smith with 21.

The Little Pioneers pulled a decisive 91-33 victory over the Untouchables. High for the Little Pioneers was Terry Dutton who hit on 12 fielders and was one for one at the foul line for a total of 25.

In a third game the Kappa Sigma Kappa B team was defeated by the Rebels 61-43. High for the winners was Getting with 22.

In the other two contests the Odd Balls I beat the Mavericks 66-42 and the Little Mountaineers defeated the Wazoos 56-39. High for the winning Odd Balls I was Frost who hit for 27 points. High for the winning Little Mountaineers was Kaltenecker who hit for 16.

ficient background and technical knowledge to continue ceramic projects on their own initiative with consultations with the instructor.

This year the ceramics department is working with earthenware which fires to around Cone 04 or 1940F. "Next year," says Mr. Scott, "we plan to fire stoneware at Cone 4-10 or 2174-2381F. If these plans are carried out, we will be among the few, or perhaps the only school in the state firing at this temperature."

The clay used by the ceramics department is stored under the music department — all five tons of it! It is Ohio No. 5 clay.

"We make a number of field trips to potteries, art institutes, and other colleges and universities," Mr. Scott pointed out, "to extend the student's frame of reference in terms of ceramic forms."

Church News

By Mary Vaughan and Carol Reed

Several GSC students have been active in the Glenville area churches.

The final meeting of a series of meetings will be held Sunday, March 5, at the Glenville Baptist Church. The Rev. J. Smith Dye will speak on "Christian Religion." This will conclude a series of meetings held on the various religions of China, Japan, India, and Africa.

Westminster Fellowship, the Presbyterian Church student organization, is planning a retreat to be held at Camp Caesar at Cowen, April 22. Student from West Virginia University, Davis & Elkins College, Marshall College, West Virginia Institute of Technology and Glenville State College will attend the meeting. The students will discuss religion and how it affects the everyday life of college students.

Meeting Time Changed

Wesley Foundation is now meeting at a new time, 7:30 p.m. on Sunday, so that members can participate in the Basic Christian Beliefs series being conducted at Trinity Methodist Church by the Rev. Lawrence Sherwood.

The first parts of this series concerned "Christianity and Other Religions," "Belief in God," and "Sin and Forgiveness." The coming discussions are "Belief in Christ," March 5; "The Holy Spirit and the Church," March 12; and "The Life of the World to Come," March 19. These are open discussions and everyone is invited.

The next for this series is "Basic Christian Beliefs" by Frederick C. Grant. Copies of the text can be found in each dorm (see a Wesley member) and more have been ordered and will soon be available to students.

An authority on Christian theology, Dr. Grant, received a $10,000 award from the American Council of Learned Societies for his book, "An Introduction to New Testament Thought."

The Sixth Annual Educational Development Conference will be held on Tuesday, April 11.

different kinds of light. This demonstration was presented in the auditorium and by the time the hour was over, the class had grown from 13 to over one hundred because many other students expressed a desire to see the demonstration.

One hour was spent in answering questions asked by the students and in visiting the different sections of the high school. The group met several members of the high school faculty who had either attended GSC or were graduates.

Part of this same group appeared at Tanner High School on Feb. 23 at an assembly program. Several of the demonstrations given at Spencer were also presented at Tanner.

at work collecting the data such a plan requires.

They are studying the agriculture, business, land, minerals, people, recreation, taxation and property values, and water resources of the Little Kanawha watershed area.

The center's professional staff would attempt to implement the master plan by providing technical assistance and training for community leaders.

Local Leaders Used

Coordinated action would be taken under local leadership to improve schools, health and recreation facilities, welfare programs and of course, to strengthen the region's economy.

How will the center be financed?

Glenville State has applied for a $75,000, five-year grant from a private foundation which has an abiding interest in West Virginia's welfare.

A large industry which draws many of its workers from the region also has been approached and asked for its support.

Ultimately, proponents of the center hope the foundation's grant will be matched by at least $35,000 a year in contributions from businesses, industries governmental units and individuals throughout the region.
