Thirteen Glenville State College students have been chosen to represent the college in the 1961-62 edition of "Who's Who Among Students in American Universities and Colleges," announces Mr. Stanley Hall, chairman of GSC Who's Who Committee.

Seniors chosen were VIRGINIA SUE CAMPBELL, LEAH JANE FOX, FREDA CHARLENE HATFIELD, PATRICIA ANN HORNOR, HAROLD WAYNE METZ, WALTER CLAIR MOREHEAD, WILLIAM WESLEY SHINN, FREDRIC WILLIAM SMITH and WINONA ANN STEWART.

Juniors elected were ALVIN LEE ENGELKE, LENA RUTH JUSTICE, JAMES WELDON ROGERS and KEITH CALHOUN SMITH.

Students were chosen on basis of popular election, scholarship, leadership, participation in activities and approval by the GSC and national Who's Who Committees.

.... No Other Choice

THE MERCURY EDITOR received another letter on the morning of Nov. 22. This letter was signed, but contrary to the previous editorial (Sign and Be Heard) in the Nov. 15 issue this letter will not appear in the MERCURY.

THE EDITOR AND THE ADVISOR will make the final decision concerning the printing of a letter or any other story in the MERCURY. We made the decision concerning this particular letter, because there was little to be gained by taking column inches for a vehement, vitriolic and vindictive attack apparently brought on by lack of information regarding the situation.

THE LETTER CONCERNED the annual Thanksgiving dinner served Nov. 21. This student does not regularly dine in the college cafeteria but had come to the Thanksgiving meal.

THE WRITER DESCRIBED how surprised — and angered — he was to discover that he could not be admitted to the cafeteria, because he had not made a reservation. Notices to the effect that reservations would have to be made were posted several days prior to the meal, but apparently this student failed to see a notice. How else could Mr. Smith and his staff possibly serve guests of reservations were not made in advance?

THERE WERE 131 IN ADDITION to those who regularly eat dinner who ate in the cafeteria on Tuesday evening, Nov. 21. Eleven of these people did not have reservations but waited for the end of the line and were served.

THERE IS A FALLACY in the opening paragraph of the letter when the student says "our tax-supported college cafeteria." Glenville State College cafeteria is not tax supported. The building is financed by student fees, income from the cafeteria and other revenue-producing units on campus.

PERHAPS THE PROCEDURE followed concerning holiday meals has not been publicized widely enough, therefore we would like to take this opportunity to clear up any further misunderstanding.

THIS PROCEDURE WILL BE FOLLOWED for the Christmas dinner to be served on Monday, Dec. 18. Reservations will have to be made by those people who regularly do not eat in the cafeteria. These reservations must be made by 4 p.m. on Saturday, Dec. 16.

ANYONE, STUDENTS, FACULTY MEMBERS AND FAMILIES, TOWNSPEOPLE AND FRIENDS OF THE COLLEGE who plan to attend, call Ext. 48 not later than 4 p.m. Dec. 16. Give the number to be in your group. Reservations cannot be accepted after this date.

THE MERCURY WISHES to continue to be a voice that will serve the College to the best advantage. Dedicated to this principle, we have made our choice in this matter. WE COULD MAKE NO OTHER.

Circulation Managers Send Mercury To Campus, State and Other Points

By Brenda Hickman

As one walks into the Student Union and other campus buildings every other Wednesday afternoon he observes students studying the MERCURY with great interest.

Many people in addition to the students and faculty at GSC are also reading the MERCURY.

Copies of the college newspaper, numbering 147, are mailed to members of the State Board of Education, W. Va. college presidents, other college newspapers, paid subscribers, advertisers, and many high schools throughout the state. However, the MERCURY is not kept within the boundaries of West Virginia.

The MERCURY is sent to Rhode Island, Florida, New York, Georgia, Pennsylvania, Maryland, Minnesota, Kentucky, California, and Colorado.

On campus, copies of the paper may be found in the dormitories, library, Administration Building, and the Student Union. Number of papers distributed on campus is 675.

The circulation managers on the MERCURY staff have a task which takes time and work. The papers must be counted and distributed on campus, addresses are typed on the papers one by one, then the papers must be wrapped and arranged in bundles according to their zones.

This major mailing activity takes place on every other Wednesday.

The MERCURY is printed by the Elk Printing Co. at Clay and engravings are developed in Buckhannon by the Mt. State Photo Service.

Circulation managers for the year are Brenda Hickman and Joyce Jackson.

Miss Hickman is a sophomore English and social studies student from Gassaway.

Miss Jackson, a junior, is an elementary education student from Rosedale.

Poetry Contest

Three winning poems in the third annual GSC Poetry Contest sponsored by the MERCURY will appear in the next issue (Dec. 13) of the MERCURY.

Judges for the contest are Dr. Espy Miller, Mr. Carl Kerr and Mr. Wayne Scott.

Deadline for the contest was 4 p.m. on Dec. 5.

Winners of the 1960 contest were Leith Owen Clarke, first place; Roland Thomas Ferrell, second; and Deronda Jones, third.

St. Marys Will Be Scene For Party

Tuesday, Dec. 12, will be a big day for the children at the West Virginia Training School, near St. Marys.

Oral Interpretation and Play Production classes, under the direction of Mr. W. S. E. Coleman, associate professor of speech and English, will travel to St. Marys to present their annual Christmas program.

Alpha Psi Omega, national dramatic fraternity, and Ohnimgohow Players are contributing five dollars each for candy for the children. Any other organization interested in this project should contact Mr. Coleman.

Candy is being given rather than toys, for fear of the latter being dangerous.

This is the sixth year for this project, making six years that drama students have gone off campus to share the Yule-tide spirit.

Dutton - Nichols Win Tournament

The combined efforts of Terry Dutton, senior from Maryland, and Nick Nichols, junior from Summersville, entitled this pair to the championship of the HRC Bridge Tournament recently.

Dutton and Nichols compiled a total of 11,490 points.

Jack Rhoades, freshman from Glenville, and Mr. Benjamin F. Bast, assistant professor of history, were in a close record position with 11,400 points. Trophies were awarded to all four players.

There were eight entries, one entry being two players. William Shinn, Court Judge, said this seemed a small number in comparison to the number of people who play bridge daily in the Student Union.

GSC Choir Plans Christmas Concert

GSC Choir will present its annual Christmas concert Sunday, Dec. 17, at 4 p.m. in the Trinity Methodist Church. Mr. Alexander Zerbán, assistant professor of music, is director.

Concert will be in a serious mood but will end with a comedy selection.

Following the concert there will be a campus-community sing on Verona Maple lawn. This sing is co-sponsored with Verona Maple Hall.

Glenville Students Share News Items

Glenville State College is participating in a news broadcast every Friday evening at 5:35 over station WBOY-TV. The newscast is sponsored in cooperation with seven area colleges. Participating in this project are Glenville State, West Virginia University, Fairmont State, West Virginia Wesleyan, Salem, Alderson-Broadus, and Davis and Elkins.

Each college provides a newscaster for a four-week period who will broadcast news from all seven schools. Colleges send their news to the "host" school a day before each weekly broadcast. It is edited and given by the broadcasting student.

ART ANYONE? Mr. Al Richard Moldroski, assistant professor of art, tries his hand at his favorite type of painting, cold wax. In fact, he tried long and hard enough to win an award in the College Art Teacher's Competition and will have his work shown through the Pietrantoni Galleries in New York City in December. He is one of five in the United States to receive this honor. (MERCURY photo by Frederick)

Mr. Al Moldroski's Art Wins Award Showing in New York City Dec. 16

By Elizabeth Beall

How often do people maintain the dream of early years and pursue this dream into the future? Many of us do not, but an exception has come to Glenville in the person of Mr. Al Richard Moldroski, assistant professor of art.

Mr. Moldroski has thought of teaching art since he was in the third grade. Unlike many, too, he did not wait until graduation from high school to study the finer points of his future vocation.

At 15, while still in high school, he received a scholarship to the Chicago Art Institute, and later a scholarship to the Chicago Academy of Fine Arts.

Then, as with most American men, the Army stepped in to claim two years of his life, and he was sent to Europe.

Upon returning to the U. S., he entered Indiana State College for a field in teaching. Before he could finish his work, he was again called to serve in the army, this time in Korea.

After graduating with a BS in art, Mr. Moldroski taught art in the public schools in Flint, Mich., both high school and junior college.

He later combined his teaching and securing a future education while doing graduate work at Michigan State University with an assistantship in art.

Mr. Moldroski classifies himself as an "abstract expressionist" in which, as he explained, he uses cold wax. His current work "is painting based on the human figure, with emphasis on the whole figure — not limited to surface representation, but exploiting whole structure — anatomical structure to convey what I feel."

In using cold wax, he uses a medium of beeswax and paint for a greater translucency.

Mr. Moldroski has not leaned toward much exhibition in the past two years. He is "more concerned with doing than with show."

Although his life has been seemingly filled with his art work, he does take time to relax.

His main diversions are hunting and fishing. Another love is that of the open road. Before he was married he hitch-hiked across 30 states, and not always with a main destination. His reason? "Just go." "I'd stop for work when money was needed, then go again."

Mr. Moldroski has received the Mary Richard Memorial Award in

A JUBILANT GLENVILLE squad poses with the coveted trophy for the championship of the Weston Invitational Tournament for the second consecutive year. The Pioneers won the first game Tuesday night against Fairmont 83-66. The second victory was over West Virginia Wesleyan, Wednesday night 97-71. The G-Men had a substantial following on both occasions at Weston.

Pioneers Win Tournament Defeat Bobcats, Falcons

Ten Men Listed On Frosh Squad

In the story on the basketball squad which appeared in the past issue of the MERCURY there was little mention of the freshmen candidates for the varsity team. The reason for this is that this year there will be a freshman team.

The freshman team will play scheduled preliminaries and other games which are yet to be scheduled. The team is coached by Assistant Basketball Coach Nicholas Murin.

Members of the squad are Bob Anthony, Larry Legg, Dave Graham, Clyde Brewer, Ersel Morgan, Allen Chenoweth, Phil Ramsey, Ron Berkheimer, Pat Fulmen, and Mike Blake.

Having a freshmen team is necessary this season because of the limited number of vacancies on the varsity squad. These men will have

Teamwork and Defense Are Winning Combination

By Keith Smith

Coach Lilly's Pioneers were unbeatable as they made a clean sweep of the Weston Invitational Tournament Nov. 28-29. Their claim to the winner's trophy was undisputed as they soundly thumped Fairmont 83-66 and Wesleyan 97-71.

Teamwork was the keyword. No one or two men could be singled out and given credit for the win. There were several "hot hands" during the course of the tourney and as quickly as one cooled off another got warm. Even more impressive, particularly against Wesleyan, was the defensive play of the team. When an opponent scored he deserved the score, because he had worked for it.

In the first game against Fairmont there were still a few of the rough edges to smooth out. These rough edges showed in the personal foul column which presented a total of 27 for Glenville.

Despite the roughness the G-Men never let up throughout the game as they were paced by the scoring of Bob Lambert (20), Eberbaugh (16), Gandee (14), Carney (10) and Bickel (9). Lambert was the big gun in the first half while it was Gandee who came through in the second half. Eberbaugh and Bickel were the leading rebounders. Tim Carney led in the assist and recoveries department.

Wesleyan Falls

The Wesleyan Bobcats may have come on the floor with a roar but later they were mum. The Pioneers jumped off to a lead and stayed there and that is the story in a nut shell. It was not exactly the treatment that Coach Hank Ellis has been used to as he suffered one of his worst defeats in years at the hands of the Lillymen.

Not only were there five men in double figures, every man on the squad broke into the scoring column. Scoring was led by Fred Smith with 23 points. Smith also played an outstanding defensive game. This time it was Bickel and Lambert who pulled off the rebounds while Eddy led in assists and Bill Maxwell led in recoveries.

Bench Proves Strong

The real secret to the team's success lay in the bench strength. Whenever Coach Lilly needed to go to the bench there was ample talent there.

There are no five men that can say they are the first team. If a man is on the bench at the start of the game it just means he is

G-Men Meet Senators, W. Va. Tech, Wesleyan and Salem Before Holidays

Pioneers have six games to be played before the Christmas recess. Four are regular season games and two are tournament games.

First home game will be Dec. 9 against the Davis-Elkins Senators. The past season the Pioneers defeated the Senators 87-71 in their first encounter while dropping the second one 97-80. D&E should prove to be a worthy opponent. They have a large nucleus of returning letter-men including Fowler and Ferrel.

Tech Comes Here Dec. 11

On Dec. 11 West Virginia Tech will come here. Tech won their own warmup tournament by defeating Wheeling and Concord. However, they lost to Pikeville, Ky., last week. Tech will be a team to be reckoned with, however, this is not a Tech team of "Old." Coach Neal Baisi has been reported as saying this year's team shows lack of experience and height.

On Dec. 13 the Pioneers go to Buckhannon to take on the Bobcats again. Even though the Pioneers were victorious in the first clash the home floor may make a difference.

G-Men will then make the long journey to Wellsburg to take part in the Wellsburg Invitational Tournament on Dec. 15-16. In the tourney the past year Steubenville College sent the Pioneers home with an 87-69 defeat.

Host Salem Dec. 18

Final game before Christmas recess will be with Salem on Dec. 18 at home. The past season Salem
